LBJ URGES STEEL FIRMS' RESTRAINT IN PRICE HIKES

PRESIDENT JOHNSON urged steel and other U.S. industries yesterday to "refrain from avoidable price increases to avoid spiraling inflation." His admonition in a prepared speech before the Business Council came shortly after U.S. Steel extended the latest round of price increases to galvanized and aluminum-coated sheet, both used in automobiles and household appliances.

"Voluntary restraint has made involuntary curbs unnecessary," the President said. "This is the way it should be done. This is the way it can be done — if business and labor meet their responsibilities." Johnson gave no hint what steps he might take in the absence of voluntary restraint to keep prices and wages down.

LYDA AND CHUCK SELECT VIRGINIA HOME

LYDA BIRD JOHNSON and Marine Capt. Charles Robb have selected a rented, furnished split-level brick house in suburban Virginia for their first home after they are married Saturday, it was learned Wednesday. The house at 3556 Valley St., in suburban Arlington, was rented from a military family that was transferred overseas and will be their home until Robb goes to Vietnam in March.

The house is about an eight-mile drive from the White House, across the Potomac River from Washington.

SECOND HEART TRANSPLANT FAILS AS BABY DIES

THE WORLD'S SECOND HEART transplant ended tragically yesterday when a two-and-a-half week old boy died at a Brooklyn hospital six and a half hours after the radical surgery. "We consider this a failure," said famed Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, who headed a surgical team of 22. "The baby seemed to be doing reasonably well following the operation but the heart suddenly stopped. Resuscitation was attempted without success."

The unidentified baby was born at Maimonides Medical Center with a defective heart valve and two and a half weeks ago. Kantrowitz, the center's surgical director, said an operation to lengthen the child's life was undertaken when he was two days old to make it possible for him to survive until a donor could be found for the transplant.

SEN. JAVITS FIGHTS LOCAL POVERTY WAR CONTROL

THE SENATE WILL ACT tomorrow on compromise legislation authorizing another two years of the war on poverty, with Sen. Jacob K. Javits, (R-N.Y.) threatening to try to eliminate a disputed provision for local control of antipoverty projects. The House probably will act Monday on the bill that would set a spending ceiling of $1.9 billion for the Office of Economic Opportunity OEO for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, and of $2.18 billion for the following 12 months.

Javits wants to kill the local control provision, which he claims would surrender the war on poverty to "city hall politicians," and has vowed to seek a separate Senate vote on the amendment sponsored chiefly by Rep. Edith Green, (D-Ore.)

N. H. GROUP DROPS ROCKEFELLER PRIMARY PLANS

A NEW HAMPSHIRE GROUP boosting New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for president said yesterday it has acceded to the Republican governor's request to stop.

Manchester attorney Nicholas G. Copadis, in a letter to Rockefeller said, "Our deep regard for you makes us realize that our contemplated plans would be against your personal wishes and subject to possible misinterpretation."

DIABETES MAY AID PATIENT KEEP NEW HEART

DENISE DARVALL'S BODY was cremated yesterday, while her transplanted heart continued to beat strongly in the body of a middle-aged diabetic.

Louis Washansky, who received Miss Darvall's heart Sunday in history's first human heart transplant at Cape Town, South Africa, joked yesterday with the surgeon who sewed it in his breast and said, "I am a Frankenstein now. I have got someone else's heart inside me."

Dr. Chris Barnard predicted Washansky would survive the operation and that his diabetes, impeding the body's rejection of the heart tissue, might help him to recover. Barnard said the 55-year-old Lithuanian-born man might go home within three weeks.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS CARMICHAEL'S FRENCH VISA

HIGH FRENCH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS were reported yesterday to have intervened with airport police holding Stokely Carmichael for deportation as an "undesirable" and ordered the American black power advocate admitted to France for a series of anti-American speeches. Carmichael, 25, was halted at the customs gate Tuesday night on his arrival at Orly Airport from Stockholm for an anti-Vietnam war rally in Paris Saturday night.

The controversial American Negro was released 14 hours later and given a visa valid for three months. Officials at the French Foreign Ministry declined to say who made the decision to allow Carmichael to enter France.

REDS' MASSACRE OF 121 VILLAGERS SHOCKS WORLD

COMMUNIST TERRORISTS exacting apparent vengeance for refusal of mountain tribesmen to furnish them Viet Cong recruits, ravaged the refugee hamlet of Dak Son, killing 121 persons, most of them women and children, U.S. spokesmen reported last night.

The spokesmen said that victims of the worst massacre of civilians in the Vietnam war included Montagnard tribespeople and seven popular forces defenders of the mountain hamlet located 74 miles northeast of Saigon and 25 miles west of the Cambodian border. The massacre shocked the world.

JIM MILLER QUILTS AS BC GRID COACH

JIM MILLER, under fire after his Boston College football squad slipped to a 4-6 record this year, resigned Wednesday as BC head coach. In a joint statement with Athletic Director William J. Flynn, Miller said he asked BC for a new three year contract and the school declined.

Miller, who had one year to go in his current contract, said he felt it would be impossible to coach properly on a one-year basis in fairness to himself and to BC.

PROFESSOR SAYS TRANSPLANTS RAISE ETHICAL PROBLEMS

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION, particularly in the light of two recent heart transplants is faced with a maze of unanswered legal, moral and ethical problems about death, a Harvard Medical School research professor cautioned last night.

Because of the unique conditions necessary for transplantation of living tissue from one person to another, medical men must be concerned with the patient's right to be let alone and his right to die, said Dr. Henry K. Beecher. He said the principal question is, "Is it morally right or wrong to use the tissue and organs of hopelessly unconscious patients with continuing circulation, and if right, under what circumstances right?"

STORE MANAGER BITTER AT HARVARD SHOPLIFT SUSPECTS

"HARVARD HAS ITS SHARE of crooks," the manager of the Harvard Cooperative Society said yesterday after 18 Harvard students were accused of shoplifting. James T. Morrill said the students were caught over a period of several months and the Coop's inventory lists a loss of more than $350,000. A total of 51 persons were apprehended for shoplifting from the store during the months of October and November, Morrill said.

Harvard Dean Robert Watson said he believed the Coop "feels Harvard students are not criminals, and we agree," Morrill thought differently. "He says that Harvard is filled with perfect gentlemen," Morrill said of Watson. "I think he's presuming a bit. Everybody has the propensity to steal."

City Laborers Seek 20 Percent Pay Hike

A 20 per cent pay hike for the coming year is being sought by city laborers. In addition, an effort is being made to bring all wages in one category up to an equal level. Presently, there are differentials among laborers and equipment operators.

The laborers are represented by Local 8000 AFL-CIO under Boston Council 41. Local president Joseph Greco said that even with a 20 per cent increase, city laborer wages will still be 10 to 15 per cent lower than in surrounding communities.

Bloodmobile At Newton Next Week

Newton residents are being alerted to the arrival of the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the City Hall Cafeteria from 12:45 to 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 15.

This bloodmobile is open to all organizations. Donors can credit their church, club, lodge, etc., and get coverage for their blood needs for themselves and family, for one year.

Blood Donations tend to slack off during the Holiday Season, yet the need is inclined to increase because of a higher accident rate both on the highways and in the home.

Certain kinds of chronic ailments, bleeding ulcers, for example, the treatment of which demands blood transfusions, also seem to take a jump during the frenzy of Christmas and New Year's preparations.

So if you have a son, a brother or a husband stationed with the armed forces in Vietnam, please send his name, his mailing address and his home address in Newton to the Graphic today so they may be remembered with Yuletide gift packages.

They must, of course, reside in Newton.

Warm-hearted Mayor Monte G. Basbas already has mailed 36 S.S. Pierce food packages to Newton servicemen in Vietnam whose names were submitted to the Graphic.

Permission To Enlarge Facilities Granted

$9-Million Motor Hotel At Norumbega Is Voted

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night gave the Marriott Motor Hotel Corp. permission to enlarge the facilities originally planned for the Norumbega Park tract of land. A 9.5 million motor hotel will now be constructed instead of the $5 million one proposed in 1963.

The board, after a more than two hour debate, voted 19 to 5 in favor of what Claims and Rules Committee Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner called a "substantially curtailed" petition.

Those who voted against the petition on one of the somewhat rare occasions when all 24 members of the board were in attendance were Aldermen Louis I. Egelson, Jr., William P. Matthews, Joseph M. McDonnell, H. James Shea, Jr., and Harry L. Walen.

The motor hotel will be built on an 11.7 acre tract instead of the 9.7 acre one originally planned, Flaschner reported. In addition, since the approval of the original petition in 1963, building costs have gone up, Marriott has acquired the additional two acres of land, and increased facilities have been planned, he pointed out. All of these factors have contributed to the jump in cost estimates from $5 million to the present $9.5 million, Flaschner noted.

The 1963 petition approved by the aldermen called essentially for a motor hotel with 336 rooms, restaurants and cocktail lounges for 600 persons, 551 parking spaces and 10,200 square feet of area for function rooms.

The aldermen this week allowed expansion of these plans to include 434 motel rooms, 516 seats in the restaurants and cocktail lounges, 11,840 square feet of function room space that will accommodate 700 people, and 735 parking spaces, 35 of which will be indoors.

The petition brought by Marriott in August of this year to allow expansion sought permission for 454 motel rooms, 19,765 square feet of function room space to accommodate 1,000 people, 516 seats in the restaurants and cocktail lounges and 708 parking spaces, all outside. Originally, some inside parking was planned.

Following board approval of the 1963 petition, Auburndale residents brought the matter to court, opposing the board's action in rezoning the land on several technical grounds. After considerable time the State Supreme Court upheld the action of the Newton board.

After that decision, Marriott decided to buy the land and build the motor hotel themselves rather than lease

The increase would be same for all ranks. Under the terms of the request, patrolmen would receive $8500 annually, sergeants would receive $9500, lieutenants, $10,500 and captains, $11,500.

Last year police were given an $800 raise bringing the patrolmen's salary to the present base of $7700.

Police are also seeking a restudy and amendment of the medical plan, with the city paying all of Blue Cross-Blue Shield instead of half.

Yule Parade Is Set For Sunday

Due to unfavorable weather conditions the Annual Nonantum Children's Christmas Parade, originally scheduled for last Sunday, was postponed until this Sunday, December 10.

The parade will begin at Our Lady's parking lot on Adams Street at 1:30 p.m. and will follow the customary route: Our Lady's, Lincoln, Crafts, Clinton, Adams, California, Dalby, Watertown, Pearl, Green, Kennedy Circle, Cook, West, Middle and Adams streets and will terminate at the Collect-Magni Park.

Officer Gets Citation Of Merit Medal

Major Joseph A. Barry, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Barry, Jr., of 211 Highland ave., Newtonville, was awarded a citation of the Legion of Merit shortly before completing a one year tour of duty in Vietnam in November.

The Legion of Merit is the third highest award that can be given to a member of the Armed Forces. Major Barry's next assignment will be at the Armed Services Staff College at Norfolk, Virginia, beginning in January.

Barry, who was given the bronze star medal and bronze star medal (first oak leaf cluster) last June, is a graduate of Warren Junior High and Newton High School.

He graduated from the University of New Hampshire.

In an effort to cut the handling and costs of the mounting Christmas card mail load which may reach 350 million pieces in the Boston Postal District, letter carriers will deliver this week 560,000 Christmas Kits to homes in the 25 cities and towns of the area.

As explained in each kit, the straps enclosed are for use in packaging Christmas cards, which have been separated as follows: Local—All cards for Newton; Massachusetts Cities and Towns—Outside Newton; All Other Destinations Outside Massachusetts.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin stated that tests have shown that approximately 40% of all Christmas cards mailed in Newton are for delivery in Newton.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Pres. Johnson Big Favorite To Best Sen. McCarthy Here

Even though a strong Republican tide rolled across Massachusetts in 1966, this Commonwealth is regarded by political experts as one of the states President Johnson can count in his column next year both in the April Presidential Primary and in the all-important November election.

Political analysts predict that the President will easily beat back a challenge by Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in the Bay State Presidential Primary next April 30 and that he will prevail by such a margin as to boost his stock across the nation.

They also believe that LBJ would carry Massachusetts in the final election over former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Governor George Romney, Governor Nelson Rockefeller or any of the other GOP Presidential prospects except favorite son Governor John A. Volpe.

Central Congregational Church Observes Centennial on Sunday

The 100th Anniversary Prayer Meeting and Hymn Sing will be the first of several planned celebrations on Sunday, Dec. 10, in the Merrill Room of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville.

One hundred years ago there were only two churches in Newtonville — Methodist and Swedenborgian. Congregationalists who wished to attend a church of their own denomination had to go either to Eliot Church or Second Church, each a mile away.

As a result, a small group of Congregationalists began to hold weekly prayer meetings in their homes. The success of the weekly meetings led to the formation of the Central Congregational Society and of Central Church.

The observance of this Sunday is in commemoration of the first of these meetings, held on Dec. 11, 1867 at the home of Mr. Nathaniel D. Vose on Walnut St. at the approximate site of the present branch library.

Thus the Central Congregational Church will honor that small devoted group who were, in a very real sense, the founders of the Central Church.

Sunday's program will include a panorama of hymns sung in church services from 1867 to the present. There will be featured selections by the chancel choir dressed in costumes of the late 1800s. The Youth, Junior and Boys Choirs also will sing.

Leading the singing will be the pastor, the Rev. Robert J. Harding. Soloists include Franklin Field, Donald Welsh, Barrett Gilchrist and Mrs. Kenneth Bernard.

Piano accompanists are Mrs. Albert Everts and Marshall Wilkins, organist and choir director.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Black are co-chairmen for the centennial observance.

Mrs. Wallace Moyle is in charge of arrangements for the Anniversary Hymn Sing and Prayer Meeting. Mrs. Donald Frail and Mrs. Harold Lounsbury will assist Mrs. Moyle.

Working Mothers Request School Luncheon Program

The Newton Superintendent of Schools was urged last week to prepare a report on the feasibility of a school lunch program for the children of working mothers.

The program has been requested of the Newton School Committee by Mrs. Harry A. Brick, of 60 Russell rd., West Newton, who discussed with Dr. Charles E. Brown the difficulties facing the working mothers of Newton.

She said it had been hoped that the working mothers would not have to ask for a lunch program if a single-session five-hour school day was instituted.

"However, we are now doubtful this will be accomplished," she said, "because of the way the pilot program was set up, unless the parents who are interested in single session come forth again and state their original suggestions for such a program."

"There are many mothers in Newton who must work to supplement their incomes," Mrs. Brick said. "Some of them have lost their husbands. Some have husbands who are ill. Also, some have husbands who do not earn a sufficient amount of money to take care of their families and provide them with a proper home, good food, clothing, and a good education."

She also spoke of mothers who work to keep their children in college but still have children in grade school.

She said the mother she represents would like very much to see a survey taken through the grade school to see how many mothers in Newton are working. She added that the mothers would be happy to

"If these are separated and bundled with the appropriate straps, they can be retained at the local postoffice in the city and sorted directly to carrier routes without having to be processed and rehandled in large centralized mail centers and returned to the post office in Newton for delivery," said the postmaster.

These straps are very easy to use. Merely wrap tightly around the separated lots of cards and press. No moisture is required since they are self-sealing.

If possible, the packaged cards should be deposited at the local postoffice where special racks have been set up in the lobby for this Christmas mail. However, the packages can be deposited in the neighborhood mail box. Additional straps can be secured either through your letter carrier or at the local post office.

Closing date for parcel post to distant states was December 4 and greeting cards for these distant states December 11, except for air mail.

Postmaster Martin also called attention to the form contained in the Christmas Kit delivered to each home which lists the Zip Code for that home. He urged everyone to put their return address on all Christmas mail this year and to include their Zip Code after the name of the state. Where known the Zip Code should also be placed in the mailing address.

help in making the survey and help in administering the lunch program by paying the salaries of people hired.

"We do not need psychologists or people with masters' degrees," Mrs. Brick emphasized, "as long as they are capable and responsible people, but we parents would have to approve the choice of these people to whom we are entrusting our children."

The School Committee said the matter would be considered but that the school budget had to be taken care of first.

The question was raised about the legality of having a lunch supervisor in the schools hired by an outside group. Edwin Hawkrig saw no conflict with the present pilot program in single sessions, and urged the superintendent prepare a report as to whether the plan is feasible as presented.

Newtonites To Posts At NE Baptist Hospital

New England Baptist Hospital held their annual dinner program in the Hospital dining room Wed. night (Nov. 29), this being their 74th, according to President Albert H. Curtis 2nd, of Weston. Officers were elected for the coming terms including Albert P. Everts Sr., of Newton as a new honorary trustee.

Aubrey Schurman of Newton Centre, participated in the program during the evening. Re-elected to the board of trustees was Dr. Albert A. Horner, Chestnut Hill and Aubrey Schurman of Newton Centre.

Re-elected to the board of corporation for a three-year term were: Dr. Theodore L. Badger and Dr. Albert Hornor of Chestnut Hill; Rev. Dr. Arthur Paterson Lee of Newton and John J. Fogg of Newton Centre.

Curtis revealed there were 6977 patients during the past year, including 2615 from other states than Massachusetts, and 287 who came from more than forty different countries. The total of major surgical operations was 3282. He also reported 1132 days of free service granted to clergy and others.

Patients who required complicated surgery came from distant lands including Argentina, Austria, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Egypt, England, France, India, Israel, Italy, South Africa, Mexico, Panama, Peru, Philippine Islands, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and many other countries.

ties. He said the average laborer brings home about $68 a week, less on the fourth week of the month when there are deductions for medical insurance.

The local is also seeking a 10 per cent wage differential for permanent night workers, and also wants uniforms and cleaning services supplied by the city for sanitation personnel.

Greco said that some garage personnel in Newton now get uniforms and cleaning service. He contends that sanitation workers need the same because of the work.

The local has been asking for uniforms and cleaning service for the past three years, without success.

Last year, Newton laborers were granted a 6 per cent across-the-board increase in wages. Greco claims that there are a substantial number of personnel "moonlighting" to make ends meet. He said high rents in Newton, among other things, necessitates the 20 per cent wage hike. Greco estimated that because of present low rate of pay, about 50 per cent of the city labor personnel could be eligible for Medicaid, indicating that the laborer's wage is somewhat below the national standard of what is considered a minimum for decent living.

Rubbish collectors presently receive $2.62 an hour, and all other laborers, besides rubbish, get $2.56 an hour.

Local 800 represents some 885 city laborers, with 490 paying members.

Newtonite Is Head Of Heart Fund Campaign

David B. Slater of 56 Lawmarissa rd., Waban, has been appointed general chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund drive in Greater Boston.

Mr. Slater, president of Mister Donut of America, Inc., was named one of the "Outstanding Young Men of Greater Boston" this year by the Greater Boston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The 32-year-old executive will head an organization of 30,000 volunteers in 44 communities, including Newton, in the annual February drive for funds to fight heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and related heart and blood vessel diseases. Dr. James A. Bougas, president of Greater Boston Chapter of Massachusetts Heart Assn., hailed the appointment of Slater. He said "Mr. Slater's acceptance of the post will insure the dynamic and inspired leadership necessary for an all-out effort in this area to help conquer the nation's leading health problem."

Slater operates a chain of franchised doughnut and coffee shops comprising more than 250 units in the United States and Canada. The corporate headquarters is in Westwood.

In commenting on his general chairman appointment, Mr. Slater said, "these diseases exact a greater toll of life than all other causes combined. Here, then, despite the tragic disunity of our times, is an imperative need which can unite us. "Here we can join together, crossing all lines of race, color and creed to demonstrate our ability to work together constructively for the well-being and the lives of our fellow men."

Slater was graduated from Tufts University and received his law degree from Boston College Law School. He is married to the former Barbara Winokur. The Slaters have four sons, Jonathan, Todd, Craig and Peter.

William H. Rayburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Rayburg of 2 Wyoming road, Newton, is enrolled as a freshman at the University of Tampa this fall. Rayburg, a graduate of Newton High School, is majoring in business administration.

Jaillet's Task Forces

During the past seven months the state has received over $6,000,000 because of the drive against tax delinquents which was instituted by Cleo F. Jaillet, State Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation. The total is well on the way toward the $10,000,000 Jaillet estimated as the maximum pickup when he began the drive. He says now "the sky is the limit," as the campaign continues.

As the state's costs skyrocket and the need for revenue keeps pace, Commr. Jaillet considers it more essential than ever that each taxpayer be required to pay his just share of the tax load. Each delinquent who goes free adds to the burden of the taxpayer who pays up in full voluntarily.

About 40 percent of the delinquent taxes already collected were withholding taxes — money withheld from employee pay for prepayment of state income taxes. Another 40 percent of the delinquent tax revenue has come from the sales tax, with the remaining revenue picked up from meals, room occupancy and other taxes.

Commr. Jaillet has teams of workers operating out of each district office following up leads to delinquent taxpayers. In addition, there is a special task force working out of the state headquarters making special drives in particular areas.

The Tax Commissioner said he is asking the Legislature for funds to hire more workers to pursue the tax delinquency drive. He said that shortly he will have to take off the successful campaign many income tax men assigned to it. The men soon will have to be helping individuals make out their state income tax returns, which will be due April 15, next.

"We must keep this drive going," Commr. Jaillet said. "We cannot afford to lose the momentum we have achieved. Once the momentum slows down, it will be difficult to step it up again."

The Legislature is now embroiled in discussion relative to raising more money through a hike in income and corporate taxes. We suggest that Mr. Jaillet's request for funds to hire more men for his tax task forces be given priority consideration by the law makers.

A Belated "Thanks"

A little-known organization which has made a significant contribution to the health and well-being of all New England recently observed its 20th anniversary.

It is the New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission which was founded before "water pollution" was a household phrase and the widely-recognized problem it is today.

During its years of activity, the Commission has worked together with state and local agencies to bring an end to the growing pollution of our rivers, lakes and streams. Through programs of establishing water quality goals for interstate waters, planning and constructing municipal and industrial waste water treatment facilities, initiating and supporting anti-pollution research and training, the Commission has performed an invaluable public service which, for the most part, has been unheralded.

We want to say "thanks" and wish the Commission a belated happy anniversary, and continued success in the years ahead.

Amherst Names Hertzfeld As New Treasurer

Kurt M. Hertzfeld, of Newton, vice president and treasurer of Boston University has been appointed treasurer of Amherst College, effective February 1 next year.

As chief financial officer of the college, Mr. Hertzfeld will succeed the late Stanley F. Teele, who died May 29. Mr. Teele, an Amherst alumnus and a former trustee, had served as treasurer since 1964. He was formerly Dean of the Harvard Business School.

Mr. Hertzfeld came to Boston University in 1959 as vice president, responsible for fiscal, organizational, corporate, and administrative affairs, after serving since 1950 as Business Manager of the University of Rochester. Earlier this year he also became treasurer of the University and a member of its board of trustees as well as of the trustee council of the Boston University Medical Center.

A magna cum laude graduate of Harvard College in economics (1941), Mr. Hertzfeld is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the holder of an M.B.A. degree from the Harvard Business School, where he was a George F. Baker Scholar. He is a former vice presi-

Since 1964 Mr. Hertzfeld has served by appointment of the Governor as a member of the Massachusetts State Educational Facilities Commission. He is also a former treasurer and now vice president of the Massachusetts Association of Non-Profit Schools and Colleges, a member of the executive committee of the

Prof. Sacks To Be Speaker At Sunday Meeting

Prof. Milton Sacks of Brandeis University will discuss "Alternatives in Vietnam" at a breakfast meeting of Boston Chapter, Alumni Association of the City College of New York, at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Sunday, December 10. He is a Newton resident.

Dr. Sacks, a well-known consultant, author and lecturer on communist strategy in Southeast Asia has specialized in the politics and sociology of the Far East since 1943.

He has just returned from a brief visit to Vietnam where he also spent 1965-1966 as a Fulbright-Hayes exchange professor at Hu and Saigon Universities. He also spent his 1964-1965 sabbatical in Asia.

Dr. Sacks received his B.A. from C.C.N.Y. in 1942 and then the M.A. and Ph.D. from Yale University. He is presently associate professor of politics at Brandeis University.

There are some 75 C.C.N.Y. alumni residing in Newton alone, including Alvin Mandell, who was recently elected to School Committee, Ivan Samuels, most recent past president of the Boston Chapter, and Dr. Milton Sacks, the speaker at this affair.

Local Men To Attend O'Melia Dinner Monday

Five Newtonites will be among the more than 600 persons expected to attend the 23rd O'Melia Award dinner on Monday, Dec. 11th at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

The outstanding player at the Holy Cross-Boston College football game will be honored at the dinner with the award named in honor of the late Edward O'Melia, a 1938 Holy Cross graduate and athlete who died during World War II.

Members of the Holy Cross Club of Boston who will be in attendance are J. Clement McCann, 86 Sargent St.; Andrew F. Lane, 43 Otis St.; William M. Cahill, 20 Wimbledon Cir.; Richard J. Murphy, 12 David Rd. and Dr. James E. Mulvihill, 182 Washington St.

On Honor Roll

Rev. Bro. Daniel B. McMurray of Catholic Memorial High School, West Roxbury, lists 8 Newton boys on the honor roll after the issuance of first term report cards.

They are, for first honors: sophomores Arthur T. Mackay and Robert O. Stokes; and freshmen Kevin A. Kiley and Paul A. Reilly.

For second honors are: Kevin Fitzgerald, Junior, and freshmen Robert C. Anderson, John F. Walsh and Kevin P. Anderson.

Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts and of the finance committee of the College Entrance Examination Board, and an overseer of Harvard College and a member of its visiting committee on administration and finance.

A resident of West Newton, he is vice president of Newton Community Action, Inc., and has been chairman for the city of Newton of the Boston United Fund.

Mr. Hertzfeld, who is 49, was born in Austria and came to this country in 1935, becoming a naturalized citizen in 1939. He is married to the former Nora Elizabeth Alfs and the Hertzfelds have four children, a son, 22, and three daughters, ranging in age from 15 to 19.

In addition to his experiences in university finance and administration, Mr. Hertzfeld has held positions in private industry with Fasco Industries of Rochester, New York, and with the Ford Motor Company.

He has also been a part-time lecturer in business administration at the University of Detroit and at the University of Rochester, where he was coordinator of the evening business administration curriculum.

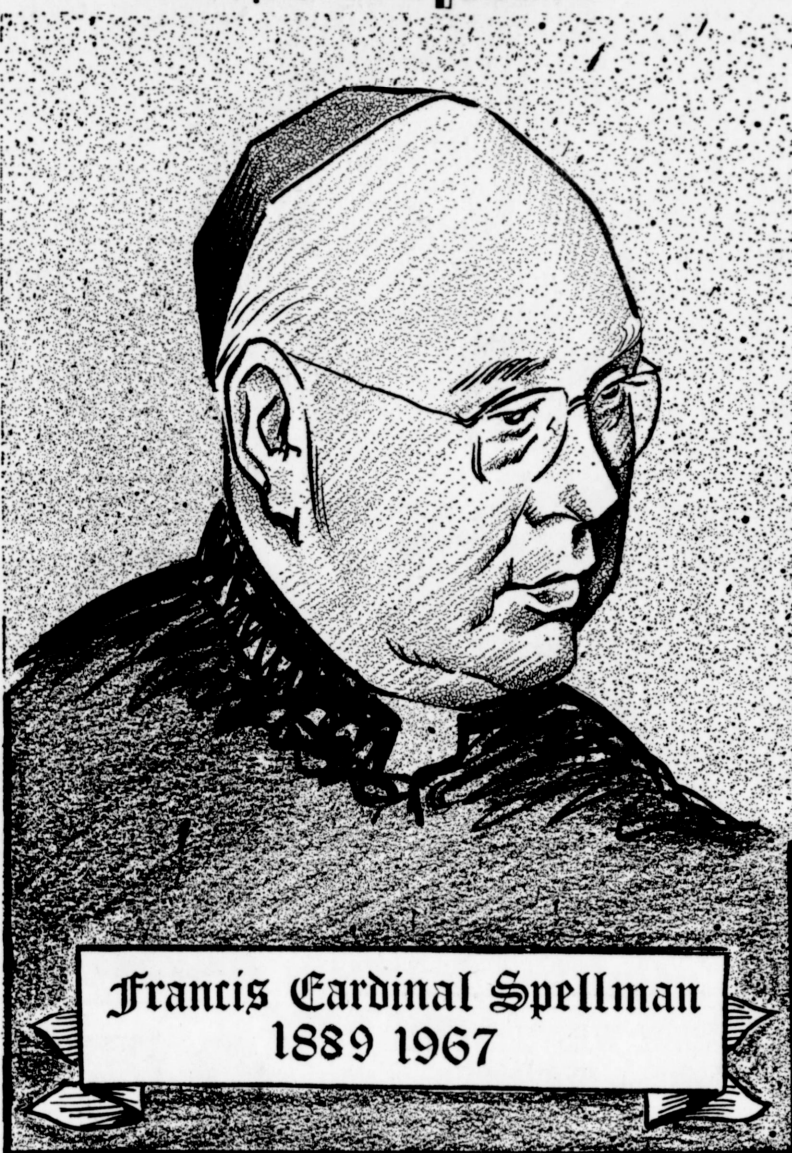

At present he is a director of the Exolon Company of Boston, of MBA, Inc., Boston, and of Precision Lines, Inc., Burlington, Mass., and a member of the advisory board of Shawmut National Bank, Boston.

Amherst College, whose enrollment is 1,200 men, has an annual operating budget of approximately $8.5 million and an endowment whose market value is currently $71 million.

Dr. Calvin H. Hight is president of the College and Mr. John J. McCloy is chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Alan L. Ferestien of 175 Chestnut street, West Newton, has recently been elected president of the University of Michigan Alumni Club of Boston.

Political Highlights

Their appraisal of voting sentiment in Massachusetts is supported by the results of polls which have been made in the state.

While many Massachusetts voters are not exactly enchanted with President Johnson, they are disposed to pick him when the choice is between Johnson and McCarthy in a Democratic Presidential Primary or between Johnson and Nixon, Johnson and Romney, or Johnson and Rockefeller in an election.

In view of the fact that McCarthy is considered to have virtually no chance of besting President Johnson in a Democratic Primary in Massachusetts, a bystander might well wonder what prompted the Minnesota Senator's decision to oppose the President in this state.

There's no clear answer to that question. Neither, however, is there any politically logical explanation why McCarthy is opposing President Johnson at all since there's no likelihood whatever that he can win the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Even if Mr. Johnson were defeated in all the popular primaries and decided not to run for another term, the Democratic national convention next summer would pick someone other than McCarthy as its nominee for President.

The fact that President Johnson will be a heavy favorite and Senator McCarthy an underdog in the Bay State's Presidential Primary will pose a political problem for LBJ.

If McCarthy should score an upset win over the President in Massachusetts, a state where LBJ is supposed to be extremely strong, it would be a crushing blow to Mr. Johnson's election hopes and might cause him to revise his political plans.

A factor which probably will cause concern for President Johnson and his political advisers is that only a small percentage of the voters usually go to the polls for a Presidential Primary in Massachusetts and that those persons who are so strongly opposed to administration policies in Vietnam that they would vote against the President, are likely to turn out in force.

The guessing at this time is that LBJ, a shrewd politician himself, will not take the Bay State Presidential Primary for granted and that he will come here before April 30 to make a few speeches to boost public interest and promote a big turnout.

Incidentally, the action of the Democratic State Committee in adopting by a 43-4 vote a resolution endorsing President Johnson and his Vietnam policy, means exactly nothing.

It sounds good in news stories published in other states. But sentiment in the Democratic party, of course, is not 11-1 in support of such a resolution. The hard fact is that the Democratic State Committee members speak only for themselves.

As members of an official Democratic organization, they couldn't do much else than vote for the resolution. It was surprising that four members voted against it and that three others abstained from voting at all.

Political eyebrows clicked up and down like loose shutters in a high wind when Senator McCarthy declared in Chicago that he was disposed to stay out of New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation Presidential Primary "although the Kennedys have been encouraging me to enter there."

The first reaction among the professional politicians was that the Kennedy brothers must be trying to kill McCarthy off early if they actually have been encouraging him to test his strength in the Granite State.

nedys although that doesn't make much sense either.

Senator Robert Kennedy is not so fond of President Johnson that he would be likely to try to persuade McCarthy to kill himself off in New Hampshire although some sound students feel it would be Bobby's advantage if Johnson is reelected.

They reason that Bobby Kennedy is likely to be the Democratic nominee for President in 1972 and that he would have a better chance of succeeding a Democratic President than of ousting a sitting Republican President.

Senator McCarthy is the principal figure in a confusing picture which has many political onlookers groping for answers.

Silly Speculation On White Timetable

A lot of silly speculation has been published as to when Boston Mayor-elect Kevin H. White will resign from his position as Secretary of State.

One political columnist reported that most Beacon Hill observers expect White to quit his state post about the middle of this month.

Another raised the possibility that White may not resign at all but might continue to hold the offices of both Mayor and Secretary of State, drawing his pay only as Mayor and designating an aide as Acting Secretary. That seems highly unlikely.

There is no reason why White should step down as Secretary of State until just before or just after he is sworn in as Mayor unless he himself decides it is advisable to do so to facilitate the choice of his successor.

When the late Maurice J. Tobin was elected Governor while Mayor of Boston, he continued to serve as Mayor until moments before his inauguration as Governor.

Other men in comparable situations have done the same thing.

It would be unusual if White leaves his state post until almost on the eve of his term as Mayor, but it is conceivable that he may do so to smooth the way for the election of his successor as Secretary of State.

If White resigns as Secretary while the Legislature is still in session or after it resumes its deliberations in January, the House and Senate members jointly will elect his successor.

If White were to step out between the 1967 and 1968 legislative sessions, Governor Volpe would elect the next Secretary of State.

While Volpe helped White in his successful campaign for election as Mayor, the likelihood is that White will time his resignation so that his successor will be chosen by the

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Parking Protest

Editor of The Graphic
We the employees of The Diet Workshop are writing to protest the lack of proper parking facilities in Newton Corner.

We have always enjoyed working in a suburban area as opposed to downtown because it is close to our homes and was less wear and tear travelling. However, this has been more than offset in recent months by having to remember to run down and move our cars every hour. In the past we had parked on the Democratic-controlled Legislature.

It will be important to White to maintain the best possible relations with the Legislature to which he will be looking for help in lightening Boston's tax load.

This could prompt him to leave the Secretary's job earlier than would really be necessary from his own standpoint.

House Speaker John F. X. Davoren is a heavy favorite to win election to the post White now holds when the legislators do get down to the business of balloting for a Secretary of State.

And Representative Robert H. Quinn of Dorchester is considered to have the necessary support to succeed Davoren in the powerful position as presiding officer of the House of Representatives.

How hard and how long Davoren will be forced to fight to get the job as Secretary of State is uncertain at this time. Some State House newsmen, who have made checks of sentiment in the House and Senate, believe he will win the contest on the first ballot.

Present indications, however, are that there may be three candidates in the field against him.

If that proves to be the case and if the vote is split four ways, Davoren's election may not be accomplished quickly although it almost certainly will be achieved eventually.

A factor which may delay Davoren's election is that Representative Mary Newman of Cambridge, a Republican, will be a candidate against him. Mrs. Newman has no chance of gaining election, but she will draw the votes of a substantial number of Republican members, making it more difficult for Davoren to roll up a majority. This could prolong the fight and stall Davoren's election.

Representative Robert L. Cawley of West Roxbury, the leading Democratic contender against Davoren for the post White has held for nearly seven years, probably will battle Davoren to the end in the hope that some development will shift the tide in his favor. However, the cards seem to be stacked against Cawley.

One faction of Democratic House members may try to delay Davoren's election by backing still a fourth candidate in order to split the vote further. Their objective would be to seek commitments from Quinn on moves he would make as Speaker. They reportedly would shift to Davoren if their demands were met by Quinn.

The fact that the vote for Secretary of State will be cast by secret ballot could help Davoren.

This may cause some Republicans to back Davoren, rather than prolong and stall the election by wasting their votes on Mrs. Newman which they would be virtually obligated to do if they were forced to stand up and be counted publicly.

Davoren is personally popular with most House members in both parties. The principal criticism levelled at his service as Speaker is that he has not been tough enough in running the House.

The same critics complained that the late John F. Thompson was too tough, that he ruled the House with an iron fist and at times was unfair to some of its members.

It is ironic, incidentally, that as the fight shapes up over the choice of White's successor as Secretary of State, a so-called reform group is talking about making that office as well as the offices of State Treasurer and State Auditor, appointive instead of elective.

That is one of the proposals which would be placed before a Constitutional Convention if one is convened to recommend changes in the State's Constitution.

This would be one more move to take away some of the power now held by the voters and vest it in the Governor. But it is being billed as a reform in government and is accepted as such by some people.

street, where there are no meters, or in the municipal lot; but we are no longer able to do this because of the zealous campaign of our local police, who have been tagging unmercifully. Going to work lately has become an expensive proposition.

Is this good business and public relations for Newton? Is there any hope?

Letter to the Mayor

Editor of The Graphic:
Following is a letter I recently sent to Mayor Basbas. I would appreciate your printing it as a service to many Newton residents.

Mayor Monte Basbas
City Hall
Newton, Mass.

Dear Mayor Basbas:
I have been meaning to write to you for several months, but last night after receiving a ticket for parking in front of my own house, many dissatisfying elements of Newton's city management caused me today to communicate with you.

There was no question that I was illegally parked at the side of my home, and the enclosed check is for the fine. At least once a month my wife and I have called the Newton Police to do something about the raceway (Brookline street) in front of our home. The Town of Brookline has quite effectively managed via 25 MPH signs and frequent traps located only three blocks from our house to control the speeding on Newton street, a continuation of Brookline street, but just as soon as the cars reach the Newton border the race begins again. With three small children, no small amount of anxiety is created daily when the children are playing outside.

Yet, the only signs of the Newton Police Department is to ticket resident's cars in the early hours of the morning! Actually, I have frequently seen Brookline Police cars ticketing cars in front of my house, which is well inside the Newton border.

The garbage collection for our area is preposterous. At least every other week there are no collections on the collection day. And, if there happens to be a Holiday, the garbage could stay on the street for two weeks. Several times I have come home to find papers, cans, etc. on the side of the street after the collection.

I don't like to always compare Brookline with Newton, but one never finds barrels on the street beyond collection day there even in stormy or snowy weather. In Newton, a snow storm for some reason or other obviates the need for garbage collection! Newton is supposed to be the "Garden City;" often times during the year I refer to Newton as the "Garbage City."

Snow removal is just slightly more inefficient than garbage collection. Last winter on three occasions I had to shovel a pathway for my car to get to Brookline street at six o'clock in the morning so that I could get to the hospital on time. Pond Brook road rarely gets adequately plowed.

What really disturbs me concerning garbage collection and snow removal is that I understand the contracts are given out to private enterprises. Whoever renews these contracts should take a long hard look at the service Newton is receiving for the taxpayer's dollar. To close the subject of snow removal, one only has to drive a few hundred yards into Brookline to appreciate what excellent snow removal is like!

Newton is basically a wealthy community with a high tax rate, and the only excellent advantage of living here is the school system. I went to Newton High and decided to live here mainly because of the educational advantages for the children. However, I didn't expect to find so many disadvantages. Before closing I would like to mention also the recreational deficiencies in the community.

The proposed nine hole par three golf course is a farce. For a city of nearly 100,000 people with a large golf-playing population this is only a mediocre substitute for the golfers. Swimming, another family sport, leaves much to be desired.

The only pool available is at the Newton YMCA, a small inadequate facility. Of course, we can't compare the Brookline Town Golf Course or their new pool, but Newton would do well to take a long look at Brookline, her management and her facilities.

Respectfully yours,
Alan Hugh Bennett, M.D.

Curry College Elects Newton Board Members

Two Newton area residents are among five people elected to the board of Trustees of Curry College in Milton, according to President John S. Hafer of the College and Dr. William P. Lombard, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Frederick Sayford Bacon of Newton, civic leader and lecturer, and Stewart G. Orr of Newton Lower Falls, trust officer of the State Street Bank and Trust Co. are the newly elected members.

The Board, at a recent meeting, also made changes relative to the length of terms of its members and to retirement. It also approved increasing the size of the Corporation from 20 members to 40 members.

Mrs. Bacon, who studied at the Curry School of Expression (now Curry College) under its founder, Samuel Silas Curry, is a former president of the Women's City Club of Boston and the Women's Association of Newton. She has just completed a comprehensive biography on Dr. Curry and his impact on the field of speech education.

Orr, who holds a law degree from Harvard Law School, has been affiliated with the State Street Bank since 1929. He has served as President of the Newton Taxpayers Association and is a trustee of the Leland Powers School of Radio, Television and Theatre.

Israeli Film For Hadassah

The Newton Group of Hadassah will hold its monthly meeting at the Chestnut Hill Country Club on Algonquin Rd., Newton, next Wednesday, December 13. Feature attraction will be a beautifully produced film made in Israel, by and with Israelis, according to President Mrs. John L. Freedman.

The sound and color film is titled "The Goal Is Peace," and received great acclaim at the national Hadassah convention in Miami last September. Mrs. Abraham Woolfe, director of leadership training classes for Boston Hadassah will comment on the film. This is its first showing on a group level.

Study group leaders will be honored at this meeting and their chairman, Mrs. Ellis Gordon will introduce her co-workers to the group. Mrs. Richard Kaye will report on American-Zionist affairs. Mrs. Arthur Brown, former Newton president, will give a Bible reading appropriate to this holiday season.

All who desire to join a study group are advised to contact Mrs. Ellis Gordon, Mrs. Richard Kaye or Mrs. John F. Freedman.

College Prof Compliments Newton High Faculty 'Pros'

By KATE SOLOMON

Newton High craves experiment and innovation. It has established the Murray Road School. It has formed a course in linguistics and in philosophy. It has begun to hold after school classes. It has decided to follow a trimester program. And for the second consecutive year, it has temporarily added a college professor to its faculty.

Dr. Frank Bliss, who is taking a leave of absence from Davidson College in North Carolina, teaches at Newton High one advanced placement English class and the senior assessment course. At Davidson, Dr. Bliss is a Professor of Shakespeare and of modern poetry, and is chairman of the sophomore humanities department.

In addition to Davidson College, Dr. Bliss has instructed at Princeton University for six years, University of Oregon for four years, Saint Louis College for three years and University of Minnesota for one year.

The chief difference between college and high school students, according to Dr. Bliss, is that high schoolers lack one to three years of school experience. "The result of this," he commented, "is that the questions posed by the students are not always as probing and stimulating, and the students are not as ready or as willing to accept responsibility."

Dr. Bliss finds that there is a tendency for the college professor to ignore the individual student. "At Newton High, on the other hand, I have witnessed classes conducted in a leisurely relaxed manner where the teacher personally relates to each student," remarked Dr. Bliss. He feels however that for the most part there is as much individual attention at colleges as there ought to be.

Dr. Bliss is veritably impressed by the "professionalism" of the Newton High faculty. He notes the extreme willingness and high ability of NHS teachers to teach and to assume responsibility. "This is unusual," Dr. Bliss explained, "and is the highest compliment I could possibly pay them."

"I am impressed by the principal, the department heads, the housemasters, and the overall devotion to education they all manifest," Dr. Bliss went on to say. "I have known college presidents who do not possess the powers of communication Dr. Brown and other administrators have," he added.

Comparing the NHS faculty to those of colleges, Dr. Bliss maintained that teachers at Newton High School discuss education more frequently. "NHS teachers are continually relating to each other their classroom experiences and seek help and new ideas from each other," he said. "They examine together their educational frustrations and problems."

The Senior Assessment class, taught by Dr. Bliss, is presently studying poetry. The class is a regular senior English class until the second half of the year. In the spring, the students will be afforded a much greater share in the responsibility of their own education. They will study their past education and will attempt to discover what they have "learned," and how to use knowledge and skills gained in other classes. "The class program will be completely flexible," Dr. Bliss commented. "It may be somewhat like Murray Road."

Dr. Bliss, in addition to teaching Senior Assessment and AP English, instructs around thirty-five Newton High and Newton South teachers on the subject of modern poetry.

According to him, the purpose of the seminar is to furnish teachers with the opportunity to learn more than they know now about poetry without sacrificing a year of teaching. The class, one-third lecture and two-thirds discussion, is held once a week from 3:15-4:30. The teachers are given homework and often read beyond what is assigned.

So far this year, Dr. Bliss has gained new understanding in teaching techniques and has become more aware of distinctions among various age and ability groups. "I enjoy both living and teaching in Newton," he commented.

LETTER

Questions Remark

Editor of The Graphic:

For some time now the statement made by a responsible educator who is an Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Newton has troubled me greatly. Since this statement has been widely quoted and appeared again only recently, I feel that the time has come to share my concerns with reference to the statement "I'd rather have a teacher I can't keep than one I can't get rid of."

This statement carries with it the implication that the only good teacher is one who has so much potential and such a variety of interests that we cannot possibly expect him or her to remain in the classroom setting. At the other end of the spectrum is the implication that those who choose to remain in the classroom may not be worth having there.

I do not argue with the possible validity of either premise but I would like to suggest that, with a slight change in our hiring philosophy and a more basic change in our teacher development and tenure granting procedures, we should be able to attract extremely able people who, while wanting to grow and expand professionally, are nevertheless committed to doing so within the context of our school system.

We should also be in a position to grant tenure only to those teachers we consider to have a true degree of excellence and a keen awareness of the necessity for change and growth.

It would seem to me that the teacher turnover situation might be improved and the quality of professionalism enhanced in Newton were the administration to take the more constructive position of seeking out those people of excellent potential who are truly committed to a career in teaching. Furthermore, since "the teacher we can't get rid of" is one we put there ourselves, should we not look to ourselves for improvement in teacher development. More in-depth work in this area would not only benefit the teacher upon whom we plan to confer tenure status but would also provide a sounder base on which to make tenure determination.

A true teacher is, in many regards, a student, constantly interested in learning and always endeavoring to grow in both general knowledge and skill. In this context, then, it seems inappropriate to state that "I would rather have a teacher I can't keep than one I can't get rid of" since a good teacher will be a wiser teacher the second year than the first and should be provided the opportunity to continue that growth through succeeding years.

Yule Boutique By Janet Stuart Guild Dec. 9th

Several area residents are planning a Christmas boutique sponsored by the Janet Stuart Guild, Dec. 9 in the Chapel Hall at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The boutique, featuring hand-carved figurines from Germany, beilek China and Waterford crystal as well as holiday decorations, will open at noon under the direction of Mrs. Robert J. Kelley of 103 Follen road, Lexington and Mrs. Charles E. Powell of Boston. A dessert bridge will follow at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Ernest A. Comeau of 25 Perry lane, Weston, general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas J. McTiernan of 21 Oak Hill road, Wayland, as co-chairman. Bone china cups and saucers will double as centerpieces and table prizes, and a number of useful and decorative gifts have been gathered by Mrs. Edward C. Becherer of 11 Linder terrace, Newton.

Mrs. Edward T. O'Neill of Milton, ticket chairman, requests that reservations be made by contacting Newton College.

Visitation Day At VA Hospitals

Sunday (Dec. 3) was DAV visitation day at all VA Hospitals throughout the Commonwealth, and Chelsea Soldiers Home and Holyoke Soldiers Home.

Commanders, Joseph Volpe and Auxiliary Commander Margaret G. Sharron led a group of the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter No. 23, D.A.V., Newton, Members, on a tour which began with a Memorial Mass Sunday, Dec. 3, at 9:00 a.m. in the Chapel of Boston VA Hospital. The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Antonio M. Kandrae. The sermon was given by Rev. Carl E. Bergstrom. Following the Mass breakfast was served and National Commander, Francis Beaton of South Dakota was the principal speaker.

The group distributed presents to patients at this Hospital and proceeded to Chelsea Soldiers Home to visit and gave out gift packages. This was followed by a Silver Tea Party presided over by State Aux. Comdr. Irene F. Atwood.

FEATURED PLAYERS IN SHOW — Morton Nesson, Marilyn Krassin, Daniel Kosow and Arnold Felton, left to right, are featured performers in "Catch Me If You Can" the Broadway success to be staged on December 8 and 9 at the Meadowbrook Junior High School by The Country Players of Newton.

Curtain Goes Up Tomorrow Night On Country Players' Comedy Hit

The Boston premiere of the Broadway success "Catch Me If You Can" will be staged and produced by The Country Players of Newton, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9, at Meadowbrook Junior High School, Meadowbrook road, Newton Centre, at 8:30 p.m.

The mystery-comedy, directed by Joel Dorfman of Chestnut Hill, features Daniel Kosow, Marilyn Krassin, Arnold Felton, Samson X. Greiff, Morton Nesson, Norman Leader and Pat Pellows.

For the Players, Daniel Kosow essayed the lead roles of Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls," the devil Mr. Applegate in "Damn Yankees," Judge Aristide Forestiere in "Can Can" and appeared in their mini-musical revue "The Ones That Stopped The Show."

He directed the one-act plays "Dinner for One" and "Suppressed Desires" and, for Boston University Workshop, "The Visit." While assistant producer of the Falmouth Playhouse, he appeared in the national touring company of "The Best Man," which starred Frank Lovejoy and Sheppard Strudwick.

Recently he did extra work in the Steve McQueen film "Thomas Crown and Company" and worked for six weeks as stand-in for character actor Leon Janney in the Cliff Robertson film "Charly."

He has authored a number of original revues, as well as the libretto for the original musical comedy "The Wicked Picket Fence."

Marilyn Krassin, a newcomer to the Players, is a graduate of Ithaca College's department of speech, where she appeared in "Antigone," "Lady Macbeth," "Kassandra" and as Judith in "The Devil's Disciple."

In three seasons with the Malden Bridge Playhouse in New York, she played Elaine Harper in "Arsenic and Old Lace," Rebecca Gibbs in "Our Town," Fifi in "Love Rides the Rails," Pat Stanley in "The Male Animal," Susan in "Detective Story," Stella Livingston in "Light Up the Sky," Margaret in "A Hasty Heart," Donovan (Good Fairy) in "Love of Four Colonels," Miss Trapp in "Silver Whistle," Patty in "The Moon Is Blue," Jenny Gregory in "Holly and the Ivy," Miss Willie in "Curious Savage," Miss Metcalf in "Dark of the Moon" and Edith Chauvenet in "Harvey."

Arnold Felton has appeared with the Players as Joe Boyd in "Damn Yankees," Matthew Harrison Brady in "Inherit the Wind," J. B. Bigley in "How to Succeed etc." and in the two-character, one-act "Dinner for One." He also directed "Can Can" for the group, he worked as producer, actor and director, with the musical plays "Guys and Dolls," "Wish You Were Here," "Kiss Me Kate" and "Damn Yankees" among his credits.

Samson X. Greiff appeared in "Damn Yankees," "Janus" and as the judge in "Inherit the Wind" for the Players, his last role being Boris in "Can Can." For the M.I.T. Community Players he played the first gangster in "Kiss Me Kate" and Krank in "The Waters of Babylon" and with the Phoenix Players, he portrayed General St. Pe in "Waltz of the Toreadors," Marco in "A View from the Bridge" and Irving LaSalle in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

Morton Nesson played the jailer in the Player production of "Can Can," and previous credits include Pappy Yokum in "L'il Abner" and the lead asking that the "bank" of sick days over the year be reduced by one half at retirement, with the city paying a day's pay for one half of the total.

Police are allowed 15 sick days a year.

A ruling on court time is sought. Now the system is confused, with the city paying for some of the time and the county for other time.

Another request is for a $50 longevity bonus for each five years of service, with a maximum of $300.

There has been no indication of how the city fathers will regard the request. Mayor Basbas did say, however, that the increases in the cost of living over the past year would certainly have some effect on the city's decisions.

role in an original one-acter, "Just Around the Corner."

The appearance of Norman Leader will be his seventh under the Player banner. He worked in "A Streetcar Named Desire," "Almost Damn Yankees (spoof)," "Mother Pepper's Penguins," "A View from the Bridge," "How to Succeed etc." and as Harry in "Stalag 17." He also appeared in "The Tender Trap" with the Hovey Players.

For the Players, Pat Pellows directed and was featured in the one-act "The Fumed Oak," appeared in the one-act "Dinner for One" and did a cameo role in "How to Succeed etc." Previous credits include the roles of Edith in "Never Too Late" for the Circle Players, Kate in "Taming of the Shrew" and the title role in "Elizabeth the Queen" for the Revere Thespians, mother in "The Inspector Calls" and the lead in "The Vinegar Tree" for Tufts Arena Theatre.

She wrote and directed the musical shows "Rumana Mania" and "Rumana Stew" and her film credits include "Thomas Crown and Company" and the role of Mrs. Nemur in "Charly." Mrs. Pellows also does one-woman revues and radio commercials for local programming.

Italian Gourmet Machines Now On Library Exhibit

The Bon Appetit foreign-restaurant display continues this week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, with a unique and handsome display of Italian gourmet machines and recipes from all over the world.

The imported machines are on loan from the Cross Hardware Company in the Italian community of the North End of Boston. A gleaming pasta machine (Spaghetti maker), pizzelle iron, espresso coffee makers, pizza cutter and tray, coffee grinder, pepper mill, and ravioli makers are among the Italian imports which local housewives may see at the Library.

Authentic recipes for tortellini, pizelles, lasagne, capuccino, egg pasta, and other specialties are also available to Library patrons.

A complementary grouping from the Library's extensive cookbook collection is displayed with the machines from Italy. Menus from the Italian Line, ship Raffaello add a mouth-watering note to the entire exhibit, which will remain on view through early December.

Beethoven School Students Stage Gay Holiday Program

The entire Beethoven School met in the auditorium Wednesday (Nov. 22) for a special Thanksgiving Day program. It began with everyone singing "America."

Under the supervision of Miss Louise Butler and Mrs. Lynn Lampert, the two first grades presented a play called "The First Thanksgiving" which integrated dancing, singing and the playing of musical instruments.

Mrs. Joan Bauer's kindergarten class then sang "Thanksgiving Day is Coming" accompanied by Mrs. Bauer singing and playing her guitar.

Grades two through six each sang a song including "Hop Up My Ladies," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Thanksgiving Song" (written by Lydia Shields) and "Harvest."

After the song fest, a group of fifth and sixth graders presented an original play explaining why we should be thankful for many things in America today as compared with the time of the pilgrims.

The sixth grade girls who produced this play are Leslie Davis, Diane Bronstein, Amy Kahn, Debbie Grossman, Barbara Manes and Sheryl Kandler.

The entire production, acting and set decoration was the work of the fifth and sixth grade students. Faculty supervision was provided by Miss Judith Imperato and Mrs. Barbara Grupp.

The program then concluded with a medley of songs by the chorus.

The entire program was directed by Mrs. Lois Lemons, the music consultant, and Miss Lydia Shields, who instructed and led the Beethoven chorus.

An Evening Of Glamour To Be Held Dec. 12th

"An Evening of Glamour" will be held by the Guild of St. Francis, Sacred Heart Parish, Newton Centre, Tuesday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in the Bishop MacKenzie Center.

The program, presented by Miss Iris Hale, will include application of make-up, hair care and styling and the current "look" and wardrobe line. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. William Dobson.

Mrs. David McAvinn and Mrs. John Walsh are co-chairmen of the evening.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Report -

remodel the school would cost $1,220,000. A new building, including a $30,000 demolition fee, would cost the city $985,000. The gross cost of a new building would be $1,590,000 but the state would contribute $635,000, said.

In evaluating the building for usefulness, the architects said the classrooms are amply sized and well proportioned. "However, there are relatively few of them and they are located in small groups which affects their flexibility."

The school auditorium, the architects said, now seats about 600 but at least one third of the seats have poor acoustics or sightlines, and the gymnasium "unfortunately has columns which interrupt the free space areas."

The report noted that "while there is sufficient educational area to locate a single Academic House in this building, by using the gym area as classrooms, along with the existing classroom areas, such a configuration would neither reflect the educational philosophy of the house system, nor function efficiently in a coherent educational pattern."

In conclusion, the architects said, "the building does not lend itself to economical layout of compatible educational spaces because of the structural and plan configuration."

Finally, those functions which the building can house efficiently and comfortably do not belong in a location remote from the new center of academic activity, which it appears would be the case if they were located in Building 3."

The firm told the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen it was their belief that if somebody else were to prepare an analysis of the building "on the basis of a different set of standards, professional or not, we feel strongly that their conclusions would weigh heavily on the disadvantage side of the scale."

Public Buildings Committee Chairman Melvin Dangel said the Committee will hold a meeting at the high school to discuss the report further before making recommendations. He invited the full Board of Aldermen to attend.

Republican Club Meets On Dec. 20 With Full Agenda

The Executive Committee of the Newton Republican Club will meet Dec. 20 to consider a detailed agenda plus "matters of considerable importance," according to Rep. Theodore D. Mann, club president.

In addition to regular organizational matters, Representative Mann said the session will discuss the annual Lincoln Day Dinner scheduled for Feb. 14.

The treasurer of the dinner and chairman of the committees associated with it will submit reports covering their activities.

The meeting also will consider appointment of a new nominating committee and the annual awards committee.

Donna Wilson Becomes Mrs. Joseph Kaminski

Miss Donna Jean Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Emanuela Magnano Wilson of Andover, became the bride of Joseph Charles Kaminski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaminski of Newton Centre at a recent four o'clock nuptials at St. Augustine's Church in Andover.

MRS. JOSEPH C. KAMINSKI

The Rev. James A. Wenzel officiated at the double ring ceremony. White chrysanthemums and candles alternately decorated the pews leading to the altar which was banked with palms and mums for the candlelight ceremony. A reception was held at the Lanam Club, Andover.

Escorted by her uncle, Mr. John H. Privitera, the bride was attired in a white antique slub satin gown fashioned with an A-line skimmer silhouette featuring a scoop neckline. Italian braid edged the long semi-fitted sleeves and hemline of her skirt. The detachable Watteau train was chapel length.

For her "something old" she chose a cathedral length heirloom mantilla of Belgian lace belonging to her aunt, Mrs. John H. Privitera. A white Duchess rose completed her costume.

Mrs. Walter McHendry of East Hartford, Ct., was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Clark of Boston, Miss Elaine Jette of Attleboro, Mrs. Veronica McCormack of Hopkington, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Leonard Sarver of Manchester, N.H.

The best man was George Melanson, Steve Heilman, Edward Hunt, Bruce Kerry and Ronald Sunde, all of Boston, were the ushers.

Following a trip to the Virgin Islands, the couple will live at the Fairlawn Apartments, in Mattapan.

The bride, a graduate of the Andover schools and Chamberlain Junior College, is an assistant buyer for Filene's in Boston.

Mr. Kaminski, a graduate of Newton High School, is associated with the National Cash Register in Boston.

In 1841, Albert, Queen Victoria's husband, presented his young wife with a Christmas tree—the first ever seen in Windsor Castle. The tree custom then spread throughout England.

Newt. Community Club Arranges President's Day

President's Day for the Newton Community Club has been set for next Thursday (Dec. 14) at Fellowship Hall at the Eliot Congregational Church. Coffee and dessert will be served from 1 until 2 o'clock. Past Presidents Adelaide Ball, Mrs. Morgan Campbell, June Graham and Mrs. John Van Bael will pour.

The guests will include Mrs. George Low, Twelfth District Director; Twelfth District Presidents, Mrs. Spencer Deming, President of Newton Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, President of Twelfth District Past President's Club; Ladies of the Cheerful Club and Ladies of the Stone Institute.

A Christmas Musical program will be given by Mr. Ivan Oak, tenor, and Mrs. Susan Oak, pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Oak are very gifted young people and have been enthusiastically received wherever they have appeared.

"Foreign Flavor" For Sisterhood Event Dec. 20th

The Sisterhood of Temple Reyim of Newton opens up a new world on Wednesday (Dec. 20) when they present "International Day." A luncheon with a foreign flavor will be served and boutiques from many lands around the world will be sold beginning at 11:30 a.m.

"Jewish Life Around The World" is the theme of the program which will feature four charming, articulate women who will describe their lives as young Jewish girls growing up in far off corners of the world. They will discuss their education, home life and their Jewish communities.

Mrs. Nathaniel Rosenberg, Egypt; Mrs. Rubin Brown, India; Mrs. Leslie Silverstone, Israel; and Mrs. Charles Trey of South Africa are the speakers.

Mrs. Murray Yogel and Mrs. Arthur Kaufman are co-chairmen in charge of the program. All members and friends are cordially invited.

Infantidings

Their sixth child, fifth son, Michael King, was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Edward Dorr (Mary Louise King) at the Cardinal Cushing Pavilion.

Charlene Judith Robbins Weds James Edward Miller

Miss Charlene Judith Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Robbins of 76 Rosemary street, Needham, became the bride of Mr. James Edward Miller of Newton Highlands, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman O. Miller, at a noon ceremony on Saturday, November 4, in the Carter Memorial Methodist Church, Needham.

A reception at Amaru's Restaurant in Dedham followed the wedding ceremony. The bride wore a floor-length gown of white brushed brocade with an empire waist. The elbow-length sleeves and scoop neckline were trimmed in white mink, and the A-line skirt had a detachable train at the waist. Her headpiece was a matching pillbox made of the same material as the gown, with an elbow-length veil.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white stephanotis with a center white orchid set on white mink. Ushers included Mr. Paul Sharpe, Mr. Paul Boucher and Mr. Bruce Robbins, brother of the bride. Serving as best man for his brother-in-law was Mr. Joseph Rizzo. Mrs. Bruce Robbins, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Hrinak and Mrs. Joseph Rizzo, sister of the bridegroom, with the bride's cousin, Miss Debra Rogers, as junior bridesmaid.

Upon returning from a two-week honeymoon in Jamaica, West Indies, the couple will take up residence in Newton Highlands.

For her going away ensemble, the bride chose a deep raspberry wool suit with a dark mink collar and matching mink hat with black lizard accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Chandler School for Women and is employed as a secretary at Sylvia in Needham. The bridegroom is a foreman on the Highway Department for the Town of Needham.

Climb Aboard, Kids For Holiday Tours

The Newton Community Center this week announced its "Holiday Trip Program" for children in kindergarten through grade six.

The program, designed to provide children with stimulating activities during their vacation days, will be held Dec. 26 through Dec. 29.

Half-day trips of the Boston area are divided into two sections: Section A, "Live and Stuffed Animals," include children in kindergarten through grade three.

On Tuesday, Dec. 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. this group will tour the Animal Rescue League and on Thursday, Dec. 28, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. it will tour the Harvard University Museum of Comparative Zoology.

At the Animal Rescue League "Section A" will visit the pet placement, stray ward, feeding and exercising areas and see a movie.

At Harvard's Zoology Museum the youngsters will view a 42-foot fossil, dinosaurs, rhinoceros, elephants, kangaroos, deer, whale skeletons, insects, fishes and reptiles.

Section B will cover children in grades three through six and will feature an examination of the food industry.

On Tuesday, Dec. 26, from 12:45 p.m. to 3 p.m. children will tour the Hood Milk Co. and view a slide show of the process of milk from farm to plant.

The youngsters also will have an inside look at pasteurizers, homogenizers, miles of glass pipes carrying milk, cartoning, bottling and loading milk.

On Thursday, Dec. 28, these same children in "Section B" will go to the Continental Baking Co., reportedly the largest bakery in the world.

At Continental they will watch the making of bread, rolls, and muffins, cakes, doughnuts and other novelties through machines designed for mixing, rising, baking, cooling, slicing and wrapping products, all automatically.

And hear this, boys and girls, SAMPLES are included on the trips to Hood's and Continental.

Sorry, "Section A," we doubt there'll be any samples at the Animal Rescue League or the Harvard Museum of Comparative Zoology.

In addition to the half-day trips there are two full day trips planned for the youngsters.

Section C covers children in kindergarten through grade six and looks into the "World of Science." On this trip the boys and girls will tour the Museum of Science including a Hayden Planetarium Show, live animal shows and numerous exhibits.

The Science Museum, located in downtown Boston, is a "see-and-touch" museum where children can steer their own ship, hear their own telephone voices and play tic-tac-toe with a computer.

Children must bring lunch money for this trip because lunch bags are not allowed in the museum. The date for the museum is Wednesday, Dec. 27, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Section D introduces children to the "World of Politics and the Theatre."

(Ed. Note: Perhaps the coupling of titles is coincidence, but it is rather fitting.)

The Section D tour is open to youngsters in kindergarten through grade six. This trip is set for Friday, Dec. 29, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

The day will begin with a tour of the State House, including the Hall of Flags, legislative chambers, Governor's Council and Governor's Office.

Children must bring their own lunch because there are no cafeteria facilities at the State House.

If time permits the youngsters also will have an opportunity to view the animated store windows on Boston's Washington street.

At 2:30 p.m. the boys and girls will attend the matinee performance of "The Golden Goose" performed by the Children's Theatre of Boston.

Groups are limited and registrations must be made before Dec. 20. Parents interested in their children participating in the program should contact the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry street, West Newton.

The groups will be led and directed by Mrs. Murray Janow, creative art director at the Center.

Bob Cat Pack Meeting Has Tribal Dances

DANIEL G. PARTAN

Role Of UN In Vietnam To Be Discussed Here

Can the UN play a definitive role in solving the Vietnam conflict? Are there avenues as yet untried which the international agency can fruitfully explore? What barriers to proposed solutions might the United Nations encounter?

These and other questions of similar urgency will be investigated on Tuesday, December 12, when Dr. Daniel G. Partan conducts an open public lecture "Vietnam and the U.N." under the sponsorship of the Newton Community Peace Center. The meeting is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. at the Eliot Church, 474 Centre St., Newton Corner.

Dr. Partan, an associate Professor at the Boston University School of Law, is a specialist in legal problems of disarmament, international organization and the development of world order. He is also a research associate of Duke University's Rule of Law Research Center.

A resident of Brookline, Dr. Partan received the A.B. degree from Cornell University and the LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Harvard University. He is the author of numerous publications, including "Legal Aspects of the Vietnam Conflict" and "Peaceful Settlement and the Cold War." The Newton Community Peace Center, sponsor of Dr. Partan's lecture, is a nonprofit educational organization working to increase public understanding throughout the Newtons on major issues of war and peace.

Gamma Phi Beta Party

The annual holiday cocktail-dinner party of the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority for West Suburban Boston is scheduled for Thursday (Dec. 14) at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. James E. Munro of 57 Whiting road, Wellesley.

Newton area members include Mrs. Wilbur Lindquist, Mrs. Albert Burgess, Mrs. Thomas Gephart, Mrs. Lorenz Muther, Mrs. Roger L. Billings and Miss Marjorie White.

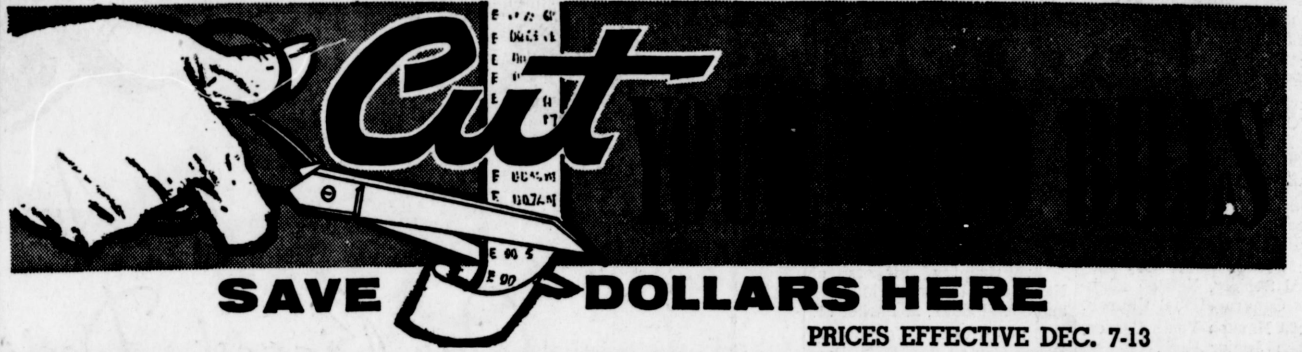

Husbands of the members will be guests for the evening. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Joseph Benotti in Weston.

Wrestling, Hockey Teams Prepare For Opening Tilts

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The Newton South wrestling and hockey teams commenced practice and tryouts last week for their winter seasons, and now, all Lion teams have begun preparations for their opening games. The grapplers have a new coach this season in Aredis Kojoyian, who succeeded George Winkler, and inherits much of the squad which ran up an impressive 8-2 mark last season, and advanced to the semi-finals of the regional championships before being upended by Brookline. The Lions will get another shot at the always strong Brookline early this season, but they have other things to worry about in the persons of Melrose who handed the Lions their other defeat last season, and Westford.

But the Lions have the personnel back to cope with the tough schedule which faces them. Undeclared Captain Lou DiFazio heads the list of returnees. Ned McDonald, Marshall Winn, Marty Leventhal, Neil Appelbaum, Frank Vespa, and Danny Mendelson are other varsity men back. Some help should also come from last year's strong JV.

The wrestlers should be able to duplicate, if not surpass last season's accomplishments.

Coach William Jesdale's hockey squad has lost six important figures from last year's drive to a 7-5-2 mark (the best ever recorded by the Lion icemen) which fell just short of an invitation to the state tourney. However, twelve skaters, including star goalie, Dave Roberts, returns. In front of him, the eleven others, Biff Wisner, Tom Rezzuti, Jack Dunnigan, Jim Spinks, Gary Mescon, Ron Nelson, Brad Graham, Andy Schwartz, Alan Frazer, Chris Schouff, and Kevin Quinn, will battle it out for the five remaining starting spots.

The Suburban Cross-Country League banquet took place on November 28 at the JFK Memorial Junior High School, Waltham.

Following the chicken dinner, each coach was called upon to say a few words about the season past and their expectations for next season, as Waltham coach Lee Gould acted as MC.

Next came the presentation of medals to the twenty top finishers in the JV and varsity races of the Suburban League Meet, and trophies to the top teams.

Waltham received a trophy for its undefeated 7-0 season. But Newton High earned two, one each for its first place finishes in the JV and varsity races. The Tigers capped the varsity race with a low score of 23 points and the JV with 32 points. Waltham was second in each race with 52 and 48 points, respectively.

The medal winners were dominated by Newton High and Waltham, as together they captured 24 of the 40 prizes.

TEAM MEDALS
Newton 14, Waltham 10, Medford 5, Malden 4, Arlington 4, Newton South 2, Everett 1, Revere 0.

YOUNG CONCERT MASTER — Richard Perles, 10 years old, a student at the Mason-Rice School in Newton Centre, and concert master of the All-Newton Elementary School Orchestra, was featured on Tuesday night program in Waltham.

10-Year-Old Violinist Is Soloist At Musical Event

Violin solos by the youngest directed by Miss Ruth Spencer. All are of Waltham.

Young Perles, concert master of the All-Newton Elementary School Orchestra, is a member of the New England Conservatory Youth Orchestra and is first violinist of the Junior String Ensemble for the Conservatory. He has won several prizes and certificates for performances in the Massachusetts Music Teachers Association Contest and the Massachusetts Federation of Music Clubs Junior Festivals. He studies violin with Mrs. Linwood D. Scriven and piano with Miss Nitkin, both of the Boston Community Music Center.

The youth's selections included "Sonata No. 4 in E Minor" by Mozart, "Berceuse" by Reber and "Presto" from "Concerto in A Minor" by Vivaldi.

Miss D'Entremont has studied with Mrs. Etta Randal of Waltham and Chloe Owen and Robert Gartside, both of Boston University. She has performed as a church soloist and at local concerts.

Accompanied by Miss Alice Martin, Waltham, Miss D'Entremont sang "I Attempt From Love's Sickness to Fly" by Purcell, "Ridente la Calma" by Mozart, and "C'est Mon Ami" arranged by Bainbridge Crist.

Welts, a Waltham High School senior, has studied flute for eight years. He has been a member of the Junior Youth Symphony Orchestra of Greater Boston for two years and was selected principal flutist in the 1967 Massachusetts All-State Band.

Muise has studied piano with both Mrs. Hope Petrie, Waltham, and Armando Arena, Brookline, and organ with C. Martin Steinmetz and Brian Jones. He has performed as a substitute organist at churches in Reading, Medford, Dedham and Waltham. In addition, he has given recitals in Reading and for the Harvard Musical Association.

Welts and Muise, playing together, presented "Sonata for Flute and Piano" by Francis Poulenc.

Miss Spencer, professional accompanist organist, is also affiliated with the music program at Beth Eden Baptist Church, Waltham. She teaches piano privately and also at the All-Newton Music School.

The chorus selections included "God Give Ye Merry Christmas Tide" (old English), "Beside Thy Cradle Here I Stand" by J. S. Bach, "Polish Carol" arranged by Norman Coke-Jephcott, "What Can This Mean" by F. Broadus Staley, "Jesus, Thou Dear Babe Divine" arranged by Clarence Dickinson, and "Listen Lord Unto Me."

The Waltham Music Club, now in its 78th year, will continue its free monthly concert series in the Sears Gallery through next June.

Theatre Artisan To Speak At Country Players Event

Mrs. Barbara L. Horrigan, past president of the Arlington Friends of the Drama and co-author of the Friends "Handbook of Stage Craft," will be guest speaker at a meeting of The Country Players of Newton, Tuesday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m., at the Parker House recreation hall, 21 Parker street, Newton Centre. Topic of her lecture will be "The Essentials for Producing Musicals," accompanied by colored film slides.

President of the Players is Daniel Kosow and program chairman is Susan Crawford. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Malcolm Kates, Mrs. Richard Thorman and Mrs. Ronald Wilson. A social hour will follow the meeting and guests and friends are invited.

Flaschner Edges Hopkins In Vote For Alderm'n VP

Four ballots were necessary last week before the election of the vice president of the Board of Aldermen was settled. The victor was Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner who edged out Alderman William E. Hopkins by four votes.

Wendall R. Bauckman was elected unanimously to his 11th term of Board president. His reelection was expected and he wasn't opposed.

Hopkins was a surprise starter in the contest for vice-president of the Board. He had exhibited no outward interest in the nomination but was backed on the first ballot by eight aldermen.

On the first ballot, Flaschner got 10 votes, Auryansen, the alderman who was expected to give him the biggest battle, got five votes, and Alderman Melvin Dangel got one vote, while Hopkins had eight.

In the second ballot, Dangel lost his one vote and it was picked up by Hopkins. On the third ballot, Flaschner picked up two more votes, Auryansen lost two votes, and Hopkins remained at nine.

On the fourth and final ballot, Flaschner got two more of Auryansen's votes, Hopkins got one, and the final tally was Flaschner, 14, Hopkins, 10.

The contest proved to be one of the more interesting on the Board in some time because during the past few years, an obvious change in the Board makeup. New faces have been appearing on the Board, five, in fact, this year, and, naturally, old ties are fading away.

Kolack To Speak To B'nai Brith

The regular breakfast meeting of Service Lodge No. 2277 of B'nai Brith will be held this Sunday (Dec. 10) followed by a speech by Sol Kolack, Director of the Boston office of the Anti-Defamation League. His subject will be "Is Anti-Semitism Dead? Do We Still Need the Anti-Defamation League?"

Dieting members and those who are not attracted by lox and eggs are urged to come enter the meal and hear this interesting talk by this exceptionally qualified speaker.

Christmas Party

The December meeting of the West Newton Educational Garden Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Stone at 90 Adella avenue, West Newton next Monday (Dec. 11) at noon. This meeting will be a Christmas party.

Four Injured In Weekend Auto Crashes

Four persons were injured slightly in accidents in Newton over the past weekend.

Daniel Tocci, 17, of 2057 Commonwealth ave., suffered cuts and bruises when his car collided head-on Friday night with another auto at South ave. and Ridgeway rd. The driver of the second car James L. Baker, of 28 Brady rd., Weston, was uninjured.

In another two car accident, John Ventole, 20, of Dedham, sustained slight contusions to his chest when his car collided with an auto operated by Bruce Plotnick, of 188 Quinobequin rd., Waban.

A passenger in Ventole's car, George Laridis, 19, of Hyde Park, received shoulder bruises. He and Ventole were both treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and later released.

The collision occurred at Walnut and Solon sts., Newton Highlands, Saturday night. Sunday, Rose Hillson, 71, of 37 Kensington ave., Newton, suffered a possible concussion and a lacerated nose after her car hit a tree near 136 Cherry st., West Newton. Newton-Wellesley Hospital officials reported her in good condition on Monday.

A passenger in the car, Rose Whitfield, 50, of the same address, received slight head contusions. She was treated at the hospital and later released.

CHAIRMAN — Mrs. Abraham D. Gosman, of West Newton, has been appointed chairman of the Brookline Hospital Women's Auxiliary Program Book which has a goal of $25,000.

Wentworth Enrollees

Several Waban students have enrolled in Wentworth Institute in Boston for the 1967-68 academic year according to an announcement by Dr. H. Russell Beatty, Wentworth president.

Newton residents are alerted to the registration dates (Jan. 10 to Jan. 24) for the new daytime Adult Education Program by Anthony J. Bibbo, ACSW, Executive Director of the Newton Community Center, Inc.

Mrs. M. Karen Wright of the center staff is coordinating the new activity. She has announced the names of Mrs. Susan Cornillon, Ann Sonz, John Cornillon and Barry Jackson as the teaching faculty, in response to the large number of requests for daytime classes.

Mrs. Wright said that classes would include: The History and Practice of Art, a course in modern intellectual and artistic trends in which students will be encouraged to paint or sculpt their interpretations of these movements.

The American Novel Since 1850, including reading and discussion of the works of such contemporary novelists as Norman Mailer, James Jones, Saul Bellow, William Styron, and others.

Living Drama, covering critical examination and dramatic interpretation of plays by Tennessee Williams, Edward Albee, Archibald MacLeish, and others.

The Art and Practice of the Journal, a course in which students will be encouraged to keep their own journals while examining works of well-known journalists from VanGogh to Pope John XXIII.

Short Story Workshop, which will concentrate on encouraging and discussing student short stories with readings in the works of Katherine Mansfield, Flannery O'Connor, Bernard Malamud, John Updike, etc.

Poetry Workshop, a course primarily concerned with student work with readings of Frost, Stevens, Lowell, etc. considered as they pertain to particular interests of the class.

Mrs. Cornillon, who will teach courses in the Short Story Workshop and the Journal, has had a wide variety of teaching experience, and her education provides her with a strong foundation for her subject matter. Her own writing has been published extensively.

Miss Sonz, who will teach Living Drama and the American Novel courses, also has a strong teaching and educational background and has been involved in the drama as both actress and director.

Mr. Cornillon, who will teach the Art History course is an experienced art and art history teacher, has worked extensively with experimental cinema and has several one-man photography shows in New York.

Mr. Jackson, who will teach the Poetry Workshop, has directed many small study groups in contemporary poetry and has a translation of Spanish poetry in publication and a novel in progress.

For a brochure on these classes, please contact the Newton Community Center at 244-2260.

Newton "Y" Swim Team In 1st Loss

The Newton YMCA Class D (boys 10 years and under) lost its first swim meet of the season to Hyde Park last Saturday (Dec. 2), despite efforts by Neil Drobnis, who took two first places each in the 80 yard individual medley and in the 100 yard freestyle events, two tough races for a youngster.

Jon Wish took second in both the 20 yd. freestyle & 20 yd. backstroke events; newcomer Scott Remsey placed third in the 20 yd. breast stroke event. Although he did not place, 8 yr. old Howard Silverstein deserves credit for his effort in the 20 yd. butterfly. He lost by .3 of a second.

The Hyde Park Y.M.C.A. did not have Class C (boys 11 & 12) nor Class B (boys 13-14) teams. Thus Newton's B & C teams remained idle.

Any boy from the ages of 8-17 who desires to join the swim team must do so before January 15, 1968. Contact the Physical Department at the Newton Y.M.C.A. 244-6050.

The rogues from a far-away land are portrayed by Ellie Bell at left and Bettie Copplestone at right. The play will be performed at 1:30 at the Cabot School, Newtonville on Dec. 9. The performance is sponsored by the Cabot School PTA.

Newton Burglary Trail Points To Billerica Jail

Investigators were trying to determine today if two inmates of the Billerica House of Correction are using the institution as a solid alibi-base for outside forays in crime.

Suspicion of the pair's activities was raised by Newton police earlier this week while checking on a burglary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ohrenberger, 40 Judith rd., Newton Centre.

The pattern of the robbery was exactly the same as a man serving time at Billerica for another burglary.

The coincidence of methods so startled Newton detectives that they requested House of Correction officials to check if the convict was still in the prison.

According to Newton authorities, the check revealed the man and his roommate were not in their beds and the beds were fixed to appear as though they were occupied. A further check by guards located the two prisoners in the institution's kitchen.

The pair allegedly told guards they couldn't sleep and had gone to the kitchen to have a cup of coffee. The time was about 3:30 a.m., an hour and a half after Mrs. Ohrenberger awoke to find an intruder in her bedroom.

She screamed and the intruder, whom she saw only as a menacing shape, fled. Her screams awoke her husband sleeping in a twin bed beside her. He didn't see the intruder but summoned police immediately.

Police arrived within three minutes. It was then discovered that a wallet containing $10 and personal papers was missing. It was later found near daybreak on Walnut st., about a half mile from her home.

Detectives found that the intruder entered the house through a bathroom window. They said he apparently left the premises through the front door which he had taken the precaution to unlatch as soon as he had made entry into the house.

Newton police officials expressed grave concern over the bizarre circumstances of the case.

"If what began as a suspicion eventually turns out to be true, those Billerica inmates have solved the answer to a criminal's dream — the perfect alibi," they said.

When it was pointed out that the case contains aspects of humor, officials quickly commented "it would be no joke if some innocent person was badly hurt or murdered" through the depredations of the criminals.

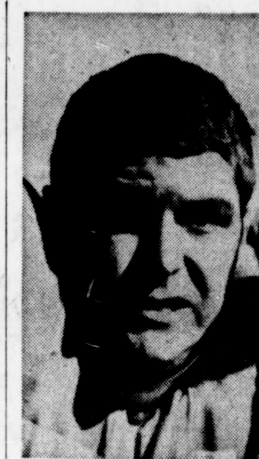

The Middlesex House of Correction at Billerica is not a maximum security institution. The inmates are not in cells of the type found in Walpole State Prison but, rather, are housed in dormitories and cottage type buildings.

John Brocklesby, master of the House of Correction, said he had "no evidence that the men left the dormitory," adding, "but it is a possibility in a place like this."

He said that "if somebody went out, somebody will know it, and I'll find out."

Newton Residents Promoted by Morton

The appointment of Frank Metcalf of Newton Centre as Assistant Vice President in Charge of Advertising and Herbert Orent of Newton as Assistant Vice President for Buying was announced this week by Morton O. Narva, President of Morton's Shoes, Inc.

CO-CAPTAIN—Jim DeCarlo of Newton has been elected co-captain of the Tufts 1968 varsity football team. DeCarlo, a defensive guard, is a junior at Tufts, and was elected by squad members. He is a graduate of New Hampton Prep.

Israeli Art On Exhibit

Newton residents interested in a comprehensive selection of art from modern Israel are invited to attend an exhibition at Temple Emeth of South Brookline from Sunday (Dec. 17) to the following Wednesday from 1 to 9 p.m. daily.

There is no charge for this showing which is arranged in conjunction with the Murray S. Greenfield Gallery of New York and Tel Aviv. Among the well-known artists whose works will be represented are Schloss, Gilboa, Weintraub and Kaplan.

it from the then property owners Louis Perini and Peter Kanavos, the Claims and Rules Committee chairman reported.

The biggest bones of contention among the city fathers this week were the parking facilities and the allegation that Marriott has already violated two of the restrictions imposed in 1963.

Alderman William Matthews who cast the lone dissenting vote on the Claims and Rules Committee contended that the parking facilities planned are grossly inadequate, partly because the city ordinance governing such matters is unrealistic.

The ordinance calls for a parking space for one car for every six people for a facility where sit-down eating is involved and for one parking space for every 12 people when auditorium type seating or a stand up type of affair is held, Matthews asserted.

Alderman Louis I. Egelson proposed an amendment that would have given the board the power for five years to require Marriott to build a second level parking deck with 100 spaces if experience indicated it to be necessary. The amendment was defeated by a 14 to 10 vote.

One of the restrictions imposed in this week's approval decrees that a portion of the parking lot be designed so that a second level can be constructed, but there is no provision making it mandatory.

Alderman H. James Shea Jr., who opposed the granting of the petition, charged that Marriott has already violated two of the 1963 restrictions.

According to Shea, the petitioner has "filled in the amphitheatre on the Norumbega land and encroached upon Charles River shoreline."

If this Board of Aldermen grants this request for additional facilities, it is in effect saying that any developer who has sufficient lobbying and negotiating power, can act with willful disregard toward restrictions established by this Board," Shea argued.

Committee Chairman Flaschner declared that essentially the new Marriott structure will be built on a similar amount of foundation space as originally proposed. This, he said, is possible because of the reduction in the amount of indoor parking and the size of the restaurants as well as some design changes.

Present plans now include a 50 foot buffer strip in the newly acquired two acre tract to insulate adjoining property from the parking lot of the hotel.

In addition, Marriott will give a 50 foot strip of the two acre tract along the Charles River to the Metropolitan District Commission.

Flaschner commented that the Claims and Rules Committee approved the curtailed petition by a 7 to 1 vote, but would not have given the same approval to the original petition.

"This is one of the most difficult petitions we've ever had to deal with," he said. A move to reconsider the matter was defeated by a 20 to 3 vote.

Medical Assistants Banquet On Tuesday

The Norfolk District Assn. of Medical Assistants will hold its annual Christmas banquet next Tuesday, Dec. 12, at the 1812 House on Route 9 in Framingham.

Festivities get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Because of the shortage of competent TV technicians, more and more servicing dealers are finding it necessary to restrict their services to instruments they have sold. We have not quite arrived at this impasse yet and are still accepting general service work as it is difficult to refuse service from someone who has just moved into the area and has no contacts, or to some people whose servicing agent has gone out of business or failed them. But to keep faith with the people who have bought their instruments from us, we must restate our general policy of priority to such accounts. In particular, during this holiday season when we are extremely busy, please be patient if we cannot give you the prompt service that has been our hallmark.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By JAMES SHULMAN

As Seniors ponder the results of their Scholastic Aptitude Tests, and Juniors reflect on the scores they received on their Practice Scholastic Aptitude Tests, activities at Newton South High School keep rolling.

The object of "Granny's Tea Room", the Junior Class dance that took place last Friday, was to "get the kids (Juniors) together, to feel like a class again."

The dance was a hit for those who came, who were "groovin'" to the music of the "Quiet". However, the dance did not attract the desired number of Juniors, in order to make it overwhelmingly successful. Cliff Greene, president of the Junior class, said "more involvement from the Juniors is still needed to make this year even better than last."

The unique decorations set the scene for the "Tea Room." Some of them were psychedelic colored lights, street lamps, posters, and red and white checked table cloths on the tables in the back of the cafeteria.

Rickey Black and Billy Goldberg, co-chairmen of the Junior Class Activities Committee, along with the members of this committee planned the dance.

Bruce Miller, "mastermind" for the decorations and Steve Bahn, Craig Covner, Sheri Froman, Rich Greene, Bev Greenwald, Emily Madoff, Budie Robinson, Jason Sobel, and Mark Swartz constructed the appealing atmosphere.

Dick Friedman and Roger Myerson handled the food and money. While Ellen Freed was in charge of publicity and Stuart Silverman sold the tickets. Marjorie Baruch lived up to the evening with jig-saw puzzles that attracted everyone's attention.

The plan for the second half of the school year is to have interesting activities in hope to get all the Juniors active into a unified class.

Thirty Newton South students were invited to participate in the channel 2 TV special, "Lettvin Tuned In," last Thursday night.

The students were chosen in connection with their political and extra curricular activities, and a cross section of the school was taken. Students with varied scholastic ability and economic standings were selected.

In the past two issues of Denebola, South's School newspaper, two full pages in each issue have been devoted to the controversial topic of DRUGS, the pros, cons, pictures, editorials and letters. During the past few months Drugs have been a major topic of discussion in the Newton South Parent Teacher Student Association.

Dr. Jerome Lettvin, professor of biology and electrical engineering at M.I.T., opened the program by saying he was not opposed to Dr. Leary and he apologized for the attacks he had made on the previous program, when debating with Leary.

Dr. Lettvin gave reasons why people take Drugs, "to escape horrendous judgment, and get away from the world." But, he also said that by taking Drugs you are "dealing yourself out of the game."

He does not want to tell the younger generation what to do in their time, but he does not want them to "make the same mistake his generation made," causing wars and depression.

Drugs are destructive in making people good citizens, and Dr. Lettvin said "the younger generation needs to stay alive in order to inherit the world and make something out of it. They need an uncontaminated intelligence."

By dropping out or "disengaging," he said you are selling out to scoundrels.

Dr. Lettvin said people take POT to feel terrific. He then gave an analogy. He compared a person taking Pot to a guitar player who is not very good, but who wants to be an excellent player. He said there are two ways in which to become proficient, one was to practice hard and long and the other was to take Pot and while on it, you would believe you were a fine guitarist.

He said when you take Pot you lose your critical faculties and thus become disengaged. Then you "fall out" by losing these faculties.

Dr. Lettvin said the psychological effects and damages from taking Drugs were more serious than brain damage, because it hindered your common sense.

In conclusion he said that he was inciting the younger generations to react themselves, and it was up to them to decide about Drugs.

Dr. Lettvin said he wanted to convince them to re-enter the world and make it to suit themselves with full knowledge, so not to divorce themselves.

The Newton South Concert Choir, under the direction of David Arner, and the orchestra, directed by David Levenson, presented a series of concerts "in the round," at the annual Coffee Concert at Newton South.

The choir, consisting of 35 members sang the following program: two sixteen century madrigals, "Come Again, Sweet Love Doth Now Invite," by John Dowland, and "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves," by Henry Purcell; "Praise Ye The Lord of Hosts," by Camille Saint-Saens from his Christmas Oratorio; a contemporary "Alleluia" by Martin Mailman; "The Heavens Are Telling" by Joseph Hayden; and Selections from "Fiddler on the Roof" with Jerry Levine as the narrator. Betsy Goldberg is the student accompanist.

The orchestra performed the following: "Concerto In A Major" by Vivaldi; "The Winter's Past" for oboe and strings by Wayne Barlow with Benjamin Maleson as oboe soloist "Dido's Lament" from Dido and Aeneas by Henry Purcell with Soprano Ruth MacCloskey as soloist; and "Simple Symphony" by Benjamin Britten.

In the concert choir are: Vicky Aghababian, Kenneth Belt, Susan Birnbaum, Rhonda Blair, Beverly L. Bruce, Andi Bryant, Debbie Cannell, Patti Covich, Rhonda Epstein, Lelle Filiurin, Laura Garafalo, Betsy Goldberg, Sima Goodman, Janet Green, Mary Ann Juillerat, Linda Klein, Dan Krasa, Robert Lax, Jerry Levine, Ruth MacCloskey, Jodi Maxner, Stuart Michelson, Nancy Megrian, Nancy O'Leary, Debbie Platt, Carol Radlo, Phyllis Rosenthal, Sheila Schneider, Richard Slivkin, Richard Stich, Gail VanDeWorke, Jane Woodley, Mark Zuroff, Debbie Roth, Joyce Kramer and Charlotte Robinson.

Artist From Vietnam Has Exhibit Here

Newton Centre is about to see an exotic art exhibit at the Gallery of World Art, 745 Peacock St., the work of Volang, a Vietnamese artist, who is visiting Newton for the first time. His brilliant paintings, done in a secret formula of his own invention, describe scenes that range from Asiatic rice fields to Brittany farms.

In warm tones—he is a remarkable colorist—his palette glows with reds and orange and yellows, and especially with a lively white, like the famous whites of Utrillo.

Fundamentally, he is a master draftsman; but this does not limit him to factual reality. Instead, he finds the overtones of a dream world, where houses tilt toward you, and bridges spring out of the air; where streams and rivers flow against gravity and join the moonlit sky over fantastic architecture.

Volang, born in Tue, Vietnam in 1921, is also an impressive figure in the French T.V. industry. A consultant in this field, he has produced an animated film, "The Crystal Heart" that won first prize in the 1958 Cannes Film Festival.

Later in 1964 his "La Bible" won another first. Volang, himself, a captivating personality, will be at the Gallery on opening day, December 10, to receive his friends and visitors. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Restaurant Amendment Hearing Set

A public hearing before the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen has been set for Dec. 11 on an ordinance amendment pertaining to take-out restaurants.

A petition of Peter Wallace for a pizza shop at 437 Centre st., Newton Corner, passed after considerable debate and one charter objection, necessitated the ordinance change.

Formerly, the take-out restaurant ordinance restricted the take-out services in an attempt to control the popular drive-in or open-air restaurants, where food is consumed on the premises or taken out.

The amendment proposed specifically notes that the limitations will be for restaurants, pastry shops, coffee shops and other businesses dispensing food products when a substantial part of the produce is consumed or intended for consumption out-of-doors or in motor vehicles on public or private property adjoining or within 500 ft. of such businesses, and such business that dispense food products between 10:30 p.m. and 6 a.m., not including hotels or motels.

Because of the present ordinance, there was considerable discussion over Wallace's position, with some aldermen noting that most pastry, ice cream and doughnut shops in the city were violating the law.

The amendment, when it is passed, will allow such businesses, and at the same time restrict the drive-in, open-air concerns.

Doctoral Thesis Presented To Philosophy Club

Mr. Curtis L. Carter of Cloverdale road, Newton Highlands, will present a paper to the Boston University Philosophy Club Colloquium this Friday evening (Dec. 8). The paper, which deals with the problem of the function of drawings and paintings in human perception and communication, is titled "The Visual Work of Art as a Sign."

Mr. Carter is an instructor in philosophy and psychology at Mount Ida Junior College in Newton Centre. This work represents a phase of a study of the problem of representation in art which will be submitted as a dissertation for the Ph.D. degree at Boston University.

His interest in the role of art in human experience is practical as well as theoretical.

cal. He attempts to utilize the various art media to enrich the learning experience of his students at Mount Ida, both in the class room through the use of color slides and art objects and in extra curricular activities such as a theater group.

The theater group, which Mr. Carter coordinates, attends plays and other artistic productions offered in the Boston area. Students are encouraged to relate the plays to their studies in psychology, ethics, and aesthetics.

Another practical application of Mr. Carter's work in aesthetics lies in the area of religion and the arts. Mr. Carter was responsible for developing a program for relating contemporary art forms to religious life in a suburban Medfield, Massachusetts church. This program included exhibitions by contemporary artists and architects, drama performances, lectures, and creative projects

Michael J. Marcus, 52 Greenlawn avenue, Newton, is a member of the fall pledge class of Tau Beta Pi at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a senior electrical engineering student and was selected on the basis of distinguished scholarship and exemplary character. Tau Beta Pi is a national honor society which requires its members to be in the top one-eighth of the junior class or in the top one-fifth of the senior class.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Connolly of Waban, recently attended parent's night at Bryant Stratton School in Boston where their son, Thomas D. Connolly, Jr., is majoring in accounting. They were given a guided tour of the new facilities at the school, spoke with the faculty members, and attended a program for parents undertaken by the members of the church.

World-Travelling Wom. To Be Auburnd'le Club Speaker

Mrs. Louise H. Morse, world traveler and a volunteer for CARE, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Wednesday, December 13th at the clubhouse at 283 Melrose St. She will be introduced by Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson, chairman of the day. The program title is "Mrs. Nobody Goes Somewhere." In the spring of 1959 Mrs. Morse announced to her friends and to the general public that as "Mrs. Nobody" she was about to go "Somewhere" and upon her return she would be happy to tell of her travels in return for contributions to CARE.

Her announcement brought forth such enthusiastic support that Mrs. Morse has spoken to more than 700 audiences about the fun she has had traveling alone to far away places, and the good which she has seen being carried on by CARE in a dozen different places, such as India, Jordan, Hong Kong, Columbia, Haiti, and the Philippines.

CARE spends no money on either "Mrs. Nobody's" travels or programs but it has received large contributions from her audiences as well as advertising from the write-ups concerning these meetings.

The club meeting will open with a coffee hour at 1:00 p.m. Mrs. James I. Glaser will be the hostess and the pourers will be Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner and Mrs. Ken-taro Tsutsumi. Mrs. Frederick J. Casey, club president, will conduct the business meeting and Mrs. Orazio E. Vaccaro will give the invocation.

Recent Deaths

Helen Eagan

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Helen (Coffey) Eagan, 42, of 96 Freeman st., Auburndale, with a high Mass of requiem in St. Bernard's Church at 9 a.m. Burial followed in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mrs. Eagan died last Friday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital following a long illness.

A Cambridge native, she attended Newton schools and was a 1946 graduate of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing.

She is survived by her husband, John F. Eagan, of Auburndale, and three daughters, Patricia, a student at Our Lady's high school, and Marcia and Nancy, both students at St. Bernard's grammar school.

Also, two sisters, Mrs. Mary McCabe, of Newton, and Mrs. Patricia Latino, of Long Island, N.Y., and four brothers, John, Francis and Daniel Coffey, all of Newton, and Joseph Coffey, of Newtonville.

Ann Fine

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph (Ann Rosenblum) Fine, 62, of 136 Beverly rd., Chestnut Hill, was held Monday afternoon in Temple Emeth, Chestnut Hill, with burial in the Temple Emeth Cemetery.

Mrs. Fine, a native of Europe, had lived in Chestnut Hill for 27 years.

She was the mother of Phil David Fine, Board Chairman Bank.

She also is survived by her husband, Joseph Fine; another son, Ralph I. Fine of Boston; two daughters, Mrs. Arnold Veststein of Newton and Mrs. Leonard Mintz of Norwood; and seven grandchildren. Other survivors include a brother, Isadore L. Rosenblum of Hull and a sister, Mrs. Sara Spencer of Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Fine was a life member of Ledgewood Home for Jewish Children; Beth Israel Hospital Women's Auxiliary; Jewish Memorial Hospital; Boston Aid to the Blind; National Asthmatic Home for Jewish Children in Brookline; Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, and the National Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Joseph Fine

A well-known Chestnut Hill civic leader, Mrs. Joseph Fine, 62, mother of the board chairman of Commonwealth National Bank, passed away suddenly on Tuesday, Nov. 28. Funeral services were held Wednesday, Nov. 29 at 2 p.m. at Temple Emeth in Chestnut Hill followed by burial in Temple Emeth cemetery.

She was active in numerous organizations, serving as a life member of Ledgewood Home for Jewish Children, Brookline, Beth Israel Hospital's Women's Auxiliary, Jewish Memorial Hospital, Boston Aid to the Blind, National Asthmatic Home for Jewish Children, Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, and National Tuberculosis Association.

She was also a Red Cross volunteer at Beth Israel Hospital for more than 20 years and an active volunteer for Fernald School.

She was a founder and treasurer of Friends of League School of Boston. Contributions to the League School of Boston at 144 Hagen Rd., Newton Centre, are suggested instead of flowers.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Arnold Veststein of Newton and Mrs. Leonard Mintz of Norwood; two sons, Phil David Fine of Waban, board chairman of Commonwealth National Bank, and Ralph I. Fine of Boston; a brother, Isadore L. Rosenblum of Hull; a sister, Mrs. Sara Spencer of Las Vegas, Nev.; and seven grandchildren.

Memorial week was held at her late residence, 136 Beverly Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Francis T. Howley

A solemn Mass of requiem will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Saturday in Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, for Francis T. Howley, 71, of 412 Parker st., Newton Centre, who died Wednesday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Howley, a native of Newton, was a retired bricklayer. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hannah J. (O'Rourke) Howley; a son, David J., of Newton; two daughters, Mrs. Catherine M. Condon of Newton and Mrs. Marie A. Lloyd of Bellingham; three brothers, Thomas T., of Dedham, James J., and William F., both of Newton; and three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Tuohy of Dedham, Sr. Mary Hermine, CSJ., of St. Agnes Convent, Arlington, and Miss Marion Howley of Newton, and six grandchildren.

Bridget D. Lupo

The funeral of Miss Bridget D. Lupo, 55, of 18 Rear Middle st., Newton, will be held Saturday with a 9 a.m. solemn Mass of requiem in Our Lady's Church.

Miss Lupo suffered a heart attack in her home Tuesday and was dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Josephine Ferro of Waltham, seven nieces and five nephews.

Miss Lupo had been employed for the past 20 years at the Golden Cookie Co., in Watertown.

William G. Bowler

Funeral services for William G. Bowler, 85, of 14 Brewster road, Newton Highlands, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Waterman Chapel, 592 Washington st., Wellesley.

Bowler, retired manager of Laidlaw and Co., brokers of Boston, died Sunday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He was born in Little Genevieve, N. Y., attended schools in Charlestown and was graduated from Boston English High School.

He was a member of Faith Lodge of Masons, Charlestown, and Aleppo Temple of the Shrine, Boston.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel M. (Dinsmore) Bowler.

Alfred E. Brown

The funeral of Alfred E. Brown, 70, of 86 High street, Newton Upper Falls, was held Wednesday at the Martin E. Conroy Funeral Home, 439 Washington st., Newton, with interment in the Newton Cemetery.

Brown died Sunday in the Boston Veterans' Administration Hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Westfield he had lived in Newton for many years. He was a mechanic in steel work.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rita E. (Sullivan) Brown; a son, Donald E., of Newton; two daughters, Mrs. Frank Jones of Needham and Mrs. Grace Brown of Newton; a brother, George W., of Springfield, and two sisters, Mrs. Louise Fuller of Southwick and Mrs. Grace Boardman of Denver.

Edward J. Ahearn

The funeral of Edward J. Ahearn, 62, of 37 Jefferson street, Newton, will be held Saturday with a solemn requiem Mass in Our Lady's Church at noon. Burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

Ahearn, an ordnance man at the Naval Ammunition Depot in Hingham, was a long time Newton resident.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen C. (Lewis) Ahearn; three sons, Barry V., of Brockton, and Neil G., and Mark E., both of Newton;

Ad Hoc Alderman Committee Takes Over Urban Plan

The Newton Corner urban redevelopment plan has been placed in the hands of an ad hoc committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The action was taken after a meeting of the committee and the Redevelopment Authority revealed that residents of Newton Corner lacked confidence in the Authority.

Authority members admitted the program was meeting substantial opposition and that there was some sort of program already in the making that earmarked over $600,000 in assessed property for demolition.

The application for funds to study the area to determine what could be done in Newton Corner met with the strongest opposition of any municipal program in the last two years.

The ad hoc committee, made up of Ward 1 and 7 aldermen, will have to determine whether to recommend denial of the application, approval, more study or an amendment.

Secretary of the Embassy both in Korea and in Japan, with the assimilated rank of Brigadier General.

As a specialist in the politics, cultures, and economics of Asia and the Far East, Mr. Pennington will focus his attention on Japan today.

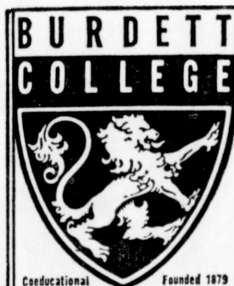

Lawrence J. Wilker of 31 Arlington street, Newton, is among the 181 students to receive advance degrees from the University of Massachusetts in October. He received the Master of Fine Arts degree.

The food package Mayor Basbas is sending to the Newton boys in Vietnam is based on information obtained from soldiers and marines back from war-torn country as to what the men there would like most to receive in the way of delicacies.

In each package are instant juices, sardines, hard and soft candy, assorted nuts, jams and jellies and bouillon cubes.

These are the food items the boys in Vietnam would enjoy most for a Christmas Eve feast.

Who says so?

The fighting men who have come back from Vietnam, some of them with wounds. That's who! And they should know.

The name of two more Newton residents who will spend Christmas Day in Vietnam was received by the Graphic during the past week. They are:

AIC Richard G. Spence
AF11466308
Box 8119
1964 COMM. C.P.
A.P.O. San Francisco,
Calif. 96305.

PFC John McLean,

Packages already have been sent to them by Mayor Basbas. Church groups and others sending gifts or cards are urged to add them to their lists.

Incidentally, the gifts being mailed to Vietnam by the Mayor contain Christmas greetings from Mayor and Mrs. G. Basbas and "the grateful people of Newton."

Myrtle Baptist Church Has Homecoming Program

The Annual Homecoming Program, under the auspices of the Daughters of Myrtle, was held at the Myrtle Baptist Church of West Newton on Saturday (Nov. 26). A delicious supper prepared by the ladies was served to approximately 150 people.

The supper was followed by a give-away of gifts to the oldest man and woman present, the youngest child, oldest teenager, oldest married couple, youngest married couple, largest family and the person who traveled the most miles to be present. The gifts were donated by the local merchants. Mrs. Matthew Jefferson was in charge.

Mistress of Ceremonies Mrs. Henry Evans, read a Memorial Roll Call of those members who had contributed to the growth of the church since its beginning 93 years ago. Over 500 dollars in memorial gifts were given in the name of many of these.

A Spiritual Festival (Negro spirituals, gospel songs and favorite hymns) followed, at which Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Turner of Hingham, Mass., played and directed respectively.

There were remarks by the pastor, Reverend Eddie S. O'Neal, who explained our Year of Sacrifice, Year of Planning and our present Year of Accumulation. There are two more years to go to make up our total program of SPACE.

The closing hymn was "What a Fellowship" with the benediction by the pastor.

On Sunday, November 26, 1967 at the morning worship service, Reverend Louis E. Ford, Pastor Emeritus was Master of Ceremonies and gave the Call to Worship and the Pastoral Prayer.

Miss Paulette Jefferson, a freshman at Springfield College, read the litany.

The scripture was read by the pastor, Reverend Eddie S. O'Neal, who also gave the Welcome and announcements.

The Reverend William L. Cooper, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, Newport, Rhode Island, was the guest speaker and his theme was "For the People Had a Mind to Work". This theme was used when the church was dedicated in 1874.

There were special selections from the choir: "Amen" the Senior Choir, "Pleasant Good Room" the Junior Choir, Miss Geraldine Robert, organist, and "Do You Know Him" by the Gospel Chorus with Mr. Samuel Turner as organist.

A Coffee Hour followed which was prepared by the Daughters of Myrtle who are as follows: Mrs. Henry Evans, President, Mrs. Edward McGlaston, Secretary, Mrs. Robert Haywood, Vice President, Mrs. Winthrop Spikes, chaplain, Mrs. George Jones, treasurer, Mrs. Matthew Jefferson, Mrs. Clarence Nichols, Mrs. John Greene, Mrs. James Spikes, Mrs. Howard C. Hunter of West Newton, Mrs. Walter Hill and Mrs. Chester Lomax of Auburn, Mass., Mrs. Jessie Banks, Newton Centre, Mrs. Leonard Banks, Newtonville, Mrs. Nellie Scott, Wellesley, Mrs. Reynolds Cadogan, Holbrook, Mrs. Joseph Fontes, Framingham, & Miss Dorothy Bishop, Newton Highlands.

There were guests from Virginia, Washington, D.C., Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

was listed as worth $900,000.

There are other statistics. The nearly 1,800 fires in the national forests of Region I, the Northern Region, was the highest number since 1940, when more than 3,000 fires were reported. The 117,000 acres of National forest land burned was the highest total in the region since 1934. At least 30,000 acres more of state and private lands burned in Idaho alone and 11,000 acres of Glacier National Park were charred.

The Biggest The 56,000-acre Sundance fire east of Priest Lake in the Idaho Panhandle was the largest single blaze in the region since the 1934 Pete King fire, which burned 250,000 acres northeast of Grangeville, Idaho.

Nationally, the Forest Service estimates the cost of fighting forest fires this year at $40 million. In Region I the cost was $13.1 million of that. The state of Idaho spent $410,000 and asked the federal government for $1 million to cover bills incurred beyond its fire fighting fund. The Bureau of Land Management spent $700,000 on two Central Idaho fires.

The costs reflect the techniques which made it possible to halt the spreading flames and kept the loss of life—at three—far below the earlier disaster year.

More than 2 million gallons of chemical fire retardant were dropped on the fires from planes. Smokejumpers made more than 2,000 jumps. Arthur W. Greeley, associate chief of the U. S. Forest Service, credits, in addition to the aerial fire fighting methods, the improved communications, training and organization of fire fighting crews.

The worst fires of both 1910 and 1967 "blew up" from long smoldering blazes. In 1910 winds of up to 100 miles an hour whipped fires in inaccessible areas into a roaring inferno that swept across mountains and jumped rivers.

In 1967, the Sundance fire started with a lightning storm Aug. 11. It was contained for

Jackson Homestead Has Gala Open House Sunday

The Jackson Homestead will hold its third open house of the season Sunday, Dec. 10, from 3-5 p.m., featuring a display of dolls and a miniature cottage.

One of the highlights will be the exhibit of Applehead dolls by Mrs. Adolin Daniels of Natick. She will tell about her enchanting collection of dolls, including a Santa Claus family working in the toy shop and a little replica of Johnny Appleseed.

Also on display will be Mrs. Clark Thurber's miniature Cape Cod cottage completely furnished in the 1840 period.

Other items from the Homestead's treasure chest appropriate to the Christmas season will be on display and they are certain to delight children as well as adults.

There will be no admission charge and the event is open to the public. Youngsters will be particularly welcome but they should be accompanied by at least one parent.

Hostesses for the occasion will be members of the West Newton Woman's Club and the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands.

Mrs. William H. Cannard, director-curator of the Jackson Homestead, is being assisted by the following members of the Auburndale Garden Club:

Mrs. Ralph Keyes, chairman, Mrs. Richard Kenney, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. Franklin Hoyt, Mrs. S. Page Cotton, Mrs. William Biddle, Mrs. Howard N. Atwood Jr., Mrs. Irving N. Kelley, Mrs. A. G. Asaff, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, Mrs. John B. G. Pallen, Mrs. Gustav Harter, Mrs. Robert W. Gollidge, Mrs. Prescott Richardson and Mrs. Guernsey Camp, Jr.

several days at 35 acres. Then winds sent it racing toward Coaling, Idaho, a resort town on the southeastern shore of Priest Lake, Aug. 29. Sept. 1, winds whipped it again 25 miles northeast across mountain ridges. Greeley said at one time the fire was consuming a square mile every six minutes, possibly a record burning rate.

That fire was the most dramatic and destroyed the most commercial timber. But throughout the Northwest stubborn blazes taxed the resources of fire fighting agencies and the strength of men.

The big question now, of course, is: How can the damage be repaired? Timber salvage operations have begun in some of the burns. Reseeding has been done in some places and will be done in others soon.

But one has only to stand at Lookout Pass on the border between Idaho and Montana, where some of the scars of the 1910 fire are still visible to realize that it will be generations before the forests no longer show the effects of the summer of 1967.

Mrs. Medalie Is Sisterhood Speaker Dec. 12

Temple Reyim Sisterhood will present the second of its adult education program series next Tuesday morning (Dec. 12) featuring as its guest speaker, Mrs. Sylvia Fleishman Medalie. Mrs. Medalie will discuss "The Graphic Arts Today."

A native Bostonian, she graduated from Girls Latin School and then attended Syracuse University where she studied history, economics, political science and the United Nations. While working for the U.N. on campus, she threw her energies into International Relations Club and World Affairs Council work and traveled around to colleges as part of a model security council group.

Throughout her married years, Mrs. Medalie has managed to maintain a balanced family life and responsibilities with her interests in the community. Indeed they have run the gamut from brownie leader to American Jewish Congress chapter president, and during which time she was taking courses in the fine arts.

In April Mrs. Medalie realized a lifelong dream and opened up the Berman-Medalie Gallery for the Graphic Arts in Newtonville Square.

All members and friends are invited to hear this informative talk.

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy of Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

Vine-ripened tomatoes from the growing greenhouse industry of Massachusetts are headlined in this week's report of "best buys" from local farms announced by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. The supply is abundant and prices are reasonable for this premium grade tomato which, unlike most shipped in varieties, ripens from the inside outward to the skin, which means that housewives can count on red, ripe, flavorful meat all the way through, without waste. The green stems are left on top and they can be distinguished from other tomatoes.

Apples are plentiful and economical priced, with Macs, Cortlands, Baldwins, Red and Golden Delicious leading the offerings. While not numerous, native vegetables available are in excellent supply, of uniformly good quality, and priced reasonable to low. They include green and red and Savoy cabbage, carrots, parsnips, purple top turnips, Blue Hubbard and Des Moines squash, buttercup and butter-nut squash.

Cranberries are plentiful and economical. With extra large and jumbo eggs becoming scarcer, the best egg buy is large size browns, with mediums rated the next best buy.

Today's Agri-Fact: About the best-tasting parsnips in the nation are grown right here in Massachusetts, in Essex County, due to an unusual combination of soil, climate, weather conditions favoring the growth of the firm, white-fleshed parsnips prized by good cooks. Native parsnips stay good-eating now through next May, first in cellar storage, then dug from the fields in the Spring. Parsnip-wise home-makers please their families with parsnip stew and fried parsnips during the cold months, as well as in soups and with meats. Of course they are loaded with nutritious vitamins and minerals.

Worst Fires Since 1910 In Forests Of Northwest

By ROBERTA ULRICH

SANDPOINT, Idaho (UPI)—"The worst since 1910" was the label hung on the summer of 1967 as fires consumed Northwest forests.

Veteran U. S. Forest Service officials frequently added: "If we had only the fire fighting methods they had in 1910 this summer would have been worse."

The great fire of 1910 swept across 3 million acres—nearly 4,700 square miles—and killed 85 persons. It curved from Clark Fork, Idaho, 160 miles to the Selway River, destroying two towns in Montana and forcing evacuation of half a dozen others in Idaho and Montana. For two terrible days, Aug. 20 and 21, the fire raged.

As Michael Frome notes in his book, "Whose Woods These Are," fighting fires in 1910 was "fashioned of sheer heartbreak and futility." Only a drizzle on Aug. 22 halted the flames.

Officials of federal and state governments and private companies are still trying to add up the damage from the summer of 1967. In early October several fires still burned.

"Any figure I could give you would be meaningless," said Clarence Stillwell, timber officer in the Kaniksu National Forest, hardest hit forest in the Northern Region, which includes Montana, Northern Idaho, a portion of Eastern Washington and a small corner of North Dakota. "The timber values vary considerably. The loss of watershed is incalculable. How do you measure the loss of wildlife and the scenic value?"

There are, however, a few figures available. Damage from one 7,250-acre fire in Central Idaho was placed at $28 to $29 million. Resources lost in a 22,000-acre blaze were valued at $3 to $4 million. National forest timber lost in one fire in the Kaniksu

Retarded Tots Busy At Shoppe Preparing Gifts

The jolly holiday season is here. All the busy little fingers of these retardates have been working fast and furiously making covered coasters, fancy, applied yardsticks, decorated card holders, ornamental Xmas wreaths, trees, and many other articles for sale in the Opportunity Shoppe.

Their gay, cheerful little spirits echo happily throughout the buildings, hopefully anticipating the happy holiday ahead.

Shoppers should try to visit the Opportunity Shoppe on Millia Hill in Needham just to see the fruits of their labor! Perhaps they need Xmas wrappings, hand made decorations and crafts made by the children and friends of the children. The Shoppe has them for sale on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from ten to three (10-to-3).

All are welcome to just visit and browse around and observe what these children have accomplished. They deeply appreciate any interest! Let us show them that you care! Make it a Merry Christmas for the children at the Charles River Workshop for Retarded Children!

Sisterhood To Fete Members At Annual Dinner

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avodah of Newton is planning the annual membership dinner, prepared by the hospitality committee, to be held on Wednesday evening, December 13th at 7 o'clock at the Temple.

The dinner is sponsored by the sisterhood for all those who have paid their membership dues or are new temple members. It was announced that dues may be paid at the door on the evening of the dinner.

Entertainment will be provided by the Brabdeis Israeli Folk Dancers, a group of 20 dancers who have developed in the past few years to be one of the outstanding interpreters of Israeli dancing.

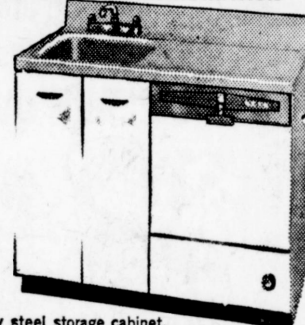

Working on the committee for the luncheon are: Mrs. Lewis Bronson, Sisterhood president; Mrs. Maurice Reubens, co-chairman; Mrs. Stephen Sklar, Mrs. Richard Phillips, Mrs. Edwin Calmus, membership committee.

FREDA welcomes the return of ... HARVEY BALTIMORE

Formerly of Brookline, Sharon and Randolph to her Salon

HARVEY has just returned from New York where he has made a complete study of wigs and hairpieces for both women and men.

Wigs are a big investment. Just how many have these beautiful hairpieces inactive in their closets? Countless women and men who own hairpieces ask: If only I could change the color. If only my wig wasn't so full. Why is it so heavy? If only I knew someone voiced enough to explain some of these questions about these hairpieces.

NOW THEY CAN BE ANSWERED — Don't let your investment go down the drain.

Newton Atty. Asks Graphic Print Rabbi's Vietnam View

The Graphic is in receipt of the following letter from Atty. Edward L. Richmond of 44 Morton St., Newton:

"Gentlemen:
"I recently read two sermons which were published in your paper and which supported the government position on Vietnam. Neither clergyman was from Newton. Enclosed is a sermon by Rabbi Gittelsohn delivered during the month of November. In the interest of presenting both sides of an issue I hope that you will publish these excerpts from his sermon.
"From the point of view of local interest in Newton, more than 60 per cent of Temple Israel's 2,100 families lives in Newton."

Inasmuch as Mr. Richmond's letter was written on stationery of Temple Israel, The Graphic contacted Mr. Richmond to determine:

1. Was the signature on the letter his, and
2. Were the views expressed in the letter only his views or the views of the temple as well.

Mr. Richmond, after consultation with Rabbi Gittelsohn, then gave the following statement to The Graphic:

"The following text was excerpted from a sermon delivered on Nov. 10, 1967, by Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn of Temple Israel, Boston.

"It was prepared by Mr. Edward L. Richmond, chairman of the Temple Israel Social Action Committee and Dr. Melvin Richmond, a member of that committee.

The views are entirely those of the Rabbi and do not represent any official judgment by his congregation."

represent any official judgment by his congregation."

The excerpts to The Graphic by Mr. Richmond follow:
"At a recent Sabbath Service at Temple Israel, Boston Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn stated: to count Vietnam casualties in lives and dollars requires only a sentence or two, not an entire sermon. At this point in the conflict more than 14,000 American lives have been lost, something in excess of 100,000 men have suffered wounds, and our undeclared war in Indochina is now costing us about 30 billion dollars a year directly, an underterminable amount more than that indirectly.

"I do not take these casualties lightly, especially those in human life and health. Having buried more than my share of men killed in combat, having confronted the excruciating agony of attempting to comfort their parents and widows, a little of me dies whenever I read reports of new victims.

"Det my underlying thesis tonight is that our war in Vietnam has produced many kinds of casualties over and above those already identified."

Rabbi Gittelsohn enumerated as other casualties of the Vietnam war, the following:

1. Great Society Programs, such as the War on Poverty. "The most graphic way I know of appreciating the relative importance of the two wars Washington is allegedly waging simultaneously is to realize that we have spent for each enemy we kill in Vietnam $322,000.00. For each poor person we are ostensibly seeking to help at home we have expended $53.00."

2. "We have increased the likelihood of Communist triumph. We have driven the people of Vietnam to become more and more dependent upon Russia and Red China, both for military supplies and general economic assistance, erasing more than a millennium of bitter hostility by the Vietnamese against the Chinese.

3. "Truth, I doubt if ever before in the history of this nation so much downright, deliberate distortion of fact has been perpetrated on the American people by its government. President Johnson and Secretary Rusk have repeatedly asserted that we stand ready to negotiate with anyone at any time or place. The record shows that whenever the slightest realistic prospect of negotiation for peace has appeared Johnson and Rusk immediately choked it off by dramatically escalating the military effort.

4. "Casualty number four is the image of the U.S. We emerged from the second World War as probably the all criticism of the war with Communism."

7. "The callousness with which we as a nation have come to treat human life. It is psychologically impossible to train an entire generation of young men to kill with impunity abroad, then expect them to cherish human life after returning home."

"Rabbi Gittelsohn concluded as follows: One final word. As if to illustrate the sixth of these casualties, there will be those who, because of this sermon, will accuse me of lacking patriotism. I would hope that the record of my life might be sufficient response. I love this nation, love it as I could love no other. Precisely because of this love, I shall not and cannot remain silent when I see the perversion of its noblest potential.

"I rest my case for patriotism with that of retired Brig. Gen. William Wallace Ford. Six months ago he wrote: 'The time has come to strike down the implication that whoever does not follow blindly and uncomplainingly in the steady expansion of this war is somehow unpatriotic. . . . I volunteered in World War I and served every day in that war, every day in World War II and every day during the Korean War. If called, I am quite ready to serve again. This does not release me from the duty, nor deny me the right, of trying to keep my country on a prudent and enlightened course. I besought my newly elected Representative in 1964 to try to keep us from further involvement in Vietnam. I voted in 1964 for the Presidential candidate who opposed escalation of the conflict. I am still trying. I consider it the highest patriotism.' Amen."

Ask Girl Scouts To Do Service In Housing Projects

Max Wexler, Executive Director of the Newton Housing Authority was guest speaker for the recent meeting of the Village-Homestead Neighborhood of the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scouts at St. John's Church in Newtonville. Mrs. John T. Evans, chairman, presided. Plans for the annual cookie sale were begun and nominating committee personnel discussed.

Mr. Wexler, urged the Scouts to gear their service projects to the 169 families in the over 65 age group in Newton residing in the three housing units: Jackson Gardens, Horace Mann Apartments, and the Parker House.

The girls were encouraged to adopt a family, run errands, and to make cards, corsages, wreaths, and other gifts for the coming holiday season. In turn they were told they would find help in painting and knitting from their elderly friends, and also a welcome meeting place in each housing unit.

Ideas concerning other service projects which various troops are finding a challenge were exchanged. Mrs. Ralph Werman is the Newton Service Specialist and is on call to all Consultants in the Newton Girl Scout Neighborhoods. Guests of the evening were adult Girl Scout members of the Westdale Neighborhood, Mrs. William Kunkel, Chairman. Also present were, Mrs. Newton A. Teixeira, the All-Newton Chairman, and Mrs. Michael Norris, Council Field Director.

Guidance Is Needed Today Says Speaker

"The need for guidance in orderly Christian conduct is of paramount concern today," said Mr. Montopoli, presiding minister of the Newton South Congregational of Jehovah's Witnesses. He referred to the frequency of riots and the alarming increase of civil disobedience as clear indications that ours is a generation sorely in need of divine aid.

"To meet this critical need," Mr. Montopoli continued, "Jehovah's Witnesses in the Greater Boston area will gather in Malden December 22-24 for three days of Bible instruction."

Watchtower World Headquarters in Brooklyn, New York, is sponsoring the gathering in an effort to promote Bible study and reading.

The assembly program will carry the theme, "Walking Orderly by Spirit," and will provide nine hours of instruction designed to assist an expected 1800 visiting ministers and their families to resist the modern-day movement to disregard law and order.

"During the past four decades," said Mr. Montopoli, "we have visited the homes of our neighbors and friends to aid in Bible study and application of Scriptural principles. Proper respect for the rights and property of others has been stressed with the result that, although we are a minority, Jehovah's Witnesses have not resorted to violence to secure what may be called our 'rights.' We have used the courts of the land for this purpose."

Paul R. Ruggles, Watchtower New England District Supervisor, will set the pace of the convention by delivering the keynote address, "Walking Orderly by Spirit," at 7 p.m. Friday, December 22, in the Malden Armory, 129 Mountain Avenue.

Detective Talks To Group About Drugs In Newton

The Social Action Committee of the Myrtle Baptist Church at 21 Curve St., West Newton, will present Detective Edward Meredith of the Newton Police Department, in a talk to their group at 4 p.m. on Sunday, December 10. Detective Meredith will speak on "Narcotics — A Growing Problem in Our Community." A film on narcotics from the state Food and Drug Bureau will be shown.

Also to be shown at this meeting is another film of special interest since one of the church youth takes part in it. Put out by the International Police Association it is entitled "Every Day, Every Hour."

Mr. Meredith is a Negro and resident of Newton. He is a member of Myrtle Baptist Church. He will tell how the Police Department serves the City of Newton.

This is a public meeting and all are invited to attend.

When New Orleans established its first water system in 1810 it used hollow cypress logs as pipes.

School Non-Salary Budget Cut $50,000 By Committee

The Newton School Committee sliced approximately $50,000 from a requested $2,188,813 non-salary school budget for 1968, in a special open meeting last Monday night.

In the appropriation for administration, $42,500 was voted, representing an increase of $8,500 over the 1967 budget.

For plant operation, a request for $561,735 was cut to $551,735 but it still represented an increase of $41,600 over the allotment for 1967.

The committee also cut the requested amount for new equipment from $164,000 to $90,000 but it, too, represented a $12,000 increase over 1967. They voted $384,700 for pupil transportation, the same as this year.

Maintenance of plant (schools) was budgeted at $206,335. The committee cut the appropriation to $169,145, an increase of $23,560 over last year.

The fuel and electricity account remained at $12,200. The out-of-state travel account was increased by $7250 to $20,000.

The school athletic account request was cut by $10,000 to $71,000, some $8000 less than the 1967 budget.

Votes deferred until further study has been made were those on instruction, for which $679,520 has been requested, an increase of $97,660 over 1967; Newton Technical High School, $114,898 requested, an increase of $28,620; Newton Junior College, $72,012, a decrease of $23,163; cafeteria, amended from $96,700 to $86,700, where 1967's amount was $76,400; and data processing which would jump from 1967's $10,000 to $90,473 in 1968 because the School Department would now have to begin to pay for services that were previously given without charge because Newton was one of the founders of the program.

John E. Gilleland, assistant superintendent for business services stated that when the School Committee approves a particular program, this automatically implies there will be adequate support in terms of staff and space, and that after that some emphasis has to be placed on flexibility.

Jewish-Christian Views Under Discussion At Andover-Newton

Jewish and Christian relationships will get an in-depth examination today and tomorrow at a conference at Andover Newton Theological School in Newton Centre.

Six Greater Boston theological schools and several other sponsoring groups, including three major Jewish organizations have called the Dec. 7-8 colloquium to reassess the relationship of Jews and Christians "in a time of crisis."

The conference has grown out of widespread feeling expressed in many Jewish publications recently that the Christian responses during last June's Mideast crisis "were far too ambiguous and indicative of a failure to understand Jewish religious loyalties."

Under the theme "Israel, Jews and Christians: Reassessment in a Time of Crisis," some 40 to 60 selected Rabbis and Protestant and Roman Catholic Christian scholars will discuss the prospects of Jewish-Christian dialogue.

The speakers and discussion groups will attempt to deal with both theological issues of Jewish-Christian identity and differences, and the relationship of theology to political affairs and the modern state.

Conveners of the meeting have recognized that many believe that Christian agencies have spoken of the necessity for territorial integrity of Israel, but have engaged in aid projects only for the one and a half million Arab refugees in the Middle East.

Authorities at the Andover Newton Theological School report there is also the recognition that Christians have been critical of marriage regulations and other practices in Israel which have discriminated against non-Jews. Many of these same Christian groups, the school says, have not been made aware of the severity of the crisis felt by Jews.

Major speakers for the sessions and their subjects include:

Rabbi Marg H. Tanenbaum, director, department of inter-religious affairs, American Jewish Committee, New York City, "The Meaning of Jewish Peoplehood."

Dr. Frank M. Cross, professor of Hebrew and Oriental languages, Harvard University.

"The Role of the Jewish People in Christian Theology."

Rabbi Balfour Brickner, director, commission on interfaith activities, Union of Hebrew Congregations, New York City, "Israel: The Modern State and Contemporary Jewish Points of View."

Philip Scharper, editor-in-chief, Sheed and Ward publishers, New York City, "Israel, the Modern State and Contemporary Christian Points of View."

Sponsoring organizations include the American Jewish Committee, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the United Synagogue of America, and Packard Manse of Stoughton.

Boston area seminars sponsoring the parley include Boston University School of Theology, Harvard Divinity School, Andover Newton Theological School, Episcopal Theological School, St. John's Roman Catholic Seminary and Pope John 23rd Roman Catholic Seminary.

Persons on the planning committee include Dr. Harvey Cox, Harvard University, Rev. Robert Cunnean, Packard Manse, Stoughton; Rev. Jack Finnegan, Pope John 23rd Seminary; Dr. Harvey Guthrie Episcopal Theological School; Dr. Meredith Hand-spicker, Andover Newton; John Harmon, Packard Manse; Milton Heller, New England Region, American Jewish Committee; Rabbi Samuel S. Kenner, Brookline, Rabbi Sanford Seltzer, New England Council of Union of American Hebrew Congregations; Dr. Max Stackhouse, Andover Newton; Dr. Preston Williams, Boston University; and the Rev. Charles Von Euw, St. John's Seminary, Rev. Charles Leps, Packard Manse.

The major addresses on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning will be open to the public. Closed sessions will be held for discussion on Thursday evening and Friday afternoon.

St. Martha's Bazaar Set For Saturday

The Guild of St. Martha will hold their annual bazaar this Saturday (Dec. 9) from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at Our Lady's High School at 575 Washington street, Newton.

Miss Sarah Oliver, chairman has been assisted in all the arrangements by the following local residents: Mrs. William Paul, Mrs. Lawrence Kerr, Mrs. John McMullin, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Timothy Meade and Mrs. Henry Alarie.

Many booths have been arranged including Christmas gifts and toys, dolls, variety and knitted goods, china, home baked goodies, white elephants, and a special booth for children. Santa Claus has promised to drop in during the afternoon.

The Guild gives financial assistance to the Sisters of Saint Martha who do social work in the Archdiocese of Boston, and the annual bazaar is the most important fund raising event each year.

Mrs. Irwin Wins Company Award

Winner of a $100 prize is Mrs. Kathryn S. Irwin of 73 Spiers road, Newton Centre, who contributed a beneficial suggestion through the Problem-Cause Identification program of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. PCI awards are given to employees who define and propose workable solutions to problems which exist within their departments.

Mrs. Irwin designed three new forms to reduce the elapsed time in processing address changes on the master reference tape file. She is a member of the company's group pension division.

Since institution of the suggestion award plan at the company, 722 employees have received awards totaling over 22 thousand dollars.

New York—United Nations experts believe one-tenth the human race — 220 million — live in China's Yangtze river basin.

Countryside PTA Sponsors After-School Clubs

Countryside School children are enjoying several after-school clubs under the sponsorship of the Countryside PTA. Designed to add to the interests and activities of the school's students, the group has obtained expert adult leaders for the weekly meetings.

The Glee Club is under the direction of Mrs. Charles Weinfeld, and accompanist is a 6th grader, Miriam Schoen. The group meets on Tuesday afternoons to sing pop tunes and to learn 5-part harmony.

On Thursday afternoons the Garden Club meets under the guidance of Mrs. Leo Handy, who is a member of the Mass. Horticultural Society and the Newton Highlands Garden Club. Participating youngsters are growing indoor plants now, and getting ready their planting schedules for Spring. The group also is studying bird life in the area.

The Sports Club is concentrating on the interests of boys, including football, soccer and baseball. The Club meets Tuesday afternoons in the Countryside School gymnasium. Leadership is provided through the co-operation of the Newton YMCA.

The Stamp Club meets at the home of its leader, Franz Wolff on three Wednesday afternoons per month. Its purpose is to encourage the stamp collecting hobby by stimulating the children to trade stamps, compare collections and share information. The emphasis is on exchanging duplicate stamps and thereby helping the children to increase their stamp collections.

The After-School Club program is new at Countryside this year, and is an experimental PTA project.

Cake-Cutting For Secretaries

Elizabeth Ryan of Newtonville, a charter member of the National Secretaries Association (International), will help cut the cake at the 21st anniversary celebration of the organization to be held this evening (Dec. 7) at 46 Beacon street in Boston.

A Christmas party with entertainment will follow dinner.

All Charter members are expected to attend to participate in the cake-cutting ceremony.

Cub Pack 217 Award Meeting

Cub Scout pack 217 of the Norumbega Council held its November meeting on the 17th with "Westward Ho" as the theme. Each den presented a skit based on this theme.

Den 5, under the direction of den mothers Judi Goldstein and Helen Lewis gave the Flag Ceremony.

Joe Braunstein, the cub master, presented the following awards: Peter Maples received the first Webelos award in the fields of art and geology; David Kliman, Andy Tanzer, Jonathan Norris, Charles Hurwitz and Robert Nee each received his wolf badge; a gold arrow on the wolf badge went to Andy Tanzer, Larry Cohen, Robert Smith, Barry Braunstein, Peter Aronson, Jimmy Barron, Jonathan Sloane and Joel Cutler; a bear badge was awarded to Larry Cohen.

The November field trip on Saturday (Nov. 11) was to the Trillium Museum.

This month's pack meeting will be held next Thursday (Dec. 14) at 7:15 p.m. in the vestry of Temple Emmanuel on Ward street. The theme will be "Do Your Best". All boys ages 8, 9 and 10 are welcome. We are looking forward to a most festive meeting full of Holiday spirit.

Israeli Artists Exhibit Here

The Knasner-Hausman Auditorium of the Temple, 1000 West Roxbury parkway, Chestnut Hill, will have a preview exhibit of an exciting comprehensive selection of art from modern Israel, including oils, watercolors, drawings, graphics and folios of reproductions and books published in Israel, for sponsors and patrons on Saturday (Dec. 16) at 9 p.m.

Among those present at this semi-formal showing will be Mr. Greenfield of the Greenfield Gallery; Mr. Simon Cohen, noted artist whose works in copper are well-known and Mr. Franz Boohly, a professional artist whose work deals mainly with Biblical themes. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Among the honorary patrons are Mayor and Mrs. Monte Basbas of Newton. Included on the various committees are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smolens, chairman; Mrs. David Kahn, Mrs. Milton Glanz, Mrs. Ronald Glickman and Mrs. Leonard Needleman.

Patient List

One of eight Americans will go to a hospital this year.

NH Garden Club Christmas Party

The Newton Highlands Garden Club will hold their annual Christmas Party on next Tuesday (Dec. 12) at the Workshop on Columbus street, Newton Highlands.

An exhibition of Christmas decorations as well as evergreen and cone wreaths made by club members at recent club workshops will be held following a buffet at 6:45 p.m.

Mr. Herbert E. Fleischner will be host for the evening and the hostesses will include Mrs. Hubert S. Dennie, Mrs. Ronald Young and members of the executive board.

Vespers At Lasell

The public is invited to attend Lasell Junior College's and Candle-lighting service in Winslow Hall at the school in Auburndale this Sunday (Dec. 10). The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Lasell's Orphean Club will perform Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of the Carols". They will be directed by Frank Taylor, Newton chairman of the music department at Lasell, and accompanied by Betsy Wahl, harpist.

"Y" Ski Club Is Formed At Meeting Here

The Newton Y.M.C.A. announces the formation of a ski club for men and women, at the first meeting held at 8 p.m., on December 6 at the Y at 276 Church street, Newton Corner.

The club is formed by Joseph Santy, associate physical director, with the hope of increasing interest in the sport among residents of the local area. Mr. Santy will give basic instruction to novices, with more advanced instruction to be obtained at the slopes.

He will give lectures on the selection of proper equipment as well give lessons in first aid, and will show movies on beginner, intermediate, and advanced skiing.

The group will elect its own officers and arrange both day trips to local slopes and overnight visits to the larger, more distant areas. For further information Mr. Santy may be reached at the Y at 244-6050.

PLAY LEADING ROLES—Leaders of the thousands of volunteers from Jewish Memorial Hospital who have devoted months of work to the 18th annual Celebrities Night stage spectacular, to be held on Sunday, December 10, in Back Bay Theatre, are, left to right, George Roberts of Newton, general chairman; Miss Bess Kessler of Newton, and Mrs. Samuel Andelman of Newton, program book chairman.

Newtonites Help Plan Gala Celebrities Night

A caravan of top entertainers will headline the spectacular 18th annual Celebrities Night stage show in the Back Bay Theatre in Boston on Sunday evening, Dec. 10, at 8:15 p.m.

This exciting show is sponsored by the auxiliaries of Jewish Memorial Hospital.

Proceeds of this mammoth stage extravaganza will benefit the medical care and building funds of this 256-bed chronic disease hospital and rehabilitation center.

Led by witty Totie Fields, the star-studded entertainment for the evening will include comedian London Lee, versatile Hines, Hines & Dad, International singer Neil Sedaka, and Israeli Dance Revue featuring Guella Gill.

For the eighteenth consecutive year Boston's famed maestro, Tony Bruno, and his orchestra will provide the tuneful background music for this stage spectacle.

Few tickets are still available for this dazzling show of laughs, song and dance. Tickets may be obtained by phoning the Jewish Memorial Hospital, Highlands 2-8760.

This glittering program of entertainment is sponsored by members of Hospital Group, Brookline Auxiliary, Chelsea Auxiliary, Young Women's Auxiliary, North Shore Auxiliary, Men's Associates, West End Auxiliary, Maiden Auxiliary and Evening Auxiliary.

Visit Country Inn To See The Real Japan

By VIRGIL W. KRET

TOKYO (UPI)—Outside the window the sea was eating away at the foundations of the building as it had for 50 years and the last of the fishing boats was following the sunrise into the village harbor.

There was a knock on the door and a brown old man with a beard that brushed his belly bowed his way in. He gave me a cup of country tea, took one for himself, asked me for an American cigarette, and in a dialect I had great difficulty understanding said I was the first foreigner he had seen in 50 years.

That's when I knew I had found another favorite inn.

The tourist who comes to Japan and stays only in a Western style hotel will never get the feel of the country. The tourist who is really interested in learning what Japan and its people are like needs to seek outside Tokyo and the other big cities—in places like the Araisokan Inn, located about 15 miles from the small town of Masuda on the Japan Sea. It's an area, as they say, unspoiled by civilization and tourism, sitting in a rather large cove with a steep hill behind it, a rocky beach on one side and a fishing village on the other.

In front of the inn, surrounded by the sea, is a pool made of rocks and concrete filled with ocean water constantly being freshened by waves. The pool is not for swimming, but for the keeping of fish (live) until just before they are to be served.

When you walk in the front door you are greeted by a young woman in a kimono and apron or the old man in shorts with a fishing net in his hand. You will be asked to remove your shoes and will be taken to a room.

All the rooms in the inn overlook the sea and all are very much alike—they have no chairs, no writing desk, no television and no bed, just beautiful, flat, sweet-smelling "tatami" mats and a low table. Sliding paper screens make up a wall between the main room and a narrow outer room with two chairs and a table flat against the window facing the sea.

At this point you will be asked how much you want to pay. In the fall, when the Japan Sea coast is most beautiful, the Araisokan charges from 1,200 to 2,500 yen (roughly $4 to $8 with tax) per person per night. The price includes the evening and morning meals but not alcohol, and the price has nothing to do with the quality of the room or the service—but how many courses you will be served at dinner.

I paid 1,200 yen and was treated better than I've ever been treated anywhere at any price, but of course I was the first foreign guest to stay there and my arrival in itself became an occasion. By the time the next foreigner arrives—say in 1980—the staff may be a bit jaded.

Bargain

Here's what I got for my $4: A meal of boiled shell fish, sea bream (sunfish) both cooked and served raw as "sashimi" ten minutes after it had been swimming in the pool, Japanese mountain potatoes, clear soup with tiny mushrooms, squid served both raw and boiled, a salad of small unshelled shrimp, sliced boiled octopus and things I had never seen before, pickles and finally, after the last of the "sake" had been poured by the girl who served, rice and tea. I may have left something out.

—Breakfast of rice, "Miso-hiru" soup with tiny shell fish, a raw egg with soy sauce and water-thin seaweed.

—A mineral bath in a steam-filled room, warm even though the windows were opened on the sea, a pleasant stroll along the beach and through the village, smiles from farmers harvesting their rice and a bouquet of flowers from the old man.

This is one of my favorite inns, but I've stayed in at least a dozen almost as good and many more that have not disappointed me. I've never stayed in one where I didn't get a warm welcome, a hot bath, a pleasant and slightly exotic meal, a good night's sleep and a friendly "sayonara" for my $3 or $4.

If on your next visit to Japan you decide to leave the carpeted skyscrapers and the ham and eggs behind there are some things to know. One is that very few of the country inn keepers are used to having foreign guests and many will panic when you walk in the door. The few inn keepers who are used to Westerners will think they are doing you a favor by giving you Western food—and if you want Western food forget the whole thing and go to Europe.

These are minor problems and can be readily solved at the tourist information centers found in all large cities

ESP Can Happen To Anyone But Seems Stronger During Stress

Spontaneous extrasensory perception experiences often occur during times of danger, and sometimes those involved have been able to prevent the event about which they have been forewarned. In this second part in a series the author recounts some strange instances of ESP.

By EDDI PARKER

EXTRA SENSORY PERCEPTION (ESP) can happen to anyone. Looking into the future, visualizing events across the miles, or even making contact with the dead is not the special talent of the exception few.

There is spontaneous ESP and controlled ESP. The latter is used primarily in the hands of a sensitive or medium who sets out with the deliberate purpose to predict or find an answer. Spontaneous ESP, on the other hand, just happens, usually when you least expect it.

Doubtless, everyone has the psi (the super-consciousness or sixth sense) that can open doors to the future, give recall into the faraway past, and allow people to communicate across the vast space and dimensions. But it is estimated that only 5 to 10 percent ever attempt to develop their sixth sense. However, more than that number are aware that occasionally they experience "something peculiar"—something beyond explanation.

Y'ng Family Needs Stated For Builders

By JOHN PIERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Homebuilders, you'd better become bird watchers. And the bird you'd better watch is the stork.

That's the advice of a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Robert L. Rand.

If you pay attention to the stork, Rand told a recent meeting of California's homebuilders in Las Vegas, you'll see what kind of homes you ought to be building to meet the needs of Americans in the coming decade. Apartments.

Between now and 1975, there are going to be more than 10 million new American households, Rand said. About 17 million of the new husband-fathers are going to be under 25 years old, 4.9 million 25 to 34, 1.5 million 35 to 44 and 2.2 million 45 and over.

It's "no surprise" that the increase is heavily concentrated in the younger age group. Rand told the builders. These are the long-awaited "war babies" of World War II, grown up, educated, probably out of the service and now heading their own families.

What kind of housing will they need and what can they afford? "It seems logical that there will be greater need first for apartments," Rand said.

In the 1950's land was relatively cheap, even close to the center of town. Construction costs were low and so were real estate taxes. It was possible to build homes and sell them to newlyweds with the slogan "it's cheaper to buy than to rent."

But land and building costs, real estate taxes and the cost of living generally are now rising faster than the income of many young couples. "They will have to adjust first to apartment living before becoming homeowners," Rand said.

Actually, apartment—first, house—later was a more than "normal pattern" of the years before the 1950's, he added.

Additional advice for the builder-bird watchers: Design your apartments with small children in mind. And when you do build houses for sale, find ways to cut costs so that you can price your house within reach of at least some of the younger couples.

There's little the builder can do about the rising costs of building materials and labor as well as taxes and interest rates. What he can do is try new ways of using a given area of land.

Condominiums, row houses and cluster houses are all worth exploring. They can be cheaper and nicer, too.

and the railroad stations in all small towns. Tell the man what you want and what you want to pay and ask him to want nothing but Japanese food. He'll telephone until he finds what you want and the inn will send a taxi after you at its expense.

And on all ventures off the beaten track, it is wise to carry a note in Japanese saying what you want in the way of food and accommodation. Oh, just one more thing: If you happen to go to the town of Masuda and visit the Araisokan, take some American cigarettes along for the old man. You won't get anything extra for them but he likes them very much.

Those who have already expanded their super-consciousness to a degree where their ESP can be controlled, will tell you that it takes discipline, sustained effort, truth, an open mind, development of the body, mind and emotions, and an overwhelming belief in this inner mind.

Hundreds of tales of spontaneous ESP experiences occur during wartime, when loved ones are separated and one or both may be in danger.

One night during World War II, when Gen. Nathan Twining was serving in the Pacific, his wife awoke in her Washington, D. C., bedroom to see the general standing at the foot of the bed, his hands wrapped around the footboard's railing. Mrs. Twining said that, as she watched, the general slowly disappeared from view until the last thing she saw were his hands on the footboard and, in particular, on the one hand his West Point ring.

Frightened, Mrs. Twining called a neighbor in and the two of them sat up the rest of the night, drinking coffee and talking. The next day Mrs. Twining had word that General Twining's plane had ditched in the Pacific. Several days later she had word again, that he had been rescued at sea.

Later, when the two were reunited, they discussed their mutual experiences, only to discover that General Twining's plane had ditched at almost the exact time Mrs. Twining had awakened to see him at the foot of the bed.

The general said that as the plane went into the sea he looked out the window and saw his wife's face. Additionally, when the general was rescued, his wristwatch had been torn away, but his West Point ring was still on his finger.

Take the case of the soldier in Korea who was hit by sniper fire while on sentry duty. As he fell at his post his mother, back in Ohio, tumbled to the floor of her kitchen in a dead faint. They were so closely attuned to each other that, in their super-consciousness, what one felt, the other felt.

A Pennsylvania boy named Jack parachuted into Normandy on D-Day. Back home his mother dreamed of him in three successive nights. First, she saw him lying in a ditch with other soldiers. When he returned home his parents found out that on that night Jack had been hiding in a ditch with his buddies while the Germans strafed them.

The second night the mother dreamed all the boys were covered with blood except Jack. That was the night most of the unit was killed, except Jack, who was on the bottom of the pile of bodies and was thus protected.

In the third and last dream, the mother dreamed of Jack smiling at her, telling her he was all right. On that night, Jack had escaped the ditch, only to be picked up by the Germans and taken to a POW camp, where he waited out the remaining days of the war.

In January, 1945, a California woman dreamed her son, an only child overseas in the Pacific, came to her while she was in the kitchen. "He handed me his uniform," she said, "which was dripping wet."

Later she learned that he was dead. His ship had been torpedoed at Lunga Beach, Guadalcanal, on Jan. 20, the night she had dreamed about him. Somehow she had been told, even down to the wet uniform, for most of the boys were lost overboard in the sea.

A woman in New Jersey lay tossing in bed one night. Depressed and sleepless for several nights, she contemplated suicide. Suddenly, she heard the voice of a friend saying, "Don't do it, Marion. Don't do it."

The friend lived in Florida, but the next day the New Jersey woman received a special delivery letter from her in which she explained that the night before she'd been awakened by the sense "that I needed her and she had prayed for me until dawn."

Not only was Mrs. Abraham Lincoln a devotee of ESP, but Washington seeress Jeanne Dixon has also been called to the White House for Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Mary Pickford and Cary Grant dabble in it.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, author of the Sherlock Holmes tales, was an ESP practitioner. That may explain his inspiration for his stories.

Children have this inner perception in great degree until they start to school, when it begins to fade. A child riding home with his parents suddenly asked them if his uncle and aunt had had a wreck with a train. He had seen it, he said. The next day, the parents found out that the relatives' car had stalled on a crossing, at the very time the little boy had had his vision. And while they managed to escape in time, the car was demolished.

Older people have ESP. A 78-year-old North Carolina man said he had dreamed he was standing at Butler's Crossing, three miles from his home, when a car came toward him. It struck him, he said, hurtling him into darkness.

Three days later the same man went to town to the doctor. On the way back, he hitched a ride to Butler's Crossing. He stood on the roadside lighting his pipe, then started across the highway. Just then, a car came around the curve. He stepped back, but the car swerved toward him, hitting him and hurtling him 60 feet. He died.

And men have this sixth sense. In July, 1951, a California family was just finishing dinner. Jack was going to a meeting in San Jose, 25 miles away, when suddenly his brother-in-law started crying and begged Jack not to go to the meeting. After 15 minutes the desperate feeling was gone and he said it was all right for Jack to go.

By this time, the friend with whom he was to ride had left without him, so Jack drove by himself. On the way he came to the scene of a highway accident and saw the friend he was supposed to ride with—dead.

Sometimes we are forewarned but don't act on the knowledge that our ESP gives us. One woman still wonders if she could have saved a man's life had she acted on a dream. In her dream she was standing in the living room of a casual acquaintance, begging him not to commit suicide. But he left her and rushed into the bathroom. He took a white powder and collapsed into the tub.

The woman told her family and pastor, but since she didn't know the man very well, did nothing more. Later she was told that the man had been found dead in the bathtub in his home. The ruling was death by heart attack. He apparently had been taking some baking soda, a white powder, when the attack came, and he had tumbled over into the tub.

In Washington state, a woman was forewarned and she did something about it. The young mother awoke and told her husband she had dreamed that an ornamental chandelier hanging over their baby's crib had fallen into the crib, crushing the baby. She said she had seen the two of them standing amidst the wreckage. The clock on the dresser in the dream had read 4:35 a.m.

The husband laughed at her and went back to sleep. But the mother couldn't sleep. Frightened, she finally went to the baby and brought her back to bed with her.

Two hours later the couple was awakened by a crash. When they went into the baby's room, there was the chandelier in the crib. It was 4:35 a.m.

In animals, this same psi is at work. You see it playing its part in the migration of butterflies, salmon, swallows and in cats and dogs who find their way home across hundreds of miles.

Most amazing is the monarch butterfly, which migrates to a breeding ground, lays its eggs and dies. The eggs hatch, become caterpillars, feed, weave cocoons, and emerge as butterflies. They then return to the home of their parents, one they've never seen.

The next time someone speaks about horse sense, he may be referring to the same psi which enabled a horse in Virginia to experience ESP. In one instance the horse, with his hoof, spelled out the whereabouts of a Boston boy who had disappeared. His parents found him in Memphis, right where the horse had told them to go.

If you find it difficult to believe that any of these experiences are anything more than coincidence or tricks of the mind—you are not alone. Many reject any form of ESP because it is contrary to their own view of the universe.

Yet, most new theories meet resistance. It was centuries before the world accepted the fact that the earth is round. (Copyright, 1967, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Stickers For Student Cars Now Needed

The new state law requiring out-of-state student motorists to get school stickers on their cars is now in effect.

Newton Police Capt. Richard F. Donahue said the law will aid in controlling parking violations by out-of-state students that have gone on so long in the Garden City.

Donahue said that each college in Newton will be required to register out-of-state students with cars, keeping a copy of the registration on file, sending one to the local police and one to the registry.

At present, the only way police know of out-of-state violators is from the court. Under that procedure, police keep a list of the registration numbers of overdue ticket holders.

If an out-of-state car is found parked illegally, a check is made with a master list at police headquarters and, if the car is on the list, it is tagged and ordered towed.

Drivers of the cars appear at headquarters posthaste after that action. They are allowed to pay their fines without appearing in court and they can reclaim their car. In this city, the policy is to give the owners an additional week to settle the fines after picking up their cars.

Capt. Donahue said that $500 was collected in outstanding fines during the month of October through the towing-away method.

The new stickers are blue and are numbered. They are to be placed on the top center of the windshield.

Donahue said that schools not keeping a register of out-of-state car owners can be fined up to $100. Students not bothering to register can be fined $50.

Fishman Sets Up McCarthy Support Plan

Representative Irving Fishman of Newton has been designated as temporary chairman of the McCarthy-for-President campaign in Massachusetts.

Fishman expressed the conviction that Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota has a good chance of winning in the Bay State's Presidential Primary next April 30.

Fishman is now in the process of setting up McCarthy committees in the 12 congressional districts and later will try to expand them to include the various cities and towns.

The Newton legislator explained that he is supporting McCarthy because he believes the Johnson administration "is leading us down the road to disaster, and the direction must be reversed."

Bride, Widow In One Week

A Newton girl became a happy bride and a grieving widow in the space of seven days, last week.

The husband of the former Carol Grella, of Newton, was killed last Friday when his car struck a wall along Day Blvd., South Boston.

Willard T. Marshall, Jr., of Winthrop, was married to Miss Grella last Saturday in Wayland. The couple had just moved into their new honeymoon apartment in Brighton the day Mr. Marshall was driving to work to fill in for an absent employee when the tragedy occurred.

Employed by the New Haven Railroad, Marshall was driving to work to fill in for an absent employee when the tragedy occurred.

He was a native of Quincy, the son of Willard E. and Helen Marshall Sr., and at one time lived in Newton where he graduated from Our Lady's high school in Newton.

His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo J. Grella, of 12 Clinton St., Newton, and was also a graduate of Our Lady's high school in Newton.

Funeral services for Mr. Marshall were held Tuesday with a high Mass of requiem at 10 a.m. at the Church of Our Lady.

Christmas Party

Mrs. Reginald Holmes of 802 Watertown street, West Newton, will be hostess to the Hobby Class of the West Newton Woman's Club next Thursday (Dec. 14) at her home.

Dessert and coffee will be served by Mrs. Holmes at 12:30 p.m.

Following a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Sidney Williamson there will be the usual Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Knights' Mass And Service Held For Deceased Members

NORMAN HOLTZ

Norman Holtz Is Named Chmn. For Tufts Drive

Norman Holtz of 225 Varick Rd., Waban, has been named chairman of the Newton Committee for the 1967-68 Tufts University Annual Fund, it was announced today.

A widely known labor relations lawyer, Mr. Holtz received his pre-law education at Tufts University College of Liberal Arts and his law degree at Boston University School of Law. A native of Haverhill, he is a product of its public schools. He is also a Navy veteran.

As chairman of the Newton phase of the campaign, Mr. Holtz faces one of the most responsible jobs in the Tufts University Annual Fund which has a one million dollar goal. The money, Mr. Holtz said, will be raised by a corps of 2,500 volunteers across the country by June 1968.

In commenting about the Newton aspect of the drive, Mr. Holtz stated that "Newton's close to 500 Tufts and Jackson alumni will measure up to the challenges and responsibilities presented in this year's Tufts Annual Fund because our actions as donors and as volunteers must serve as an example for communities in other sections of the country that look to us for leadership."

Pointing out that the 1967-68 million dollar campaign is the largest in Annual Fund history, Mr. Holtz emphasized "success is imperative if Tufts is to continue its position of leadership in education as a voluntary supported university." He added that "all individuals desiring to serve on the Newton campaign committee should contact me by phone or letter."

Mr. Holtz is a director of the Brotherhood of Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline. He is a member of the Boston Bar Association and of the Federal Bar Association as well as the Massachusetts Bar Association. He was a trial attorney and hearing officer with the NLRB for five years before resuming private practice in 1963. He recently was named president of Labor Relations Associates in Boston.

Swartz Receives Captain's Bars In Univ. ROTC

Cadet Nathaniel H. Swartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving P. Swartz of 19 Alderwood road, Newton Centre, has been promoted to the rank of Captain in the 370th AFROTC detachment at the University of Massachusetts where he is a senior.

Swartz earned his promotion because of his high level of performance during his Junior year. He is drill team administrative officer which requires management of drill team affairs.

A graduate of Newton High School in 1965, Cadet Swartz is a member of the Arnold Air Society and the Radio club at the University.

He will be eligible for a commission as a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Air Force upon successful completion of his advance air force ROTC training and upon receipt of his BA degree.

Upon graduation, Cadet Swartz will go on active duty as a pilot for a period of 5 years. He has already received his private pilot's license through the Air Force's flight instruction program.

and Edward Boudreau Jr., sons of a member of the order, served as altar boys. St. Jean's choir, led by Sr. Marie Antoinette sang at the services. Miss Pauline Renaud was soloist.

Following the Mass, commemorative services were held in the school hall at 8 p.m. Past Grand Knight John Martin was the eulogist. State Auditor Michael Faherty from North Quincy spoke on "Our Order and Its Dead". The Council paid tribute to the members who have passed away in the past year.

Taking part in the ritual were P.G.K. Robert Mulcahy, Jr.; Gerald Quinn, Chancellor; Richard Roche, Warden.

Refreshments were served by John McLellan and Edward Boudreau. The Committee was: Chairman, John J. Martin P.G.K.; Conrad LaRosee Sr.; John A. Boudreau; William Dery P.G.K.; Frank Sullivan; Ronald Collins; Austin Morgan P.G.K.

Attendance was approximately 250 including relations of deceased members; D.D. Thomas Foley from Pere Marquette Council, South Boston; G.K. Harry Fielding from the same council; P.G.K. Francis Frazier, Newton Council No. 167, present School Committee member from Newton; James Purcell P.G.K. and present Financial Secretary from Newton Council.

Basbas Backs U.S. Tax Aid To Communities

A bill before Congress that would give a share of federal income tax money back to the cities was backed strongly this week by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The far-reaching measure would return to the cities and towns $10 from each taxpayer's income tax remittance to allow the communities use the money as they see fit without the red tape of federal bureaucracy.

As proposed, the bill would allow the cities and the federal government to enter into the agreement without channeling the money through the State government.

The bill, as proposed by its originator, the Mayor of Ann Arbor, Mich., would only pertain to cities that are "financially starved," and promoters of the measure estimate that some $2 billion could be returned. The measure specifically states that if passed, it would not affect existing federal programs.

Basbas said that apart from getting the money, cities and towns would realize savings from not having to make out lengthy applications necessary to compete with other cities for federal funds.

Basbas was restating his support for the bill which was presented early in the summer. At that time he asked the Board of Aldermen to offer support of the bill with a resolution.

Second Church Women To Hear Mother Putnam

Mother Carol Putnam, chairman of the Art Department at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, will be the guest speaker at the December 13th meeting of the Women's Council of the Second Church, West Newton. Her topic is "God and the Ways of Seeing."

Mother Putnam earned her Master of Fine Arts degree and her doctorate in Philosophy of Art in the field of aesthetics from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. and is a young and dynamic speaker.

Work groups will begin at 10 a.m. Mothers of young children will also meet at that time for coffee and conversation (free baby sitters!). At the Adventures in Reading group, which meets at 11:30 in the church parlor, Mrs. Lester Weiner will review two recent books and lead the discussion. Luncheon, with no reservations necessary, will be served at 1 o'clock by Mrs. Edmund Anthony and Mrs. Frank Kubelus and their committee, followed by the business meeting and program.

State GOP Figures Pay Tribute To Pierson At Local Reception

A champagne reception in honor of Wignore A. Pierson of Newton was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., of 120 Bigelow Road, West Newton, Saturday.

State and local leaders honoring Pierson included Attorney General and Mrs. Elliot L. Richardson, Representative John W. Sears, Republican State Committee Chairman Josiah A. Spaulding, Senator Leslie Cutler, Senator James DeNormandie, Mayor Monte G. Basbas, Representative Edward Dickson and Representative Theodore D. Mann.

Wiring his felicitations to Pierson, Governor John A. Volpe commented, "The state needs men of your stature and I look forward to working with you for the cause of good government in the years ahead."

Lieutenant Governor Francis Sargent also wired expressing "warm personal regards" for Pierson.

The reception was held to honor Pierson for his contributions to his community and country both as a participant in civic and political affairs and as a former Peace Corps volunteer and teacher in Peru.

The Fishers, reception host and hostess, expressed great pleasure at the "wonderful response". An enthusiastic crowd estimated at more than 360 persons attended Saturday's fete.

Pierson's civic activities include the Newton United Fund, The Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts of America and the Newton Cancer Drive. Pierson was a Republican candidate for State Representative from Newton-Waltham in 1966 and was a Delegate-at-Large to the recent Republican State Conference in Worcester where he served as Executive Director of the Public Utilities Subcommittee.

Pierson is currently a member of the Newton Board of Public Welfare.

Pierson formerly served as the Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

He is a graduate of Lake Forest College where he majored in political science. Subsequently he attended the Amos Tuck Graduate School of Business at Dartmouth College.

He is associated with Pierson Industries of Boston.

trustee-management concern for controlling costs through optimum operating efficiency.

He predicted, however, that fund raising programs will be required to finance growth of the hospital, equipment acquisition and general capital progress, since third party payments at cost can be expected only to cover operating expenses.

He lauded the hospital's leadership in programs of regional hospital planning, voicing an expectation that service by the hospital will continue to burgeon, as western suburban communities continue their growth.

Since the hospital functions on a break-even, not-for-profit basis, it has little working capital, and consequently depends upon prompt payment for service it provides.

At one period in 1967, accounts receivable of the hospital mounted to more than a million dollars, and nearly a quarter million dollars had to be borrowed by the hospital to meet pay-days and the bills of suppliers, he revealed.

Slow payments by patients was one cause of the financial squeeze, the former president indicated. Slow payments by Medicare was another, although there has been significant improvement in recent months, he pointed out.

"Wages are the greatest factor affecting hospital costs and charges, with hospital workers no longer expected to derive part of their compensation from the intangible satisfaction of being engaged in good works," Mr. Farley said.

"Wage rates have risen sharply, owing to general business competition for workers, and the hospital's need to follow the trend in order to attract and retain competent staff," he explained.

With the advent of Medicare, 90 percent of the payment for hospital care now comes from third party payers, such as Blue Cross and various federal programs. These programs pay the cost to the hospital of providing care.

He challenged trustees to be sure costs remain as low as possible, consistent with high-quality patient care. He pointed to the institution of a management consultant program recently in key hospital operating areas, as evidence of

January Start On New Wing For Hospital Now Prospect

Trustees and citizens attending the annual meeting and dinner of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, held yesterday, December 5, were informed the Newton Board of Aldermen in recent session had approved the hospital's petition to construct a multi-million dollar addition.

Richard H. Lovell of Newton, newly elected president of the hospital's trustees, expressed a hope the project could go out for bids imminently, and a January start on the new wing might be possible.

In other business, the outgoing president, Jarvis Farley of Wellesley, reported about the responsibilities of hospital trustees, based upon insights gained during his two-year administration.

He called for trustees, who interpret needs of the community to the hospital and who interpret the hospital to the community, to continue to reflect the community's desire for comprehensive and top-flight hospital services at all times, short of duplicating unnecessarily the health services more efficiently and effectively provided elsewhere.

He complimented hospital trustees for exercising good and honest judgments, urging them to meet community health needs as they grow.

He cited impressive evidences of progress at the hospital, such as a new wing to be erected shortly, with a resultant expansion of hospital capabilities.

He noted also extensive internal achievements. They included full-time chiefs of hospital services and improved medical staff organization, an active program of expanded staff education, affiliation with Tufts Medical School that has improved the availability of house officers and opening of a medical building that has brought a wide range of specialists into the hospital environment for a major part of each day, thereby strengthening the immediate coverage of medical service.

He said the hospital expects to continue its school of nursing and a long record of producing excellent nurses.

"Those responsible for our School believe four year baccalaureate programs of nurse education will be and should be expanded. However, there

Kiddies Christmas Party By DAV On December 16th

Commander Thomas A. Medaglia announced that this year's Children's Christmas Party, by the Newton Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2384, for its members and friends, will take place at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 16, at the Newton City Hall cafeteria.

All children when entering the cafeteria will have their picture taken with Santa Claus, by Post photographer Henry Devlin. After the completion of the photography, Santa will present to each child his individual Santa Claus companion picture.

The TOY DANCE will then commence with the distribution of gifts by Santa Claus, and the showing of slides of the North Pole. These slides were taken by Erwin W. Beal III, during his recent tour of duty with the U. S. Coast Guard ship East Wind. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Erwin W. Beal, Jr., Quartermaster, and George Greathead.

The finale of the Children's Christmas Party will be a talent show consisting of three separate acts. Act 1—One hour of magic performed by Champagne the Magician. Act 2—Teco the clown with his special Children's Christmas Show. Act 3—Sohib and his mysterious India puppeteers. The second post Children's Christmas party will be held next Sunday, Dec. 10, at the Mass. Hospital for Crippled Children, Canton. There are 175 boys and girls at this hospital. The Newton V.F.W. post in conjunction with the Dept. of Mass. V.F.W. sponsor two children each year with gifts and other articles they desire for a merry Christmas. This committee includes: Comm. Thomas Medaglia, Service Officer Christopher Butler, Charles Pollock, James Barr, Anthony Dance and Frederick Smith.

Commander Medaglia reports that the V.F.W. National Home, Eaton Rapids, Michigan, at the present time, has 34 cottages, including the Mass. cottage. This is another post-sponsored program open free for children of a deceased or a disabled V.F.W. member or an auxiliary member. Santa will visit these children with his gifts on Christmas night too.

Scholarship assistance, and in some cases by the home direct is available to the children.

Further admittance information is available from Commander Medaglia.

World Service Drive Now Underway At Newton YMCA

Announcement has been made by Eldred M. Peterson, chairman of the Newton Y.M.C.A. World Service Committee, that the Association's effort is now underway to raise funds to help Y.M.C.A.'s in thirty-nine countries.

The Newton Y.M.C.A.'s goal of $1,750, which is a part of the National goal of $2,700,000, will be divided among strategic projects in leadership training, student work, camping, rural reconstruction, education, health, and many more.

In addition, this year's goal was increased to establish the Y.M.C.A. Middle East Emergency Fund, created to assist the Y.M.C.A.'s in Jerusalem, Gaza Strip, U.A.R., Lebanon, and Jericho, due to the six-day war. This fund was set up to reconstruct facilities, replace equipment, and re-establish programs. Y.M.C.A. World Service was established in 1889 to help develop, strengthen, and extend the work of the Y.M.C.A. overseas. In most countries the local Y.M.C.A. more than matches the monies received from World Service.

World Service develops programs that are open to people of all faiths and all races. Y.M.C.A. World Service makes possible many schools, teaches health and physical education, teaches people how to raise better crops and livestock, promotes camps and camping, and establishes Y.M.C.A. buildings. Boys and girls who learn to work and play at the Y are the future leaders of their countries. The emphasis is on developing Christian leadership—something the whole world needs a lot of today.

According to Mr. Peterson, who enjoy the freedom and privileges of America must aid these projects by sharing what we have with our friends abroad. Gifts may be made to Y.M.C.A. World Service through the Newton Y.M.C.A., 276 Church street, Newton, Massachusetts, 02158. Mr. Arthur Perkins, secretary.

Democrats In Newton Group Split On LBJ

Newton members of the Democratic State Committee split last Saturday in recording themselves on a resolution which supported President Johnson and his policies in Vietnam.

Democratic State Chairman Lester S. Hyman, who now resides in Newton, and Committeeman Robert Gallagher were recorded in support of the measure.

Committeewoman Jean LeCompte of Newton was one of four committee members who voted against the resolution which was adopted by a 43-4 vote.

Democratic State Committeewoman Betty Taymor, also of Newton, abstained from voting either for or against the resolution, recording herself as "present."

His wife, Saron (Hardwick) Robinson resides in Hawthorne, Calif.

Marine Corporal James W. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Robinson, has recently arrived in Vietnam where he is serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing. Planes in his group airlift troops to battle zones, evacuate wounded, fly resupply missions and provide air support to U.S. and Allied ground forces engaged in combat operations.

HOUSE PASSES VOLPE TAX HIKE, CUT TO $82 MILLION

THE HOUSE PASSED a major portion of Governor Volpe's bill calling for personal and corporate income tax hikes last night after slashing it from $102 million to an estimated $82 million. The action came on a 125-100 vote after three amendments reducing the program were accepted. The governor said he was "very grateful" by the cuts. The amendments the House accepted were: (1) A $2,000 personal exemption to every taxpayer regardless of his type of income; a $600 exemption for every child of a taxpayer attending a private institution of higher learning; an increase of personal income tax exemptions for each child from $400 to $600.

CARDINAL FORCED TO RESIGN FROM HOSPITAL POST

RICHARD CARDINAL CUSHING, has resigned from the board of trustees of the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals because of ill health, it was announced yesterday. The prelate had served on the board since 1963. In his letter of resignation to Mayor Collins, the Cardinal expressed his disappointment in his "inability to fulfill actively his duties as a trustee because of his health."

"It is with great reluctance that I accede to Cardinal Cushing's wishes," Mayor Collins said.

VANDALS DAMAGE 13 BROCKTON BUSES

MORE THAN 1,000 students rode to school in borrowed buses yesterday after vandals broke windows in the 13 regular buses. Brockton police said the vandals broke the windows and windshields sometime Tuesday night. Damage to the buses, owned by the Carey Motor Transit Inc., of Whitman was estimated at $6,000. The owner of the bus line, Frederick Carey, said he was able to borrow enough vehicles from other bus companies.

MIT NAMES ASSISTANT PROVOST

DR. PAUL E. Provost Jerome B. Wiesner said Gray would be responsible for coordination and development of the undergraduate curriculum.

HUB HOSPITAL DISCHARGES 2 VIET BOYS

TWO VIETNAMESE BOYS at Beth Israel Hospital for treatment of injuries will be returning to their own country around the first of the year, it was announced last night. The boys, Nguyen Phat Luom, 13, and Tran Cuong Viet, 10, have been discharged from the hospital and are currently staying in a temporary foster home. Tran Cuong had excision and grafting of a large scar behind his left knee and Nguyen Phat Luom was fitted with an artificial forearm and hand and had surgery to improve facial scars and to rebuild his right ear, said Dr. Robert Goldwyn, attending plastic surgeon. They were brought to Boston Nov. 8 under the auspices of the Committee of Responsibility.

GREEK KING AND JUNTA BRACE FOR SHOWDOWN

KING CONSTANTINE and the ruling military junta were bracing last night for a showdown in Greece which was expected to erupt into a blazing civil war as early as today. Constantine was calling for the support of Greeks to assist him in reestablishment "in this country the moral values that were born in this land." The junta on the other hand declared Constantine stripped of his royal prerogatives and appointed Gen. Efstraios Zolotas, undersecretary of defense, as viceroy to take the king's place. The strongman of the junta, Col. George Papadopoulos, assumed the defense ministry, and the junta was bringing more and more troops into Athens. Constantine, meanwhile, was claiming the support of 90 per cent of the army and all naval and air forces.

There was a report from Larisa, believed to be Constantine's headquarters, that the king and his top general, Constantine Kolias, and his men were advancing on Athens. Larisa is the site of Greece's biggest air base and headquarters for the First Greek Army.

PERCY, UNDAUNTED BY MORTARS, TOURS VIETNAM

SEN. CHARLES PERCY, carrying a captured Viet Cong Victory flag, flew from one end of South Vietnam to the other yesterday questioning GI's and their commanders about the war. Percy, a sometimes critic of President Johnson's handling of the war, spent his second day of a Vietnam tour flying from South Vietnam's embattled northern provinces to the Mekong Delta. He wore combat fatigues and boots for his tour. The Illinois Senator spent his first day in the field Tuesday dodging a Viet Cong mortar attack. "No mortars today," Percy said yesterday as he stepped off his plane.

4,000 GI'S TO BE HOME BY CHRISTMAS FROM VIET

ABOUT 4,000 AMERICAN GI's, scheduled to end their tour of duty in Vietnam by Jan. 4, will be sent home ahead of time for Christmas. A military spokesman in Saigon said the U.S. troops will be returned, by Dec. 18, so that they can spend Christmas with their families. The policy of releasing combat troops ahead of their scheduled end of duty around Christmas time has been followed each year in Vietnam as it was in the Korean War. The spokesman said fighting perennially slackens during the holiday periods and that troops were expected to be called for Christmas and the New Year this year.

$2.3 BILLION OK'D FOR FOREIGN AID, SLAP AT LBJ

PRESIDENT JOHNSON suffered a sharp defeat yesterday when House and Senate conferees agreed on the lowest foreign aid appropriation in the history of the program. The conferees settled on $2,315,700,000. This was almost $1 billion below the President's request to pay for economic assistance to 74 nations and military aid to 34 countries in the current fiscal year that began July 1. If the House and Senate approve the compromise money bill, the foreign aid program would be financed at its lowest level since it began in 1948 with the Marshall Plan to rehabilitate war-ravaged Europe. The lowest amount appropriated since then was $2.7 billion in 1956.

GOP LEADER CALLS JOHNSON 'WILD-EYED ENGINEER'

STUNG BY PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S characterization of his Republican Congressional foes as "wooden soldiers of the status quo," House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford struck back yesterday with a charge that the President is wild and irresponsible. Responding to Johnson's attack on Republicans in a speech Tuesday night to the AFL-CIO convention in Miami, Beach, Ford told the House: "The Great Society of Lyndon Johnson has become a runaway locomotive with a wild-eyed engineer at the throttle. The American people can be thankful that the 90th Congress has slowed down this locomotive which is hurtling down the track toward national bankruptcy."

NEGRO PILOT URGES LBJ NOT TO HALT BOMBING

SOME FIRST HAND ADVICE on the Vietnam war from a returning Negro combat pilot was given to President Johnson yesterday. Col. Daniel James told the Chief Executive that bombing raids were destroying North Vietnam's ability, as well as its will, to fight. Col. James, who flew 78 combat missions over North Vietnam in F4 Phantoms based in Thailand, reported to Johnson at the White House. He told newsmen afterwards he advised the President against any pause in the bombing for Christmas. Despite heavy missile defenses by North Vietnam, he said, the air raids are slowing down the flow of goods and supplies from the North and the United States should keep up the pressure.

Four Captains Vie For Police Chief's Post

A Civil Service examination for Police Chief will be held Jan. 6 and four Newton police captains are expected to take the test to determine the successor to Chief Philip Purcell who expects to retire next July 1. In addition to determining the eligibility list for chief, the exam will also determine a deputy chief.

The department's four captains, William J. Burke, Richard F. Donahue, John N. McMullen and William F. Quinn are all expected to take the examination.

The examination calls for four or more of captain rank to take the examination, but if one of the captains does not, then a lieutenant is eligible to take the exam.

Newton at one time had a deputy chief while Purcell was chief, but that post was reduced to the rank of captain at the same time another captaincy was created.

Burke is the ranking captain on the force and is in charge of the detective bureau. McMullen, next in grade, is chief prosecutor in Newton district court. Quinn, the youngest captain, is in charge of the uniform division, and Donahue is in charge of the traffic bureau.

Appointed by the former Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, Purcell has been Newton CAPTAINS — (See Page 2)

Dr. Brown Seeks Fewer New Teachers For City

Superintendent Charles E. Brown recommended to the Newton School Committee on Monday night that 74.9 new employees be added to the School Department staff.

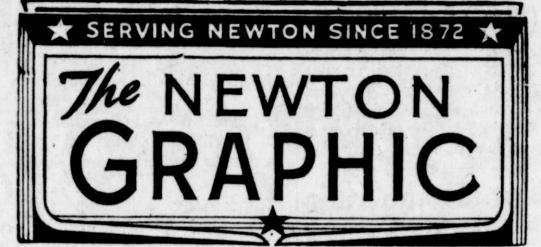

All but two of these people would be teachers, Dr. Brown said.

The number of new positions recommended by the superintendent of schools represents a cut of 26 from the original requests by principals and department heads submitted more than a month ago. That request carried a price tag of $325,000 which would cover the costs from Sept. of 1968 to Jan. 1, 1969.

What the reduced request will amount to in terms of money is not yet known. Salary negotiations with teachers which have been going on in closed session for some time will include discussions of these new positions. Also the recommendations are subject to change pending meetings with principals and department heads, Dr. Brown said.

Dr. Brown asserted that it is necessary to hire more teachers to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio, to lower the total number of students with whom a teacher works in the specialists in such fields as high schools, and to allow for reading, art, music, library the employment of additional and physical education.

Taxes Going Higher

Predict $10 Increase In '68; Same In 1969

A prediction that the Newton tax rate will jump about $10 next year, and probably $10 the year after that was made this week by Arthur A. Marr, City Director of Finance.

The biggest part of the increase, Marr said, will come from the estimated $2.1 million budget increase in the School Department.

He indicated that about 85 per cent of the School Department budget is for salaries, while salaries among other city employees account for only about 65 per cent of the city's budget.

The city's plight is further aggravated by the lack of any surplus money available to offset the heavy increases. Last year, the city was able to use some $800,000 in surplus funds but this year's surplus, listed at about $15,000 a week ago, is the lowest it has been in years.

The Finance Director said the expected increase in the school budget will amount to about $6.50 on the tax rate while the city budget increase will add another $4.

The total city budget runs about $34 million with the School Department consisting of half of that, some $17 million that the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen cannot touch.

Marr was not optimistic about the city expecting additional help from the state local aid fund, and could see nothing developing that would mean added income to the city from state reimbursements.

The increase in the overall budget, Marr added, does not represent a specific building or development program in the city, just the normal increase in city government

School Board Moves To Add School Rooms

To help solve problems of overcrowding at Warren Junior High School in West Newton, the Newton School Committee on Monday night voted to amend the original educational specifications for the new Day Junior High School to include up to four but not less than two additional classrooms.

These classrooms would house the special education classes now located at Warren.

In addition, Superintendent Charles E. Brown said, district lines between Warren, Day and Bigelow Junior High may be adjusted to provide as

Mail Now! Is Plea Of Postmaster

Postmaster Ephraim Martin has urged Newtonites to begin mailing Christmas cards at once.

Martin told The Graphic:

"With Christmas card sales and other signs pointing to an all-time high volume of Christmas mail, the situation might well be critical unless the people of Newton start mailing heavily."

The postmaster said the last delivery of mail before Christmas will be on Saturday.

Aldermen Alarmed At Rising Tax Rate

Aldermen speaking to the Newton PTA Council this week expressed concern over the city's rising tax rate.

Local PTA presidents, teachers, members of the school committee, city officials, and Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Charles E. Brown, were guests at the Williams School in Auburndale where they were welcomed by the principal, Mrs. Anne Carr, and by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ryan, PTA co-presidents. Council president Bernard I. Kaplan presided.

Speaking to a capacity audience when the scheduled speaker Mayor Monte G. Basbas was unable to attend, were Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the Board of Aldermen; William M. Glovsky, a retiring alderman; and James A. Miller, city planning director.

Mr. Kaplan introduced the program as the third in a series on communication between the PTA's and school and city officials.

Mr. Bauckman pointed out that the Board has no jurisdiction over the school budget and that administrators must also be concerned about the Newton families who do not have children in the public schools. He prophesied that the city's tax rate will soon hit the $100 mark.

He cautioned Newton residents not to allow the cost of maintaining a fine school system to price the city out of reach of lower income families.

Student Blood Donors Assist Young Patient

Andover - Newton Theological School supplied 17 student volunteers on Tuesday (Nov. 28) to give blood at the "Open Heart Bloodmobile" for 11 year old Sarah Chase, daughter of William A. Chase, a graduate student there, and Mrs. Chase. Sarah is recovering from open heart surgery performed at the Children's Medical Center in Boston the next day.

Assembled by the Newton Chapter American Red Cross at the Chapter House on Foster Street, the donors were assisted by a full complement of Newton volunteers. Mrs. Lillian Atkinson, together with nurses and technicians from Red Cross headquarters in Boston, was in charge.

This is one of several "Open Heart Mobiles" held at the Newton Chapter in the past few years whenever such a need has arisen.

Santa's Mail Box In Newton Park 4th Year

The Newton Boys' Club has again, for the fourth year, placed an eight foot mailbox in Coletti-Magni Park, Watertown street, Newton, to receive mail addressed to Santa Claus.

Long ago, little Billy asked "is there a Santa Claus?" the classic reply, even in the year 2000, will continue to tug at the heartstrings of adults. Children, however, will still be asking that question each time they mail a letter to the North Pole.

The Newton Boys' Club want to reassure them of the presence of the jolly old elf by arranging to have Santa answer their letters and more important, the response to their question will

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Kevin White Risked Future In Ultimatum to Law-Makers

Boston Mayor-elect Kevin H. White certainly displayed the courage of his convictions when he threw down the gauntlet to the State Legislature and announced that he would continue to hold the office of Secretary of State until a tax program is enacted which would enable the Commonwealth to assume the welfare costs now paid by the cities and towns.

White obviously was telling the truth when he declared that his purpose in taking this long gamble and calculated risk was to avoid a financial crisis in Boston and other communities across Massachusetts. There was no other logical reason why he would make such a move.

Rabbis Speak To Sisterhood

The next meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Torah, 120 Corey St., West Roxbury, will be held on Monday evening, December 18, at 8:00. The program will feature a panel discussion of "Meet the Rabbis." Rabbi Oscar L. Bookspan of Temple Beth Torah, West Roxbury, will take the conservative side of Judaism, Rabbi Murray Rothman, Temple Shalom, Newton, will take the reformed side, and Rabbi Israel Goldberg, Temple Agudath Israel, Dorchester, will take the orthodox side. Mrs. Rudolph Astor will be the moderator.

Because of the nature of the program, friends and husbands are invited to attend. Rabbi Oscar L. Bookspan will recite the opening prayer.

Chanukah display will be shown and Mrs. Jack Datz will give a brief talk on the meaning of Chanukah.

Delicious refreshments appropriate of the season will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ira Brier and Mrs. Harris Warshaw.

Former Newton Man, Wife Die In Fiery Walpole Crash

Auto crashes over the past weekend took the lives of a former Newton man and his wife and injured another resident.

Kenneth R. Galner and his wife, Pamela, both 24, were killed Sunday in a head-on crash on Main st., Walpole. The small foreign auto burst into flames and Galner, trapped behind the wheel, burned to death. His wife died of injuries.

The couple had lived in Providence the last four years where Galner was studying for his Ph.D. at Brown University and his wife was a teacher in the Providence school system.

Galner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Galner of 22 Warren rd., Waban, was a graduate of Newton high school and Franklin and Marshall university. He received a master's degree in English from Brown.

His wife was a graduate of Lyman high school in Wallingford, Ct., and the University of Pennsylvania. She was a high school teacher.

In addition to his parents, Galner is survived by a sister, Mrs. Judith B. Banker, of Westwood; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Galner, of 51 Cotter rd., Waban; and his maternal grandfather, Samuel Hurwitz, of Mattapan.

Mrs. Galner leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lender; a brother, Marc R., and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Lender, all of Wallingford.

A double funeral for the couple was held Monday at 2 p.m. in the Stanetsky Memorial Chapel, 1668 Beacon st., Brookline.

Saturday noon, Mrs. Wilma M. Sampson, 61, of 50 Parker ave., Newton, was admitted to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for multiple cuts and bruises after her car collided with another vehicle at Chestnut st. and Rte. 9 overpass.

Saturday night, Daniel M. Raleigh, of 159 Mt. Vernon st., Newtonville, was unhurt when his car hit a tree on Mt. Vernon st. He told police he was cut off by a car coming in the opposite direction.

Newt. Democrats To Hear Solons

Robert Kraft, Chairman of the ward 7 democratic committee, announces that the next meeting of the committee will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michelson of 94 Pack street at 8 p.m. next Wednesday night (Dec. 20).

The guest speaker will be Rep. Irving Fishman, Mass. Chairman for the Committee to Elect Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy President. Rep. Fishman will speak on dissent in the democratic party. Rep. Fishman, along with ward 7 Alderman H. James Shea Jr., will review the past Newton city election drawing special attention to the voting patterns of ward 7.

Any interested democrats and independents are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Woman's Group Plans Party For Patients

The Women's Auxiliary Evening Group of Beth Israel Hospital will hold a Christmas-Chanukah party at the pediatric unit of the Hospital on Sunday afternoon (Dec. 24) beginning at 2 p.m. The party is for all ward pediatric patients at the hospital.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Irving Steinberg, Newton, and helping her are: Mrs. Clyde Beck; Joseph Herskovits; William Hirshom; Morton Preman, of Brookline and Alan Buchner of Boston.

The girls of the Evening group will also leave a supply of new books, toys, and games for the children of all pediatric and psychiatric outpatient departments at Beth Israel Hospital.

On Sunday afternoon December 17, 1967 the evening group of the women's auxiliary will hold its annual cake sale in the front main lobby of Beth Israel Hospital. All goodies will be home baked and all revenue from this unique lobby cake sale will be donated to the pediatric unit.

Chairmen of the cake sale are: Mrs. William Hirshom and Mrs. Morton Preman of Brookline. Helping on the committee are: Mrs. Ralph Asekoff and Mrs. Allen Rubin of Brookline, Mrs. Stanley Parker of Newton, and Mrs. Leonard Epstein of Waltham.

much relief as possible at Warren.

Dr. Brown explained that he had discussed increasing the size of the proposed new Day Junior High School as a means of helping to solve overcrowding problems at Warren with Mayor Monte G. Basbas who agreed to explore the possibilities.

In other action the superintendent was asked to study and report back to the School Committee concerning a request from the Bigelow Junior High School PTA for a temporary plastic bubble type of structure that would be used for a gymnasium during construction of the new Bigelow school.

The bubble, about 120 by 80 feet in size, costs about $33,000, it was reported. An alternative plan that would bus students to other schools would cost about $50,000.

The temporary facility could then be moved to Newton High School for a similar use during construction of that school, the letter noted.

Mayor Basbas questioned whether the State Dept. of Public Safety would allow such a structure. He pointed to the difficulties of Newton and Boston in getting approval of portable buildings as were proposed for temporary alleviation of crowding at Day Junior High.

The mayor also said the Recreation Commission would have to approve use of the Burr playground for the construction.

In addition, architects would have to be consulted to see whether the bubble will be needed at Newton High School.

Construction plans for Bigelow call for a two phase operation. The first phase will include all facilities but the gymnasium and some industrial arts classrooms. When the first phase is completed the students will move into it and the old building will be demolished for construction of

First Unitarian Society Salutes Church Family

The Church School students of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton will hold their annual holiday season program and Church Family Supper on Sunday, December 17, at 4 p.m.

This year's theme is "A Family Is a Joyous Thing." Invitations have been sent to all members of the organization expressing hope that the entire Church Family will gather together "in a feeling of warmth and joy."

The occasion will feature a colorful and varied program of Church School experiences ranging from the traditional to the original. The Nativity Scene will receive a refreshingly new presentation by the primary grades and their choral director, Mrs. Ann Buxbaum.

The children will sing three rarely heard carols and invite the congregation to join them in singing traditional carols.

Police Check Three Breaks

Three house breaks were reported to Newton police over the past weekend with furs, jewelry and $198 cash taken from a home on Blake st.

Alice Eastman, of 135 Blake st., Newton, reported Friday that entrance to her home was gained through the kitchen door.

Nothing was reported missing in two other breaks. The home of Edward Jones at 67 Bow st., Newton, was entered through the rear door some time since Dec. 7.

The home of Robert Brack at 35 Islington rd., Auburn-dale, was completely ransacked during the past week. Entrance was gained through the rear door.

Police Recruitment Problem

In Los Angeles this week civilians dressed in police uniforms began directing traffic in the downtown area. By hiring civilians to take over traffic duties, officials thereby released police officers for other more important duty—protecting the lives and property of the citizens and the prosecution of law breakers.

The Los Angeles Police Department was forced to hire civilians because it is and has been faced with a problem which also plagues police departments all over the country—a drastic shortage of police recruits, and the growing apathy of young men to join the forces of law enforcement at the cop-on-the-beat level.

So acute is the recruitment problem that the International Chiefs of Police Association is discussing with the Pentagon a revolutionary plan to cut short the four-year enlistment of men in the Armed Forces if they will pledge to join the police upon discharge.

The revolutionary plan of the ICPA was revealed by the president of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association, Somerville Police Chief Thomas J. O'Brien. He said his department has already launched a novel scheme of its own to attract police force candidates. His department is sending to residents of the city serving in the Armed Forces police "blue books," and applications for Civil Service tests to be taken when they have discharged their duty to their country.

O'Brien maintained that veterans who have seen active service are the most desirable for police work.

In emphasizing the problem, O'Brien said, "At one time there were 20 candidates for every opening on the police department, but now some communities do not have a single applicant."

He cited Boston as a glaring example of the shortage. In September, 173 men were notified of a Civil Service test, and only 119 showed up to take the examination. Of that number, 76 were certified on the written phase—and they face stiff physical examinations which will cut the number of eligibles even further.

We think police work is an honorable and rewarding profession, one that should attract youth of high calibre. Unfortunately, the present day demands of the Armed Forces for manpower syphon youth of that type out of the nation's labor pool.

The plans of the ICPA and Somerville Police Department for personal recruitment are meritorious. They should receive the backing of communities similarly concerned with police recruitment problems.

Rising Crime Rate

Statistics showing a sharp increase in crime in the suburbs during the first nine months of this year are sobering but not surprising.

House burglars, both professionals and amateurs, are disposed to set their sights on homes in well-to-do outlying areas.

Even the hit-and-run bandits who hold up banks are now more often than not picking places in the suburbs where they may have a better chance of making their get-away than in a congested downtown district.

All this, of course, necessitates improved and increased police protection and better police techniques in law-enforcement.

But the public also has a responsibility to play a greater part in the fight to halt the rise of crime in the suburbs.

Too many people don't want to get involved if a crime is committed or if it appears there is a possibility one may be committed.

If it doesn't directly concern them, their primary desire usually is to mind their own business and stay out of trouble.

Their civic duty, however, demands more than that, and if they fail to fulfill their own obligations, they eventually may find themselves victimized by the criminal element.

The police cannot have a patrolman at every home, at every business place or on every street corner.

However, they can get officers to any location in the community within a very short period of time if there is a necessity for doing so.

If you observe someone acting in a suspicious manner in your neighborhood, telephone the police so they may investigate.

Don't worry that your tip to the police may cause a needless and wasteful investigation.

The police realize that inevitably will happen most of the time. They will be satisfied if one investigation in ten proves worthwhile.

If you are driving your automobile and observe a crime being committed, notify the police as quickly as you can.

If you do not do these things, you will be failing to meet your responsibility as a good citizen and to do your part to check the rise of crime. The police can't possibly do the job alone.

LETTERS

On Hotel Move

Editor of The Graphic:

I would like to give my opinion of the action of the Aldermen at the debate on December 4, 1967 of the petition of the Marriott Corporation for expanded operations at their Norumbega Park project.

There exists a suspicion that the Marriott people misled the City when they requested permission for less extensive activities in their original application, with the intention of seeking more widespread use when they got their foot inside the door. It would have been big league for the Aldermen to stand up to this world-wide organization and let it be known that we will not tolerate improper use in Newton even by the most powerful interests instead of submitting to the will of the establishment.

It is amazing that no one has raised the question of the propriety of the Chairman of the Housing Authority acting as counsel for the sponsors of the two largest developments in Newton in many years, the Marriott motel at Norumbega and the air rights development at Newton Corner. Can Richard Lovell as counsel for these millionaire clients act impartially as head of the agency which is supposed to be interested in housing for the poor? And what magic is there about Mr. Lovell that he is the only attorney qualified to represent the largest developers?

The conduct of the presiding officer, Wendell Bauckman, during the debate on the Marriott proposal seemed to be lacking in impartiality. At a previous hearing on another matter he explained to the outraged citizenry that what they witnessed was "Democracy in Action". On Monday night of this week we witnessed "The Establishment in Action".

After the presiding officer permitted the chairman of Claims and Rules to speak for an hour in support of the extension of the original plans by Marriott and later to give his views on all suggested amendments, he then refused to allow the only dissenter from the report of the committee, Alderman Matthews, to answer a criticism of Alderman Matthews' position by Alderman Franklin Flashner, the chairman of Claims and Rules, until other aldermen had been heard and then recognized Alderman Barkin, who happened to have a motion for the previous question which terminated all debate, when there were several aldermen asking to be heard. Was Barkin's motion the result of a signal?

Perhaps I have been spoiled by sitting as a member of the minority party in a legislative body presided over by a giant among men, the beloved Christian Herter. He was Massachusetts' greatest statesman and as Speaker of the House was zealous to protect the rights of the minority. If a Republican and Democrat arose to speak simultaneously he always recognized the Democrat. What a contrast to the Newton Board of Aldermen? I often think of what former Representative Harry Kalus, now a member of the Superior Court bench and a tremendous legislator, would do as a member of the group.

May I respectfully suggest that the Board present to the Chairman of Claims and Rules a locomotive engineer's hat and that Alderman Flashner wear it the next time he railroads a measure through for the establishment.

Wermont To Talk To Brotherhood

The monthly breakfast of the Brotherhood of Temple Beth Avodah will be held on Sunday, December 17, at 10 a.m. at the Temple, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Newton Centre. Featured at the occasion will be the nationally known author and educator Ir Wermont, who has thrilled audiences all over the country with his theory that people would live longer and have richer lives if they would exchange their worries for laughs. He is the author of the book, "Here's How to Remember."

Mr. Wermont has presented, in addition to his successful talks, seminars on memory and personality development to executives and supervisory personnel of many of the country's largest corporations.

Charles Rudnick, president of the Brotherhood and Ronald Kingsbury, program chairman, cordially invite all who care to attend for a nominal fee.

President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent conservationist, set aside the first 51 wildlife refuges in the United States.

Lasell Junior College Goes To A Press Party

By CAROLYN SCOTT

Going to the movies at ten-thirty in the morning cuts into the working day—but it's a heck of a lot of fun! Especially when you've been invited to meet the star and executive producer of the show afterwards at luncheon, and the party is in the Presidential Suite at the Sheraton Boston—29 floor, please.

That is the way things were set up for the recent (December 7) press screening of The Graduate, presented by Joseph E. Levine and starring Dustin Hoffman. The invitation to the event came to Lasell Junior College through George Kraska, Public Relations Director for Embassy Pictures Corporation in Boston. There were four of us: Kenneth Matheson, Auburn, Chairman of Lasell's English Department; Patti Levin, Fall River, Editor of the Lasell News; Marcia Langer, Meriden, Connecticut, staff reporter on the News; and myself. We converged on Universal Studios, 60 Church Street, Boston, with Mr. Kraska's final confirmation memo flying in the breeze.

In large caps it stated the time, the place, and the date of the press screening. Midway in the reminder were two lines conveying the happy news that after the screening guests would be transported by cab to the Sheraton Boston.

Mr. Kraska was on hand to greet us at Universal, where we first walked past a roomful of people at work just like you and me. The screening room is reminiscent of the movie rooms one imagines in Hollywood homes—cozy and comfortable, with the screen taking up one entire end of the room. We were early, so there was plenty of time to scan the Production Information Manual, fourteen pages of stapled-together material about the cast, the film, and the director, Mike Nichols, and a long list of production credits, headed by Lawrence Turman, producer.

By ten twenty-nine the screening room was full of people. A moment later the lights went out and there we were—close to fifty of us—looking at Dustin Hoffman, The Graduate. His features filled the room and we stared back at him for long minutes. He was on a plane, returning to the West Coast after graduation from an Eastern college. Thereby begins the story of The Graduate—adult fare, with some very funny moments, some marvelous photography, and some startling innovations for the middle-aged and beyond. The film also stars Anne Bancroft and Katherine Ross.

Miss Bancroft is remembered for her Academy-award winning role in The Miracle Worker. Watching her in The Graduate, however, you're about as close to The Miracle Worker as a dish of tapioca is to a flaming crepe suzette. The Graduate is only the second screen venture of Director Mike Nichols. If you don't know his first, just ask next door. You'll learn it was Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?

When the lights went on again our heads were still spinning with the last hectic scenes of The Graduate and it was reassuring to step into those waiting taxis on Church Street. The trip to the Sheraton Boston was over in a trice.

Greeting her husband's guests against the silvery background of the Presidential Suite was Mrs. Joseph Levine who somehow knew everybody's name. Her husband was everywhere—cordial and friendly and glad to be in his hometown again. He was a West End boy and she a Maiden girl and for many years their home was in Newton.

Before luncheon there was a chance to say hello to Dustin Hoffman—a quiet, unassuming young man in a conservative dark suit and tie—the latter livened by a white diagonal stripe. Later, while David MacNeil of WCRB interviewed Joseph Levine this reporter eavesdropped from the next table. "Dustin is like the boy next door," Mr. Levine was saying.

And sure enough, if one were to spot him walking down the street one might say just that. Asked to predict the future success of the star, Mr. Levine spoke into the mike, "Dustin is destined . . ."

Small tables at which six could be seated were scattered throughout the large room whose windows overlooked the rooftops of Back Bay. In an adjoining area there was a princely spread and it was a pleasurable stroll around the buffet table while waiters heaped one's plate. During the luncheon, we talked with Samuel Hirsch, drama critic of the Herald-Traveler and, from the same department, Cameron Dewar. Ed Callanan of the Sunday Advertiser's drama department was there. From where we sat we could see Dustin Hoffman talking earnestly with Nora Taylor of the Christian Science Monitor.

George McKinnon of the Globe, and Alta Malony of the Herald-Traveler. Student representatives from Brandeis, Boston University, M.I.T., Radcliffe and Emerson, and those Lasell girls, were all tuned in with Dustin. There was Jane Steidman, Editor of Boston After Dark. There were many other representatives of the press and radio there. The Messers Hoffman and Levine kept circulating and sharing themselves with all.

We never did see Dustin Hoffman take his departure. We just looked up and he was suddenly no longer there. We thanked the Levines and made our farewells. It was time to get back to Lasell and to work. We had spent the better part of a day with The Graduate. You can meet him, too, at the Paris Cinema, Boston, opening December 22.

Students, Faculty Agree

Newton College of the Sacred Heart, a liberal arts college for women, has proven that both authority and responsibility can be effectively achieved by a student government with the cooperation and approval of the college's administration.

Newton's student senate adopted a proposal on student authority and responsibility at a recent meeting attended by two-thirds of the College's 800 undergraduates and by several members of the faculty.

The proposal—based upon a number of proposals approved by the National Student Association congress at College Park, Md., last August—encompasses six areas of student concern.

These are (1) a voice in academic matters, (2) authority over student organizations, (3) financial independence, (4) dormitory regulations, and (5) jurisdiction over specified disciplinary matters.

After meeting with student leaders, the Newton adminis-

Political Highlights

Whatever happens, whether the Legislature passes a tax plan or not, White could lose politically, and he undoubtedly realizes it.

It is not stretching the facts to report that White is jeopardizing his political future in a fight to relieve Boston of the heavy welfare burden it now carries.

Technically and by almost any standard of reasoning, White is right in demanding the passage of a welfare funding bill.

Earlier this year, the members of the Legislature adopted a bill providing that the Commonwealth next July 1 will assume the administration of welfare in Massachusetts and will take over the welfare expenses now borne by the cities and towns.

Now the law-makers are balking at providing the money to do what they already have voted should be done. This isn't the first time that has happened on Beacon Hill, and it probably will not be the last.

That, however, does not mean that it was politically expedient for White to issue the ultimatum that he did demanding the passage of the welfare funding bill.

The trouble from White's standpoint is that people have been killed while fighting for what's right. He could be a political fatality.

If White's boki move results in the passage of a tax program, the likelihood is that he would consider the gamble he made a good one and the risks involved worthwhile.

He also would be credited with having prodded the Legislature into action when it appeared no one else could do it.

What White's courageous stand would produce in such a turn of events, however, would be a higher State income tax which many persons might not be enthusiastic about paying.

Fighting for new or higher taxes is not usually the way to achieve greater popularity.

It's true that Governor Volpe waged a successful drive for a limited sales tax and then won reelection by a landslide margin. But Volpe won his sales tax fight after a 13-month campaign in which the public was educated concerning the need for the tax.

The Democratic strategy in the fight over a tax to fund the welfare bill has been about as poor as it was possible to be.

The Legislature had approved the tax program submitted by Volpe to pay the welfare bills and meet other State obligations, any public reaction or resentment would have been directed at the Republican Governor for sponsoring it.

If the law-makers pass a tax plan now, the public assumption will be that they did it because a high Democratic leader pointed a political gun at them and announced that he would not step out as Secretary of State until they did it.

A columnist can only speculate on what will happen on Beacon Hill under these circumstances. But an educated guess is that the tax program which White wants so badly to fund the welfare reorganization law will not be approved during the closing days of this year's legislative session.

Many legislators are not particularly concerned whether White resigns or remains as Secretary of State. Some law-makers would be reluctant to have it appear that he pushed or whipped them into line on the tax issue.

If that is a correct appraisal of sentiment in the House of Representatives, the New Year probably will be quite a few weeks old before the Legislature gets around to considering a tax program.

That means that White—if he stands his ground—would hold the office of both Mayor of Boston and Secretary of State for a substantial period. This could pose the hard question of how long White could afford to do so.

Ordinarily, a public figure can't lose by defying or fighting with the Legislature.

White probably is the exception who proves the rule. In this case he could lose.

It isn't just a case of White incurring the hostility of balky legislators who are unwilling to vote for any new taxes either this year or next or that his bills may run into opposition in the House and Senate and be dropped quietly down the legislative drain.

Most law-makers from other sections of the Commonwealth are unsympathetic to Boston's problems which White will assume on New Year's Day. They voted against the bulk of the measures submitted by Mayor John F. Collins, and they'll do the same with those filed by White.

White's problem goes well beyond the obvious fact that he will have trouble gaining tration voted to accept the student proposal and the mechanism established. Although future Senate resolutions shall be reviewed and evaluated by the administration, the proposal does include a proviso whereby the senate may override an administration veto in areas of student competence by means of a three-fourths majority vote.

Commenting on the success of the proposal, Student Government President Jane A. Hanify, a senior from Belmont, emphasized that "an atmosphere in which students can assume meaningful responsibility, and the authority commensurate with that responsibility, is vital to the development of a mature and effective student government."

"We believe that student power should be interpreted as student responsibility, and can be realized through a rational dialogue between students and administrators."

tige of being Mayor of Boston.

What he is endeavoring to do is pressure legislators, who are supporting Davoren for Secretary of State but are opposed to any tax bill, into providing the necessary funds so that the State can pick up the welfare expenses now paid by the cities and towns.

As a matter of background, Davoren graduated from Holy Cross College in 1940 and from Portia Law School in 1963.

He was a hero in World War II. Davoren saw five years of military service and was decorated for bravery while serving with the Fourth Marine Division as a naval beachmaster during the invasions of Saipan and Tinian.

Davoren is now serving his seventh term in the House of Representatives from the 9th Worcester district which includes the five towns of Milford, Southboro, Westboro, Upton and Grafton. He is highly respected in his district.

Prior to his election as Speaker, Davoren served as Majority Leader and Acting Speaker as well as Vice-Chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee and in numerous other important legislative capacities such as chairman of the joint committee of labor and industries.

While there are those who try to belittle Davoren, the fact is that he has been an outstanding legislator for more than a dozen years. If he had not been, he would not have advanced up through the ranks to Assistant Majority Leader, Majority Leader and finally to the post of Speaker.

One of the reforms introduced by Davoren allows the Republican leader in the House to designate the GOP members of committees and commissions.

A number of progressive bills and a variety of measures designed to protect the safety of the general public have Davoren been Speaker.

His credentials for services as Secretary of State are excellent.

Why Is LBJ Bashful About Running Here?

If Washington newsmen are correct, President Johnson does not wish to stand against Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in next April's Presidential Primary in Massachusetts.

He would prefer to have a stand-in such as Senator Edward M. Kennedy, House Speaker John W. McCormack or Postmaster Lawrence O'Brien run against McCarthy.

Ted Kennedy already has politely but firmly declined to fill such a role. McCormack is unlikely to undertake the task of campaigning around the Commonwealth. If O'Brien is ordered to step into the breach, that's it—or else look for another job.

That poses the rather obvious question as to why the President is so coy or reluctant about having his own name placed on the Bay State ballot.

If LBJ could not defeat McCarthy in Massachusetts, he'd better start planning on shipping his belongings from the White House back to the ranch.

Whatever President Johnson's reasons may be for not wanting to battle it out with McCarthy in this State, the inevitable assumption will be that he's afraid of losing to the Minnesota Senator.

To have a substitute candidate stand against McCarthy in his place makes a mockery out of the Presidential Primary.

If Mr. Johnson holds to that intention, he may set the stage for a victory by McCarthy in a State the President should carry easily.

Davoren Well Qualified To Succeed Kevin White

A number of persons have written in to ask whether House Speaker John F. X. Davoren is qualified to be Secretary of State.

The answer is that Davoren is well qualified to fill the office and should make an excellent Secretary of State if and when he is elected by the Legislators to succeed Kevin White in that position.

Davoren's qualifications and capabilities for service as Secretary of State actually have never been challenged and have nothing whatever to do with White's ultimatum that he will not quit his State post until a welfare funding bill is enacted.

White realizes Davoren probably will be elected the next Secretary of State, and he is not trying to block his election.

Deadline Near For Kiddies To Sign For Holiday Tours

The Newton Community Center announced today that all registrations for the Holiday Trip program must be received before Wednesday, Dec. 20. This program, to be held over the Christmas vacation period, is for children in Kindergarten through Grade 6. It is designed to provide exciting activities for youngsters during their time away from school.

The trips are tailored to the age and understanding of the children, and are aimed at satisfying the natural curiosity all children have for the world around them. Full day trips open to all grade levels look into the "World of Science" and the "World of Politics and the Theatre."

The former trip will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and will tour the Museum of Science including a Hayden Planetarium Show, live animal show and numerous exhibits. The Science Museum, is a see and touch Museum where children can steer their own ship, hear their own telephone voices, play tic-tac-toe with a computer, listen to a talking transparent woman, etc. Children will eat lunch at the museum and lunch money is required.

The latter trip will take place on Friday, Dec. 29 from 10:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and will begin with a tour of the State House, including the Hall of Flags, legislative chambers, Governor's Council and Office, etc. Children must bring their own lunch as there are no cafeteria facilities available.

(If time permits the youngsters will also have an opportunity to view the store windows (animated) on Washington street). The second big highlight of this expedition is a 2:30 matinee of "The Golden Goose," performed by the Children's Theatre of Boston. Both trips promise stimulating days for the youngsters.

Half-day trips are divided into specific grade levels: Kindergarten through Grade 3 will enjoy trips under the heading of "Live and Stuff Animals." On Tuesday, Dec. 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. there will be a tour of the Animal Rescue League including pet placement, stray ward, feeding and exercising area. On Thursday, Dec. 28, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. there will be a trip to Harvard University's Museum of Comparative Zoology, including a look at the 42 foot fossil "Sea Serpent," dinosaurs, rhinoceros, elephants, kangaroos, deer, whale skeletons, insects, fishes, reptiles, etc.

For children in Grades 3 through 6, half-day trips will feature an Examination of the Food Industry.

On Tuesday, Dec. 26, from 12:45 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. children will tour Hood Milk Co. and will view a slide show of the process of milk from farm to plant, and an inside look at pasteurizers, homogenizers, miles of glass pipes carrying milk, cartoning, bottling and loading milk. On Thursday, Dec. 28, these same children will look at the largest bakery in the world, The Continental Baking Co. Here children will watch the complete operation of making bread, rolls, muffins, cakes, donuts and other novelties through machines designed for mixing, rising, baking, cooling, slicing, and wrapping all products almost totally automatically. Samples on these trips should add to the kids' fun.

Groups are limited in size and the Center urges all interested parents to register immediately. Registrations will close on Dec. 20.

The Holiday Trip Program is directed and led by Mrs. Murray Janower, Creative Art Director at the Center, and a resident of Newton. Mrs. Janower is an experienced group leader and former Elementary teacher of Brookline, Mass.

Parents interested in having their children participate in this program should contact the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton (244-2260) for an information and registration sheet.

Scuba Divers Learn At YMCA

Newton area residents interested in Scuba diving may enroll in the course to be offered at the Newton Y.M.C.A. beginning Tuesday (Jan. 9) at 7 to 9:30 p.m. Dominic Leoni and Leo Steelburg, Y.M.C.A. Certified Scuba divers will instruct the course.

Mr. Joseph White "Y" Physical Director announces that there are 15 openings left for either men or women interested in the program. The class will consist of theory and water work totaling 32 hours of instruction.

The Y.M.C.A. will supply all equipment for the course. Some life-saving ability is required to enter the course. Members will have to be able to swim one length of the pool underwater and swim 100 yards.

All interested may call the Newton Y.M.C.A. at 244-6050 for further details.

500 Sign Protest Against Proposed Town House Plan

Petitions containing more than 500 signatures were presented in opposition to a million-dollar Auburndale town house proposal Monday before the Board of Aldermen.

Some 30 Auburndale residents appeared before the Claims and Rules Committee to protest the plan which calls for four groups of buildings, staggered, with private roadways off Stanton ave. on about 3.5 acres of land. The complex would include 40 town houses.

The customary points in opposition included increased traffic problems, unsuitability to the area, overcrowding, undesirable management programs, and lack of definite plans.

One in opposition, George Mitchell, who lives at 99 Stanton ave. and who presented a petition with 88 signers opposed, said the town houses would afford only one acre per 40 persons, as against an area average of 4.4 persons per acre, and a city average of 8.5 persons per acre.

The petitioner David Sussman, represented by Haskell Freedman, is attempting to place 40 town houses off Stanton ave. on about 3.5 acres of land.

The petitioner argued that with this high concentration of land use, 40 families will be able to live comfortably there, whereas only six would if the area were developed for single homes.

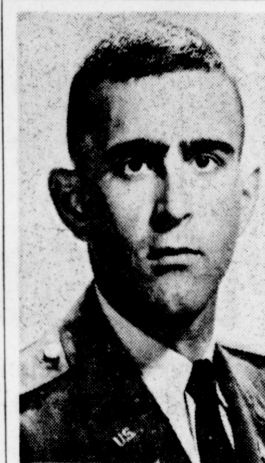

He estimated the rent, if the homes were not bought separately, would cost $350 a month, or the houses would sell at about $40,000.

Whether bought or rented, the whole project would be under one management, which would provide the necessary services.

Another petition in opposition was entered with 220 signatures, and the Auburndale Community Association, with over 200 members, also was registered in opposition.

Another in opposition, Alex J. Lane of 68 Day st., called on the board to respect citizens' requests to leave the area a single residence zone.

RONALD J. COLLOTTA

Commissioned 2nd Lieut. At Fort Belvoir

Ronald J. Collotta, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collotta, 55 Arlington St., Newton, was commissioned an Army second lieutenant upon graduation from the Engineer Officer Candidate School at Ft. Belvoir, Va., recently.

The lieutenant received 23 weeks of instruction in preparation for his first assignment as an engineer platoon leader.

He was trained in map reading, interpretation of aerial photographs and construction of fixed and floating bridges, roads and airfields. Extensive instruction was given in combat engineering, camouflage, reconnaissance and demolitions.

Lt. Collotta received his A. S. degree in 1964 from Newton Junior College. He also attended Arizona State University, Tempe, Ariz.

Building Permits Total $373,840 For November

Some $373,840 worth of building permits were issued by the Newton Building Dept. in November, 11 more than the number issued for the previous month but only $1800 more than October's total cost.

As usual, the majority of the permits were for alterations to residential buildings with 32 issued valued at $91,000. Four permitted valued at $118,000 were issued for single home construction. One permit was issued for $15,000 two-family house.

Two apartment house permits were issued at a total cost of $100,000. One $2500 swimming pools permit was also issued.

So far this year, some 452 permits have been issued at a grand total of $15,459,401. Last year at the same time, 513 permits were issued at a total of $10,744,475, and in 11 months of 1965, some 542 were issued at a total of $15,084,053.

The Lake Forest Madrigal Singers, Lake Forest College, Ill., including Peter E. Yaffe, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Yaffe, 36 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, presented a concert of Christmas music recently at the college. The Madrigals were featured with numbers from Benjamin Britten's Ceremony of Carols, with harp accompaniment. The program also included a group of motets with works of such composers as Victoria and Sweelinck; selections appropriate to the Christmas season, with a number of carols and Saint-Saens' Christmas Oratorio and the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah.

Newton Symphony Gives Admirable Performance

By REUBEN GREEN

Sunday night's concert given by the Newton Symphony Orchestra was a heartwarming experience for this listener. It is truly a prime example of what can be done with talented leadership, intelligent management, and enthusiastic support of both players and community.

In Handel's Suite from "The Water Music" the strings especially played with sharp attack, clarity and precision. The movements were well-contrasted and clearly defined. With today's standard of playing it is expected that a soloist would have excellent intonation, tone and technique. Mr. Leslie Parnas, the cello soloist, not only demonstrated the above, but added his own creative dimension which made the Haydn Cello Concerto in D major a very personal expression which was thoroughly enjoyable and moving.

The Suite from "Harry Janos" by Kodaly was well-paced with excellent solo playing by Yizhak Schotten, viola; Robert Giorgi, saxophone; Mark Russo, horn; Richard Salamone, trombone; David Townsend, tuba; Jar. es Tinsley, trumpet. Mr. Tinsley should be especially commended for stepping in as a last-minute replacement on first trumpet for Peter Voisin who was suddenly taken ill. The string sections are to be praised for their fine playing in this intricate composition. Both orchestra and conductor captured the color necessary to portray this bittersweet tale of Harry Janos' Imaginary exploits.

Too often conductors of amateur and even semi-professional groups are prone to pick programs that demonstrate their own abilities, but with detrimental results to the orchestras. Mr. Sasson has intelligently avoided this trap with the result that the orchestra made an excellent impression in all the compositions played. He also conducted with a clear beat and a direct approach to the music which in turn brought forth playing of a high calibre.

Perhaps the safest criticism that can be made of any orchestra is that the intonation can be improved. The Newton Symphony is no stranger to this intonation phenomenon; yet if the conductor devotes too much time in this area, very little else can be accomplished at rehearsals. I feel it would be of great benefit to the orchestra if the section leaders, particularly of the brass and woodwind choirs, worked independently with their respective groups.

There is no question that the Newton Symphony Orchestra enriches the community and helps bring together talented players from every walk of life who can make music in a professional atmosphere. One can be proud of the interest, enthusiasm and talent brought to this endeavor, but to be proud is not enough. Mr.

PLAN PROGRAM BOOK — Mrs. Burton Derby, left; Mrs. Milton Kostick and Mrs. David Landay chair the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation's Women's Committee drive to secure contributions for their annual Pops Night Program Book. The campaign was given an enthusiastic kick-off with a brunch held at the home of Mrs. Kostick Tuesday, December 5, on Rachel Road in Newton.

Sasson and the orchestra should be encouraged to perform in other communities in New England to demonstrate the results of a fine cooperative effort.

There will be two children's concerts on January 27 and the next subscription concert is March 3.

Teachers-

physical education, science and reading.

For the junior high schools Dr. Brown recommended 18.6 new teachers. The original request was for 30.6.

There are 200 sections with 30 or more pupils in the junior high schools, Dr. Brown said. Day and Warren Junior Highs have the highest incidence of classes that are too large.

The State Department of Education recommends a 16.7 pupil-teacher ratio in junior high schools. This exists in three of Newton's schools on this level, but not at Warren and Day.

The 16.7 figure includes all personnel but the principal in a school. It does not necessarily mean that every class houses that number of students.

In addition, the superintendent seeks to incorporate into the budget funds to pay personnel involved in programs currently funded by the Ford Foundation. These funds will run out next summer and while their continuance is being sought, Ford approval has not yet been granted.

For the two high schools initial requests for 24.8 new positions were cut to 22.8.

There are 96 classes in the major subject areas of English, science, foreign languages and social studies that contain 30 or more students.

Money for one teacher at Newton Junior College now being paid by the Ford Foundation was recommended. The original request was for two teachers.

At the Division of Pupil Personnel Services 10 new people were originally sought, and the administrative recommended the hiring of four.

These people would be involved primarily in programs for the perceptually handicapped and in transition classes between kindergarten and grade one where certain pupils are identified as needing special help.

At the Division of Instruction 11.5 new positions were originally requested and 6.5 were recommended. These people would be specialists in such areas as art, music, etc. assigned to the schools.

Teacher aide requests were reduced from 19 to 15 and secretarial requests were dropped from 8 to 3.5. The hiring of one new custodian was recommended.

Headmaster At Beaver To Post At Union College

Donald R. Nickerson, headmaster of Beaver Country Day School at Chestnut Hill, has been appointed Dean of Student Affairs at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., by president of Union, Dr. Harold C. Martin.

Named as interim Dean of Student Affairs is Dr. Charles S. Olton, an assistant professor of history at Union, who replaces O. Edward Pollock the former Dean who has become vice president for Student Personnel at Monmouth College, Monmouth, N. J. Nickerson will arrive at Union July 1.

Nickerson did his undergraduate work at Harvard and received his M.Ed. at the Harvard Graduate School of Education in 1962. He taught accelerated English and was supervisor of new teachers and Harvard interns at St. John School, Houston, Texas. He taught the following two years at Needham High School.

From 1960-65 he was an instructor of advanced composition in the Harvard Extension Program. He also served as assistant director in Harvard's office of graduate and career plans. He was a member of the university's board of admissions and board of freshman advisors.

Nickerson was appointed to the Massachusetts Commission on the Academic Talent in 1960 and was reappointed to the standing committee of the same name. He was chairman of the commission from 1962-66. He serves as a trustee for the Foundation for the Advancement of German Studies. He also has been chairman of the education division of Boston's United Fund.

Hanukkah Party Fernald School

A Hanukkah Party will be held by the Mayflower B'nai B'rith Chapter and Lodge at the Walter E. Fernald School in Waltham on this Sunday (Dec. 17).

Izzy Doveburd, a member of the Lodge, will entertain with his guitar. Songs and dancing are part of the fun planned for the afternoon. Refreshments will be served by members of the Chapter and Lodge.

A gift packet will be presented to each patient attending the party. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Gerald Briskin, Mrs. Martin Michelson and Mrs. Henry Austin.

Attorney's Bill Seeks Municipal Bargain Board

A Municipal Employment Relations Board to handle municipal employees would be established under the terms of a bill filed for a Boston attorney by Newton Rep. Theodore Mann last week. Municipal employees presently come under the jurisdiction of the State Labor Relations Board.

The new legislation will provide for more effective mediation and arbitration of collective bargaining disputes. It would determine the appropriate bargaining groups and the resolutions of alleged unfair or prohibited practices by municipalities of municipal employee organizations.

Norman Holtz, author of the bill, said as it now stands, the Labor Board and the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation take care of these problems, "and neither of these agencies deals exclusively in the public sector."

"Their experience over the years has been in private industry. The public sector, which denies the municipal employee the right to strike, requires new approaches and a different emphasis."

Passage of the legislation may eventually help in settling city and employee problems with the delays involved in court action.

Dartmouth Women Meet

Mrs. Clarence M. Logan of 43 Orchard avenue, Waban, and Mrs. William H. McCabe Sr. of 2081 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, members of the Dartmouth Women's Club attended their annual Christmas Sale and December meeting yesterday at the Hotel Somerset in Boston. The meeting began at 11 a.m. and was followed by a social hour. The Rev. Mildred B. Palmer, Lexington, spoke on the subject, "Christmas Is a Bridge."

Copies of the book of "Favorite Dartmouth Recipes" may be obtained by contacting either Mrs. Logan or Mrs. McCabe.

LETTERS

Praise Mrs. Brick

Editor of The Graphic:

I read with enthusiasm your coverage of Mrs. Harry Brick's presentation at last week's school committee meeting. It is encouraging to see the citizens of Newton persevering through a long battle with the school committee concerning a problem which should have been solved years ago. Single session and a school lunch program is an absolute necessity in Newton.

As I see it, single session is a relatively easy operation. The children merely go to school at the same time each morning, have lunch at a given hour, and return home at the same time each afternoon. A five hour school day has already been highly recommended by the State Board of Education. The citizens of Newton certainly deserve the opportunity to try out a program for which they have been a long time waiting. I certainly hope that the school committee will take immediate action concerning this matter.

Hundreds of communities found this program necessary years ago. It has worked well for them — why not for us? I certainly hope that Newton, a pioneer in education, will follow the footsteps of its neighbors in establishing such an essential program now.

May I extend my sincere gratitude to Mrs. Brick and those other interested citizens of Newton who are devoting their time and effort to the essential programs desired by so many people of this city.

Sincerely,
Lois E. Cohen.

Income Variance

Editor of The Chronicle: Hurrah for Mrs. Brick! At last someone has thought of an immediate practical solution for women with elementary school children in Newton who find it necessary to work.

I certainly hope that all women who agree with her plan of having the schools as a temporary place to hire co-operative baby sitters during the lunch hours on a five day basis write to this newspaper or get in touch with the school department.

Hopefully, it would have been wonderful if the Newton School Department which prides itself on being visionary in curriculum matters, could definitely come to a decision to adopt a five hour school day, five days a week as a practical matter. However, since this is still not assured, then at least it is hoped that the Department will realize the needs of many families and act favorably upon Mrs. Brick's plan as an alternative plan.

Many of us who live in the "Garden City" sometimes tend to forget, especially if our incomes are fairly stable, that there really is a variance, in income levels, even in Newton — comparing the South side of the city with the North side, for example, there are more highs and lows in each area than would be expected, particularly in the North side. For this reason, I hope that all citizens will think seriously about this proposal.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Barbara Shaw,
31 George street,
Newton, Mass.

Newton Girl Is Elected House Council Member

Ina Starr, a student at the Chamberlain School of Retailing, 90 Marlborough Street, Boston, Massachusetts has been elected a member of the House Council of her dormitory, Gloucester House.

Miss Starr is a junior in the two year merchandising program designed to provide young women with the background necessary for a position at the junior executive and executive level in retailing and other related fields.

Chamberlain, the oldest independent school of retailing in the country, offers its students the opportunity to participate in a co-operative educational program. Under this program students are able to gain on-the-job experience while pursuing their educational objectives. Ina's pre-Christmas fieldwork experience was at the William Filene's Sons Company in Boston.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Starr, 582 Beacon street, Ina graduated from Newton South High School in 1965.

Art Classes To Be Given At 'Y' Start Jan. 15

Classes in drawing, painting and block printing will be offered for beginners at the Newton YMCA beginning the week of January 15, 1968. Both day and evening classes have been scheduled for a ten week period.

The Adult Division Director, Mr. Leonard Garfield is taking advanced registration from people who would like to give the art course as a Christmas gift to a friend or relative.

The instructors — Mr. Lockwood Dennis and Mrs. Hiroko Dennis, are a young couple from the West Coast. She is a graduate from the University of Washington in art education and has had seven years experience in high school and special education at the University of Washington in art education. This is her second year as an instructor at the YMCA. Mr. Dennis received his MA from the University of Washington, served in the Peace Corps, attended the Museum School in Boston and is presently teaching at the Charles River Art Center as well as at the YMCA in Newton. They live in Newton where both continue their careers as artists.

For further information contact the Newton 'Y' Adult Division at 244-6050.

Carolyn MacCuspie of 10 Larch rd., Newton, is a member of the Concert Choir of 50 selected women's voices at Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Penna.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By KATE SOLOMON

Television sets are not new inventions. Newton High has had televisions for many years. However, this year is the first year that the high school has had a television that becomes a video tape machine with the switch of a button.

The video tape machine is owned by the city of Newton. It is a miniature of the one that 99% of all television shows use, and records and plays back both pictures and sound.

The $1,000-3,000 machine was at Newton High for seven school days. Mr. Henry Bissex, Director of Instructional Material at NHS commented that, the video tape machine is the tape recorder of the future. "In a few years almost every high school will have one," he remarked.

Since the video tape machine has been on the Newton High premises, several classes have used it. Mrs. Judith Brier's theater arts class recorded the scenes they were practicing for performance. Mr. Kenneth Zeno's history class recorded a classroom discussion. Mr. Bissex's two English classes recorded a reading of Rains in the Sun.

Student Council

Last year the student council sponsored a spring musical. Five hundred students were involved in producing the show and making it a success. There were the actors, there were the student directors, there were the scenery makers, there was the orchestra, there was the publicity committee, etc., etc. South Pacific was the concerted effort of a large portion of the student body.

Quite a number of other students felt the impact of this concerted effort. Both nights the play was performed, almost every seat in the auditorium was taken. And quite a few members of the audience remained absolutely spellbound by the musical and acting talents of the performers.

This year there will be no spring musical. Unfortunately, the student council could find no teacher who was willing to be a director.

Newton High will not be without its drama, however. The Senior Class is planning a senior play for sometime this spring. Mrs. Judith Brier is helping sponsor a series of one act plays.

Instead of sponsoring a big event such as the spring musical, the Student Council is planning a number of smaller activities. One such activity is a model Ford Hall Forum.

Sometime in April, the Student Council hopes to sponsor a various debates on topics of initial importance to students. Suggested issues are abortion and the draft.

An important educator or a political celebrity will open up the debate with a few comments. Both Newton High and Newton South students, in addition to members of the community, will be encouraged to listen and to participate in the debate.

Model U.N.

Newton High students are constantly mingling with other schools. There are sports meets, chess meets, bridge meets, and math meets. Last Saturday, December 9, it was Harvard and Radcliffe students that NHSers came into contact with.

The Model United Nations, an annual affair held at Harvard University, involves schools all over Massachusetts and up into southern New Hampshire. Both private and public schools are sent invitations to the conference and are asked to indicate the countries they desire to represent.

This year Newton High School is representing five delegations: France, Albania, Saudi Arabia, Chad and Kenya. Each delegation has three or four members and is headed by a chairman.

The Newton High debating society is in charge of assigning each aspiring participant into a delegation. It also is in charge of choosing the chairmen. Jack Paley, the debating society president, and Dr. Gottlieb, the club advisor attempted to satisfy the students' desires in these two respects.

The chairman of the French delegation is Jack Paley, with Herbert Levine, and Winkie Bliss also taking part. The Albania chairman is Neal Gorfinkle, who is vice president of the debating society. Bob Houghteling and Gretchen Muller are the other members of the committee.

Marvin Olasky is chairman of the Saudi Arabia delegation, with Harvey Baker, Tom Mansfield and Jeff Crosby also representing the country. The representatives of the Kenya delegation are Jim Fentin (chairman), Florence Marcus and Wendy Radin. The Chad delegation is headed by Richard Abbott, Linda Ludwin and Eric Malins also are Chad Representatives.

The model U.N. begins with the proposing of various resolutions. These suggestions are then mimeographed and sent to each bloc meeting. The Communist Bloc, The Western Bloc, The Asian Bloc, The African Bloc and the Middle Eastern Bloc are the five main groups represented.

Each bloc decides how it will vote on each issue, then in the afternoon, a general assembly is held. All parliamentary procedures of the United Nations debates are upheld.

Newton High School students are not highly trained architects. However, representatives of the NHS student body will meet with the recently hired architects to discuss the new Newton High School.

Student Council president Bruce Baltimore is organizing a committee for this purpose. At the present time it is supposed that the committee will be composed of Bob Tenant, Iris Brass; the house presidents — Cindy Mackey, Alan Rondina, Jeff Hyman, Barry Tattleman and Betsy Beard and the Student Council president.

The representatives of the committee will present to the architects, student opinions concerning the new school. Forms will be available in the cafeteria if students wish to make suggestions.

Human Rights Club

The U.S. draft affects quite a few Newton High students. In fact it affects every masculine NHSer. The Human Rights Club sponsored a discussion on "Alternatives to the Draft," and invited three men: a conscientious objector, the president of the Boston Draft Resistance Group, and a member of the resistance group.

The conscientious objector explained how he obtained his c.o. status. The president of the Resistance Group explained to the students that his organization's main job was to counsel students. He listed the fol-

IVAN OAK

Yule Concert At Auburndale Church Dec. 20

A Christmas Concert will be given by Ivan and Susan Oak on December 20 in the Parish Hall at the Auburndale Congregational Church.

Mr. Oak, who was the choir director and tenor soloist at this church for the past two years, has recently been on tour of Japan and the United States with the Roger Wagner Choral and has appeared locally in concerts. He was guest soloist with the Boston Pops Orchestra under Arthur Fiedler.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Oak are graduates of the New England Conservatory of Music, Ivan holding a master's degree. Mr. Oak was the winner of the Singer of the Year Competition in New England in 1964 and 1965 sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of Singing, and the Young Artist Auditions of New England in 1963 and 1965 sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. He also gave concerts in Japan, Korea and Hong Kong in 1966.

This concert, which is sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the Auburndale Congregational Church, is open to the general public.

Following alternatives to participating in war: 1) Become a conscientious objector; 2) Become a Canadian citizen before receiving notice from the draft board; 3) Leave the country before becoming 18.

Newton High School now has two libraries. It has one on the first floor of Building I. It has one in the main guidance office in Building III.

A library of technical and vocational information has recently been installed at Newton High. It consists of books explaining occupations students may be interested in. There are also pamphlets, bulletins, slides, filmstrips, and tapes.

The NHS tech-vocational library is among the largest and most extensive high school library of its kind in the country. Books may be checked out whenever desired and there are many free materials available to the students.

Teacher Meeting

Newton teachers are concerned about the examples they set for their students. They wonder what responsibilities they have in advising the students about the issues involved in the Viet Nam crisis.

On Tuesday, November 21, faculty members from Newton High and Newton South High met at Newton High School to discuss these issues. Mr. Eugene Ferguson, head of the NHS math department served as chairman of the meeting.

Daughter To Whites

Mr. and Mrs. William L. White of 11 Calvin Road, Newtonville, are the parents of a new daughter, born at Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge on October 30. Mrs. White is the former Jeanne Marie Caputo.

Argues With J. Edgar . . .

Chief Purcell Dropped From FBI Honor Roll

Newton Police Chief Philip Purcell said yesterday his name had been expunged from the list of graduates of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Academy because he had an argument with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director.

"There is no question by name was erased because of our argument," the Chief said. A spokesman for the FBI said the agency would have no comment.

Chief Purcell, who plans to retire next summer, would not disclose the subject of the argument with Hoover but said the incident occurred during his tenure as president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The Chief was president of the organization for one year, from Oct. 1966, to Oct. 1967.

In response to an inquiry about the dispute, Quinn Tamm, the association's executive director, said it involved "allegations and innuendos" about the internal administration of the association by Hoover.

Tamm said the director first made these allegations to another officer of the association and that when Chief Purcell heard them he immediately invited the FBI director to meet with the board of the IACP. Hoover, according to Tamm, declined this invitation.

Most Beautiful Legends Based on Winter Plants

Of all the legends and stories that surround the Christmas festival, among the most beautiful are those concerning the flowers of Christmas.

The most popular floral decoration for the holiday season is the spectacular poinsettia.

It is said to have originated when a poor little girl wished to offer a gift to the Mother of Jesus, and was heartbroken because she had nothing. So she sadly plucked a few scrawny flowers to present to Mary, as the Mother of Jesus approached her.

Suddenly those plain little flowers were transformed into the brilliant red bloom that we know as the poinsettia.

The Christmas rose is also surrounded with a similar legend. In this instance, it was a shepherd maid who wept because she had no suitable gift to lay before the Babe in the manger.

An angel appeared to her, and upon hearing why the maid wept, touched the ground where her tears had fallen. Immediately, beautiful white Christmas roses sprang up in their place, and the joyful maid gathered them up to offer to the Babe.

The chrysanthemum is said to have appeared for the first time on Christmas Eve to the Three Wise Men, as they approached the manger. It was a sign that which they had been seeking.

The snow drop is associated with the Virgin Mary, because it is considered an emblem of the candles she lighted on that first Christmas. Sanfoin, or "holy hay," as it is called, is said to have cradled the infant Jesus, as he lay in the manger.

Bernard C. Carr, son of Robert B. Carr of 1 Leighton road, Auburndale, has been elected to the Scabbard and Blade military honor society at Northeastern University. Carr is a 1965 graduate of Newton High School and a third year economics major in the university's College of Business Administration. Under Northeastern's co-operative work-study plan of education, he is a programmer trainee for Honeywell Inc. in Wellesley. Membership to Scabbard and Blade is offered only to outstanding advanced cadets in Northeastern's Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Wheaton Trio In First Of Concert Series

The All Newton Music School presented its first concert in the Chamber Music Series on Sunday evening (Nov. 19) with the Wheaton Trio with Nancy Cirillo on violin, John Covelli, piano and Madeline Foley, cello.

In the Music School's living room — a model of the kind of concert chamber in which "Chamber Music" was originally intended to be played — an enthusiastic and responsive audience heard a felicitous and well-balanced program. — Haydn's Trio No. 4 in E Major, The Brahms Trio in B Major Opus 8, and the Trio in A Minor of Maurice Ravel. The playing of the Wheaton Trio was in all respects of a high order; the rapport among the three instrumentalists is extremely close, and reflects deep musical sensitivity and a fine balance.

The second concert in the Series, on Sunday evening, (Feb. 25), is planned as a Benefit Concert, to augment the Scholarship Fund of the All Newton Music School. The program will feature Faculty members of the Music School in an evening of Chamber Music for unusual combinations of instruments, works which by their nature are rarely heard in concert. The fact that so wide a variety of instrumentalists is represented on the Faculty makes it possible to present this unique kind of program. Among the works to be performed is the Bachianas Brasileiras No. 5, for Soprano and eight cellos, by the Brazilian composer Hector Villa-Lobos. Tickets for this Benefit Concert, are available at the School, 321 Chestnut St., West Newton.

The third concert of the Series, on April 7, presents the celebrated Early Music Quartet, (Studio de Fruehen Musik from Munich) in a program of music of the Middle SET NEW YEAR'S EVE PLANS—Temple Emmanuel Couples Club committee for New Year's Eve dinner dance at recent meeting. Seated, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Norris, chairmen, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weisberg, club presidents; standing, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross, 1st vice presidents; Mrs. Victor Mitchell, reservations chairman; Lou Pollen, Mrs. Al Greene, and Manny Filcop, executive board members.

Ages and the Renaissance, both vocal and instrumental, played on authentic instruments of the period.

Real Trouble

JACKSONVILLE, Ore (UPI) —When local folks here talk about the "Troubled 60s" they are more than likely referring to the 1860s.

In the early 1860s the town was troubled by Indian skirmishes, in 1868 there was a smallpox epidemic, followed by a damaging flood. A series of fires almost destroyed the town.

Couples Club Dinner Dance Will Welcome The New Year

Temple Emanuel Couples Club of Newton will again hold a dinner dance in the Community Hall, 385 Ward Street, Newton Centre on Dec. 31, at 9 p.m.

A social hour will precede the full course dinner being catered by the Southern House. The club is providing the set-ups, favors, noisemakers, whistles and other ingredients for a gala good time. Music will be provided by the Five Gem Orchestra.

The evening will wind up with an elaborate Sweet Table. Further information is available by calling Estelle and Victor Mitchell at 332-6096 or Gail and Mel Norris at 244-2635. Both are now accepting reservations.

Couples are invited to make up their own tables or join their friend's table. Decorations for the evening promise to be exciting and unusual. The committee is headed by Myrna and Bill Epstein and assisted by Helene and Ed

Levenson, Judi and Irwin Goldstein, and Bernice and Marvin Berkowitz.

Committee members include Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Norris, chairmen, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weisberg, club presidents. Back row, from left are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross, 1st Vice Presidents, Mrs. Victor Mitchell, reservation chairman, Mr. Lou Pollen, Mrs. Al Greene, and Mr. Manny Filcop, executive board members.

Howell To Harvard Staff

Robert Allen Howell of Sudbury, has been named Assistant Professor of Business Administration at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Howell, who was born in Newton, holds the B.X.E.E. degree from Bucknell University, the M.B.A. from the Wharton Graduate Division of the University of Pennsylvania and the D.B.A. from Harvard. From 1960 to 1967 he was with the Communications System Division of Radio Corporation of America, where his most recent position was manager of Business Control. From 1965 to 1967 he also served as Lecturer at Drexel Institute of Technology. He is a contributor to Business Horizons. Howell is married and the father of two children.

Bay Path Council Girl Scouts Sell 1968 Calendars

Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council Neighborhood Chairmen: Mrs. Julius Feldman, Centre neighborhood; Mrs. Kenneth Spilman, Quinobquin neighborhood; Mrs. John Evans, Village - Homestead neighborhood; and Mrs. William Kunkel of the Westdale neighborhood have girl scout calendars available now. The Newton girl scouts are selling calendars this week along with their sister scouts from all over the United States.

These colorful calendars depict different aspects of girl scouting on each page as the months of the year unfold, emphasizing their motto of the year — Values to Hold — Worlds to Explore.

The Girl Scout Calendar also brings out the meaning of their third law: A Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others; for the girls are spreading a useful item, with plenty of space on each date to write in appointments. Proceeds from the sales are one way Brownies can earn extra money for program materials. Juniors, Cadettes, and Seniors can augment their funds for special events, and all scouts can help finance their service projects with this promotion.

Women's Club To Hold Annual Yule Party

The Newton Highlands Women's Club will hold the annual Christmas meeting at the Parish House of the Congregational Church on Lincoln St., at 1:45 p.m., Wednesday, December 20.

Following the business meeting, a program of Christmas music will be presented by the Euphonias, a group composed of vocalists, Margaret Carver and Ann Sullivan, accompanied by Dorothy Ekland.

Mrs. Spencer F. Dering, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, is scheduled to be a special guest.

Immediately following the program, a Christmas tea will be held at the workshop on Columbus St., to be served by the executive board.

Hospital-

ected by the special departments of obstetrics and pediatrics, show that we are at plateau. We simply cannot provide more days of in-patient care until medical-surgical facilities of the hospital are expanded," the director said.

He noted that expansion of the hospital is imminent, with ground breaking for a new wing expected early in 1968.

He labelled 1967 the year in which patient care financing became a federal event.

"To use a commercial term the individual payer of a hospital bill became a rare commodity during this year. Medicare, Blue Cross, Welfare and Workmen's Compensation now purchase some 85 percent of the care we provide, and pay us on a cost, or less than cost, basis."

"This means it is impossible for a hospital to earn a surplus, to offset a loss. We must recover cost in every area, or we lose," Mr. Brines said.

He said this poses particular problems in areas such as obstetrics, where the hospital always has charged patients less than cost, since those patients generally represent people already faced with the heavy expense of establishing a family.

Speaking about current outcries over the costs of the Medicaid and Medicare programs, the director noted, "Hospitals and doctors have failed to receive credit for the substantial contribution they made to get the Medicare program off the ground and running."

"Our hospital, like most, provided the dollars to cover the bills and to meet the payrolls until Medicare finally began to process claims and make payments," he said.

Nationally, the director estimated, all hospitals invested eight weeks of operating capital in underwriting Medicare operations, or a half billion dollars, so the federal program could stay "in business."

"At Newton-Wellesley, our controller estimates we tied up a half million dollars, some of which we had to borrow, before Uncle Sam started to pay us for the care costs he had agreed to assume," Mr. Brines explained.

He said hospital trustees face a challenge of establishing and maintaining policies to keep the hospital professionally, technically and financially fit.

"Hospital service and hospital efficiency are difficult to measure in terms of dollars

Merger Joins Two Of Area's Leading Thrift Institutions

Signs saying "Northeast Federal Savings" have been going up on familiar offices in Watertown, Cambridge and Newtonville. All this activity has been created by the merger of two leading thrift institutions in the area — Watertown Federal Savings and Cambridge Federal Savings.

The merger, approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington, D.C., became effective November 20.

William P. Sawyer, who was president of Watertown Federal Savings, becomes president, chief executive officer and chairman of the board of the new association.

John V. O'Leary, president of Cambridge Federal Savings, will serve as senior vice president and a director of the new Northeast Federal. Assets of Northeast Federal will exceed 85 million.

The main office of the new association will be located at 75 Main Street, Watertown. There are branch offices in Cambridge at 38A Brattle St., 201 Alewife Brook Parkway and at the Star Market on Mt. Auburn St. A branch office is also located at the Star Market, 31 Austin St., Newtonville.

The longer office hours (including evenings and Saturdays now being provided by Watertown Federal will also be offered by Northeast Federal in each of its locations.

Members of the Board of Directors of the Northeast Federal will include the following: William P. Sawyer, president and chairman of the board; John V. O'Leary, senior vice president; Jesse H. Mason, vice chairman of the board, former president and treasurer, Haartz - Mason, Inc., Watertown; Edward F. Chase, president, Harold Cahot & Co., Inc., Boston; Daniel S. Ellis, physician, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston; Roger A. Frisora, president, Charles Contracting Co., Inc., Watertown.

Also: A. Theodore Lyman, Jr., vice president and trustee, George Putnam Fund, Boston; Edgar R. Marden, president, Captain Marden's Sea Foods Inc., Newton; John M. Mugar, president, Star Market Company; Cambridge; Daniel Needham, Jr., secretary of the board, partner, Sherburne, Powers & Needham, Boston; Stanley D. Porter, president, Porter Construction Company, Inc., Watertown; and Warren J. Reardon, executive vice president.

Recent Deaths

Margaret A. Hargedon

A requiem Mass was celebrated in St. Bernard's Church last Thursday for Miss Margaret A. Hargedon, 87, formerly of 262 Derby street, West Newton, who died Friday, Dec. 8, at the Elliot Manor Nursing Home in Newton Upper Falls after a long illness.

A Newton native and a lifelong resident, she was the daughter of the late John and Theresa Hargedon. Surviving is one brother, James Hargedon, of West Newton.

The funeral was held from the T. J. Lyons Funeral Home, 1479 Washington street, West Newton. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Gerardo Pellegrini

Funeral services for Gerardo Pellegrini, 80, were held last Saturday with a 9 a.m. solemn requiem Mass in Our Lady's Church, Newton. Mr. Pellegrini, 80, of 25 Lincoln rd., Newton, died Tuesday Dec. 5, at his home.

A native of Fresinone, Italy, he had been a resident of Newton for 67 years and was employed by the city until his retirement in 1957.

He was the husband of the late Maria (Cellucci) Pellegrini. He leaves a sister, Mrs. Cesidia Antonellis, of Brighton; a brother, Giovanni; and a sister, Miss Giovanna Pellegrini, both of Fresinone, Italy.

The funeral was from the Valente Funeral Home, 697 Washington st., Newton. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Doris L. Seested

The Rev. C. Malcolm Keir officiated yesterday at funeral services for Mrs. Doris L. (Cullen) Seested, who died Monday at her home, 102 Warwick road, West Newton, after a long illness. She was 64.

Born in Waltham, she had lived in West Newton for 25 years. She was a retired employee of the Waltham Watch Co.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert Boehme, of West Newton; three sons, L. Victor, of Maryland, Charles F. Jr., of Pennsylvania, and Ronald E., of Newton Centre; seven grandchildren and a brother, Stanley H. Cullen, of Weston.

The funeral services were held at 12:30 a.m. at the William R. Miller Chapel, 27 Spruce street, Waltham, with the Rev. Keir, minister of the Immanuel Methodist Church, officiating. Cremation was at the Newton Cemetery.

Panel Discussion Scheduled As Two AJC Chap. Meet

The Emma Lazarus and Louise Waterman Wise chapters of American Jewish Congress will hold a joint meeting next Wednesday, Dec. 20, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ralph Fishman, 1772 Beacon St., Newton.

Publicity Chairman Cynthia Shapiro told The Graphic the highlight of the evening will be an open end discussion with members from both chapters participating.

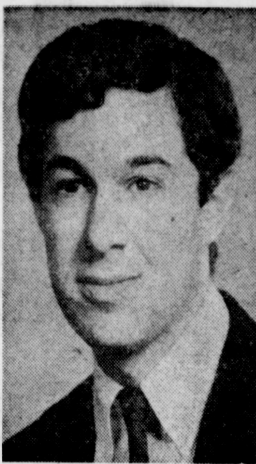

The topic is entitled "Negroes and Jews—Loves Labour Lost Query."

Panelist will be Mrs. Sol Cohen, moderator, Mrs. Myron Jaffe, Mrs. Robert Kirschbaum, Mrs. Harold Lewis and Mrs. Stanley Rosenzweig.

Marjorie L. Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jacobs of 17 Sherbrooke road, Newton, was among those honored at the second annual President's Scholars recognition dinner on Friday (Dec. 1) in the graduate house at Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. Marjorie, a sophomore at Case, in addition to achieving a 3.5 (A-minus) average throughout her college career, in no case received a grade as low as C to qualify as a President's Scholar.

Winter may be but a week away but members of the junior class at Mount Saint Mary College in Hooksett, N.H., already have thoughts and plans for spring.

Among those preparing for the Junior Weekend next April 26, 27 and 28 is pretty Sarah G. Kirk of 232 Franklin Street, Newton. Sue is a member of the committee arranging a huge soiree for April 27.

HENRY R. NORR
Henry Norr Elected Phi Beta Kappa

Henry R. Norr of Newton a member of the Harvard College Class of 1968, has been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society. He is one of sixteen students so honored in a class of 1238, chosen on the basis of outstanding scholarship and good character.

Phi Beta Kappa, now a national honor society, has existed at Harvard since 1781, when its "Alpha of Massachusetts" chapter was formed.

The chapter elects eight members in the spring of their junior year, an additional sixteen in the autumn of their senior year, and approximately 100 in the spring of senior year. The total membership may not exceed 10 per cent of the graduating class.

Norr is an honors candidate majoring in history.

He is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy where he was vice-president of the student council, and where he won the Faculty Prize for Academic Excellence, and a National Merit Scholarship.

At Harvard he has won the William Scott Ferguson Prize, a Harvard National Scholarship and the Detur Prize, given for academic achievement.

Norr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Norr of 143 Harvard Road, Newton.

Combined Church Groups Donate To Newton's Needy

The donation from the collection of the Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service held at the Corpus Christi Church in Auburndale has been received by the Christmas Service Committee of the Newton Community Council and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. This donation, the first of its kind, will go far in helping needy families and children in Newton at Christmas.

Other churches participating in this ecumenical service were the Auburndale Congregational Church, the Centenary Methodist Church and the Church of the Messiah.

The Christmas Service committee wishes to thank others who have made contributions to date and to state that many requests are coming in to the Council office, and through the generous gifts received we hope that all requests for help can be filled.

The treasurer, Dan R. Robinson, of the Newton Community Council, and Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs have stated that they do not wish to give case histories of those in need, but emphasize that there are many children and families in Newton who really need your help. If you or your organization desire to help this year, please send your cash contributions in as soon as possible to 950 Watertown St., West Newton. For information call 527-5120.

Mary Beth Flynn of 66 Lee road, Chestnut Hill, an education school freshman at Boston College was a member of the cast of "Once Upon A Mattress" presented in Campion Hall on the Campus last week. The play was a production of the B.C. Dramatics Society, the oldest campus extra-curricular organization at the Jesuit university.

West Coast Home For Ens. and Mrs. Lambert

After a trip by automobile across the country into Canada as well as Mexico, Ensign and Mrs. James Wilfred Lambert (Marcia L. French) are now living in San Diego, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. French of West Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lambert of Plainville are the couple's parents.

The First Parish, Unitarian, Universalist Church in Waltham was the setting for the recent nuptial ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. The Rev. Robert Storer of the Universalist Church in Winchester officiated at the pretty fall bridal. A reception followed at the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's full length gown of pure silk had an empire bodice, elbow-length sleeves and an A-line skirt.

A smart headpiece of jeweled lace held in place her illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses with chrysanthemums.

Miss Barbara E. French of West Newton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Sandra Grey of West Newton was her other attendant.

Miss Stone, Mr. Sherman Exchange Vows

Miss Bonnie Mae Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Stone of Montreal, Canada, and Eliot Harry Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman of Waban, exchanged vows at a recent ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Rabbi Harvey J. Fields officiated at the 12 o'clock noon service.

Given away by her father, the bride had Miss Kathy Sherman of Waban, her sister, as her sole attendant.

Arnold Kraft of Framingham served as best man.

The SHERMANS, who are living in Brighton, plan a European trip next summer.

The bride, who has been a ballet teacher in the Montreal public schools, attended McGill University.

Mr. Sherman, a graduate of Newton South High School, and Harvard College, received his MBA degree at the Tuck School at Dartmouth College. He is now an accountant.

Miss Goldman Engaged to Wed Mr. Braude

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carol Mey Goldman, to Richard Neil Braude, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Braude of Waban, are Mr. and Mrs. Kervin Goldman of Brookline, formerly of Waban.

Miss Goldman, a graduate of Newton High School, class of 1964, is in her senior year at Elmira College, Elmira, New York.

Mr. Braude is a graduate of Newton South High School, class of 1963, and Hobart College, Geneva, New York, class of 1967, where his fraternity was Delta Chi. He is now studying for his master's degree in journalism at the Boston University School of Public Communication.

A June wedding is planned.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Gabonylian and Mr. John Richard Koch was solemnized at a recent afternoon ceremony in the Second Baptist Church, Newton Upper Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ahoran Gabonylian of Newton Upper Falls. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Wanda Koch of North Cambridge and the late Mr. Koch.

White gladioli decorated the altar for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Francis F. Crisci. A reception followed at the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie gown fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves of Alencon lace and applied with matching lace on the bell skirt and full train.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By JAMES SHULMAN

And the beat goes on. In a recent letter sent home to the parents of Newton South High School students Principal Mr. William Geer commented on three important issues that related to every one in the school.

First he said, "in the weeks just preceding the administration of the PSAT exams there was considerable advertising, both on the radio and in the newspapers, for special tutoring programs designed to improve PSAT and SAT scores. These advertisements played upon the fear and anxiety of the students and usually ended by guaranteeing students improved scores."

The College Board has undertaken considerable research about the effectiveness of specialized tutoring for the PSAT and the SAT exams. The conclusion of this research is that such tutoring does not aid a student in achieving higher scores. At best, the process of college admission produces a great deal of anxiety in today's high school students and if they art to function to the limit of their ability, we must minimize their fears.

If your child has expressed anxiety about these exams, the best course of action would be to contact your child's guidance counselor and discuss the entire matter of college admission and SAT exams with the counselor.

Mr. Geer went on to say, during the past month in school there has been a marked increase in the students wearing sorority and fraternity pins and other identifying articles of clothing. Although many of the sororities and fraternities are dedicated to charitable purposes and do a great deal of noteworthy service to the community, they are not a part of the school program and students must not use the school as a place to promote their programs or enact various rituals connected with membership in them.

"Last spring a number of graduating seniors came to me and asked if the school would put on a special program in drug education. They were concerned by what they saw as the growing temptation to take marijuana presented to students who were about to go to college. When I suggested a fairly standard program of education involving films and representatives of the Drug Administration and the Law Enforcement agencies, they felt that such a program would not be effective and that a more complete confrontation of the issues involved in the taking of drug is necessary if students are to be prepared to cope with the temptations that confront them. During the course of the summer I met regularly with a group of students, parents, and teachers to informally explore what kind of program would meet the needs of the students at Newton South High School. By the first of August everyone involved was convinced that a program undertaken by the school alone would not prove effective and that the PTSA and the school should work jointly in preparing and presenting a program to students and the parents alike.

In September this recommendation was made to the PTSA and since then a committee made up again of students, parents, and teachers has been working on a proposal which was made at the PTSA Board meeting on Dec. 4.

"As the plans for the program unfold, it becomes increasingly evident that it will only be a success if the parents of all of the students in the school are not only aware of the existence of the program but also actively involved with their children in the confrontation of the painful and complex issues of drug use. The student editors of Denebola have already begun a dialogue on the subject of drugs in the November 2 edition of Denebola, and as the particulars of the program are developed, they will be discussed further in Denebola and in a contemplated newsletter from the PTSA."

After a highly successful fall drama production the Newton South theatre arts department is busily planning and selecting the cast for the musical HIGH BUT-TON SHOES, to be presented in mid February.

One hundred four students tried out for the play and forty students competed for the dancing parts. The judges for the cast try-outs were Mr. David Arner, Mr. David Levenson, Miss Cynthia Hatch, Mr. Roberts, and Mr. Ernest Chamberlain. Three students selected the dancers for the play, Lois Levine, Debby Levy, Marjorie Shaer.

The results of the final casting are:

Last week, "the meaning of Music was defined to Mr. Jonathan Slater's English class, by Mr. Louis Weingarden, of Julliard School of Music, and Garraek Ohlsson, a superb pianist.

Mr. Weingarden was the commentator, and Mr. Ohlsson expressed "the meaning of music" through his fine playing.

As an example, Mr. Weingarden chose Beethoven's appassionata. He said in this piece there is a great conflict, a subject that has contrasting material added.

The "meaning" in this work, is the nature of the struggle and how it was resolved. The climax of development comes when the two conflicts meet face to face. Then the materials change nature to neutralize.

Newton Taxpayers Assoc. Recommends New System

The Newton Taxpayers' Association at its recent meeting issued a statement recommending complete coverage of all Newton school activities by program budget-accounting and opposing a request that the School Department help subsidize the Newton Mental Health Center.

The Association asked that not more than two qualified persons be employed in 1968 to develop and set up the proposed new accounting mechanisms. It based its recommendations on three grounds.

First, program budget accounting is proving itself successful where it is presently being developed in the system: in federally-supported programs, building maintenance, cafeteria and most of athletics—and it is being extended now to data processing and to both the limited and surrounding changes in the pilot school lunch programs.

Second, present school accounting personnel cannot handle the additional load of subsidiary policy making and detail involved in setting up such a major extension to the approximately 85 percent of all school expenses not presently covered, so more man-hours are needed.

Third, with the current major extensions of school personnel and activities, both After the competition she will be the star skater in a Christmas show at the Boston Skating Club on Dec. 17. The same show will be held the following Wed., Dec. 20 at the Prudential Center.

This spring Susan plans to take her Gold medal in figures which will complete all of her tests in the United States. At the beginning of the summer she will travel to Canada to take her Canadian Gold Medal and then to Great Falls, Montana, to train under Author Bourke.

Thurs., Dec. 14, 1967, The Newton Graphic Page 29

present and planned, being reflected in annual increased school costs of about $2 million, more successfully informative budget control and accounting procedures are essential.

The new policy request for an appropriation by the school department to the Newton Mental Health Center was opposed also on three grounds: that the Center was already receiving financial support from the Newton Health Department, that good management indicates such municipal funds should flow through only one channel, and that the school department was making enough demands on the taxpayers for new and expanded programs directly educational in nature without taking on a new policy of subsidizing mental health in the city, too.

Officers and directors elected by the Taxpayers' Association at its recent meeting are: Bertram A. Druker of Chestnut Hill, president; Willard C. Bodge and Bernard Roberts, vice-presidents; Donald P. Frail, treasurer; Stewart G. Orr, clerk.

Directors are Harry G. Anderson Jr., Alexander S. Beal, Edward G. Besse, Willard C. Bodge, Miss Elizabeth A. Burnham, Thomas W. Casey, Donald B. Conant, Stafford E. Davis, Charles E. Dockser, Bertram A. Druker, Archibald I. Feinberg, Donald P. Frail, Nissie Grossman, Bartlett Harwood Jr., Mrs. Joel B. Leighton, Giles E. Mosehr Jr., Stewart G. Orr, Bernard Roberts and Walter G. CIC Requests $2 Million for "Inner City"

The Catholic Interracial Council of Boston this week urged that part of the $50 million collected in Cardinal Cushing's Golden Jubilee Fund Drive be allocated for use in "the inner city."

A request for $2 million was announced by Richard Rowland, president of the Council (CIC), at a general meeting of the group at Holy Name School, West Roxbury.

The Council asked that the money be spent within the next two years to implement Project Equality, establish parish centers to replace churches lost to urban renewal, make inner city Roman Catholic schools models of education, expand Catholic METCO and rehabilitate housing.

"The situation is clear: $50 million will shortly be raised by the Jubilee Fund Drive," Rowland said. "Conscience demands that a significant amount of the money be allocated in accordance with the church's commitment to social justice."

The drive, consisting of pledges payable over the next three years, has been designated by Cardinal Cushing as a means of paying off debts he incurred in religious educational and social projects throughout the Archdiocese.

Rowland believes, however, that some of the amount will be spent on new projects.

GOP Loyalty Drive Here Reported Well Received

The annual Loyalty Drive currently being conducted by the local GOP is meeting with a most favorable response, according to William A. Lincoln, chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee, which is sponsoring the effort.

Contributions of varying amounts are being made as a result of the letter that went out last week to all members of the City Committee which is comprised of nearly four hundred men and women who make up the eight Republican Ward Committees of Newton.

Exhibition Of Five Centuries Of Prints At Fine Arts Museum

The history of printmaking from its beginnings in the 15th century to the present day is traced in the exhibition "The Telling Line" at the Museum of Fine Arts now open through February.

The exhibition of 160 prints, drawings and illustrated books pays tribute to Henry Preston Rossiter, curator of prints and drawings at the museum for 44 years. All the print galleries and the water color corridor have been turned into a showcase for the most outstanding works acquired by Mr. Rossiter during his long and distinguished stewardship. The selection reflects the zeal, the taste, and the scholarship of the retired curator, who became Curator Emeritus last spring.

Rare prints of unusual interest include a 15th century playing card of the "Queen of Stags" dating from before 1446, the dummy of a book with manuscript notes by the Emperor Maximilian himself and devotional prints which pious pilgrims pinned to their caps or tacked on walls or inside the lids of books when they returned home.

A book illustrated by the master of the Boccaccio Illustrations, dated 1476, was the first to be illustrated with copper engravings and the only copy in which engravings were hand colored. Much as the early automobile was designed to look like a horse-drawn carriage, the Boccaccio book was made to resemble a manuscript with painted miniatures.

Printmaking came into its own as an acceptable art form in the late 15th century. The exhibition spans five centuries and includes well-known masters of printmaking as Durer, Breugel, Rembrandt, and Bellange. Durer's "Virgin on a Crescent" is the title page to a series of woodcuts representing the "Life of the Virgin." Complete sets of these prints are extremely rare, and the museum's is considered one of the most prized in existence.

Goya's "Colossus," one of the great prints of the world, is one of six surviving impressions. Mr. Rossiter purchased this print for 30 years until he managed to acquire it in 1965. The nude figure of a brooding giant seated on the rim of the earth under a crescent moon epitomizes a tragic vein in Goya's philosophy.

A show within a show in the selections from the M. and M. Karolik Collection of 19th century American prints and drawings, one of the most significant additions made during Mr. Rossiter's career.

Important acquisitions of modern prints testify to the scope of Mr. Rossiter's collecting. Exhibited are works by Degas, Manet, Toulouse-Lautree, Gauguin, Munch, Klee and Picasso. One of the last additions made by Mr. Rossiter is a large lithograph by Picasso of a whimsical toad.

In honoring Mr. Rossiter the museum has devoted its most recent issue of the Boston Museum Bulletin to his acquisitions. It illustrates 44 of the most important acquisitions made during his tenure and contains tributes to him by director Perry T. Rathbone and the publications editor, Mrs. Neil Rudenstein.

Newton Savings Bank Shows Record Growth

A gain of $18.5 million in deposits and total assets of more than $201 million, including $1.5 million in its Savings Bank Life Insurance department, were reported last Thursday by President Frederick C. Ober at the annual meeting of the Newton Savings Bank. He further revealed that mortgage loans add up to more than $133.5 million and personal loans over $5.8 million.

Mr. Ober also reported the establishment during the current year of the bank's Newtonville office, its seventh, with six months deposits of over a million dollars; the inception of daily interest accounts and the founding of the bank's subsidiary corporation, the Mutual Savings Computer Corporation, now jointly owned with Worcester County Institution for Savings.

At the annual election of officers and directors Mr. Ober was re-elected president; Benjamin F. Lewis, re-elected vice president and treasurer; Douglas B. Francis and Arnold E. Worth, vice presidents.

Theodore L. Buell, Richard M. Nichols, Nathan I. Greene, Hugh Harwood, and Mr. Worth were re-elected to the board of trustees for three year terms. Hardy was elected clerk to succeed Arthur K. Wells retiring trustee.

William H. Volger was re-elected chairman of the auditing committee and E. Graham and Frank L. Farwell were re-elected members.

Earl P. Stevenson, former president of Arthur D. Little & Company, retiring as a trustee was elected an honorary trustee. Richard P. Axten, director of Public and Financial Relations at Raytheon Company was elected as trustee for three year term and Dwight L. Allison, Jr., an attorney and W. All-new Mercury Montego has 4 extra inches of riding comfort in every 2-door hardtop.

Three competitive car lines fall considerably short of Montego this year.

As the chart shows, they give you 4 inches less wheelbase. Less rear passenger room. Less trunk space.

Montego doesn't think you want to be sold this short.

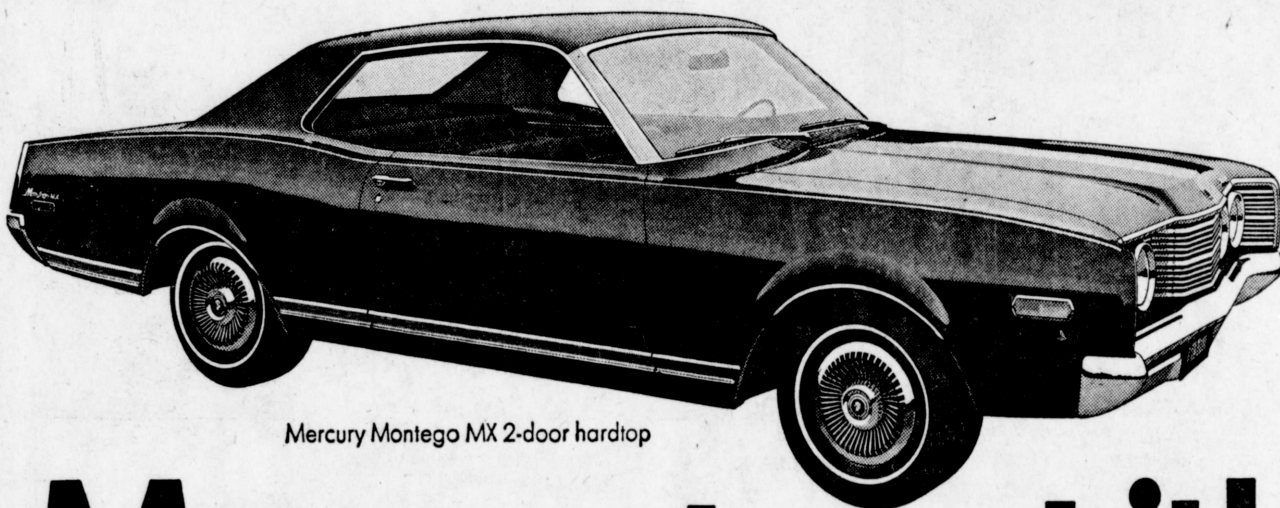

Besides, we're solidly committed to the Fine Car Touch inspired by the Lincoln Continental. Which means giving you more.

We think you'll prefer Montego's 116-inch wheelbase for its extra riding comfort and Cougar handling excitement. Six of you can pile in without feeling like a crowd. And the trunk's at least 20% bigger than our competitors'.

Mercury Montego's got it!

Come see the new Montego while your Mercury dealer's in a "catch-up" mood. He's got lots of cars. And lots of deals that you can't turn down.

is known, it is sometimes possible to get greater control by driving with the right wheels on the rough shoulder.

NARROW ROADS

If there is approaching traffic, come to a complete stop. Wave oncoming traffic to pass you before proceeding.

PEDESTRIANS

Watch out for children on sleds and skis. Remember pedestrians can't get out of the way quickly because their traction is no better than yours.

RUSH HOUR TRAFFIC

Be particularly careful when driving in heavy traffic between the hours of 4:00 and 7:00 p.m. when everybody is in a hurry and visibility is poor.

STOPPING

Pump brakes to keep the wheels from locking and starting a skid. Slow down gradually, not suddenly.

CARBON MONOXIDE

Be sure to guard against this very common hazard—

Floor Boards—to protect yourself from deadly exhaust fumes, have any loose floor boards repaired immediately.

Exhaust System—Have your car regularly checked for any leaks in the exhaust system.

Ventilation—Always keep one window at least partially open when driving.

Resting—Never leave the engine running when resting or sleeping in the car.

Exercise—Stop your car, get out and walk around in the fresh air whenever you feel sleepy.

SOCIAL DRINKING

Social drinkers greatly outnumber the obviously intoxicated drivers, and they account for many holiday traffic accidents. Just two cocktails can impair judgment and vision.

Coffee does not help. Only time—as much as three hours can eliminate alcohol from the blood system. So watch out for all the party-goers who think they can handle the stuff and still drive. And don't make the same mistake—if you drink, don't drive.

Top National Guard Post To Resident Here

Prominent Newton resident Colonel William W. Molla has been appointed as Assistant Adjutant General for Personnel of the Massachusetts National Guard. He has been appointed by Governor John Volpe, commander-in-chief of the Mass. National Guard to succeed Brigadier General Walter J. Gleason, recently retired.

Molla, a member of the Massachusetts Bar since 1946, is a graduate of the regular course, Command and General Staff College, a member of the Army National Guard Policy Board, the Academic Board of the Massachusetts Military Academy and was recently elected President of the Massachusetts Bay Chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

Col. Molla has had over 30 years military service, including World War II service with the 101st Infantry Regiment of the 26th Yankee Division. He has been awarded the Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster.
He has held a variety of command and staff positions, since his assignment to the 26th Division as a 2nd Lieutenant in 1941. He served as C-5 and G-1 of the Division from 1949 to 1959, helped organize the Yankee Division Support Command in 1955 and commanded that organization until March 1965, when he was appointed Military Support of Civil Defense Officer for Massachusetts.

An authority in civil and military affairs, Col. Molla is also well known for his hobby, a special interest in Italian history, genealogy and geography. He is particularly interested in the area of Lunigiana, including this historically important Magra Valley, the Cisa Pass, the famous marble quarries zone of Massa Carrara and the almost legendary and now silt-covered Etruscan-Roman City of Luni.

Newton Hockey Team Points For Tourney

By TOM GRAVES

The Newton high school varsity hockey team, highlighted by return of last year's high scoring front line of center Don Gallagher, leftwing Bob Cotter and right wing Jack Droz will be seeking an entry to the State Hockey Tournament this season for the third time in four years.

ord of 67-26-12 in league play.

One of the high points of his tenure came in 1964, as his squad placed first in the Greater Boston League and reached the semi-finals of the State Tournament.

From last year's team, which had a league record of 7-2-3, there are four returning lettermen. The first line of Cotter, Gallagher, and Droz, all seniors, accumulated 65 points last season to lead the Cats to second place in league competition behind Arlington, and into the quarter-finals of the State Hockey Tournament. The other returnee is defenseman Mike Dezotell.

It is Dezotell who will be counted on to backbone the inexperienced defense this year. Due to graduation, a great deal will count on a trio of last year's junior varsity: Phil Phelan, Jay Keefe, and Paul Britt. Top sophomore prospect is Steve Dunn.

Also up from the junior varsity will be forwards Ralph Murphy, "Bucky" Reidy, Larry Hasenfus, and Matt Kumor. Murphy, who saw some varsity action last year, scoring a goal is expected to combine with two of the others to form Coach Kinlin's second line.

It is in the goal that Newton's measure of success will most likely be determined. The two combatants for the vacated position are junior Bob Sweeney and sophomore Steve Condon.

Sweeney, while being more experienced, playing with the junior varsity last year, faces a tough battle from Condon. In junior high school, Steve tended the goal successfully for the city's junior high squad.

Not to be ignored are a number of other sophomore aspirants. Among them are Mike Collins, Joe Rossi, and Tom Donovan who played together as an offensive line last year for the junior high school team.

Bob Fay and George Reynolds are another duo who have seen action together, and may very well fit into the team's offensive pattern. Fay in particular possesses a great deal of poise for a sophomore. In a recent scrimmage on Friday, December 8, the Cats defeated a team from Archbishop Williams, 2 to 1, at Hockytown U.S.A. Jamboree at Medford.

Leading the Newton attack, as would be expected, were Gallagher and Droz who each tallied a goal and an assist. In the first period, when Newton fired 11 shots on net, Gallagher scored with two seconds remaining on a rebound shot. He had called for the play at his own blue line after noticing the small amount of time left in the period.

Droz tallied what proved to be the game winner at 1:02 left in what was the second and final period. Prior to scoring, he had received a pass from Gallagher, and drawn the goalie out of position with an excellent head fake.

Sweeney and Condon split the time in the goal; each playing one period. Sweeney looked particularly good, but both played well. It was not until the final minute of play, with 24 seconds remaining, that Archbishop Williams scored, when a 20-footer eluded the grasp of Condon.

Another encouraging aspect of the game was the fine passing of what appears will be Newton's second line; Matt Kumor, Ralph Murphy, and Bob Fay. Defensive stalwarts were Dezotell, Keefe, and Britt.

The Cats open their season on December 16, taking on Rindge Tech at the Boston Arena. Their complete schedule shows 14 league games, and 16 contests overall.

Newton High Hoopsters Aiming For "Impossible Dream" Slot

By STEVE KENDALL

Only a flock of injuries to key performers could mar the hope of a Tech Tourney berth for the Newton High basketball team when it opens its season Tuesday at Belmont High.

A spot in the post-season tourney has been elusive in recent years for Coach Al Fortune's squad, 9-9 in the Suburban League last year, but if some of his injury-laden hoopmen can recover, the "impossible dream" might be realized.

Hampered by injuries are Co-Capt. Phil Nelson, Mike Gallagher, Paul Lubin, Clark Berry, Bob Wargin, and Paul Murphy. Nelson and Wargin are recovering from football mishaps and should be lost until January. Gallagher is suffering from a hematoma, which could shelve him indefinitely.

One of the healthy Tigers, 6-5 pivotman Paul Colantonio, will be counted on to carry much of the load. The senior is one of the top centers in the league and has shown great improvement since practice began November 27. Juniors Berry, who can play any position, and Dean Vernon are Colantonio's backups.

Inexperience will be prevalent in the frontcourt as Fortune will rely on junior varsity graduate Jack Mavisakalian, 6-1, Carl Andersen, 6-1, and the 6-2 Berry, Nelson and Gallagher are the regular forwards but neither are practicing. However, in the trio

Newton has good rebounding strength and hustle. Mavisakalian also possesses a good outside shot.

Co-Capt. Sandy Winslow, 5-8, and Lubin, 5-11, seem to have the guard jobs nailed down. In Winslow's first varsity appearance late last year the senior hit a 20-foot jump shot to beat Brockton in the final seconds. Sandy handles the ball well, can drive, and has a good outside shot. Lubin bothered slightly by a twisted ankle, also has varsity experience behind him. He has good moves and plays solid defense.

Rich Echlov and Tom Chalmers, up from the sophomore team, Berry, and John Loughlin can spell Winslow and Lubin. Wargin won't see any action in the backcourt until his broken arm heals.

Forecast Superior Seasons For Tiger Gym, Tr'k Teams

Two of Newton High's perennially superior teams, the gymnastics squad and the track team, once again face the prospect of successful seasons.

The gymnasts are the defending Suburban League champions and, despite inexperience, could repeat their undefeated league performance of a year ago. Leading Coach George Jessup's squad are Co-Captain Rich Searle and Ed Hallow.

Both versatile, Searle and Hallow may perform in four of the six events for Newton. Rich is a leading candidate in parallel bars, rings, long horse vaulting, and horizontal bar. Ed works parallel bars, long horse vaulting, horizontal bar, and floor exercise.

Junior Jim Battista is the top man in parallel bars and could see action in five events. He will be counted on to try to fill the gaping hole left by graduation of state champion Richie Martin.

The veteran track team, second in the league last year, is headed by Co-Captains Bob Tennant and Nep Epstein. Tennant is the Suburban League cross-country titlist and will run the two-mile. Epstein is the Tigers' prime threat in the 300 and runs the relay.

Other hopefuls are dashmen Don McMillen, Joe DiSeglio and Bob Katseff, middle-distance runners Ken Prince, Chuck Raffel, and Jon Linn, milers Bill Tomb and Jeff Hyman, high jumpers Dave Hoover and Chris Quinn, hurdlers Bill Clark and Quinn, and shot putters Robbie Cohen and John Piselli.

Nine Returning Lettermen Bolster Lions' Rink Chances

By NED MORSE

The Newton South hockey team will begin its conquest for Dual County League supremacy on Saturday, December 16th at Loring Arena, Framingham.

With the return of nine varsity lettermen from a 7-5-2 team, hopes are high for a successful season and a possible post season tournament berth. The Lions are led by goalie Dave Roberts, captain Jack Dunnigan and high scoring center Tom Rezzuti.

Roberts, a senior, gained a second team All Star position on the Dual County League All Star team for his outstanding work in the nets last year. He recorded five shutouts during the season while maintaining a stingy 1.42 goals on average. Over the entire 14 game schedule he made a total of 251 saves.

Dunnigan is a solid three year starter at right defense. He is a close checker and a possessor of a fine slap shot. Brad Graham and Ed Phifer will rotate with Dunnigan at the defensive positions. Graham saw some varsity experience last year and has improved steadily through spring and fall competition. Phifer, a starting lineman on the outstanding South football team, did not play hockey last year. However, his work in pre-season practice has been very impressive. A six footer weighing close to 200 pounds, Phifer should provide the Lions with the big man essential at the red line.

Rezzuti, an exceptional three sport varsity athlete, will center the first line with assistant captains Jim Spinks and Biff Wisner flanking him on the wings.

Rezzuti was the team's leading scorer last year with nine goals and five assists. He is an excellent forechecker and a fine playmaker. Spinks was an outstanding penalty killer last season. While making over 50 appearances with the Lions short-handed the opposition failed to score. This fine record was a tribute to Spink's excellent skating ability and his stick handling.

Wisner has been a three year regular at right wing. Last season he tallied two goals while making four assists.

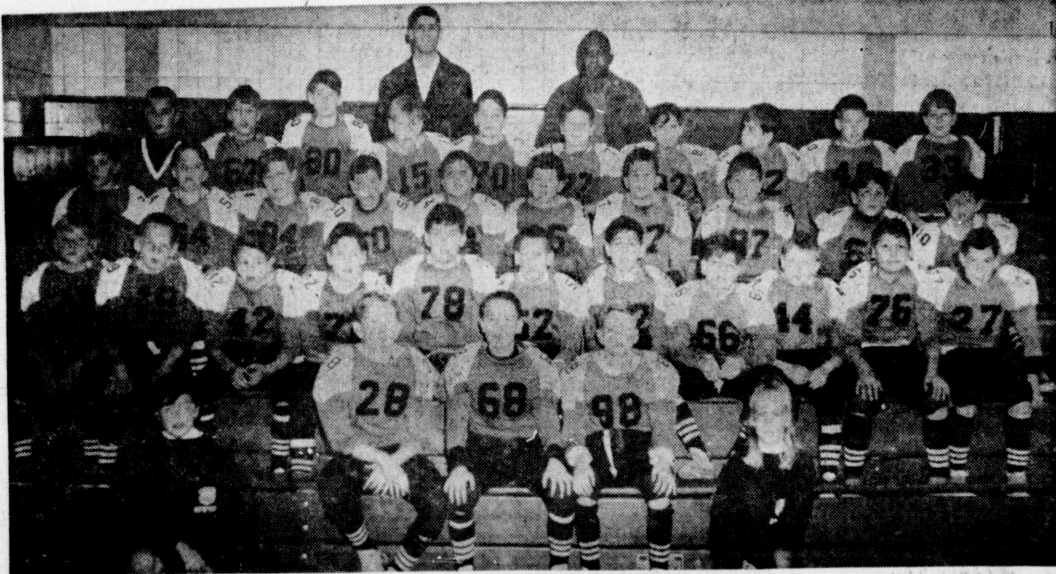

The second line is comprised of Ron Nelson at center and Gary Mescon and Andy "Flash" Schwarz at the wings. Nelson, a starter from last year, scored three goals and two assists. Two of the goals fired by Nelson were game winners coming in crucial situations.

Mescon is a fine two way performer who has seen action on both offense and defense. His versatility makes him a valuable member of the team. Schwarz is a study in determination. He has won a varsity position after two years of J.V. hockey and diligent work in the off season. His sparkplug brand of play should be of great help to the Lions.

Battling for positions on the third line are seniors Allan Fraser, Bill Roundsville, Bob Ramirez and junior Jimmy O'Connor. Backing up Roberts in the nets will be Warren Ross, a converted football player.

In regards to the team's success this year, Coach William Jesdale feels "A great part of hockey is mental attitude. The first thing I'm looking forward to is winning that first game."

In fall league play, Newton South has displayed a strong defense, but a limited offense. However, they were minus some of their regular forwards. If the Lions can generate a high scoring offense to complement their stingy defense, South rosters should look forward to observing an exciting brand of hockey at Loring Arena every Saturday this winter.

"Messiah" To Be Given At Church On December 17

The United Presbyterian Church of Newton will present its traditional production of Handel's "The Messiah." It will be performed in the church sanctuary at Park and Vernon streets in Newton Corner on Sunday, December 17, 1967, at 7:00 p.m.

The 35 member choir and its accompaniment will be directed by Norman Curtis, Minister of Music. Mr. Curtis and his wife, Leonore, who are Artists in Residence at Gordon College, Wenham, will also serve as two of the principal soloists.

"The Messiah," which will be the musical highlight of the church's Christmas season, is open to the public of all faiths.

Newton Women Help Theatre Company Event

Four Newton women were among the sponsors of the festivities surrounding the opening of Theatre Company of Boston's new playhouse last month in Boston.

Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, Mrs. Jacob Feldman, Mrs. Richard Woodward and Mrs. Alan Perlmuter are members of the theatre's Boston's Women's Committee which arranged the parties before and after the opening.

There are 13 distinct kinds of rattlesnakes.

N.C.U. Leads In Textile Study

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—North Carolina State University has the largest textile school enrollment in the nation, about 600.

The school has one of the top textile libraries in the country, $3,000,000 in equipment, and is one of only three in the United States offering graduate degrees.

Congregational Church To Have Vesper Concert

The Newton Highlands Congregational Church will observe Christmas with a Christmas Vesper Concert this Sunday, December 17, and a Pageant, Friday, December 22, in addition to the traditional Christmas Sunday Service on Dec. 24 and Christmas Eve Carol and Candlelight service.

The Vesper Concert will feature the combined choirs, senior, junior and youth, with soloists Marsha Vleck and Ray Bryan. The program includes the following: "O Come All Ye Faithful," Cantata No. 142, "For Us a Child Is Born," Carol No. 124 "Bring a Torch Jeanette, Isabella," Carols: "Now the Holy Child Is Born" (French) sung by senior choir; "Candlelights of Christmas" sung by the junior and youth choirs; "On Christmas Night" (English) and "Lullaby of the Christ Child" (German), sung by the senior choir; "Torches," combined choirs; "On a Morning Long Ago" (Spanish), sung by the junior and youth choirs; "The Citizens of Chateaux" (French), combined choirs.

The concert will close with "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" as the Processional and the Postlude will be "Heaven on High an Angel Came." Edward H. Hastings is the organist and choir-master directing this concert.

The Christmas pageant to be given in the Church Sanctuary on Friday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m., will be entitled "Christmas Tableau," and will feature the young people of the church in the cast, and will be directed by the minister, Rev. Paul G. Pitman.

At the Christmas Sunday morning service at 10:45 the Combined Choirs will sing under the direction of Mr. Hastings, and at the Christmas Eve Carol Service the young people home from college, Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship and young business people will make up the choir leading the carols.

Nurses To Sing, Bring Gifts To Baptist Home

The 76th annual Christmas party for residents of the Baptist Home of Massachusetts will be held next Monday, Dec. 18, at the Home, 66 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill.

The program which gets underway at 7:30 p.m. will feature special music by the Nurses Glee Club of the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. Robert Leavitt will direct the 50-voice choir.

In addition to singing for the 129 members of the Baptist Home family, the nurses will bring gifts for all the residents.

Mrs. William Breed of Newton Centre is a member of the arrangements committee.

In Music Concert

Three Newton area residents will appear during the Christmas Concert Series at Boston's Prudential Center as members of the Rosary Academy Glee Club, Watertown. The Club's performance in the lobby of the 52-story Prudential Tower is scheduled for 7 p.m. next Tuesday (Dec. 19).

The local girls are: Patricia Maher, 4 Gay street, Newtonville; Karen Cellucci, 72 Morrill street, West Newton; and Bruna Coppola, 306 Norwood avenue, Newtonville. They will join with choral groups from 36 greater Boston churches, schools and colleges that have been invited to participate in the Concert Series which was opened yesterday.

Music Committee At Christmas Tea

The Music Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was welcomed to the home of Mrs. Victor D. Baer on Brookline street, Newton, for their Christmas meeting on Monday (Dec. 4). Mrs. Baer's home was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

The music chairman, Mrs. John W. Merrill led the singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. William L. Bruce. The club president, Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer was there to wish the members a Merry Christmas. Miss Beatrice Eastman, soloist, entertained the group with a program of Christmas songs. The program was followed by a tea and the members departed for their homes in the spirit of the Christmas season.

Noted Woman Physician To Give Local Lecture

One of the foremost women physicians of our time will present the Fried Medical Lecture at Newton-Wellesley Hospital on Monday evening, December 18.

Leona Baumgartner, M.D., who has represented the United States on numerous medical missions abroad and who is a former Commissioner of Health in New York City, will speak at 8:30 p.m. in the hospital's Usen Auditorium.

Her topic is "Changes in Medical Care — A Look Into the Future."

Dr. Baumgartner presently is visiting professor of social medicine at Harvard University.

She represented the United States in medical missions and visits to France, India, Japan, U.S.S.R., Thailand and Pakistan.

She has held positions with the World Health Organization, as well as in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the U. S. Labor Department, the Peace Corps and at many of the nation's leading universities.

Dr. Baumgartner earned her A.B. in Bacteriology and M.A. in Immunology at the University of Kansas, did graduate work and research at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute and the University of Munich, and at Yale University earned a Ph.D. in Immunology and an M.D.

She is clinical professor of Public Health at Cornell Medical College and Special Advisor to the Agency for International Development, U. S. Department of State. She has served as acting assistant surgeon of the U.S.P.H.S. and executive director of the New York Foundation.

She is presently a clinical professor of pediatrics at Cornell Medical College, associate attending pediatrician at New York Hospital, a visiting lecturer on maternal and child health at Harvard and a lecturer in Public Health and Administrative Medicine at Columbia University.

Nine honorary degrees have been accorded her. Sixteen awards have been bestowed upon her, including the John Lovett Morse Pediatric Prize, the Albert Lasker Award for distinguished achievement in public health administration, the Albert Einstein Award for distinguished service to humanity and the Charles V. Chapin Medal.

The author of about 200 articles in scientific journals,

Dr. Baumgartner is a fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Public Health Association, being a past-president of the latter. Other distinguished affiliations include past president of the National Health Council, National Conference of Social Work, New York Academy of Medicine and Royal Society of Health, Honorary Fellow.

The Fried Medical Lectures, in their 15th year, seek to keep physicians abreast of current medical developments. They are open to physicians, medical students and others of the health professions.

Paul Rahilly Guest Artist Here, Dec. 21

The Newton Art Assn. will present Paul Rahilly as its guest artist on Thursday, Dec. 21, at 7:45 in the Beethoven School, Waban.

A graduate of Tufts University, Mr. Rahilly studied at the Art Students League of New York.

He paints in oils and watercolors and has worked in New York, Spain and recently in New England. He presently is an instructor at Vesper George School of Art in Boston.

Mr. Rahilly holds membership in the American Watercolor Society, Salmagundi Club, Art Students League of New York, Academic Artists of Springfield, Northshore Art and Rockport Art Assns.

The Dec. 21st meeting is open to the public.

'Hams' Hear Radio Experts

The Middlesex Amateur Radio Club met on Friday (Dec. 8) to hear the second lecture of a series of three, given by Melvin Miller about the basic theory of amplifiers. His third lecture will be arranged for nearly 1968, the topic to be announced later.

The Middlesex Amateur Radio Club meets on the second and fourth Fridays of each month at 8 p.m. at the Waban Public Library on Beacon street. Weekly session of the P-Net are held on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. on 28.90 megacycles.

At the last regular meeting Mrs. Kayla Bloom spoke about laser beams. She gave the history and principle of the laser beam, examples of different types of laser, and gave illustrations of their applications from medicine to the military.

Newton Fair Housing Group Sponsors Operation Exodus

The Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights recently voted to co-sponsor the concert presented by the Lexington Choral Society at the Jeremiah Burke High School in Roxbury at 8:30 p.m. last Friday (Dec. 8) in honor of Operation Exodus, according to Arthur L. Lyman, chairman of the committee.

The Dec. 8 concert of one of New England's outstanding choral groups was conducted by Alan Lannon. Contributions on behalf of Operation Exodus from those who attended were welcomed. The program for the evening was a varied one, consisting of both sacred and secular works by composers spanning the period from Johann Sebastian Bach to Benjamin Britten.

At a joint meeting recently of the Executive and Steering bodies of the Fair Housing Committee, the group voted to ask its Urban Affairs Subcommittee, chaired by Melvin Chaffin, to explore the possibility of construction of low and middle-income housing for Newton residents under the provisions of Section 221-D3 of the Federal Housing Act.

In addition to the Newton Fair Housing Committee, a number of other fair housing organizations throughout Metropolitan Boston co-sponsored the concert, which was one of several fund-raising efforts on behalf of Operation Exodus that are being coordinated by the Human Concerns Committee of Cohasset, under the chairmanship of S.B. Andrus.

Another of the Human committee's methods of raising money for Operation Exodus in suburban communities surrounding Boston is through the distribution of a limited number of art works produced by noted Boston Negro artists.

Persons who donate $50 or more to Operation Exodus will receive a copy of a recently completed lithograph by Calvin Bennett entitled "Freedom Fighter" Mr. Bennett, a distinguished member of the Boston artistic community, is one of the founders of the Boston Negro Artists' Association. This edition of his lithograph, limited to 100 signed copies, was dedicated by him to Operation Exodus. Arrangements have been made, according to Mr. Andrus, for framed copies of the work to be displayed in the libraries of many of the suburban Boston communities co-operating in the fund-raising campaign.

Donors to Operation Exodus of from $5 to $49 will receive a copy of the 1968 calendar pad, published by the Negro Philadelpha—Women usually have higher-pitched voices than men because their vocal chords are shorter.

SIDNEY T. SMALL

Small To Head Mental Health's Holiday Appeal

Sidney T. Small of Newton has been appointed chairman of the Newton Mental Health Association, Inc., Holiday Appeal Fund according to Association President Edwin Hawkrig.

Small was recently elected a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. He is president of the Greenwood Chemical Company of Newton.

The Newton Mental Health Association sponsors the Newton Mental Health Center, which has been providing Newton children and their families with psychiatric services since 1965. During this past year, more than 200 children and their families were aided and given treatment by the clinic's staff.

This is the first time the Newton Mental Health Association has launched a holiday appeal drive. Since the clinic is only partly supported by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the city of Newton, the Association must raise the necessary funds to meet the clinic's needs. The Holiday Appeal is being directed to the business community of the city of Newton, those who are not regularly solicited for membership or other fund raising drives.

Fitness Classes For Executives

A new class in progressive physical fitness for men in the greater Newton area is beginning Monday (Jan. 8) at the Newton Y.M.C.A. The program will begin with a clinic to be held on Saturday (Jan. 6) for all new men coming in on a first come first served basis.

Tests will be given in body measurements, blood pressure, pulse recovery rates, strength, flexibility and balance tests. These will be administered by the Physical Fitness Council of the Newton Y.M.C.A., including Dr. Bud Lipton, Dr. Francis Murphy, Beverly Janovsky R.N., Joseph White "Y" Physical Director; Joseph Santy Associate Physical Director; Alan Glick a "Y" Staffer and Thomas Terio, Gerald McCluskey, Stanley Keyes and Raymond White.

The 55 men in the program presently have advanced from low gear to middle gear exercises leaving 50 to 75 openings in the low gear program.

Soothing Balm For Henry Bahm

Henry Bahm, of Newton Highlands, was recently awarded the Forbes and Wallace Silver Revere Bowl and, also, the popular prize by those attending a preview at the George Vincent Smith Art Museum, Springfield, where his works were exhibited.

Bahm's drawing "Thelma" was recently purchased by the Las Vegas Art Association.

Wayne Heads $679,520 Voted By School MIT Alumni Board For New Equipment Fund Drive

George H. Wayne of Newton Centre has been appointed Special Gifts Chairman for the Boston area for the 1967-68 Alumni Fund Campaign of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Wayne will be assisted by Ernest R. Kaswell, 67, Paulson road, Waban, and by Mitchell J. Marcus, 1411 Bigelow road, W. Newton.

The Alumni Fund conducts special campaigns during the fall of each year and local general campaigns during the spring. The fund now in its 28th year supports many projects at MIT, primarily on behalf of the students.

There are some 10,200 MIT alumni living in the Boston area.

Mr. Wayne lives at 14 Manor House road, Newton Centre.

The Newton School Committee on Monday night voted to spend $679,520, an increase of $97,000, for instruction equipment in the schools.

Approval of the amount for this portion of the non-salary budget met with negative votes from Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Committeeman Edwin Hawkrig.

The figure includes money for such needs as books, papers, printed materials, science and social studies kits, films, art materials, etc.

It was pointed out by Assistant Superintendent for Business Services John E. Gilleland that the per pupil cost of instruction materials in the Newton schools in 1967 was $31 in the high schools, $26 in the junior highs, and $21 in the elementary schools.

The committee also approved a $36,000 item for the updating of equipment in the electrical laboratory of Newton Technical High Schools.

Alvin Mandell, elected to the School Committee in November, reported that his investigations showed present equipment to be obsolete.

The School Committee also approved a non-salary budget of $72,000 for Newton Junior College. Committeeman Edwin Hawkrig attempted to reduce the figure to $62,600, but his motion was defeated.

Also approved was $70,000 for school cafeteria costs for the full year of 1968. This was a reduction from the request of $96,000.

The non-salary budget requests, with the exception of the sizeable instruction equipment item, were trimmed by the School Committee from the original $399,605 to $223,555.

Needham Men's Glee Club At Newton Church

The Needham Retired men's Glee Club will be featured at 1:30 p.m., Dec. 18, as the Gould Capon Chapter of the American Ass'n of Retired Persons meets at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1135 Walnut St., Newton Highlands.

This is the third successive year the association will be entertained by the Needhamites, now 34 voices strong.

The program, featuring Christmas carols, is directed by William H. Haynes of Needham.

22 Newton Residents On Jury Lists

The Newton Board of Aldermen have chosen 22 Newton residents for jury duty. Twenty of the jurors will be reporting to Middlesex Superior Court, one to the Grand Jury in Middlesex Superior Court and one to Lowell Superior Court.

Michael A. Samarco, 51 Dearborn street, West Newton, office manager.

Melvin L. Chetitz, 25 Cotton street, Newton, salesman.

Milton M. Platt, 5 Byfield road, Waban, vice-president and associate director.

Scheduled to report to Cambridge Superior on Jan. 16, 1968, are:

Charles A. Allen, 1452 Beacon street, Waban, real estate broker.

Marguerite B. McGreggs, 86 Dalton road, Newton Centre, employee.

Charles D. Panos, 15 Simpson street, Newton, carpenter.

Seymour Silver, 15 Rotherwood road, Newton Centre, C.P.A.

Herman York, 171 Cabot street, Newton, salesman.

Francis L. McGowan, 962 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, supervisor.

Richard P. Brennan, 6 Sharon avenue, Auburndale, assistant manager.

Rosario F. Guzzi Jr., 21 Alden place, West Newton, export traffic manager.

Hooker Talcott Jr., 120 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill, executive.

Ernest H. Woodworth, 169 Washington street, Newton, plumber.

The one juror picked for the grand jury to report Jan. 2 is Alexander Proia, 4 Morgan place, Newton, co-ordinator.

The juror picked for the Lowell Superior Court also to report Jan. 2, is Morton S. Rubin, 6 Risley road, West Newton, systems director.

Secretaries' Association Members Ask Pay Increases

The Newton Educational Secretaries Association asked the School Committee on Monday night for salary raises for 1968 ranging from 5 to 10 per cent.

The salary committee of the association, chaired by Mrs. David Cooper, said "this year our request for an increase is based on the conviction that our salaries are not keeping pace with the complexities and pressures of a modern school system. The multiplicity of new programs, the expansion of special services, the tremendous increase in detailed paper work, all contribute to the importance of the secretary's role."

A letter signed by each of the 23 elementary school principals, favored the salary increase requests.

The proposals include: Each secretary starting her sixth year in Newton, working 31 and one half hours a week or more, shall receive a 10 per cent adjustment based on the Sept. 1967 salary schedule. Those working 31 and one half hours a week or more, 1-5 years in Newton, shall receive a 7 per cent adjustment.

Each secretary working less than 31 and one half hours a week shall receive the following adjustments: 1-10 years service in Newton, 5 per cent; 10 years service in Newton, 7 per cent.

The maximums of the salary schedule are increased by the adjustment amounts.

Increments as voted by the School Committee for last year shall remain in effect in the salary schedule for 1968-69.

The adjustments would bring a junior secretary-junior clerk working 37 and one half hours a week 12 months a year from the 1967 minimum of $3,500 to $3,900. Maximum in the first classification would be $5,600.

The total cost of the adjustments sought by the secretaries for a full year would be $74,152.79.

Finishes Armor School

Second Lieutenant Richard K. Dangelo, 23, of Newton, has just completed an officer basic course on December 1 at the Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Kentucky. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger J. Dangelo of 56 Lincoln road.

The nine-week course covers branch training in armor for newly commissioned officers with special emphasis on the duties of a tank platoon leader.

Newton Artists Exhibiting In Burr School

The works of Newton artists of national reputation are being displayed at the new Burr Elementary School on Pine street, Auburndale beginning in November and continuing through Saturday, (Dec. 23). Hours of the showings are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The show includes etchings, lithography, sculpture and paintings by Arthur Hoener, Lawrence Kupferman, Edward Movitz of Massachusetts College of Art; Sidney Hurwitz and Arthur Polonsky of the School of Fine and Applied Arts, Boston University; Sigmund Abeles of Wellesley and Ruth Cobb, wife of Lawrence Kupferman. Also exhibiting are Rosalind Smith, Elaine Eisenberg and the daughter of Lawrence Kupferman. Advisor to the collection is Mrs. Natalie Kabanov.

This collection of some two dozen art works is an attempt by Newton Arts Coordinator Al Hurwitz, to create an attractive art environment for students and faculty for an extended period of time. Ken Roberts, Art Teacher at the Burr School, intends to use the collection for the purpose of teaching art appreciation as well as creative studio activity.

Window Lecture Next Wednesday At Local Church

At the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale, on Wednesday, December 20, at 8 p.m., there will be an illustrated lecture with colored slides of celebrated, jeweled windows of Europe and America, both ancient and modern, by Orin E. Skinner. Skinner is president of The Charles J. Connick Associates, famous designers and makers of stained glass windows. He is a Fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters, a member of the Boston Society of Arts and Crafts, The Mediaeval Society of America and The Newcomen Society.

His many years of creative work at home and abroad ensure his audience of a rare and stimulating evening. Everyone is welcome. Refreshments will be served.

DAVOREN ELECTED STATE SECRETARY, QUINN SPEAKER

THE LEGISLATURE ELECTED House Speaker John F. X. Davoren, (D-Milford) Secretary of State last night, succeeding Boston Mayor-elect Kevin H. White. And later in the evening, Rep. Robert H. Quinn, (D-Boston) the Majority Leader, was elected Speaker by his House colleagues over Minority Leader Sidney Q. Curtiss, (R-Sheffield) on a party line vote, 159-64. The House adjourned without naming a successor to Quinn.

White resigned at noon after Governor Volpe signed a bill raising $94 million for the state takeover of local welfare operations. White had said he would stay in his state post until the legislature provided the money.

MBTA FACES 60-DAY RELAY ON $35 MILLION GRANT

A FEDERAL OFFICIAL said yesterday that he will recommend a 60-day delay in the decision by Secretary Robert Weaver of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as to whether the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority will get a $35 million grant.

William Hurd, deputy director of urban transportation in HUD, made his announcement following a three-hour meeting of federal, state and local officials with MBTA representatives. The meeting was called to give some 20 communities serviced by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. the opportunity to express their concern about the effects of the planned takeover of the bus company by MBTA.

TOP N.E. ELECTRIC FIRMS PROPOSE POWER POOL

NEW ENGLAND'S nine largest electric utility companies submitted a preliminary proposal yesterday in Boston to the Federal Power Commission for the formal establishment of a generation and transmission electric power pool for the six-state region.

The proposal for the New England Power Pool (NEPOOL) culminated a year's study by a committee composed of representatives of Boston Edison Co.; Central Maine Power Co.; Central Vermont Public Service Co.; Eastern Utilities Associates; New England Electric System; New England Gas and Electric Assoc.; Northeast Utilities; Public Service Co. of New Hampshire and the United Illuminating Co.

35,000 GI'S RETURNING FROM GERMANY IN APRIL

THE U. S. EUROPEAN COMMAND in Stuttgart, Germany, announced yesterday 35,000 American soldiers and airmen based in West Germany would start returning to the United States next April. The long-planned redeployment of two infantry brigades, an armored cavalry regiment and four fighter squadrons still will leave 220,000 U. S. fighting men stationed in Germany.

It was estimated the outback would save the United States more than $10 million a year. Military officials said the redeployed units remain committed to NATO and will not be sent to Vietnam. However, individual personnel could be assigned to Vietnam in the course of normal rotation, as has been the case during the units' assignment to Germany.

OHIO RIVER BRIDGE COLLAPSE TOLL HITS 28

THE TOLL OF KNOWN DEAD in the bridge collapse at Point Pleasant, W. Va., rose sharply last night and President Johnson directed an immediate national survey of bridge safety to "prevent similar tragedies." The recovery of seven bodies — one of them a taxicab passenger still clutching a dollar bill in his hand — pushed the Ohio River fatality list to 28.

Johnson appointed Secretary of Transportation Alan Boyd to head the investigation. Serving with him will be Price Daniel, the new director of the Office of Emergency Planning, and Army Secretary Stanley Resor.

REPORT URGES NATIONAL GUARD HANDLE RIOT CONTROL

A GOVERNMENT RESEARCH organization has recommended that the National Guard take over a major share of riot control duties to avoid further public antagonism toward the police.

The Institute for Defense Analyses, one of the private "think tanks" engaged in research for the Defense Department, said more frequent use of the guard "may eliminate any residual burden of antagonism toward the police." This would permit police to concentrate on "day to day" problems," the report added.

JOHNSON MAY MEET POPE ON WAY HOME

PRESIDENT JOHNSON landed in Australia to pay his last respects Friday to his old friend, Prime Minister Harold Holt, amid speculation he might go on to Thailand and then to Rome for a meeting with Pope Paul VI on the quest for peace in Vietnam.

Johnson told an airport gathering he had come to Australia to honor a man who was his cherished friend. "You have lost a leader, my country and I have lost a friend, the world has lost a great man but we have not lost and shall not lose his visions and inspiration," Johnson said.

HEART PATIENT'S VITAL FUNCTIONS FALTERING

LOUIS WASHKANSKY, the pioneer heart transplant patient, took a new turn for the worse last night and his vital functions began to falter. An official bulletin said there had been "a further deterioration" in the condition of the 55-year-old South African grocer.

"His breathing now has to be assisted by artificial ventilation," the medical report said. "His pulse and blood pressure remain satisfactory." Hospital sources said that although Washkansky was still conscious, he no longer was being allowed to feed himself "to avoid unnecessary strain."

GREEK KING CONSTANTINE READY TO RETURN

EXILED KING CONSTANTINE, admitting he had no power except the "desire of every Greek to live in freedom," said last night he would return to Greece as soon as the military rulers assure him they will restore the nation to democracy. The 27-year-old monarch, who fled to Rome last week after failing to overthrow the Greek military regime, set no time for his return.

In Athens, the top three military leaders in the Greek regime resigned from the army in the first step to transform the military junta into a civilian government.

VIET CONG MARK 7th ANNIVERSARY WITH TERRORISM

VIET CONG GUERRILLAS marking the seventh anniversary of their National Liberation Front, overran a government outpost on the Saigon outskirts, staged two terrorist attacks inside the capital and briefly occupied a village deep in the Mekong Delta, government spokesmen reported yesterday. At least 20 civilians were reported killed or maimed in the series of attacks.

Northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border U. S. troops killed at least 39 members of a Communist force of 300 to 500 men who attacked and tried to overrun a base camp of the U. S. 25th Infantry Division. Americans suffered three killed and 11 wounded.

Newton Boys In Vietnam To Get Gifts

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has sent Christmas gift packages to 44 soldiers and marines from the Newtons who will spend this Yuletide in war-ravaged Vietnam.

The generous, warm-hearted Mayor dug deeply into his own pocket to make sure that each serviceman from Newton is remembered with at least one extra gift apart from those he gets from his family and personal friends.

A number of clubs and organizations throughout the city also have each sent packages to a few Newton youths in Vietnam.

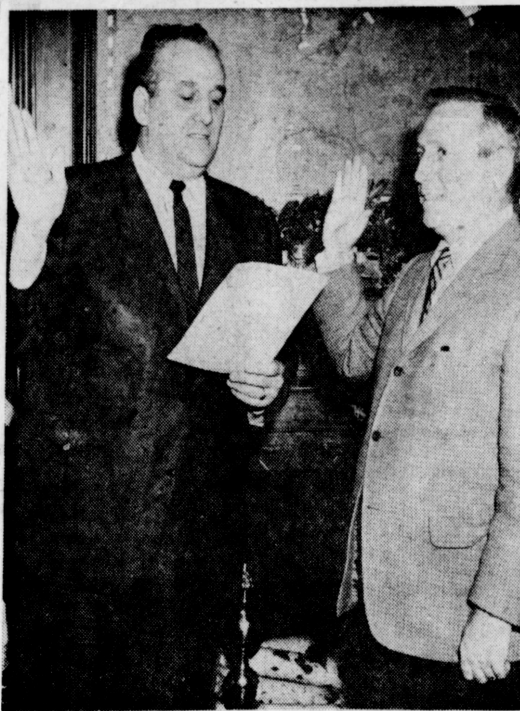

Christmas cards by the hundreds also are on their way to the Newton GIs and marines stationed in Vietnam along with pencilled scrawls from small children who under the direction of their teachers joined in scribbling greetings to the fighting men who can't be home with their families on the Yuletide.

Military officials told the Graphic that every effort will be made to place the gifts in the hands of the Newton servicemen on Christmas Eve.

Helicopters will fly the packages and cards to the men manning the outposts against the enemy.

It was Mayor Basbas who made the big effort in response to the stories and appeals published in the Graphic urging that the Newton servicemen in Vietnam be remembered to as great an extent as possible on Christmas.

Full Military Honors At Sgt. Flood Funeral

Sgt. John Patrick Flood, Jr., of 86 Jewett St., Newton, killed in action in Vietnam Dec. 9, was buried with full military honors last Monday in Newton Cemetery.

Interment followed solemn rites in Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, which was crowded with a host of friends, civic leaders, officials of veterans groups and military honor guard.

Celebrant of the requiem Mass was the Rev. Donald G. Clifford, with the Rev. Michael F. Doocey as deacon, and the Rev. James F. Rafferty of St. Philip Neri Church sub-deacon. Leo G. Brehm was organist and choir director.

The Newton Veterans' Honor Guard, with Cmdr. John Malgieri as leader, and Sgt.-at-Arms Murdock Fraser, comprised Michael Deluca, Michael Belli, Paul Harris and Samuel Patriacca.

Strong Protests Halt $1-Million Town House Plan

A million-dollar project for 40 town houses in an area near the Woodland MBTA station was denied this week by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The Committee denied the petition because of the strong and concentrated opposition of some 30 abutters on Stanton ave. in Auburndale. The decision was made in just a week, a very short period of time for a major proposal of such nature.

The Claims and Rules Committee voted 8 to 0 to deny and there wasn't an alderman at the Monday night meeting who rose to defend the petition.

Chairman Franklin N. Flachsenner said the Committee felt the opposition was impressive and that the petitioners were "over-intensifying" the land at the chosen area.

He also noted that the opposition "presented a reasonable and responsible case."

The petition for a zone change from Residence A to Residence D on approximately 15,500 square feet in a triangular-shaped tract that broadens away from Washington st. along unpaved Stanton ave. The petitioners promised they would pave Stanton ave. and provide sewerage from the crest of the avenue to Washington st.

Most of those in opposition claimed traffic hazards and overdevelopment as main concerns.

The homes were to have sold for approximately $40,000, or rented for over $350 a month.

In other action, the Board approved a petition for an Italian restaurant in Newton Highlands square. The only restriction placed was that the restaurant will have to close by midnight. The restaurant will cater mainly to eat-in service. The Committee felt that parking would be adequate.

Six other items were referred to the incoming Board in 1968. Among the items was a petition of Robert Levine for construction of 44 town houses at Broadlawn pk. in a private residential area.

Committee For Inaugural Ball Now At Work

Mario DeCarlo and Rep. Theodore D. Mann, co-chairmen of the Inaugural Ball honoring Mayor Monte G. Basbas, have announced the appointment of committee chairmen for the event which will be held Monday night (Jan. 1) Mayor Basbas is entering his second term as Mayor of the Garden City.

The Board also adopted a new set of rules and orders governing its functions but for all intents it is merely a new set of recommendations to be considered by the incoming board. The new rules, the result of two years labor by the Legislation Committee, will not go into effect before the last day of the year. If the Committee is called into emergency session before the end of the year it will function under the old rules.

Public Thanked For Aid To Post Office

Superintendent Jack Levy, of the Newtonville Post Office, extends his department's appreciation to all the residents of the Newtons for their fine interest and co-operation with the Post Office during the Christmas mailing season.

The burgeoning holiday mail reached an all-time high this year and required extraordinary effort on the part of the Newton postal employees as well as additional seasonal help to process and expedite the heavy volume of cards, letters and packages to their destinations.

"The public has cooperated magnificently," say Levy, who promises that all mail properly sent will be processed by Saturday evening (Dec. 23).

There will be no delivery this Sunday or Monday (Dec. 24, 25) except for special delivery and perishables.

There will be no collection of mail from street letter boxes on Christmas except for the boxes outside the Post Offices in Newton.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

An Open Letter To S. Claus In Behalf Of Our Politicos

Dear Mr. S. Claus:

We know that you're pretty busy packing your bags and loading your sled before starting your rounds to the homes of the boys and girls who are models of good deportment in anticipation of your arrival.

While you're still making arrangements to spread the warmth of your goodness in so many places, we'd like to put in a word for some of our deserving politicians.

It isn't that they're at all bashful about speaking up for themselves. It's just that they have been pretty busy between one thing and another.

You will not be able to deliver these political goodies until after Christmas, Mr. S. Claus, but

Age-Old Carols To Hail Holy Holiday

Christmas, 1967, will see one of the most glad and joyous celebrations this community ever has known.

The warm gleam of the colored lights, the soft strains of the ageless carols herald the approach of the Birthday of the Babe Who was born in a drafty manger behind a crowded Bethlehem inn 1967 years ago.

Most of all the Day of Days will be marked by the gladness that dwells in the hearts of men for the joy, the hope and the promise which the Christ Child brought to earth.

Christmas brings again the message of Peace. Many wartime Christmas Days since 1917 have come to America. Yet, for men fighting far from home and for those fortunate enough to spend hours and days making ready for its observance, it's a day above all other days.

It's a day when carols and CAROLS—(See Page 24)

$1000 Will Be Given To School For Scholarship

A scholarship in the amount of $1,000.00 will be presented to Richard W. Mechem, principal of Newton High School for the use of some deserving student for college education, today, Thursday, Dec. 21.

This check will be given by Sylvania Electric Products and Gem Electric Supply Corp. Walter Howard, New England district sales manager of Sylvania Company, and Paul Goldstein, president of Gem Electric Supply Corp., of Boston, will make the presentation to Mr. Mechem.

The gift is a result of a contest sponsored by Sylvania covering the Northeast area of the United States wherein the distributor who sold the largest amount of bulbs to educational institutions would make the award to the school of his choice.

Gem Electric Supply Corp. was the winner of the contest and Mr. Goldstein who resides in Newton and whose children received their secondary education in the Newton schools chose Newton High School to be the recipient of the scholarship.

West Newton Man Burned, 7 Injured In House Fire

A West Newton man was burned and seven others, including three police officers and two firemen, injured slightly last Sunday in a fire at 20 Webster pl., West Newton.

Fire officials said the blaze broke out in a room occupied by Paul Grow, 59, who suffered second and third degree burns over 40 per cent of his body. He was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment and later transferred to the Massachusetts General Hospital where his condition was listed as "poor" and his name placed on the danger list.

Grow's room was extensively damaged and smoke damage was sustained throughout the house. Fire officials attributed the cause of the blaze to careless smoking in bed.

ELECTED — Joseph N. Baker, executive vice president of Garden City Trust Co., Newton, was elected to the bank's board of directors at their December meeting.

Girls Scouts Spread Yule Cheer In Varied Projects

In keeping with their promise to help others, the Girl Scouts of Bay Path Colonial Council in Newton have planned many service projects for the holiday season.

The Quinobequin Neighborhood, Mrs. Kenneth Spilman, chairman, reports that Pierce School Brownies and Juniors will be carolling in the neighborhood. Beethoven School Juniors are donating their dues to the Globe Santa. Junior Scouts of the Angier School made napkin rings for the Brae Burn Nursing Home and also floral arrangements for their families.

Hamilton School Brownies and Juniors are carolling in the neighborhood, then having parties at the homes of their respective leaders, Mrs. Harry DuBois and Mrs. Richard DuBois. The Juniors will receive the badges they have earned.

In the Village-Homestead Neighborhood, Mrs. John Evans, chairman, the Cadette and Junior Scouts of Mrs. Lawson Gasset and Mrs. Richard Crosby are having a party for the residents of the Horace Mann apartments.

The girls are making the refreshments and have created colorful tissue flowers for their elderly friends. They have also "adopted" a needy family, providing them with a holiday dinner, clothing and toys. Mrs. John Mulcahy's Brownie troop, as guests of the Garden Club, will tell them the Brownie Story and welcome Santa Claus.

Mrs. Michael Taricano's Cadette Troop 569 of the Centre Neighborhood will go carolling and provide decorations for the Parker House senior citizens. Mrs. Henry Mahoney's Junior Troop 595 is carolling at the Cushing Nursing Home and presenting gifts of their own making.

Mrs. Morton Newman's Brownie Troop 546 has decorated satin foam balls and made calendars for families and friends. They will also exchange pipe-cleaner book marks and wire jewelry they have made. Mrs. Julius Feldman is chairman of the Centre Neighborhood.

In Westdale Neighborhood, Mrs. William Kunkel, chairman, Troop 1032, Brownies of Franklin School, Mrs. Joseph Antonellis, leader, will go carolling at the Jackson Gardens. Troop 543 Brownies of Burr school, Mrs. Robert Bartley and Mrs. Martha Hatch, leaders, have collected toys and clothing for children in Viet Nam. Junior Troop 552 of Franklin School, Mrs. Morris Sher, leader, is making puppets for the hospital.

Troop 586, Davis School, Mrs. David Kendall, leader, is carolling at the Horace Mann apartments; and Troop 561, Mrs. William Jones, leader, is also carolling for senior citizens. Mrs. Leo Bassett's Junior Troop 614, of Burr School is carolling at Elizabeth Manor and presenting its residents with 30 gift boxes of personal items.

Christmas

The message of the angels on the first Christmas night, "Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth Peace, Good Will Toward Men," seems like an impossible dream in this year of 1967 as Christians throughout the world pause to celebrate with joy and reverence the birth of Jesus Christ.

Evil in many forms assaults mankind over the entire face of the globe. There is war. There is godless ideology. There is strife over rights; and over wrongs. The ominous shadow of nuclear annihilation falls over the earth.

Despite the blight of man's inhumanity to man, there is hope; eternal hope and peace offered by the Baby of Bethlehem. If it were not for the ultimate promise of peace, all our hopes would be without substance.

But His promise of peace was not an unqualified guarantee. Peace has to be earned and deserved and, as yet, the nations of our time do not enjoy peace because they have not sincerely sought it.

Throughout the ages even unto the hour, might rather than right has been the motivating force in international relations.

Now we have another chance to respond to the divine challenge given us so long ago. Once more the Christ Child is returning. Once more millions are approaching His manger crib. Once more "Peace on earth to men of good will" is heard in every corner, on every continent.

The peace of Christmas is achieved by the manner in which men make themselves worthy of each other, and thus keep faith with the concepts of wisdom and justice by which the Prince of Peace would have them live.

Therefore, there is a duty for all of us to carry out, each in his own way. That duty is to strive for the possible dream — peace on earth, good will toward men.

Suspend Medicaid Now

Suspension of the Medicaid program until next May 1 while a special legislative commission investigates the entire subject has been recommended by Sen. William D. Weeks (R-Cohasset). He proposed the moratorium in Medicaid activity as the Senate passed a $94 million tax bill designed to finance the state's take-over of welfare costs next July 1.

The new tax program is going to hit every taxpaying citizen of the Commonwealth right in the pocketbook. Suddenly, along about April 15, the great majority of residents of Massachusetts are going to realize just who pays the bills when they find their tax refund will be considerably smaller, or their tax payment will be considerably larger.

The same thing will happen in 1969 and 1970 unless something is done now to halt the upward spiral of welfare costs — cost that will continue to climb if Medicaid is allowed to be operated without checks.

The Legislature should act promptly on Sen. Weeks' proposal. We fear for the fiscal plight of the Commonwealth and its citizens unless something is done quickly.

We would like to emphasize again that Medicaid is a fine program for those who are in real need of it. But, that's the trouble — many of those presently in the program do not belong in it. Perhaps, it isn't their fault. They are human and are taking advantage of an opportunity that has presented itself.

The fault lies in the standards established for entry into the program; too liberal standards placing too much faith in the veracity of the applicants.

The ridiculousness of the system was pointed up last week by Rep. Charles W. Mann (R-Hanson). Rep. Mann, who receives $10,000 a year, plus expenses, applied for and was accepted in the Medicaid program! He said he did it "without perjury or fraud."

He said that the form he filled out at the Hanson Welfare Board asked for his present weekly income. Since he had collected his last state paycheck two weeks previously, Rep. Mann said he assumed his weekly income as of the time he made out the Medicaid application "as nothing."

Having three children under 21 and less than $3300 in the bank, Mann's application was approved by the Hanson Welfare Board.

The minimal or non-existent controls in the Medicaid program have enormous potential for fraud, and it is the belief of officials that four out of six cases presently in Medicaid do not belong in the program.

We firmly believe in the principle of Medicaid (Aid for Dependent Children). Any child who needs medical or dental attention and whose parents cannot afford to pay for it, should receive assistance from the government. But we do not believe we should pay the bill for common cheats.

Therefore, we feel it is imperative the Legislature move immediately to suspend the entire Medicaid program until it can be overhauled and all potential for fraud eliminated.

$100 TAX RATE

Editor of The Graphic:
The recent public discussion of a $100 Newton tax rate is long overdue.
More than a year ago I stated on the floor of the Board of Aldermen, during debate over the Mayor's pay raise, that soon the Newton tax rate would soar to well over $100 per thousand. Simple analysis of a minimal capital improvements program for Newton, necessary education expenditures, the projected cost of collective bargaining for municipal employees and the ever increasing level of services required of municipal government, all indicate that Newton's tax rate will rise well beyond $100 in the near future.

Clearly, this will become an increasingly unmanageable burden. Hence, I would like to suggest that we begin to redirect our thinking on methods of financing municipal government.

European cities have a stronger financial position than ours, largely because they rely principally upon a share of the national income tax based upon population, and to a much lesser extent upon a share of a national real estate tax — one much lighter than our real estate tax. This is a far more equitable and realistic means of financing local government than our heavy reliance upon the real estate tax.

The real estate tax is regressive in that it discriminates against the homeowner of moderate income. Further, all indications are that this form of taxation, when almost exclusively relied upon to finance local government, will just not meet future fiscal demands.

I regret that recently, it seems, we have been improperly deciding certain questions of land usage, and may soon be jeopardizing educational programs, under the guise of stabilizing our real estate tax rate. This approach is unrealistic, and simply postpones for a very short time the day of financial reckoning at the expense of other important values.

For these reasons I suggest that our community impress upon its U.S. Senators, Representatives in Congress, and candidates for such positions, the plight of even the affluent suburb, and encourage them to work for the sharing of funds derived from the most effective and equitable of revenue raising instruments — the federal income tax.

This approach seems much more realistic than deluding ourselves into believing that by drastic economies and that by an "open door" policy toward developers, we can stabilize a tax structure which is clearly an unworkable instrument of another day.

ON SCHOOL LUNCH

Editor of The Graphic:
We of the School Lunch Program for Working Mothers of Newton Committee would like to thank all those people who have communicated with us concerning our presentation to the School Committee.

Having realized that the elementary school schedule is a very poor one, these people have offered us their assistance. Among them are: Working mothers; mothers who must work, but cannot because of the school hours; and mothers who are working evenings and weekends and have little time to spend with their families. Mothers included in the last category cannot provide their families with a normal and healthy home life.

Parents who desire a five-hour day for their children, because they believe it to be the better program, have also communicated with us.

We do not wish to discuss all the other existing problems caused by the poor school schedule at this time, however, we wish to assure everyone that we will bring them to the attention of the School Committee. Dr. Brown and the Committee have assured us of a meeting in January.

We will do everything within our power to institute a five-day lunch program for working mothers. We will not relent until it is accomplished.

We wish to thank again all those people who have offered us their assistance. We will be very happy to hear from anyone else who wishes to communicate with us.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The person who says "oh, my aching back" and means it is probably suffering from disc degeneration.

Dr. James M. Morris, assistant professor of orthopaedic surgery at the University of California Medical Center, said changes in the disc "due to degeneration begin at about 20 years of age and increase progressively throughout life."

THE FAMILY—1967

Christmas Satellite

One of the first satellites was launched by divine edict, to guide the Wise Men from the East to Jerusalem, to pay homage to the newborn Jesus.

Much has been learned about the celestial galaxies since that time, and men of science continue to challenge their mysteries.

Complicated measuring instruments have reached the moon and are sending back research data, paving the way for future space observation and travel.

Over these nineteen-hundred odd years, the oft-told story of the journey of Mary and Joseph to Bethlehem and their later flight into Egypt epitomizes the philosophy of the family — the cornerstone of civilization.

Man, while attempting to unlock the mysteries of outer space, should take time out to pause and recall that it was the birth of a Savior in a stable at Bethlehem that helped to make this all possible.

Today's wise men who challenge the universe by orbiting new and bigger vehicles into space should also fall in behind the original three Wise Men guided by the first satellite, to pay homage to the Christ concept and the design of brotherly love. Love of one's fellow-man begins with the family.

Political Highlights

that does not mean we will not be expecting you to produce. So let's get down to business.

Governor John A. Volpe would like the Republican Presidential nomination for delivery next summer. And if you are already out of Presidential nominations, the least you could do would be to get him the Vice Presidential nomination. At least that's better than no nomination at all.

One of our TV stations had a kind of poll the other day. They asked their listeners whether they thought Mr. Volpe would make a good Vice President, and the listeners said "No" by a 2-1 margin.

Don't be misled by that, Santa. Imagine anyone not being a good Vice President! Half the people who voted "No" were Democrats who don't want Volpe on the Republican ticket. The others were Republicans who will settle for nothing less than the Presidency itself. We hope this straightens you out in case any information drifts up your way.

For Senator Edward M. Kennedy please bring a large quantity of peace and harmony for the Democratic party in Massachusetts. Ted himself has endeavored to provide it without much success so now we're turning to you.

Probably the most difficult request you will get is that Boston Mayor-elect Kevin H. White, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and Kenneth O'Donnell all want the Democratic nomination for Governor, delivery date 1970. You have plenty of time to figure that out.

Over on the other side of the political fence Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and Lieutenant Governor Francis W. Sargent are hoping for the Republican nomination for Governor, same time. Richardson and Sargent are distant cousins. If you can't choose between them, State Administration Commissioner Anthony DeFalco might be in the market for it by 1970.

Please bring retiring Boston Mayor John F. Collins plenty of M.I.T. students who are eager to learn about urban affairs.

Democratic State Committee Chairman Lester S. Hyman would like a smooth Democratic Presidential Primary in April in which everybody would vote for President Johnson whether his name is on the ballot or not. This is a tough one, Mr. S. Claus, and you had better get cracking on it right after Christmas.

Boston Mayor-elect Kevin White wants a painless tax which everyone would be glad to pay so he could cut the Hub's tax rate next year. So would a lot of other Mayors.

Politicians in both parties and people everywhere would like an end to the war in Vietnam. That's the No. 1 request. Please put it at the head of your list.

Hospital Stay Makes Impact Upon Congresswoman Heckler

As happens to many persons, Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler developed a revised set of values and a new perspective on many things as she lay on a hospital cot recovering from the painful injuries she suffered in a near-tragic automobile accident.

Having been a patient herself, she now sees with crystal clearness the urgent need for building new hospitals and for improving facilities in existing hospitals. "It's probably impossible to recognize the full importance of this until you have been a patient yourself and see what is done in the hospitals," she declared.

The pert, peppy Congresswoman is concerned about the need for greater nursing education, and she is disturbed about the need for clearer labelling and closer control of drugs which produce drowsiness.

Drugs which induce drowsiness were administered Mrs. Heckler while she was a hospital patient, and she now wonders about the harm they could cause if taken by persons unaware of their effect who do things it would be dangerous to do while drowsy.

The experience Congresswoman Heckler underwent during and immediately after her accident will affect some of the things she says and does in the national House for a long time to come.

The accident, incidentally, occurred at 11 o'clock in the morning, not far from her home in McLean, Va.

As she was driving alone in her car, it began acting strangely and started to swerve across the yellow line in the highway.

She managed to bring the automobile under control when suddenly it swerved left, went off the road, down an incline and into a wooded area, hitting a rock and a tree.

Mrs. Heckler was in the automobile about 45 minutes before she was discovered. She had been thrown to the right of the car. Her knee and hip were dislocated. She couldn't move. Her injuries were painful.

A lifetime of thoughts ran through her mind in those 45 minutes she waited for someone to discover her plight.

"I was lucky, she now says, meaning that she was lucky to be rescued and to be alive.

While top congressional officials urged Mrs. Heckler to go to Bethesda Naval Hospital, where most Washington VIPs are treated, she went instead to the Arlington (Va.) Community Hospital.

She actually was sent there by her physician, Dr. Fred Gross, who has family ties in Dedham.

She had been in the hospital only a short period of time when a Secret Serviceman appeared at her door with a beautiful bouquet from a Washington celebrity named Lyndon B. Johnson.

Later in her convalescence President Johnson also sent her a book.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon called her on the telephone to express his sympathy, wish her a speedy recovery and ask if there was anything to do.

So did many high Washington officials.

What pleased Mrs. Heckler most, however, was the tremendous number of cards she received from from school children and elderly citizens. They were the ones who deluged her hospital room with get-well wishes.

Mrs. Heckler went back on crutches to Capitol Hill and Congress in order to vote on the Social Security Bill.

She'll be on crutches for some weeks into the 1968 congressional session and she will not be able to come home for Christmas. Instead she'll be obliged to spend the Yuletide in McLean, Va., with her family.

She'll also devote some time to putting her new thoughts and ideas into bills to be submitted to Congress.

Postmaster General Lawrence Johnson's campaign manager F. O'Brien is an able and next year. He talks about the use of bly, he will be President stand-in and substitute candidates for LBJ in the 1968 Presidential Primaries in Massachusetts and other States as if this were routine and customary manner of seeking votes.

O'Brien declares that Senator Edward M. Kennedy should be the man to stand against Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in the Massachusetts Presidential Primary next April.

But he winds up by asserting that he himself may carry the LBJ banner against McCarthy in the Bay State Primary.

In the same statement O'Brien declared that President Johnson will use the Presidential Primaries to warm up for next November's election and that everyone in his administration will go all out to defeat McCarthy.

O'Brien asserted that Mr. Johnson will test his support in five states even though he may not allow his name to appear on the ballot in any state.

How President Johnson can test his popularity in any State without permitting his name to go on the ballot is something this onlooker doesn't quite understand.

If LBJ taps Larry O'Brien to run as a favorite son candidate for President in Massachusetts and other prominent Democratic leaders to conduct similar fights in their states, is that a true test of President Johnson's popularity in those states?

The argument undoubtedly will be advanced that President Johnson would not be warranted under present conditions in taking much time away from his duties in Washington to do any political campaigning.

There is some basis for that claim.

However, there does not seem to be any valid reason why Mr. Johnson's name could not be placed on the ballot and then have the Democratic bigwigs stage all-out drives for him in their home states. That would be a more realistic test of President Johnson's true popularity.

In fact, we don't understand how the President's name can be kept off the ballot in at least one state. Some strange behind-the-scenes maneuvering would be necessary to do so.

If the matter were handled in the manner prescribed by the law, Mr. Johnson would be obliged to state under oath that he will not be a candidate for reelection in order to prevent his name from being printed on the ballot. We doubt that he is prepared to do that.

The idea of using stand-in and substitute candidates is intriguing. But it is something less than satisfying as far as meeting the situation head-on is concerned. tercess is also plentiful and economical.

Although egg prices overall are a bit firmer, all egg sizes are rated good buys, with extra large and medium sizes priced for the biggest savings. At today's meat prices, the Department of Agriculture considers fresh native eggs the very best buy for home-makers concerned about providing a steady flow of excellent protein-balanced meals.

"Cape Cod Scrambled Eggs" is a quick, tasty, rib-sticking supper these cold nights.

Dice 1 frankfurter per person, browning lightly in butter. Beat 2 eggs per person, with a healthy dash of freshly ground pepper and as much tomato juice as if scrambling eggs with milk. Add scramble to diced frankfurters and cook slowly until "just right."

Today's Agri-Fact: Just how efficient and up-to-date our Massachusetts can be seen from a quick comparison with the egg situation, not too many years back, when cold storage eggs had to do for most of us these chill December mornings, and when fresh eggs were often $1.20 a dozen. Today they are less than half this price, thanks to a production system that sees laying hens reach maturity 12 months a year. Formerly they reached maturity in late fall, consequently laid very few eggs in November or December.

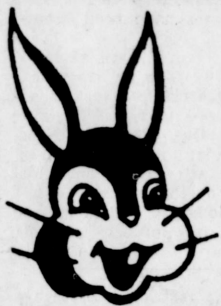

Less Agriculture For Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — Traditionally, Texas A&M University produces Aggies, but these days it is turning out more students from its colleges of engineering and liberal arts.

Of the total enrollment of 12,025 for the fall semester, 3,839 study in the college of engineering, which includes architecture. A total of 3,203 students are liberal arts majors.

The college of agriculture ranks third with 2,215 students, the college of science is fourth with 1,286 and the college of veterinary medicine is fifth with 876.

Seven Injured In Weekend Accidents

Seven persons were injured in a rash of Newton accidents beginning Friday and continuing through Sunday, including one that involved a trailer truck and two other vehicles at Crafts and California sts., in Newtonville Friday evening.

Adrian Colasacco of 253 Cypress st., Newton Centre, driver of one of the cars was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital by police. He was treated for contusions of the head and knee and released.

George Garnham, 21, of 28 Gardmen st., Sharon, driver of the truck escaped injury.

Peter G. Sachs, 28, of 16 Chauncy st., Cambridge, complained of a bump of the head and told police he would see his own doctor.

Early Saturday, Ralph L. Cameron, 29, of 84 Highgate st., Needham, suffered a broken right arm and lacerations of the scalp and nose when his car struck a tree in front of 1515 Centre st., Newton Highlands.

Patrick R. Fawson, Jr., 22, of 20 Petee st., Newton Upper Falls, escaped injury when his car hit a pole at Walnut and Trowbridge sts., Newtonville.

William G. Salem, Jr., 29, of 3 Cedar Ridge dr., Bedford, was treated for a head injury and released from Newton-Wellesley Hospital after his car struck a bridge abutment on Boylston st., at the Parker st., underpass in Newton Centre.

Kathy O'Brien, 15, of 72 Washington st., Natick, suffered a slight eye injury Friday afternoon when a car in which she was riding was involved in a collision with another automobile at Boylston st., and Dudley rd., Newton Centre.

She was riding with Miss Kathryn Morana, 16, of 31 Morningside ave., Natick. Driver of the other car was Robert D. Koch, 22, of 742 State st., Springfield.

The automobile of Richard J. Horowitz, 20, of 380 Waban ave., Waban, was damaged and had to be towed after striking a curbing at Rowe st., and Commonwealth ave., Friday.

Dr. Debra Navisky, 30, of 111 Manet rd., Chestnut Hill, was injured slightly Saturday afternoon when she apparently walked into a moving car while crossing Commonwealth ave., in Newton Centre.

She was released after treatment at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for knee and elbow lacerations.

Two young Needham brothers, Eric, 2, and Andrew Keller, 5, were treated for minor injuries when the car they were riding in was involved in a collision with another automobile at Chestnut st., and Route 9 in Newton Highlands. Their car was operated by Sandra F. Keller of Needham.

The driver of the other car was identified as Kevin Burns of 129 Norwood ave., Newtonville.

DIANE GELFOND

Miss Gelfond, Mr. Stellar Become Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. William Gelfond of Waban announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Diane Jane Gelfond, to Richard Henry Stellar. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stellar of Newton Centre.

The future bride, a graduate of Newton South High School, class of 1964, and LaSalle Junior College, class of 1966, is in her senior year at Lesley College.

Mr. Stellar was graduated from Newton South High School, class of 1963, and Boston University, class of 1967. He is now attending the Boston University Graduate School of Education, where he is majoring in rehabilitation counseling.

A June 23 wedding is planned.

The Oriental Way
NEW YORK (UPI) — Through the ages man has dealt with headache with a variety of techniques.

Consider the Japanese method, as outlined by the Chiropractic Headache Clinic in Maywood, N. J. The Japanese utilized a principle called "negi." This involved the individual sufferer biting on specially grown green onions with the back molars on that side of the mouth where the headache occurred. The bite was to be maintained until the headache went away.

MEET MISS AMERICA—BeBe Shopp, former Miss America, is shown visiting the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company to launch its new Charms of Massachusetts campaign.

Charms Of Massachusetts Available At Newton Bank

International beauty and former Miss America winner BeBe Shopp arrived in Waltham this week to promote the Charms of Massachusetts campaign which the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company is offering to the general public.

The residents of this area can now display their heritage proudly with an unusual piece of fine jewelry, a sterling silver Charm Bracelet with 12 charms representing unique highlights in the State's traditions. Both the bracelet itself and the charms are beautifully detailed in antique finished sterling silver.

Each Charm is available for only $1.50 (tax included) when a customer opens a Savings Account for $10 or more, or adds $10 or more to his present savings account.

With the State outline as the first charm purchase, the customer receives the sterling silver bracelet free, presented in a golden trim lined box lined with rich red velvet.

With each new charm added, the original bracelet grows in value, interest and beauty. Hundreds of the bank's customers have already purchased these stunning charms.

Nathan I. Greene, president of the bank, stated: "Judging from the many comments we have already received, the general public is responding very favorably to the Charm Bracelets."

Kastle Named Raytheon Top Personnel Aide

Raytheon Company has named a Newton man as its manager of personnel services.

Harold D. Kastle of 66 Commonwealth Park West will administer the company's benefits and service programs including group insurance, pensions, workman's compensation, unemployment compensation, food service, employees sales and retiree programs.

Mr. Kastle joined Raytheon in 1958. He has served in industrial relations posts at company facilities in Waltham, North Dighton and Wayland, Mass. For the past year he has been employee benefits manager at Lexington.

Kastle was graduated from the College of the City of New York and received a master's degree in educational psychology in 1950 at Columbia University.

They are being offered at each of our branches through out the Newton, Waltham, and Marlboro areas.

"Those who start collecting the charms will be able to complete their bracelets within the next several months. I cordially invite everyone who has not seen the bracelets as yet to stop in at any of our branch offices where we have them on display. As always, we will consider it a pleasure to welcome them."

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joan Collins has signed a four-picture contract with Paramount where she last co-starred with David Janssen in "Warning Shot."

Youth -

The Akademisches Gymnasium is a church related school where Russ is being challenged to study in German the usual multitude of subjects of European schools.

His AFS home in Austria is with a family of five—the parents, grandmother, sister and brother. The father writes song lyrics and movie scripts.

Russell's fluency in German, a language he first attempted last July has reached the point where he can address several AFS groups.

Because of its importance as a social activity he has been required to attend dancing school to learn the fox trot, tango and waltz, which are the usual dances for youth of the area.

Before the start of the fall term at school Russ entrained to the border and hiked extensively in Southern Germany. He will enjoy skiing in the Austrian Alps this winter.

The Newton High School senior is one of several hundred Americans abroad this year under American Field Service sponsorship. This number will increase to over 50 foreign countries for the summer program.

The Newton AFS chapter, one of the most active in the country, has sent three junior ambassadors abroad this year and is host to two foreign students.

Newton Chorale To Sing At Temple Emanuel Tues.

In celebration of Chanukah for The Golden Age Group, the Newton Chorale, a group of talented performers, will present a musical program next Tuesday (Dec. 26) at Temple Emanuel, Newton.

A wide variety of songs will be offered, a blending of Israeli and Yiddish songs as well as many popular musical comedy tunes.

The Chorale has presented programs for many mens and womens groups around greater Boston and is proud of its frequent repeat performances.

Mrs. Hans Seligman, conductor, is well known in musical circles as a talented pianist and organist along with outstanding musical arrangements added to her credits.

Other members are Mrs. Ralph Dephoure, accompanist; Mrs. Joseph Zalzman, soloist; Mrs. Gertrude Zang Green, dramatist; Mrs. Wm. Green; Mrs. Bernard Tahl; Mrs. Jack Cohen; Mrs. Theodore Nissen; Mrs. Milton Banner; Mrs. Sidney Yoffe; Mrs. Marcus Lotow; Mrs. Myer Gootkin; Mrs. Ben Richmond; Mrs. Leonard Karp; Mrs. Aaron Glovinsky; Mrs. Irving Derdak; Mrs. Beatrice Papert Finn; Mrs. Henry Weisgold and Mrs. Ben Fastoff.

An interesting musical program is planned by Mrs. Seligman for the Tuesday meeting (Dec. 26). Soloists for the afternoon are Mrs. Jack Cohen, Mrs. Joseph Zalzman, Mrs. Gertrude Zang Green and Mrs. Theodore Nissen.

The success of the Chorale is due not only to the hard work and perseverance of its participants but also on the capable leadership, patience and excellent arrangements of Mrs. Seligman.

A musical scholarship given to a child in Israel is the goal of the group. All the funds are turned over for this purpose. Future engagements can be made by contacting Mrs. Hans Seligman, LA 7-8350 or Mrs. Ralph Dephoure 527-5958.

Pocono Trip Followed Cucchi-Prior Wedding

Miss Katherine Marie Prior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Prior of Saxonville, and Robert James Cucchi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cesidio Cucchi of Newton, exchanged vows recently at Saint Theresa's Church in Watertown.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony, which took place at a 10 o'clock nuptial Mass, was the Rev. Robert Brennan. The Sons of Italy Hall in Newton was the scene of the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in an A-line gown bodiced with precious lace to match her coat. A princess crown of rhinestones and pearls held in place her illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids with stephanotis.

Miss Brenda Agnes Prior of Saxonville was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Neva Prior of Saxonville and Mrs. John Boudreau of Waltham. The bride's little sister, Karen Prior of Saxonville, was her flower girl.

The best man was Joseph Cucchi of Waltham. Ushering were Anthony Cucchi of Newton, another brother of the groom, as well as Gerard Antonellis, also of Newton.

After a trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Cucchi are living in Watertown.

The bride was graduated from Watertown High School. Mr. Cucchi is a graduate of Newton High School and Newton Junior College.

Antique Gallery Opens In Newton Centre At Rte 9

Dorothy and Hy Novack announce the opening of Novack Gallery of Antiques, art and jewelry at 424 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, at Route 9.

The art gallery will feature a blend of old and new. Lithographs by Johnny Friedlander, Picasso, Boulanger, Jack Levine, Kaiko Moti will hang side by side with Frank Shapleigh water colors, silhouettes, and early 19th century American paintings.

A prized item is a pair of oil portraits by Captain and Mrs. Jordan of Bath, Maine. Captain Jordan was the commander of the American ship Emma. He was captured by the Confederates during the Civil War.

Included in the antique section are copper and brasses, a pair of ship's lanterns, a Seth Thomas striking ship's clock, early candlesticks, and lighting devices.

The furniture ranges from simple country pieces in old reds and blues to a fine cherry chest.

The china section will contain a sprig tea set, a sprig wash set, a Royal Doulton, French Limoges, Wedgwood, Ironstone and Imari. A separate jewelry room will display antique rings, brooches, watches in a Vermis Martin curio cabinet while a modern case will hold a fine selection of 14 karat gold antique reproductions.

Set Candlelight Service At 1st Baptist Church

A beautiful and inspiring Candlelight Service will be held at 11:15 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Newton.

The service will be composed of seasonal music featuring flute, oboe and organ and a soprano solo by Mrs. Hazel O'Donnell. The choir will sing an anthem and the congregation will join it to sing carols.

Selected Christmas readings will be given by Dr. Edmund H. Linn of Andover Newton Theological School.

The Rev. Harold A. Malmberg, pastor, will read the scripture and a Christmas litany.

Group Art Show For Theological Students Here

Andover-Newton Theological School students have combined their works in a versatile group art show continuing through December at the Newton Free Library at 414 Centre street. Seven artists from the school have contributed to the display. Walt Hathaway, a student, plans to teach after graduation. He is very much interested in arts and how they relate to religion. He has contributed two oils, three tempera, and two experimental wire sculpture pieces. Linda Linn, whose father is a professor of homiletics at the school, is studying at the Boston Museum School. Her five entries include three watercolors, two oils and a sumi.

Doris Anderson, whose husband is the student in their family chose her Poppies, a striking oil. Doris, now a commercial artist, was an art major at college. Julianne Bannan, also an Andover-

Newton wife and a new mother, was a history major at college, and today enjoys experimenting with silk screen and textiles, as she has done with a handsome place mat and some stationery.

Fred Gustafson, whose versatility is shown in his wood carving and his oil painting, was a philosophy major before he entered Andover-Newton. He plans to enter the parish ministry. Stephen Holmes, also an Andover-Newton student, is a self-taught artist and has been experimenting in art for two years. He sold his first painting just as the show opened at the Newton Free Library.

Sharon Chace a former student at Andover-Newton and a student's wife, works at the Newton Boys and Girls Library. Her entry is "Daisies," in acrylic.

Library patrons are invited to vote for their favorite works, in the exhibit, which will remain on view through December in conjunction with a complementary group of books.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By KATE SOLOMON

Most people don't turn into rhinoceroses! Certainly students have not developed this "unconventional" habit. However, the senior class play this year is called, THE RHINOCEROS by Eugene Ionesco. And if anyone knows about the theatre of the absurd...

The senior play will consist of a fifteen member cast. Mrs. Judith Brier, English and Theatre Arts teacher, will be the director of the play. Mrs. Brier is presently looking for a student director and plans to hold tryouts for THE RHINOCEROS the first week in January.

THOUGHTPRINTS

The Newton High literary magazine, THOUGHTPRINTS is anything you want it to be: images, realities, poetry, or love.

"If you are dissatisfied with the magazine, we dare you to try to improve it for the next issue," the editors' preface also said.

This year, the cover of the literary magazine is in color: orange and gold. This year the magazine is, "physically a tremendous improvement over past years," said Warren Feldberg, assistant editor of THOUGHTPRINTS. This year, "the magazine is extremely well-written," he added.

THOUGHTPRINTS came out two weeks ago, December 10. Already, English teachers are asking for more copies to sell to their students, but are answered that there aren't any left. Students also sell the magazine.

The copy for the magazine was not chosen on the basis of theme but on how well an idea was expressed. The entire staff voted on each piece of writing.

The editors of the magazine are: Margie Goldsmith, (editor-in-chief), Warren Feldberg, (assistant editor), John Furbush, and Jeff Crosby, (literary editors), William Tomb, (publication editor), and Lise Rubin (art editor).

The other members of the staff are: Ellen Morrice, Ann Nowak, Debbie Medalia, Janet Medalia, Florence Marcus, Katie Finely, Jo-anne Turner, Dale Partoll, and Paula Rubin.

Mr. George Bower is the adviser of THOUGHTPRINTS, with Mrs. Celia Arovos as the assistant advisor.

Jo-anne Turner wrote the first piece of the magazine, a poem entitled, "The Sun..." Warren Feldberg wrote a poem called "Victory," and Kirk Meyer wrote a poem called "Human Dust."

Charles Raffel wrote a book review on BRAVE NEW WORLD. Ted Gilmore wrote an article entitled "Benisons of American Liberation." Dale Partoll and Warren Feldberg wrote short stories.

The remaining poems were written by Sandy Winslow, Paul Naiman, and Paul Osborne. Those contributing art work to the magazine were: Florence Marcus, Lise Rubin, Marcy Menitove, Janet Medalia, and Phil Goldstein.

THOUGHTPRINTS is a 22-page magazine and costs each student 25 cents. It is not published for any profit; when all the copies are sold the magazine will still be supporting a $5.00 deficit.

Adams House Project

Newton High is no longer a symbol of three separate divisions. The sophomores and seniors of Adams House have recently established an official rapport with each other.

Under the direction of Mr. Norman Gaudet, Adams House Housemaster, a senior leadership project is being initiated.

In this new program, every Adams House senior homeroom will be linked to a sophomore homeroom and all interested students in the respective homerooms will sign up. The volunteering seniors will counsel and talk with the various sophomores.

Cheerleading

On December 1 the semifinals were held. All but eighteen girls were eliminated. On December 8, the finals were held. Ten NHSers became cheerleaders; one alternate was chosen.

For the semi-finals, each girl had to perform two cheers. Evaluations of these performances, along with the student's citizenships and grades were made before the first cut was made.

Mr. Norman Gaudet, Mr. David Hall, NHS history teacher, two Boston University cheerleaders, and Sharen Carey, captain of last year's cheerleading squad and now a freshman at Regis College, were the judges for the finals.

The students were judged for the finals on a one-four basis; from poor to excellent. Appearance, voice, rhythm, ability, and enthusiasm were all taken into account.

Each aspiring student was required to perform two cheers in a group, one cheer by herself, and one cartwheel.

The juniors chosen for the 1968-1969 cheerleading squad are: Lois Aronson, Stephanie Cadiff, Darlene Gratto, Debbie Jefferson, Roberta Ross, and Carol Shapiro. Lois and Stephanie were on the squad last year.

The sophomore cheerleaders are: Patty Dezotell, Marie LeBlanc, and Joan Nasbeth. Sophomore Sue Levy is the alternate.

Language Lab

Over 800 curriculum I students trudge hurriedly over to the second floor of building II twice a week. Over eight hundred students, near masters in either French, Russian, Spanish, or German, sit in Language Lab for twenty minutes at a time, listening to grammar, conversation, or literature tapes.

The purpose of language lab, according to Mrs. Nina Ebb, lab director, is to give the students an opportunity to speak a foreign language for twenty minutes at a time. Seldom during class do the students have this chance to become more proficient in speaking a language.

"The language lab allows them to talk on their own, without the sometimes embarrassment of having their fellow students hear their mistakes," Mrs. Ebb added.

Mrs. Ebb, a native of Czechoslovakia speaks fluent French, Russian, Spanish, and German. It is here job to tune in on the students to keep them alert and to make sure they are participating.

Mike Fruitman, Barry Roggoff, and Robert Loizzo help Mrs. Ebb by doing various odd jobs.

The Newton High language lab has been in existence for eight years. The school now has a library of 900 tapes, spoken both by NHS teachers and by professional natives.

The tapes are constantly being revised. "We're working on making the tapes more interesting," said Mrs. Ebb. "We want the material to be so exciting that the kids will enjoy it."

There are 56 tape recorders in the language lab. The lab has a capacity for playing 20 different programs every hour. Students on different levels in their language receive different tapes. The language teachers all work together in choosing the topics for each tape.

Giving the students the chance to talk is not the only purpose of the language lab. Tests are periodically given: dictees, listening comprehension.

U.N. Debates

Students from all over Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire were sitting in some Harvard Hall. Notes were passed, not secretly, but via an official messenger. Tape recorders were used for the same purpose as the notes. It was the High School model United Nations.

Newton High senior, Eric Malins won an honorable mention for best delegate at the debate. His reward-winning speech was a plea to let Red China into the United Nations. Eric was chairman of the Chad Delegation.

Newton High was one of the two schools whose delegates came in costume. The French delegation, made up of Herbert Levine, Winkie Bliss, and Jack Paley, the chairman, wore medals and berets. The Saudi Arabia delegation, represented by Marvin Olasky (chairman), Harvey Baker, Tom Mansfield, and Jeff Crosby, wore Arab headresses and bedouin daggers.

Basketball and Gymnastics — Who says girls are not as athletic as boys? There is a girls basketball team. And there is a girls gymnastic team.

The basketball team was chosen last Thursday, December 4. The team members practice three afternoons a week at Beethoven Elementary School and once a week at Newton High School. The NHS gym is relatively crowded, thus preventing any home games.

Five games have been scheduled with other schools, ranging from January 4 to February 6. "The varsity team is taller than ever before," said Miss Carolyn Lucowitz, head basketball coach and girls physical education teacher. "It looks like we'll have a real good team," she added.

Those varsity team members who were on the team last year are: Tina Davenport, (junior), Lynne Hous-ton (junior), Marsha Howland, (junior), Shirley Mackay, (junior), and Jean Wilkinson (senior).

The members of the junior varsity who were on the team last year are: Sue Campbell, (junior), Chris Edwards, (junior), Wendy Keil, (junior), Pam Leary, (senior).

Newton Church Recent Scene Of Sullivan-Fisher Bridal

St. John the Evangelist Church, Newton, was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Linda Ann Fisher to Robert F. Sullivan.

Following the two o'clock nuptial service, a reception was held at the Stowe Acres Country Club in Stowe.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Fisher of Framingham, formerly of West Newton. Mrs. Margaret S. Sullivan of Roslindale and Hatchville and the late Mr.

B'nai B'rith Chanukah Party

President Joseph J. Goldstein, of Newton, will preside at the annual Chanukah celebration of the Home Furnishings Lodge, B'nai B'rith No. 2367 who will entertain wives and children at their breakfast meeting at 9:30 a.m., Sunday (Dec. 24) at Longwood Towers.

Following the traditional candle lighting ceremony, program chairman Leonard Miller will present a comedy-magic show featuring well-known TV star, Al Libby, and there will be token Chanukah gifts for the children.

Dennis J. Sullivan are the couple's parents.

The bride's organza over taffeta gown, embroidered with motifs of pearls and sequins had a portrait neckline and short sleeves. The smartly styled skirt was enhanced with a cathedral length train.

A petal cap of similar material held in place her elbow length bouffant illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers accented with greens.

Miss Janice A. Fisher was her sister's maid of honor. The other attendants included Mrs. Elizabeth Small, Miss Joanne Budd, Mrs. Janice Phillips and Miss Shirley Mazotas.

The best man was Paul

Miss Harriet Stearns Bride of Robert Lewis Stearns

The marriage of Miss Harriet Taube Stearns to Robert Lewis Stearns took place at a recent four o'clock double ring service at Temple Shalom in West Newton.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rose K. Stearns of Shrewsbury and the late Mr. Joseph J. Stearns. Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Stearns of Newton Centre are the groom's parents.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman officiated at the pretty fall ceremony at which two rings were exchanged.

Given away by her mother, the bride wore a street length dress made of white satin brocade.

Similar material fashioned the pill box cap fastened with her short illusion veil. She carried a single white rose.

Miss Esther Markman of West Hartford, Ct., and Brighton was her cousin's maid of honor. Miss Ellen Stearns of Newton Centre, sister of the groom, was the other attendant.

Serving as best man was Victor Berman of Newton Centre and Joseph Codispoti of Waltham.

After a reception, the couple spent their honeymoon on Cape Cod. They are now living in Waltham.

Living in the Soaring Sixties has become a complex and exciting era. It has brought a great many problems but it has also given us a new world of research and inventions.

Have you met the challenge of living in the sixties? Our fashions in clothes have changed and so have our eating habits. Now the word glamour has become a byword in clothes, food and entertainment.

Do you cook with a flair and imagination or are you still making things in the same hum drum and monotonous way. Watch for some interesting and exciting hints and tips on how to become one of the "in" crowd.

For an interesting and exciting New Year's Eve, I'd like to suggest that you spend part of the evening here at THE HIGHLANDS, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton Four Corners. It's the perfect place to begin your evening, before going partying, or to spend your whole evening. After 8 pm, there'll be dancing, entertainment, noisemakers, party hats and favors — a wonderful evening for everyone. For dinner reservations, early or late, call me, Pierre, at 332-4400.

Cramer Inc. Expands With New Facility

Cramer Electronics, Inc., of Newton, announced the establishment of a fully integrated wire distribution center in a new 10,000 square foot facility near route 128 in Needham recently.

T. X. Cronin, President, explained that the new operation gives room to set up an expanded half million dollar inventory of wire sizes and types in major lines. It will also serve as a model for similar facilities that may be added at other Cramer locations.

According to Cronin, the Center brings together under one roof all wire and related metalware products, with its own shipping and receiving, order processing, and customer service operations. The expansion was dictated by the growing wire needs of customers, he said.

Cramer Electronics is a New England-based distributor of electronic components with twelve branch operations and warehouses located in key cities throughout the United States.

PEACE

Deep in time past, a Gentleness of Spirit came to the earth, leaving it forever changed.

Unclouded by the mists of centuries, its light pierces the gloom which man insists on creating.

We see the Spirit in its symbol, the candle's flame . . . our hearts hearken to its eternal cry.

Then, in that unique and precious moment, we savor our most yearned-for treasure . . . peace of spirit.

Miss Gerson-Mr. Grubstein Wed: Living in New Jersey

Now making their home in River Edge, New Jersey are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grubstein (Linda Joyce Gerson), whose marriage took place recently at Temple Reyim in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gerson of Newton Centre and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grubstein of the Bronx, New York, are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the noon single ring service, which was followed by a reception at the temple. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line skirted gown of silk organza marked with lace appliques. The high yoke bodice had elbow length sleeves, and her train was chapel length.

An organza rose headpiece was fastened with a triple tiered illusion veil. She carried her father's prayer book covered with a cathedral bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert Baden of White Plains, New York, was matron of honor, while Miss Edith Cohen of New York City was honor maid.

Serving as best man for his brother was Jerold Grubstein of New York. Ushering were Captain Perry Roger, USAF, and Captain Chapin Carnes, both of Bedford, Jim Gerson of Newton, brother of the bride, Alan Grubstein and Robert Bornstein, both of New Jersey, as well as Bruce Greenwald, Robbie Moskowitz and Stevie Moskowitz, all of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Grubstein left on a trip to Lake George, New York. (Ross)

Victoria Lieberman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Lieberman of 209 Mount Vernon street, West Newton, and a senior at Vermont College, Montpelier, Vt., participated in the annual joint Norwich University-Vermont College Christmas Concert at Smilie Auditorium on Sunday (Dec. 10).

Susan Lee, V. P. Ludwig Plan to Marry

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Edward U. Lee of West Roxbury makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susan Frances Lee, to Ensign Vernell Patrick Ludwig. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernell F. Ludwig of Algona, Iowa.

A graduate of Ursuline Academy, Miss Lee is a senior at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Mr. Ludwig was graduated from Iowa State College and the Naval Officers Candidate School in Newport, R.I. He is now serving in Vietnam.

A fall wedding is planned.

Hannabeth Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Jackson of Newton Highlands was recently elected vice-president of the freshman class at Scripps College in Claremont, California.

A graduate of the Manter Hall, School, Mr. Sherman is attending the Boston University College of Business Administration. A December 1968 wedding is planned.

ANNE FITZPATRICK

Miss Fitzpatrick, P. D. Lewis Become Engaged

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Marie Fitzpatrick, to Paul David Lewis, son of Mrs. Arthur Joseph Lewis of Jamaica Plain and the late Mr. Lewis, are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth George Fitzpatrick, also of Jamaica Plain.

A graduate of Suffolk University, Miss Fitzpatrick received her master's degree from State College at Boston. She is now teaching in the Boston public schools.

Mr. Lewis, an alumnus of St. Sebastian's Country Day School and the College of the Holy Cross, received his LL.B. degree from Suffolk University Law School.

A spring wedding is planned.

Miss Hunt-Mr. Tabaldi Exchange Marriage Vows

Now making their home in West Newton are Mr. and Mrs. David Joseph Tabaldi (Mary Bernadine Hunt), whose marriage was solemnized recently at Corpus Christi Church in Auburndale.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Hunt of Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tabaldi of Newton are the groom's parents. The Rev. Donald J. Troy officiated at the three o'clock double ring nuptials. A reception followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Watertown.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of pure silk organza. The empire bodice and A-line skirt was misted with motifs of Alencon lace. The removable coat terminated in a chapel length train.

A becoming headpiece was fastened with her bouffant imported silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of carnations with valley lilies.

Miss Joseph Elizabeth Hunt of Auburndale, sister of the bride, was honor maid. Miss Michele Lauree Hunt of Auburndale, another sister of the bride, Miss Paula Madden of Framingham and Miss Maurine Gianni of Brighton were the other attendants.

Robert J. Cavallo of Waltham served as best man. Ushering were Louis Tabaldi of Newton, cousin of the groom, Peter Casale of Newtonville and Robert Mamolla, also of Newtonville.

The couple left on a trip to New York City and Washington, D.C.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and Aquinas Junior College.

Mr. Tabaldi, a graduate of Newton High School and Newton Technical School, attended Newman Preparatory School in Boston.

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Sanderson-Mr. Nagle

At a recent candlelight service at Trinity Church in Newton Centre, Miss Eunice Alden Sanderson became the bride of Robert Ruston Nagle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burt Sanderson of Newton Centre and Mrs. Ramon Nagle of Braintree are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Howard R. Dunbar officiated at the four o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Parish Hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory brocade. The molded bodice had a cowl neckline, long sleeves and a detachable Watteau train.

A beaded crown was fastened with her full length English tulle veil. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John R. Barrow, of Newton, sister of the bride. Mrs. Steven D. Frades and Miss Mary Richard, both of Newton, Mrs. Joseph Andrade of East Hartford, Ct., Miss Myra Rosen of Watertown, cousin of the bride, and Miss Carol Maggi of Norwood were bridesmaids.

Ronald Draper of Braintree served as best man. Byron Sanderson of Newton, brother of the bride, John R. Barrow of Newton, Thomas Kline of Quincy, Richard Gibbs of North Easton, Maris Banga of Northampton and William Hedlund of Amherst were the ushers.

After a honeymoon in New York City, Mr. Nagle and his bride are living in Waltham.

The bride was graduated from the Northeastern University College of Business Administration, class of 1966.

MRS. ROBERT E. NAGLE

Mr. Nagle is a graduate of the Boston University School of Public Communications, class of 1967.

Newton High Basketball Season Opens Tomorrow

Injury-riddled Newton High will rely on a great deal on the fast break and tight defense when the Cats open their Suburban League basketball season tomorrow against Newton South High.

Newton has had five scrimmages to prepare a cohesive unit and has been impressive in its latest showings. What the Tigers lack in size and depth they are trying to overcome with hustle, speed, and man-to-man defense.

Senior guards Sandy Winslow and Paul Lubin have impressed Coach Al Fortune in scrimmages and will be counted on to lead fastbreak. Both are quick and have been doing most of the ball-handling for the Newtonites.

Sophomore Paul Price, 5-8, and junior Tom Chalmers, 5-10, are the backup guards. Price, especially, has been sharp in the scrimmages.

The frontcourt will be manned by Paul Colantonio, a 6-5 senior, and Jack Mavisakalian, a 6-1 senior. Mavisakalian has filled the hole left by injured Mike Gallagher and has shown good hustle and a good shot. Big things are expected of Colantonio this year and the senior has plenty of potential, according to Fortune.

Clark Berry, a versatile 6-2 junior, will be the Newton center. Coming off a leg injury, Berry will fill in at forward if necessary. His substitute is junior Dean Vernon, 6-3, who is still bothered by a back injury.

Newton will play only three games before January which should work to its advantage. Gallagher, Co-captain Phil Nelson and Paul Murphy are all expected to return sometime during that month.

Placed by triple-winner Jim Battista, the Newton High gymnastics team took a giant step toward its third straight Suburban League title last Friday when the Tigers trounced New Bedford High, 92-35 to 65-85, at Newton.

Newton easily outclassed the Whalers, who were rated a threat to the Tigers' gymnastics domination of the league, by winning all six events and sweeping three.

Battista, scoring 6.3 in the vault, was the star.

The second meeting of the club will be on Monday (Dec. 18) at 8 p.m. at the YMCA with Bob Dunn of the Boston Ski Hill as guest speaker. The members of the group will discuss the club charter and begin planning their first ski trip to a local slope following the talk by Mr. Dunn.

The members of the ski club will welcome anyone with an interest in the sport to participate in their meetings for instruction and fun. For further information call Mr. Santy at the Y.

parallel bars, gave the best meet. The junior also won horizontal bar and rings. Co-Captain Ed Hallow triumphed in long horse vaulting and was second to Battista in parallel bars and horizontal bar.

Senior Steve Clancy scored 6.1 to take first in floor exercise, while Mike Boyajian took the side horse laurels.

The track team also won a crucial meet when the relay gave the Tigers a come-from-behind, 45-41 victory over a strong B.C. High squad.

Ned Epstein, Don McMillen, Bill Thurston, and Chris Quinn were the relay victors. Co-Captain Bob Tennant picked up key points in the two-mile run with an upset win over Rich Mahoney. His 10:09.4 was a school record.

Other Newton winners were Epstein (300), Bob Cohen (shot put), and Bob Katsess (dash).

Tri-Captains Newton '68 Football

The results of the elections for the fall sports teams were announced at the annual Newton South sports assembly. The Lion football team has selected tri-captains for their 1968 season. The three juniors elected are QB Tom Rezzuti, Tackle Frank Vespa, and Fullback Dan Mendelson. All three have been two-year starters on the team.

The soccer team has elected co-captains for next season; juniors Paul Taylor and Danny Krasa.

The cross-country team, too, has voted on co-captains for next year; Bruce Kopelman and Fred Kaye.

Methodist Hold Sunday Services

The sermon topic Christmas Sunday in Newton Centre Methodist Church will be "The Eternal Entered History." Rev. Seaton M. Woodley Jr., the pastor, will conduct the worship. Miss Dorothy L. Case is organist and choir director. Miss Theresa Bryant will be the soloist and the Sacred Dance Choir will be directed by Mrs. Seaton M. Woodley Jr. The Christmas music will include organ preludes, "Christmas Choral" and "Pastoral Symphony" by Johann Pachelbel and G. F. Handel. The senior choir will sing the anthem "Ukrainian Bell Carol" and the youth choir will render the anthem "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly." The sacred dance choir will interpret "O Holy Night" and "Lullaby." The congregational hymns are "Joy to the World," "Good Christian Men Rejoice," and "Silent Night." The organ postludes will be "The Shepherds at the Manger" and "Noel Polonais."

On Christmas Eve there will be a family service of "Carols and Candles" at 7:00 p.m. The combined senior, youth, and sacred dance choirs will participate in the service.

South Varsity Drops Hoop Opener To Battling Belmont Team, 72-65

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The Newton South varsity hoopsters were upended by the Belmont High Maroon Marauders, 72-65, before a capacity house of screaming Belmont fans, in their opening game, December 15.

Coach Warren Bechtold had some surprises in his starting line-up as he went with senior Captain Bob Levine, senior Lee Casty, and three juniors, Cliff Greene, Nick Parnell, and Ken Isaac.

The Lions started off slowly, with both their offense and defense sputtering.

Lee Casty was a steady floor general, but when he invariably hit the cutting forward, the shot was missed. In the meantime, Belmont continuously penetrated the South 1-3-1 zone, feeding 6-3 center Jack McSwan for 12 first quarter points. South fell behind, 16-10, but Casty hit Bob Levine underneath with three seconds left to make the score read 16-12 at the buzzer.

The Maroon Marauders began the second quarter with three quick free throws as the Lion fouls began to mount up. With 6:26 remaining in the half the Lions scored their first points of the quarter on a Nick Parnell steal and subsequent lay-up. Belmont found the half court zone press easy to penetrate and South fouled on the lay-ups, handing Belmont three three-point plays in the period. At the half-time intermission the Lions trailed 33-21.

In the third quarter, everything began to jell at once. South came out with a full-count zone press with Cliff Greene and Nick Parnell intercepting passes and converting them into fast-break lay-ups. Cliff Greene popped in three outsiders. Stu Silverman and Kenny Issacs dropped in two lay-ups apiece to bring South within six points. Stu Silverman then stole a pass, and fed off to Bob Levine who popped in a 15 footer. Next time down the floor trailing, 50-47, at the end of the third period of play.

The fourth quarter turned into an all-out wild scrambling affair. After a Belmont basket, on a beautiful defensive maneuver, Lee Casty drew an offensive foul. Casty then received the in-bounds pass from Silverman and shot. He missed and Ken Isaac's rebound attempt was short before Parnell tipped it in to bring the Lions within one point, 52-51, with 6:33 remaining.

With 5:59 on the clock, a Bob Levine jump-shot tied the score at 53-53. Casty then drew another offensive foul followed by a Casty bounce-pass to Cliff Greene for another hoop. Two subsequent Lion fouls were costly, as the free throws put Belmont up 60-55. Casty right back though, putting in two fantastic twisting lay-ups to bring the Lions up to 60-59. Following two Lion turnovers Casty popped in an outside jumper with 1:30 remaining, then fed Issacs underneath to make the score read 66-63 with 49 seconds on the board.

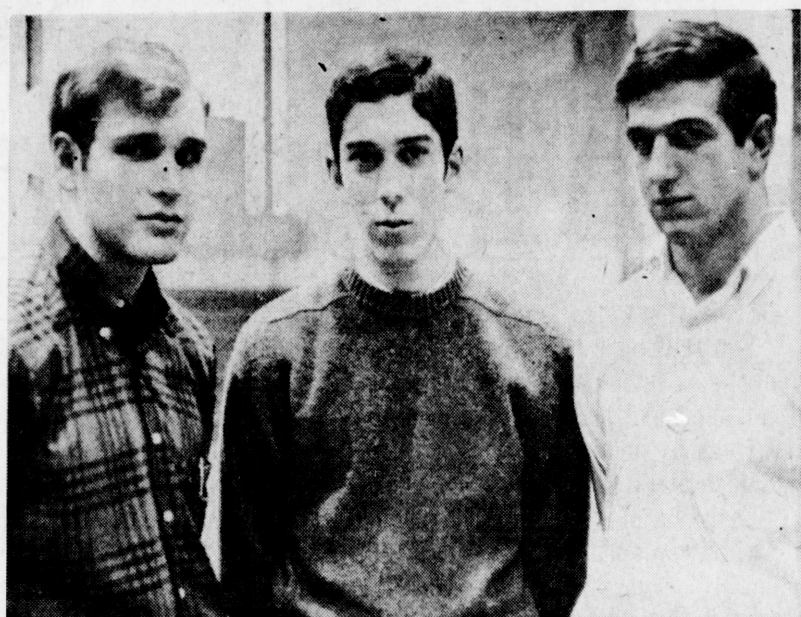

The play that killed the Lion come-back was a rebounding foul called against Nick Parnell, which was an obvious bad call by the referee. Parnell was incensed, mouthed off and was slapped with a technical foul. Jack McSwan iced the game with a foul line jumper with 28 seconds left, for a 68-63 advantage.

Never-say-die Casty flipped in another spinning lay-up, but Belmont scored twice more to end the game at 72-65.

Preceding the varsity game, the JV Lions started off their season with a 51-42 victory over the Belmont JV. The Lions were ahead all the way building up a 27-24 advantage at the half. South never trailed, but wilted slightly in the third quarter allowing Belmont to tie the game at 35, but they put on a strong spurt on four Stan Schwartz free throws and a Bob Bakerman feed to Billy Starr for a lay-up, to go up, 41-35.

Trip To Orient Subject of Talk By Milton Graham

Milton Graham of 487 Ward street, Newton Centre, president of the Cambridge School, Boston, recently reviewed his impressions on a visit to the Orient to approximately 150 faculty members and administration in the Cambridge School's Crystal Ballroom. A dinner preceded the culturally oriented program by Graham, which was concerned mainly with the educational, economic and disciplinary aspects of life in the Orient.

An experienced world traveler, Mr. Graham was accompanied by his wife, Edith, who assisted him with the program by setting up an interesting and informative display of pamphlets, pictures and other materials relating to their trip. Mr. Graham's first stop was Tokyo, followed by visits to Harkone, Kyoto, Miyako, Takamatsu, Hiroshima, Taipei, Bangkok, Hong Kong and also included a two-day stop in Anchorage, Alaska. During the five week observational tour, Graham visited various universities, junior colleges and educators. He noted with amazement that only 15% of the Japanese enter into college education program and that in Hong Kong only one half of one per cent do.

The talk, which included several humorous incidents which occurred during the trip, is one of several planned at Cambridge School.

Cats Claw Rindge Tech In Hockey Opener, 6-0

Newton High completely overwhelmed Rindge Tech in its GBI hockey league opener, 6 to 0, Saturday afternoon at the Boston Arena.

Even the score was not a true reflection of the way in which the game progressed. Newton outshot its Cambridge opponents by a 31-7 margin, forcing Rindge Capt. Jim Duffy to make 21 saves.

In the opening minute of play, the Cats superiority was apparent, as they hit the goal post twice and had numerous opportunities to score. Newton's dominance was so great that Rindge was not even able to get a shot off at goalie Bob Sweeney until more than 10 minutes had passed.

The first line, which was responsible for four goals, opened the scoring at 7:13 as Jack Droz drilled a shot into the right corner of the net. Linemates Donny Gallagher and Bob Cotter assisted. One minute later, Gallagher increased the score to 2-0. The senior captain stole the puck from a Rindge defenseman, skated around him, and let fly into the right corner. Duffy had no chance to stop it.

The lone goal in the second period was also by Gallagher, with assists going to Cotter and Droz. Gallagher received the puck deep in the Rindge end, circled around in front of the net, and backhanded it into the far corner.

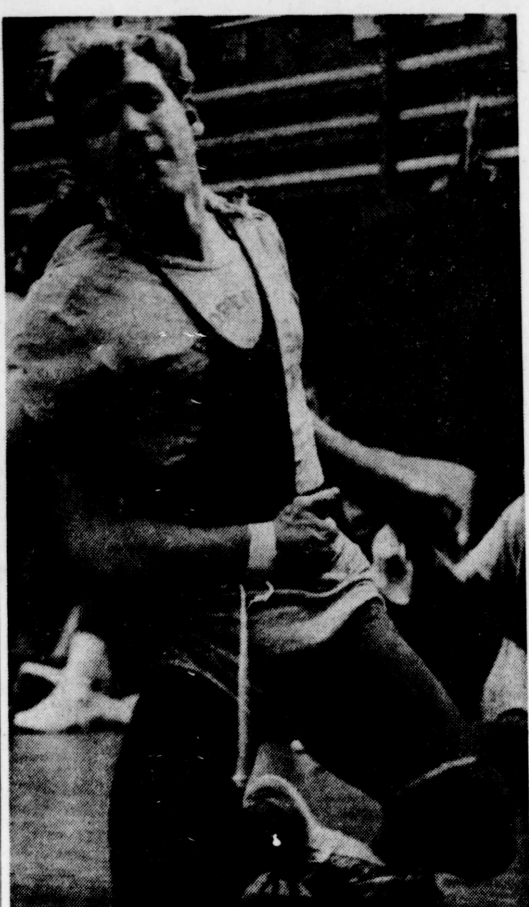

In the first two periods of play, Rindge had kept close by playing good position hockey, even though being unable to clear the puck from its end.

New Spars For Famed Ship PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Time has caught up with two 35-foot wooden spars near the top of the mast of the Battleship Oregon. The City Council has decided to replace the spars at a cost of several thousand dollars because they have rotted beyond repair.

The mast is located in a riverfront park here. The Battleship Oregon gained fame in the Spanish-American war for a dash around Cape Horn.

Tiger Trackmen Topple BCH 45-41 in Opener

A determined effort by Co-captain Bob Tennant and a clutch victory by the relay team were the key factors as the Tigers eeked out a 45-41 victory over a strong Boston College High School squad Saturday, Dec. 16, at the Commonwealth Armory.

The meet was tight the whole way and for the second year in the row the last event, the relay gave the Black and Orange victory over the Eagles.

Lead-off man Ned Epstein opened up a 15-yard lead and the trio of Don McMillan, Chris Quinn, and Bill Thurston that followed held on to win the relay and the meet.

If a turning point in the meet was to be named it would have to be Bob Tennant's 10:09 school 2 mile record win over B. C.'s ace Dick Mahoney. Tennant grimly hunked on to Mahoney until the last turn where Tennant kicked past him to win.

This coupled with Jeff Hyman's and Bill Tomb's 2-3 finish in the mile and Doug Tomb's second and Ken Prince's third in the 1000 definitely was B. C. H.'s downfall as they have swept these events from Newton in the past.

In the 600 Thurston and soph Skip Fawcett finished 2-3 and the 300 turned out to be a romp for Ned Epstein who won handily.

Football Captain Bob Cohen won the shot put and versatile Bill Thurston took third, while Dave Hoover, jumping with a bad leg could manage only third although jumping only one inch below his 5' 9" height in the high jump.

Senior Chris Quinn took second in the hurdles and Don McMillan and Bob Katsess combined to take 1-2 in the 50 making this the Cat's strongest event of the day.

This impressive victory over a strong B. C. squad makes it look like Newton may be ready to climb to the top of the league again after losing to Weymouth last year and subsequently finishing an unfamiliar second.

The Summary

1 mile — Won by John Quirk (BCH); 2, Jeff Hyman (N); 3, Bill Tomb (N).

100 — Won by Tom Minton (BCH); 2, Doug Tomb (N); 3, Ken Prince (N).

600 — Won by Bob Archagetti (BCH); 2, Bill Thurston; 3, Skip Fawcett (N).

300 — Won by Ned Epstein (N); 2, George Cummings (BCH); 3, Kevin Dunn (BCH).

2 mile — Won by Bob Tennant (N); 2, Dick Mahoney (BCH); 3, Gary Lyons (BCH).

Shot — Won by Bob Cohen (N); 2, John Murray (BCH); 3, Bill Thurston (N).

Hurdles — Won by Ed Baszkas (BCH); 2, Chris Quinn (N); 3, Shaughnessy (BCH).

High Jump — Won by Shaughnessy (BCH); 2, Baszkas; 3, Dave Hoover (N).

Dash — Won by Katsess (N); 2, McMillen; 3, Riggs (BCH).

Relay — Won by Newton (Epstein, McMillen, Quinn, Thurston).

Lions Track Tea Loses To Quincy

The Newton South trackmen were bombed in their opening encounter in the 1967-68 MET Track League, 62-24 by Quincy High School. However, there were some bright spots as the Lions captured firsts in the 600 and two-mile behind the running of seniors Stan Dolberg and Jeff Davis.

The Lions also captured seconds in the mile, Mike Donnelly, in the 300, Bruce Kopelman, and the high jump, Peter Bernstein. Third places were earned by Rich Aron in the 1000, Dave Williams in the 600, Stan Dolberg in the shot put, Fred Sayess in the hurdles, and Robin Hirsch in the 50-yard dash. The Lions will meet powerful Brockton who downed Watertown 60-26, in their first meet, this Saturday afternoon.

HIGH SCORERS — In the Newton High School hockey opening win over Rindge Technical at the Boston Arena last Saturday the first line scored four of the six goals. Jack Droz, left, chipped in with one goal while Don Gallagher, center, had a pair and Bob Cotter also scored a goal. The Newton sextet takes on Medford at the Arena this Saturday with faceoff set for 12:30 — Chaluse Photo

Open House For Girls Who Seek Nursing Career

Students at Newton High School who are interested in careers in nursing have been invited to an open house at The Cooley Dickinson Hospital School of Nursing on Wednesday, Dec. 27, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Invitations have been extended to guidance counselors, parents and friends as well as prospective nursing students at 82 secondary schools through Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont and New Hampshire.

Carols -

the music Christmas has inspired for almost 2000 years lift human hearts.

It's a day which transcends man's inhumanity to man. It's a day when man finds himself turning to his Maker and the Child born in an obscure village in a tiny ramshackle structure built only to provide shelter for the beasts of the field.

There will be churches filled to overflowing from midnight through the entire morning. Deep-throated organs will hail the Day when He was born—and great bells in the spires will ring out the glad message.

There will be prayers to Him for those boys in Vietnam. There will be prayers to Him to return true peace to a world bereft of the understanding He sought to bring.

In many homes there'll be an empty chair at the heavily-laden table, and loved ones knowing the blessings of the day will seek to share, with him who is absent, the inner joy which comes at Christmas-tide.

And across the world—in a country whose name few people knew 16 years ago—young Americans will mentally and spiritually place themselves in that empty chair.

The long grim shadow cast by that war in Vietnam, the deep, aching pang of loneliness for a son, a husband, a brother who must spend this Yuletide in that strange, far-away land will, in truth, mar this Christmas in many homes.

Mothers and wives in such homes will strive to make the holiday of holidays a festive one for the rest of the family, but there will be times when their thoughts are far away and when they quietly wipe away a tear.

This community has taken on a festive Yuletide dress as the Birthday of the Christ Child draws near.

Electric candles glowing from windows have turned whole streets into scenes of beauty and brilliance. In many homes green trees already glisten under their glittering garb of bulbs and tinsel.

Inside the dwellings, where the window lights beam their message of cheer, to passersby, preparations are underway for the great celebration of Christmas.

Small children excitedly search for the largest stocking available that they can hang by the fireplace, voicing unbounded confidence that Santa will come prepared to fill it with good things, whatever its size may be.

Pleasant tasks are being performed, and on Christmas Eve, after the youngsters have been herded off protestingly to bed, bundles will be brought out from hiding places to be deposited carefully under the tree. The turkey holds a place of very special honor in the refrigerator.

Goodwill among men, generated yearly by the approach of Christmas, is evident everywhere as the glad some Yuletide spirit mounts toward the "Holy Night."

Meanwhile, the 11th hour shopping rush is underway, especially by the men folk who each year voice the observation that they had no realization Christmas was closing in on them so swiftly.

Proprietors of stores and shops report that they are prepared to handle last-minute shoppers and that they have a wide variety of possible gifts from which selections may be made.

The influx of college students coming home for the holidays is reaching its height. Reunions are being held all over town as freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors become re-acquainted with their friends of high school days.

Postal workers are nearing the end of their greatest rush and heaviest work load in history. On Christmas Eve the grey canvas sacks will lie limp and empty as the letter carriers and clerks enjoy a hard-earned rest.

Transportation has changed since Clement G. Moore in 1823 named the sure-footed Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder and Blitzen as the team which carried Santa Claus around the world.

Huge aircraft today can travel faster than those little reindeer. Everything has changed from the wax candle with its naked flame to the electronic gifts which now can bring instantaneously the voices of men singing Adeste Fideles in rice paddies on the other side of the world.

Everything has changed in 1967—everything but man.

On Christmas Day he still looks to Bethlehem and to a Child wrapped in swaddling clothes—for hope, for guidance and for peace.

GOLD KEY AWARD WINNER — Holly Cleaners was presented with a Gold Key Award by the G. W. Robinson Co., Inc., recently in recognition of their leadership in the Dry Cleaning industry. Pollution, Cigarettes To Be Fought As Health Foes

More than 100 volunteers, doctors and Tuberculosis and Health Association personnel attended a special Christmas Seal luncheon last week to launch this year's fund-raising drive to support programs designed to fight tuberculosis, emphysema, and bronchitis and to wage a war against the dangers of air pollution and cigarette smoking.

Attending from the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association were: Dr. Marjorie Ellicott, Mr. Jeff Stoughton and Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director.

Dr. Eric J. Cassell, associate professor of Community Medicine, Mt. Sinai School of Medicine, New York City, speaking to the group at the luncheon, said: "The time has come to think of air pollution as a collective problem rather than to try to find one specific chemical on which to pin the blame for the health hazards of dirty air."

"We know that the cigarette is harmful to our health without knowing which specific gases or tars do the damage. The same is true with air pollution. There is enough evidence to show that air pollution, as a total problem, is harmful to our health. There's no sense in waiting for the proof that specific pollutants do the damage before we are convinced that people can die from the hazards of dirty air."

Former U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall, this year's Massachusetts Honorary Chairman, addressed the group congratulating them on their work in the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Newton Missionaries Forego Christmas At Home For Church

Serving in the Newton area as missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are six women who will forego Christmas with their families this year in the services of their church.

Sister Mary Slater of Worcester, explains that during the holiday season people are especially interested in their message because this is a season when most everyone gives special consideration to the birth and mission of Jesus Christ.

Sister Slater said part of the Latter-day Saint message which creates special interest is the description of the birth, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ contained in the Book of Mormon, which Latter-day Saints accept as scripture along with the Bible.

Other missionaries working in this area are Sister Delsa Brown and Merla Barrett, Newton; Sister Janice Greenburg and Nancy Burton, Wellesley; Sister Ubah Heddleston and Stella Donbavand, Framingham and Sister Slater of Worcester, who supervises missionary activities in this area.

The Book of Mormon is a history of God's dealings with a nation of people who lived here on the Western Continent before Columbus," continued Sister Slater, "it supports the account of the birth and life of Jesus Christ as given in the Bible which, we feel, gives even more meaning to Christmas because it helps to answer those who may not believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."

"Our message is that He lived and was resurrected, and that He lives today," concluded Sister Slater.

Young men and women of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints voluntarily accept calls to serve as missionaries for periods of 18 months to two and one-half years. There is no professional clergy in the Latter-day Saint Church, therefore missionaries serve at their own expense. Education and training for future occupations is set aside until completion of their mission, which is looked upon by them as a privilege, not an obligation.

The rapid growth of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has been accredited to the vast missionary program of the Church, organized throughout the United States and Canada, and most countries of the free world.

Hellenic Women's Club Will Hold Dinner Dance Saturday

The Hellenic Women's Club observes its thirtieth anniversary this year with a dinner-dance at the Somerset Hotel. For over a quarter of a century, this organization has been an outstanding contributor to both its own community and to children orphaned and in need in Greece.

The Thirtieth Anniversary Ball on Saturday, December 23, will help provide funds for the orphans in Greece. Mrs. John C. Pappas of Milton is chairman of the committee preparing for this Christmas Ball that will take place in the Louis the XIV Ballroom.

Sammy Eisen will provide the music during the cocktail hour and for dancing. This traditional event comes during the holiday season when college students arrive home, and a large number is expected to attend.

The beautiful Louis the XIV Ballroom will be transformed into a Christmas scene with green and gold decorations and a tree resplendent with gifts.

Among those preparing the decorations are Mrs. Angelo Bassett of Waban, Mrs. John Crane, Mrs. Charles Malotis, Mrs. Christopher Sutton, all of Belmont, Mrs. George Speare of Newton, and Mrs. Frank Zervas of Brookline.

Others assisting Mrs. Pappas are Mrs. John Cocoris of Boston, Mrs. Thomas Pappas of Belmont, and Mrs. Peter Taschioglou also of Belmont. Mrs. S. Peter Sarris of Swampscott is the advisor.

The Hellenic Women's Club was founded in 1937 by Mrs.

Prodromos Pappas, Mrs. John Cocoris, Mrs. George Frangoulis, Mrs. Nicholas Loumos, Mrs. Hercules Peratsakis, Miss Kathleen Sculos, and Mrs. Constantine Voss. It is primarily a social group devoting its efforts to charities.

Through the years, numerous college students have received scholarships, and worthy institutions including hospitals and orphanages here and in Greece have received aid. Mrs. George Samellas of Newton is the president of this organization.

Mrs. John Pappas is in charge of reservations. Also, other members of the Committee are: Mrs. Chris Christou of Belmont, Mrs. John C. Pappas, Jr. of Belmont, and Mrs. John Damascus of Belmont.

TICKET COMMITTEE—for the 18th annual celebrities night which was Sunday (Dec. 10) at the Back Bay theatre are (left to right) Mrs. Max Epstein of Brighton, Mrs. Louis S. Hanflig of Newton, Mrs. Phineas Gordon of Brookline and Mrs. Irving Kliman of Chestnut Hill. The proceeds of the affair benefitted the Jewish Memorial Hospital.

Full Vacation Schedule Planned For Children

All registrations for the Holiday Trip program by the Newton Community Center must be received before noon this Friday (Dec. 22). This program, to be held during the Christmas vacation period is for children in kindergarten through grade 6. It is designed to provide exciting activities for youngsters during their free time.

The trips are tailored to the age and understanding of the children, and are aimed at satisfying the natural curiosity all children have for the world around them. Full day trips open to all grade levels look into the "World of Science" and the "World of Politics and the Theatre." The former trip will take place on Wed., (Dec. 27) from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will tour the Museum of Science including a Hayden Planetarium show, live animal show and numerous exhibits.

The Science Museum, is a see and touch Museum where children can steer their own ship, hear their own telephone voices, play tic-tac-toe with a computer, listen to a talking transparent woman, etc.

Children will eat lunch at the museum and lunch money is required.

The latter trip will take place on Friday, Dec. 20 from 10:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and will begin with a tour of the State House, including the Hall of Flags, legislative chambers, Governor's Council and Office, etc. Children must bring their own lunch as there are no cafeteria facilities available. (If time permits the youngsters will also have an opportunity to view the store windows (animated) on Washington St.

The second big highlight of this expedition is a 2:30 matinee of the Golden Goose, performed by the children's theatre of Boston. Both trips promise stimulating days for the youngsters.

Half-day trips are divided into specific grade levels: Kindergarten through Grade 3 will enjoy trips under the heading of "Live and Stuffed Animals."

On Tues., Dec. 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. there will be a tour of the animal rescue league including pet placement, stray ward, feeding and exercising area.

On Thursday, Dec. 28, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. there will be a trip to Harvard University's Museum of Comparative Zoology, including a look at the 42 foot fossil "Sea Serpent," dinosaurs, rhinoceros, elephants, kangaroos, deer, whale skeletons, insects, fishes, reptiles, etc.

For children in Grades 3 through 6, half-day trips will feature an Examination Of The Food Industry. On Tuesday, Dec. 26, from 12:45 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. children will tour Hood Milk Co. and will view a slide show of the process of milk from farm to plant, and an inside look at pasteurizers, homogenizers, miles of glass pipes carrying milk, cartoning, bottling and loading milk.

On Thursday, Dec. 28, these same children will look at the largest bakery in the world, The Continental Baking Co. Here children will watch the complete operation of making bread, rolls, muffins, cakes, donuts and other novelties through machines designed for mixing, rising, baking, cooling, slicing, and wrapping all products almost totally automatically. Samples on these trips should add to the kids' fun.

Groups are limited in size and the Center urges all interested parents to register immediately. Registrations will close on Dec. 22.

The Holiday Trip Program is directed and led by Mrs.

Old Christmas Card Display In Library

Robert D. McCarron of Newton, has lent an air of Christmas past with a nostalgic display of old Christmas cards from his collection to the Newton Free Library where they are now on display. Mrs. John Snider and Mrs. Seaton Woodley of the Library staff have also contributed to the holiday motif with an additional display case full of old Christmas cards received by the family of Mrs. Snider and an enchanting selection of elegant holiday wreaths which Mrs. Woodley has made and collected over the past ten years. Angelic faces are everywhere in the group of old-time cards collected over the past 30 years by Mr. McCarron. Typically European Santa, tall and lean and not so jolly, is representative of some of the early, brilliantly colored cards. Other selections on display are three-dimensional cards, calendars, Christmas booklets for friends to exchange, Christmas cards with advertising printed on them, and the conventional Christmas robin, so popular on early cards from England. Elaborately embossed cards, with a variety of fanciful animals and even some handmade cards round out the exhibit, which will remain on view through early January. Library patrons will agree that the cards and Christmas wreaths combine to embellish the old-fashioned decor of the Library.

Nuptial High Mass Unites Miss McLean-Mr. Silva

At a recent nuptial Mass in St. Bernard's Church, Miss Judith A. McLean became the bride of Raymond John Silva.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Silva, all of West Newton, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. George Fraher officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception was held at Piety Corner Gardens in Waltham.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in a full length gown made of Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice had a scalloped neckline and a smartly styled skirt which terminated in a chapel length train.

Miss Carole Anne Cormier of West Newton was the bride's sole attendant.

Robert Ciccone served as best man. Ushering were William McLean of West Newton, brother of the bride and John Silva of West Newton, brother of the groom.

After honeymooning in Washington, D.C., Mr. and Mrs. Silva are now living in West Newton.

Girls Receive Special Care After Accid.

Two 17-year-old Newton girls continued to undergo treatment in the special care unit of Newton - Wellesley Hospital this week recovering slowly from injuries received when they were struck by an auto last Thursday.

Sharon A. Laoughlin, of 151 Pearl st., and Mary Vito of 107 Newtonville ave., were struck by a car on Washington st., West Newton. They were crossing the street near the Telephone Co. building about 7:30 p.m. when they were hit.

Police said that when they arrived at the scene the girls were semi-conscious. They said they had been thrown between 70 and 100 feet by the force of the impact.

The driver of the car was a 17-year-old boy.

Suburban Singers Entertain Blind

The Suburban Singers, a well-known group, entertained at the annual holiday party given by the Boston Aid to the Blind at their headquarters at 295 Huntington avenue this Tuesday (Dec. 19). The group is under the direction of Mrs. Irving Fanger.

Mrs. Jack Adelson introduced the delightful program of songs from America and Europe, which featured Mrs. Martin Gantshar of Needham as soloist. After an intermission for refreshments, they led an enthusiastic community sing for the appreciative guests.

The Suburban Singers give much of their time to perform for shut-ins and handicapped persons. They also perform at various functions, showers, etc., and are now arranging their winter and spring schedule.

Ashland Widow Gets $250 From Newton Police

The widow of an Ashland police officer killed in the line of duty last summer was presented $250 last week donated by Newton police officers.

Mrs. Charles Cadorette was given the money by Newton officers John Zilinski, Raymond Thibault and James McCarthy.

Capt. William F. Quinn said the money was collected from the officers on the Newton force. In one instance, Quinn said, a retired officer who heard about the collection, went to headquarters to donate.

Police officer Charles Cadorette was killed in Ashland in the line of duty this past summer.

Don't Let Your Guard Down When Decorations Go Up

Six holiday suggestions to insure safety in your homes were offered residents of Newton today by national safety officials.

"Thinking electrical safety could be your brightest idea in keeping your home aglow with Christmas lighting this holiday season," it was pointed out.

In a Christmas safety advisory, Newton homeowners are reminded that the special home electrical demands of the season require special caution.

Newtonites should be alert to electrical fire dangers not only of Christmas lighting, but of your home's entire electrical system. It bears an extra burden in December.

To help keep your home free of a holiday holocaust, these suggestions were offered to the people of Newton:

1. Check lighting sets before using, examining for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets.
2. Residents of Newton who decorate with lights outside should use specially reinforced rubber wiring and rubber gaskets that give bulbs a waterproof fit.
3. Follow manufacturer's instructions in lighting an artificial tree. Most will warn against stringing it with lights. Synthetic needles can be melted even by the heat of a three-watt bulb. Worse yet, a frayed wire can turn an aluminum tree into a spark-spitting horror.
4. Use only fixtures bearing the familiar UL seal of Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. It's an important guarantee that wiring and bulbs meet safety standards.
5. Turn off all holiday lighting before retiring or leaving the house.
6. If a fuse blows, quickly determine the cause. A circuit might be overloaded by the extra lights and a redistributed lighting arrangement could correct the problem. If not, call an electrician; the situation could be more serious. Have extra fuses on hand at all times.

When you take Christmas lights down, keep your guard up. Make alertness to electric safety a year 'round habit. You may be "shocked" if you don't.

22 Salary Items Voted By Local School Board

Some 22 salary items in auxiliary school programs were voted by the Newton School Committee last Monday night at a special meeting.

The programs are not covered in regular salary policy decisions. A vote was delayed on two other items pending further study.

The assistant superintendent for personnel in the schools, Dr. James Laurits, requested special guidance from the School Committee on the matter of sabbatical leaves.

He said requests this year greatly exceed those of last year. Leaves are granted to those seeking further education, often in pursuit of doctoral degrees.

Dr. Laurits pointed out that the budget for 1968 is already committed to $58,000 to pay for sabbaticals already approved.

Under present policy, a teacher who has been in the system for seven years may take a full year off at half-pay if his request is approved, or he may have a half year at full pay.

Francis P. Frazier said he thought the time had come, in view of increased salaries to school personnel, to take a closer look at sabbaticals at full salary for half a year.

"This is just another illustration that we have some very important policy matters and they are presented to us with a deadline," he declared, "This is something we ought to stop and consider slowly."

Edwin Hawkridge noted that regular negotiations with teachers were not completed, so that the public could know what has been done in that area.

Manuel Beckwith spoke of making dramatic changes this year in other areas and suggested this might be where the belt could be tightened.

Mr. Frazier moved that sabbatical leaves for next year be at a level no greater than the previous year; that is, the same number of people.

The motion was carried, with Mr. Hawkridge and Mr. Beckwith dissenting because they would prefer to see a dollar-and-cents amount specified.

Amounts voted with less debate were as follows:

Individualized instruction for the emotionally and physically handicapped, and the perceptually handicapped, $100,000, an increase of $50,000 over 1967.

Mr. Laurits said there is a case load of 120 pupils at any given time who must receive a minimum of four hours of tutoring, that there is a law which will provide some reimbursement.

Individualized instruction for the visually handicapped, at an hourly rate for 1,000 hours, five children, $5,000, an increase of $600 over 1967.

Saturday program of physical education for the mentally retarded, $2,080, a new expenditure.

Work-study programs, such as business education, child care, and electro-mechanical (presently supported by a technical vocational grant, the

Norman Barres To Board Of Flame of Hope, Inc.

Named to the Board of Advisors of the new Flame of Hope, Inc., a non-profit organization to assist the mentally retarded, is Norman O. Barres of Newton Corner. Barres is Director of Operations for Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries.

Newly organized, Flame of Hope is dedicated to the distribution of candles and products made by mentally retarded and handicapped people.

When the Board gathers for its first meeting, its membership will represent a cross-section of American business leadership in production, marketing and design.

Flame of Hope has been supported in part by grants from the Joseph P. Kennedy J. Foundation.

Barres has had a great deal to do with production of the Flame of Hope Memorial Candles now being produced at Goodwill Industries in three colors, red, green and yellow, by mentally retarded youth.

The Morgan Memorial Workshop, one of the first of twelve established in the nation, was dedicated by Mrs. Edward Kennedy on March 8, 1966. Previously the 20-inch taper with a star-shaped base and known as the Kennedy Memorial candles, were made only in white.

The Goodwill workshop at Morgan has a 1967 quota of 9000 pairs of candles. Eight youths are employed in producing the candles. The proceeds from the sale of candles are used to pay the wages of retarded people working in the Canale workshop. The entire project is aimed to bring to the attention of the public the needs and abilities of the mentally retarded, Barres said.

A former long-time resident of Watertown, Barres was inculcated early in life with concern for handicapped persons because his father, John P. Barres has been associated with Morgan Memorial for more than forty years.

Barres, at the age of 37, is probably the youngest of Goodwill Industries leaders in 135 autonomous units throughout the United States, and more than twenty additional ones in foreign lands.

He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Boston University, and another degree from the Boston University School of Public Relations. He is also a graduate of the Goodwill Industries of America training program.

Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries is the largest voluntary non-profit and non-sectarian agency in New England serving the handicapped and needy. The Goodwill Industries plan of self-help for handicapped began at Morgan Memorial and has spread world-wide.

Barres served four years in the U.S. Air Force, spending most of his time at Souderton Air Base, Greendale, seventy miles above the Arctic circle.

Christmas is a time when we all tend to forget calorie counts and indulge in favorite sweets of every kind. So as my contribution to any growing waistline try this Danish "Christmas Cake" or Julekage.

It's really a coffee cake and delicious for breakfast or Christmas brunch. Keeps well, too.

Mix 1 cup of white flour with 1/4 cup of sugar and 1/2 teaspoon crushed cardamom. Blend with 1/4 pound of margarine.

Dissolve 2 cakes of yeast in 1 cup of milk. Add one beaten egg. Beat this mixture into the dough with a wooden spoon. Set aside in a cool place for 6 to 8 hours.

Knead well adding a second cup of flour and roll out on a pastry cloth. Spread with 1/4 pound of soft margarine. Sprinkle with 3 ounces of raisins and 3 ounces of finely chopped candied citrus peel.

Fold the dough over three times and roll as puff paste. Put aside to rise in a greased baking dish with detachable bottom until dough is about double in bulk.

Whip one egg slightly and add to 1 tablespoon of melted butter. Pour over the cake. Sprinkle with coarse white sugar and 1 ounce of finely chopped almonds.

Bake in a pre-heated 375-degree oven for one hour.

The recipe, which we pilfered from a cook book Mrs. Dale Stafford, 410 West South, Greenville, Michigan, brought home from a trip to Copenhagen, will serve 10 to 12 people.

Like all good pastries, this takes time and skill in handling the dough. But, you'll agree it's well worth while when the final product reaches your table.

Waban Episcopal Holiday Services

A festival service of lessons and carols was held at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban last Sunday (Dec. 17) with the traditional Christmas carols and also delightful but little-known carols from the 12th to the 16th centuries. Special instrumental accompaniment by the Renaissance Trio of Boston, playing the recorder, lute, krumphorn, cornet and viola da gamba added greatly to the program.

On Christmas Eve, 24 December, there will be a special Midnight Service beginning at 11 p.m., with a festival service of Holy Communion. On this occasion the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Susan Shao, will sing modern compositions by Reger, Sowerby and Persichetti.

On Christmas morning, 25 December, at 10:30 a.m. there will be a simple family celebration of Holy Communion.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Frank DeVol will compose the original score for the new George Peppard-Mary Tyler Moore film, "What's So Bad About Feeling Good?"

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE
Pursuant to and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Eva Berzeller of Newton, Middlesex County, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to said mortgagee, dated and recorded May 25, 1966 and recorded with the Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 11122 page 29, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of collecting same, will be sold by public auction on Wednesday, January 30, 1968, at one o'clock A.M. on January 10, 1968, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage and being situated in said Newton, to-wit:—

"A certain parcel of land with the structures thereon situated in that part of Newton, Middlesex County, said Commonwealth, called Waban, and being now known as and numbered 63 Moffat Road, and being shown as Lot A on plan entitled: "Plan of Land in Waban belonging to Edward W. Jones and Frederick Webster, Trustees", dated February 1, 1927, recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds at the end of Book 5075, and being bounded and described as follows: SOUTHERLY by Moffat Road by two lines measuring forty-five and 51/100 (35.51) feet, and thirty-two and 24/100 (32.24) feet, respectively; EASTERLY by Lot B as shown on said plan, one hundred and thirty 90/100 (130.90) feet, more or less; NORTHERLY by land now or late of Conley, one hundred and seventy and 85/100 (170.85) feet. Containing 7,806 square feet, more or less according to said plan.

Said premises are conveyed subject to and with the benefit of easements of record insofar as the same are in favor of said premises. Being the same premises conveyed to me by deed of Walter E. Simpson et ux to be recorded herewith.

Including as part of the realty all heating apparatus, plumbing, ranges, mantels, gas and oil burners used for heating purposes, electric stoves, electric and gas refrigerators, and other fixtures of whatever kind and nature at present contained in or hereafter placed on said premises standing on said premises prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage in so far as the same are in favor of said premises, the parties be made a part of the realty.

Said property will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and to all other municipal liens, if any there are, which take precedence over said mortgage.

One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars in cash will be required to be paid at the time and place of sale, balance in thirty days.

For further particulars, apply to Mason M. Taber, Jr., Attorney, 50 Congress Street, Boston, Massachusetts, or to the undersigned.

Recent Deaths

John J. Hughes

A requiem Mass was celebrated in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church in Newton Upper Falls yesterday for John J. Hughes, retired installation superintendent for the MB Foster Co. of Boston, who died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital Brighton, last Saturday after a short illness.

A native of Boston, he lived in Newton for 30 years. Since his retirement about seven years ago, he had been working in a supervisory capacity at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton on electrical installations and maintenance.

He was a member of the Holy Name Society of Mary Immaculate, and Local 103 I.B.E.W.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Sullivan, and three grandchildren of Newton Highlands. Also a brother, Thomas Hughes, of Upland, Calif.

The funeral was from the Joyce and Joyce Funeral Home 1320 Centre st., Newton Centre, followed by the Mass at 9 a.m. Burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Watertown.

Anna V. Burke

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna V. Burke, of 653 Washington st., Newtonville, were held yesterday with a Mass of requiem in Presentation Church, Brighton, at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Burke died Saturday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, at the age of 71.

A native of Boston, she leaves her husband, Dom Burke, a son, Donald F. Burke, of Brighton, and two sisters, Mrs. Catherine G. Sweeney and Miss Eleanor F. Brennan, both of Boston. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Boston.

Ann V. Perkins

A Mass of requiem was celebrated Tuesday in the Church of Our Lady for Mrs. Ann V. Perkins, of 11 Waban st., Newton, who died Saturday in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The funeral was held from the Martin E. Conroy Funeral Home, 439 Washington st., Newton, at 8 a.m. followed by the requiem Mass at 9. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Joseph M. Gilmore

Funeral services were held Monday for Joseph M. Gilmore, 42, formerly of 836 Watertown street, West Newton, who died last Friday following a long illness.

A native of Dorchester, he lived in Newton 28 years before moving to Wollaston where he made his home at 75 The Strand with his wife Dorothy (Shea) Gilmore and their two sons.

During his years in Newton he was active as a baseball player for the semi-professional West Newton Colonials. He attended Our Lady's Grammar school, graduated from Newton Technical School, and was an aviation cadet in the Army. He later graduated from Newton junior college.

He was an insurance underwriter for the Employers Group of Insurance Companies. Before that he worked for the Columbia National Life Ins. Co.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Michael J. and Stephan P., two brothers, Theodore M., of Auburndale, and Henry W., of West Newton, an aunt Mrs. Alice Hurd, and a cousin, Mrs. George O'Neill, both of West Newton.

The funeral was from the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock st., Wollaston, followed by a high mass of requiem at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Mrs. Esther Patterson

Mrs. Esther Howatt (McGown) Patterson, 82, died suddenly in Florida on Monday, December 4.

She was a long-time resident of Waltham, a member of Union Church, and has resided in Port Charlotte, Fla., for the past ten years. She is survived by her husband, James M. Patterson; two daughters, Mrs. Mannie Eller of Sun City, Ariz., and Mrs. William A. Medlicott of Rosemont, Pa., as well as two grandchildren, Susan and William H. Medlicott.

Services were private. Memorial gifts may be made to the United Church of Christ, care of Rev. Horace H. Goodell, 348 N. E. Montrose Ave., Port Charlotte, Fla. 33952.

Dr. David L. Falkoff

Funeral services were held last Friday for Dr. David L. Falkoff, 46, of 387 Wolcott st., Auburndale, a professor of physics at Brandeis University who died Thursday. The services were held at the Bigelow Chapel, Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

Born in Rochester, N.Y., he received his B.A. degree from

The Newton Recreation Department will sponsor an archery instruction school beginning on Thursday evening (Jan. 18) and closing March 28 according to John E. Penney, Commissioner.

Open to Newton School children both boys and girls between the ages of ten through 15, the class will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Thursdays at the Newton Centre Field House, Tyler Terrace, Newton Centre.

Registration will be limited to 24 students. A registration fee of $1.00 will be payable at the time of registration. Forms may be obtained at city hall, recreation department, Rm. 204, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closing date for registration will be Thursday, (Dec. 28).

Competent and well known instructors will be on hand to teach the youngsters the art of the Archery Sport.

Gov. Proclaims Dec. 28 "Aid To Spastics Day"

Gov. John A. Volpe today proclaimed Thursday, December 28, 1967, as "Aid to Spastics" day in Massachusetts in observance of the charity group's annual fund raising campaign.

Sponsored by the Humanitarian Committee, an affiliate of the Knights of Pythias, many of whose members live in Newton, the Aid to Spastics is keying its fund-raising campaign on the opening night performance (Dec. 28) of the spectacular Ice Capades show at Boston Garden.

The proceeds from the opening night show will be donated to the Aid to Spastics Fund which provides wheelchairs, walkers, braces and other therapeutic devices for individuals and for use in hospitals and institutions.

In issuing the proclamation, the Governor said, "The Humanitarian Committee has been very active in Massachusetts, responding time after time to help the many handicapped children in our communities. The Committee's work is an outstanding and worthy service to the Commonwealth and its residents."

Mrs. Kathryn White, wife of Secretary of State and Boston's Mayor - elect Kevin White, is honorary chairman of the fund raising event and will serve as hostess at a pre-show cocktail party and buffet in the Garden Club at Boston Garden.

Jack Kardon, national executive chairman of the Humanitarian Committee, said choice seats are plentiful for the benefit performance of America's top family show and tickets may be purchased at Boston Garden or by writing Aid to Spastic Fund, 389 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

There is no additional charge for the opening night performance. Tickets are priced at $5.00, $4.00, $3.00 and $2.50. Tickets for the show, along with the cocktail party and buffet are $25.00.

A Spastic is a person who has suffered damage to the part of the brain area that controls the muscles. The degree of handicap varies with the individual in the ability to walk, talk, dress or feed themselves.

Lutheran Church Christmas Eve Services at 8 p.m.

Christmas Eve services will be conducted at 8 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons with the Rev. Robert L. Griesse preaching on the theme "The Eternal Gloria."

The choir under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Gemmel will proceed with candles and sing four anthems. Their major presentation will be the "Quemmas Carol."

Choirs will be located in the four corners of the church and the ancient form of carol singing is expected to inspire the worshipping congregation the night of the anniversary on which Christ was born.

Christmas Day will be celebrated with Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m. in a festival service of carols and a sermon theme "The Magic of the Manger."

Earlier this week the children of the church presented a Christmas program on Sunday. The theme was "The Cross in the Christmas Tree."

Last night the church held its last Advent service. Old Testament passages were read referring to the exodus of God's people in the day of the Israel of old. New Testament lessons spoke of the "Coming One" and the nearness of Christmas while the congregation, pilgrims who are wandering in the wilderness, will feast on bread and wine in a preparation service for the feast of Christmas.

Episcopal Youth To Give Pageant

The children of the Episcopal Church in Waban will perform a Pageant on Saturday afternoon (Dec. 23) at 4 p.m. at the Church on 1671 Beacon street, Waban. This year, they will bring to life a medieval French legend of Christmas Eve.

On that holy night, so the story goes, by special permission of the angels, all animals are allowed to speak with one another. And of course what they talk about is the birth of the Christ Child. Gathered around the manger are a lion, a mouse, a donkey, sheep, several oxen, the three camels of the Wise Men, a ram and a dove. In song the animals boast of the different ways they have contributed to making Christmas possible, and in solo and chorus they praise the newborn Babe.

This Christmas Pageant which gaily combines the old and the new has been put in modern words by Manuel Komroff and set to music by Ernst Bacon. Direction is by Susan Shao, organist-choir-master.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By JAMES SHULMAN

Recently, in the news, there have been contrasting opinions about the Vietnam War, such as the burning of draft cards in protest of the War, and pro-Vietnam rallies, which taken place lately.

Realizing this, the Newton South High School Foreign Relations Forum decided to have a "Vietnam Week," in which many phases of the Vietnam War would be discussed by professors and presidential advisors.

In the first of the three meetings during "Vietnam Week," Mr. Milton Sachs, presidential advisor, professor at Brandeis University, and observer of the 1967 Vietnamese elections addressed a lecture hall full of interested students.

Mr. Sachs spoke on "Democracy and the Future of Democracy in Vietnam." He said if there is to be any democracy in Vietnam, the United States commitment there must be upheld.

Mr. Sachs, then gave five reasons for the U.S. commitment, international peace, international liberation, right of self determination, structure and stability, and Communist China.

Under the topic of international peace and security he said, he had to review some of the past history of Vietnam to make his point.

At the Geneva conference in 1954 two major problems were solved. First, was French colonialism, which involved the successors after the French. Secondly, the boundaries between the two Vietnams after the civil war were agreed upon. The dividing line was the seventeenth parallel, with the Vietnam Republic in the south, and the Viet Minh Communists in the north.

The United States did not join in the final declaration between the two Vietnams because it did not want to hurt the agreement by force of arms. It acted as an overseer to the action, and would respond to aggression against either of the Vietnams. The U.S. wanted to act as an advisor to the free elections under the United Nation's auspices.

Secondly, Mr. Sachs spoke about National Liberation. He said that the Viet Cong feel National Liberation is a sufficient cause for fighting the War. But, the United States should discourage this idea.

The right of self determination, Mr. Sachs said was "the right of the majority of the Vietnamese people to have self determination." He said the United States should not force a type of government it would like to see there, but rather let the Vietnamese freely determine their future.

Under the topic of structure and stability he noted that ten of the eleven countries in Southeast Asia regard the U.S. commitment as a necessity. "They feel that the U.S. presence in Vietnam gives them time to develop for the future." The only country that disagrees with this is Cambodia, but, it feels that without the U.S. in Vietnam it could no longer remain free.

China, historically has been an enemy of the Vietnamese. "China wants all of Vietnam to be under its regime," commented Mr. Sachs. The United States is going to stand firm against China in Southeast Asia, "to keep the stability in Vietnam and arrange means for peace, freedom and security."

"Vietnam and International affairs" was discussed by Mr. Ithiel de Sola Pool, at the second of three meetings during "Vietnam Week."

He opened by saying that many people in Southeast

Asia believe in the Domino theory, because they feel if Vietnam falls to the Communists so will the rest of Southeast Asia. The fighting in Vietnam is part of an international movement of Communism, which is expressing naturalism and the desire to become more developed.

Mr. de Sola Pool said Communism succeeds in taking over backward countries by "power of organization."

The South Vietnamese population is mostly dotted across the countryside, with no roads, telephones, doctors, teachers, or organization in the little hamlets. These people are "helplessly isolated things, with no resources."

The Communists and Viet Cong infiltrate from the north and bring "new mechanical inventions", such as radios and telephones, and declarations, which lure the people together hamlet by hamlet until the Communists have complete control.

This progress of the Communists started years ago, and in November of 1964 when Saigon was about to fall, the United States intervened. There were many reasons for the United States intervention and some of these were: issues of Communism, nature of the War, and the Domino theory.

During the two years the U.S. has been fighting in Vietnam its objectives, which have nearly been accomplished, are: to push the Communists out of populated areas, rebuild the South Vietnamese economy, to keep inflation as low as possible, and to reinstitute national and free elections.

Even with these accomplishments Mr. de Sola Pool feels the War is far from over. He thinks the terrorists are too hard to catch and there has to be much more local cooperation from the South Vietnamese.

During the question and answer period following the discussion two interesting points were made. One, was the question of negotiated peace. Mr. de Sola Pool said this was in our interest and we are not out to conquer, but the Viet Cong will not accept defeat.

The other was about the Vietnamese people themselves. One point was brought out that the South Vietnamese are not interested in preserving democracy, but rather the salvation of their own economic life. Mr. de Sola Pool said it is the United States' job to prove to the Vietnamese that what we are fighting for is right.

At the beginning of this school year, the Senior Class committee, assessed all Seniors two dollars to aid the classes faltering treasury. Those who have not paid the assessment were not permitted to attend the Senior Supper and possibly the Senior Prom.

The class treasury, this Fall, was in a disastrous state with only sixteen dollars. The Senior Class Committee, after careful deliberation, voted to assess all Seniors two dollars.

An assembly was held for Seniors in which the Class Committee explained the need for the assessment and, at the end of the explanation, the teachers departed from the auditorium and the students were free to express their feelings about the assessment. The Seniors, realizing that a financially successful class almost assured successful activities, were, with few exceptions overwhelmingly in favor of endorsing this method of acquiring funds.

In an interview with Jerry Levine, President of the Senior Class, he stated that slightly over 90 per cent of all Seniors have paid the two dollar assessment and there is now $900.00 in the Treasury. Those who have not paid the assessment are still able to do so at no financial penalty.

The Senior Class charged only $3.90 a ticket for the Senior Supper which is the lowest admission fee in the past four years. The class plans to break even on the upcoming Senior activities. Therefore, the class will still have $900.00 in the treasury which is a sound, financial state for any class. After a shaky, financial start, the Class of '68 is envisioning a highly successful year.

Aldermen Revise Rules In Long, Long Session

In a marathon session that lasted until 1:30 a.m., the present Newton Board of Aldermen early Tuesday morning wound up its two year term by revising its rules and orders.

The new rules and orders, which will become effective on Dec. 31, can either be approved or rejected by the incoming board which will be inaugurated at ceremonies on New Year's Day.

In effect, the revision voted unanimously are recommendations to the new board and it is expected that they will be adopted since 19 of the present aldermen, will be members of the new board. In addition, the inexperience of entering new members suggests that it is unlikely that they will begin by revising rules and orders.

The revisions made, except for a few changes, were recommended in a report by the Legislation Committee, chaired by retiring Alderman William M. Glovsky, following a two-year study. One of the more important revisions amounts to the "disbanding" of the present Claims and Rules Committee and the creation of a Land Use Committee to deal with zoning and permissive use matters. A suggestion by Alderman Ernest Dietz that the new committee be called Zoning Laws was voted down.

The "claims" business of the Claims and Rules Committee will now go to the Finance Committee, and all ordinance and legislation matters, most of which have generally ended in the Claims and Rules Committee, will be assigned to the Legislation Committee. The City Planning Committee will also be beefed up under the new rules.

The Board of Aldermen rejected the committee's recommendation that a motion to reconsider a matter already voted upon require a three-quarters vote of the board.

The aldermen decided, by a 16-6 vote, to retain the present requirement of a majority vote for a motion to reconsider.

Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell, who favored the three-quarters requirement said that motions to reconsider matters are now mostly used as parliamentary devices to sew up a vote.

Often when a controversial matter is voted by the board, a motion to reconsider is made immediately following the vote. Since such a motion can only be made once, if the board then votes against reconsideration the matter becomes closed.

Those favoring a majority vote for such a motion felt that all necessary debate should be carried on before a matter is voted and that the difficulty of obtaining a three-quarters vote could cause lengthy and unnecessary delays in passage of legislation.

Also revised was the committee structure of the board. Presently there are nine standing committees and two select committees. Under the new rules some committees will be merged.

They will now be formed into six committees, three of which will be standing general committees and three of which will be special committees.

Glovsky pointed out that the new arrangement would better balance committee assignments and workloads.

The new committees will be: Finance; Public Works and Street Traffic; Public Buildings and Franchises and Licenses; Land Use; City Planning; Legislation, Education and Kenrick Fund.

Each member of the board will now serve on one general and one special committee. No member will be on both the Finance and Land Use Committee.

Newton Man Senior VP For John Hancock

Elected Senior Vice President for Policyholders Service Administration at the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company is Jeremiah W. O'Connor of 79 Shorncliffe road, Newton.

O'Connor was named assistant secretary in 1947, having joined the industrial staff of the insurance firm in 1937. He became manager of the industrial department and was elected second vice president in 1952. He was elected vice president for policyholders service administration in 1961.

He and his wife, Majorie have 11 children.

Creche Has Live Sheep In Waban Sq.

Live sheep again graze among life-size figures of the Holy Family and the Three Wise Men, in an outdoor creche on the lawn of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd at Waban Square in Newton.

Christmas carols by day and soft lighting by night add to the atmosphere of reverence and tranquility.

"We reproduce this ancient holy scene," said the Rector, the Rev. William E. Foley, "because it still speaks to our times."

"You will notice," Mr. Foley pointed out, "that not only is one of the Wise Men black, but that three out of the four sheep are black."

"We did this," the Rector continued, "in order to focus attention on the fact that not only is integration our number one problem, but that black and white can live, eat, and worship together harmoniously when black power and white power are united, as in the creche, by Christ power."

"This is the power," the Rev. Mr. Foley concluded, "that God wants born in us this Christmas."

Mann to Study Sewage Problems

Newton Representative Theodore D. Mann has been appointed a member of the Special Joint Legislative Committee established to study the operation of the MDC pumping station and sewage treatment plant at Deer Island. The object of the study is to provide for the cessation of the pumping of raw sewage into Boston Harbor.

The committee of three Senate members and five members of the House of Representatives is expected to make its report by the end of this year.

Rep. Mann is a member of several special committees which have been cited for their findings. He is now serving his second term in the legislature.

Yule Trees Glow For Last Time

The gayly-illuminated Christmas trees and bright "Noel" greeting beam from above the main entrance at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for final season. New wing will replace old main entrance next year.

Young Newton Girl Runner-Up In Art Contest

Victoris G. Sabelli, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Sabelli, 142 Homer st., Newton Centre, was a runner up in the annual Christmas Art Contest sponsored by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Victoria's interpretation of a boy holding a candle was among final selections chosen by a panel of judges from 600 entries submitted by young artists in 36 states, Korea and Germany.

The company conducted the contest for children of employees and agents and relatives of personnel in the company's 500 field offices.

Sabelli is director of training for the John Hancock's group operations department in the company's Boston home office.

Judges were Mrs. Cecil Coggins, art historian associated with Harvard University's Fogg Art Museum; John McLaughlin, curator of education at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, Mass.; and Leo Prince, faculty member at the Museum School of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Avoid Holiday Hazards Warns Fire Chief Perkins

Extending a Holiday Greeting and a Very Merry Christmas to all the citizens of Newton, Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. of the Newton Fire Department, also urges our citizens to caution against potential fire hazards which may rob the season of its joy.

To this end, Chief Perkins suggests a careful reading of the following checklist in order to eliminate any hazards in your home.

Wax candles on trees are highly dangerous. Don't use them on or near any tree.

Check tree lighting sets, electric candles and similar holiday lighting equipment, as well as extension cords, for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets.

Use only lighting equipment carrying the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label. Unlabelled materials, domestic and foreign, seldom meet safety standards. Be sure the fuse on the circuit serving tree and other lighting is not over 15 amperes. Cord sets with a fuse in the plug, bearing a UL label, are available and recommended.

For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by Underwriters' Laboratories.

If an extensive holiday lighting is planned, call on a competent electrician to make sure safety rules and regulations are followed.

Turn off all tree and other indoor holiday lighting before retiring or leaving the house.

Fire Safe Decorations and Wrappings

Use noncombustible decorating materials (metals, glass, asbestos, etc.) where possible. Untreated cotton batting, flock and paper ignite easily and may burn intensely.

If these and other combust-

Fade-Out Due For Lights At Hospital Door

Multicolored lights on Christmas trees and a cherry-bright Yule message gleam down from above the main entrance of Newton-Wellesley Hospital for a final time this Christmas.

Over more than a decade the Christmas tableau has reiterated a feeling of holiday cheer at the 250-bed community teaching hospital.

The seven glowing trees set atop a porte-cochere shine into the dark winter sky toward busy Washington Street (Rte 16) and customarily have caught the eyes of motorists travelling Route 128 and the Massachusetts Turnpike during the Yule season.

Next year the familiar cluster of lighted trees, dominated by a large star and its eternal promise of hope, will be gone from its accustomed place on the wooded knoll where the hospital perches.

Early in 1968 the hospital will break ground for a new wing. Rising in the main parking lot, the new construction will wipe away the present main entrance and the two-story porch that was built in 1928, and from atop which the trees have traditionally glowed.

New hospital addition will provide up to 100 additional beds, it is estimated. It also will provide new quarters for the operating rooms, laboratories of pathology, x-ray, physical therapy and other service departments. It will help solve problems of obsolescence and crowding at the busy hospital.

During the two-year construction hiatus, entrance to the hospital will be gained temporarily from the north side.

Parking lots there, on the side of the hospital nearest the Woodland M.B.T.A. station, will be given over to the use of visitors.

Once the new wing is up and opened in 1970, hospital director William S. Brines promises the trees will be back, glowing above a new front door to an enlarged hospital, and shining out again from a hillside where they are visible for miles.

Art Exhibit Is Now On Display At Burr School

On view currently in the main lobby of the Burr School is an exhibition of paintings, graphics and sculpture by Newton artists. At the opening of the show on Dec. 13, school officials, teacher, Creative Arts Council representatives and Burr School parents enjoyed viewing the exhibit and meeting the artists.

A symposium conducted by Al Hurwitz, Art Supervisor, addressed itself to the possibilities involved in creating, developing and sustaining art interest in children.

The panelists included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Movitz, Mr. Arthur Hoerner, Mrs. Eugene Meyer and Mrs. Arthur Eisenberg. Mr. Hurwitz spoke of the fact the architecture of the school lends itself to such an exhibit and expressed the hope that parents and teachers would lend their support to future projects.

Art and artists have important roles to play in the life of a child in helping to develop value systems and value judgements. Children should be exposed to works of art and those who create them.

The child needs not only to be creative; he needs also the opportunity to see and to react. That this experience should be the function of the school is not fully accepted by educators.

Refreshments were served in an informal setting created in one corner of the auditorium.

Pope Names 2 Local Priests Monsignors

Two Newton priests were named monsignors last week by Pope Paul VI. They were among 12 Archdiocesan clergy, all graduates of St. John's Seminary in Brighton, so elevated.

Promoted to papal chamberlain with the title of very reverend monsignor was Very Rev. James J. Keating, vice-director of St. Sebastian's Country Day School, Newton, for the past year and a member of the school faculty for 26 years.

A South Boston native, Msgr. Keating was at one time chaplain of the Working Boys' Home. He was a curate in St. Anthony's Church in Cohasset in 1941 and was at St. Stephen's Church, Framingham for a year before being assigned to St. Sebastian's as a teacher. At one time he was head of the lower school, and has served as head of the upper school. He now teaches U.S. history.

For 10 years he has directed the choir at Our Lady of the Presentation Church in Brighton, and he is chaplain of the Newton Fire Dept.

The new monsignor is an accomplished organist and pianist as well as a skilful enthusiast and sailor.

The other Newton priest honored by the Pope is Daniel F. Riordan, pastor of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls, who was elevated to the title of the right reverend monsignor, as a domestic prelate.

Msgr. Riordan has been pastor of Mary Immaculate since January 1957.

He was born in Brockton and is an alumnus of Boston College as well as of St. John's Seminary. He was a curate in Our Lady's Church Newton, St. Thomas' in Jamaica Plain, and in 1952 became pastor of St. Elizabeth of Hungary Church in Acton, where he served until he assumed the pastorate of the Upper Falls church.

Monsignor is a title of distinction bestowed on members of the Roman Catholic clergy in the United States for their services to the Church, and they are entitled to wear purple vestments.

Wants Closer Look at New High School by Architect

The Newton Board of Aldermen voted Monday night to recommend to Mayor Monte G. Basbas that the architects designing the new $8 million plus Newton High School take a closer look at existing facilities to determine what should be scrapped and what could remain.

The study will be the second one since initial funds for architectural fees were voted by the board only a few months ago.

At a meeting held last week at the high school a member of the architectural firm of Perry, Dean, Hepburn and Stewart admitted to members of the Public Buildings Committee that the report released two weeks ago recommending demolition of Building 3 was prepared under the pressures of time, Public Buildings Committee Chairman Melvin J. Dangel reported.

The architect said he would have preferred more time so that the entire site plan could have been studied before recommendations were made. The study could be completed in three months, Dangel quoted the architect as saying.

The study, which would be part of the planning in any event, will not hold up construction of the new school, Dangel asserted.

"Since millions of dollars will be spent on the new facility, we should have information on whether we can salvage either Building 2 or 3," Dangel felt. His committee voted 6-1 in favor of recommending that the mayor authorize the new architectural study.

Alderman William M. Glovsky, who made the motion for the original limited study recently conducted, said, "I don't know how many times it is appropriate to reconsider this matter. Every time we question a decision we delay progress."

For detailed information and application forms write to ROTC Scholarship, First U.S. Army: Fort Meade, Md. 20775.

Prompt action will be necessary in order to beat the deadline date.

BANK RESERVES HIKE IN ANTI-INFLATION MOVE
THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD yesterday ordered about 2,000 banks in the nation to keep more of their deposits in reserve in 1968. The move would force the banks to keep about $550 million more on reserve than they have to now. This would take the money of circulation and undoubtedly would cause interest rates to go up.

A spokesman for the Federal Reserve said the board acted to try to check 'inflationary pressures' in the country and bring about a more favorable U. S. balance of international payments.

$330,000 STOLEN FROM ARMORED TRUCK IN OHIO
AT LEAST $330,000 was stolen from a security company's armored truck in a daring afternoon burglary yesterday. Donald Hawkins, police chief of a Youngstown, Ohio, suburb, Boardman Township where the theft occurred, said the loot, all in cash and checks, "could go as high as $350,000."

Hawkins said one man, dressed in a dark uniform, similar to that worn by the guards, got into the truck in front of a department store by using a key and drove it away. The chief said the truck was found abandoned and empty 30 minutes later in Mill Creek Park on Youngstown's southwest side, one and one-half miles from the store.

IKK DENIES SAYING ROMNEY UNFIT TO BE PRESIDENT
FORMER PRESIDENT EISENHOWER said yesterday he could "earnestly support" Michigan Gov. George Romney for President. Eisenhower, in a statement made available in Washington, flatly denied saying that Romney was unfit to be President or might panic in an emergency. The former President indicated that he was issuing the statement because of protests about news broadcasts quoting him as writing off Romney's presidential possibilities. Eisenhower said he had not heard the broadcasts himself.

LBJ GETS TO WORK ON SPENDING BUDGET
PRESIDENT JOHNSON and Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman plowed through farm spending plans yesterday in a drive to get next year's budget in shape. Freeman flew to the LBJ Ranch with Budget Director Charles Schultze to work on the spending budget of the Agriculture Department. Other cabinet officers also were expected to fly to the Texas White House, where Johnson arrived yesterday.

U. S. NOTE TO CAMBODIA ASKS 'INFORMAL TALKS'
THE UNITED STATES last night disclosed the text of a note to Cambodia proposing an international conference or even "informal talks" on the problem of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries on its territory. U. S. officials said they hoped the problem could be solved by diplomacy rather than a widening of the Vietnam war by authorizing extended military forays into Cambodia.

The release of the note, dispatched Dec. 4 through the Australian embassy, was itself believed intended to emphasize U. S. interest in resolving the problem diplomatically.

STASSEN ENTERS NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY
HAROLD E. STASSEN, "peace" candidate for president, announced yesterday in Concord, N. H., he will enter New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 12. The 60-year-old Stassen, who unsuccessfully sought the Presidency three times, said he will permit New Hampshire Republicans to enter his name on the New Hampshire ballot.

Stassen can expect active opposition from Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

NORTH VIET TROOPS MOVE ON KEY THAILAND TOWN
LAOTIAN ARMY TROOPS regained control of Muong Phulane yesterday from North Vietnamese regulars and braced for an expected Communist counterattack, the Laotian high command reported.

The high command said two battalions (approximately 800 men) of Communists also were advancing toward Thakhek. American officials appeared more concerned about the Communist drive toward Thakhek than the fighting around Muong Phulane.

POPE SEEN SENDING MISSION TO HANOI
POPE PAUL VI, following up his talks with President Johnson, may send a Vatican mission to North Vietnam early next year to explore peace possibilities and to seek humane treatment for U. S. prisoners of war, a Vatican source said. The source said a final decision on such a mission had not yet been made, but that it "appears likely" the Pontiff will send a representative to Hanoi.

Johnson met the Pope last Saturday during a four-hour stop in Rome.

NEWS BLACKOUT PLACED ON NEXT HEART TRANSPLANT
OFFICIALS AT GROOTE Schuur Hospital have imposed a news blackout on Dr. Philip Blaiberg, Cape Town dentist who next month is expected to become the second person to receive a heart transplant. The officials indicated that the information blackout came on the instruction from Dr. Christiaan Barnard, now visiting in New York.

Barnard performed the first heart transplant at the South Africa hospital on Dec. 13 on Louis Washkansky, 55, a Lithuanian-born grocer. Washkansky died 19 days later from pneumonia.

2,000-YEAR WAIT FOR WALL CHANUKAH ENDS
JEWS CELEBRATED the first day of Chanukah at the Walling Wall in Jerusalem yesterday for the first time in nearly 2,000 years. Dr. Zerah Werhaftig, Israel's minister for religious affairs, struck a torch to the menorah surrounded by hundreds of worshippers. A much larger electric candelabra was also turned on at Moore Gate, overlooking the wall compound.

JIM LONBORG KNEE SURGERY PLEASURES DOCTORS
RIGHTHANDER JIM LONBORG underwent a two hour and 10-minute operation yesterday to repair two ligaments torn in a skiing fall. Doctors said he would be ready for Spring training.

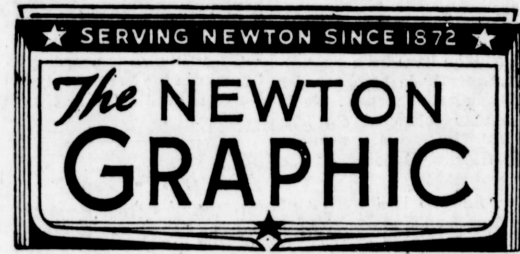

Dr. Thomas Tierney, team physician, and Dr. John McGillicuddy, an orthopedic surgeon, performed the surgery on the Red Sox ace pitcher at Santa Maria Hospital in Cambridge. They said they were "very pleased" with the outcome and that there was no cartilage damage. Lonborg tore the collateral ligament inside his left knee and the cruciate ligament in the front of the knee.

Mayor Asks 3-Month Study of Building 3

According to a request of the Board of Aldermen, Mayor Monte G. Basbas announced last week he will ask the architectural firm of Perry, Dean, Hepburn and Stewart to do a three-month study on Building 3 at Newton high school "if that is what the aldermen want."

He warned, however, that each new delay will be costly to the city and could put off the starting date of September, 1969, for the new high school because of time needed to draw up the plans, and for applications to the School Buildings Assistance Commission and to the Emergency Finance Board.

Basbas said he was unsure what the study would entail.

At the last Aldermanic meeting, members voted to recommend that the

Bloodmobile Draws City Hall Donors

At the Newton City Hall on December 15th, once again there was a good turnout of donors, due in large part to the work of Joseph Greco, president of Local 800.

It was of immeasurable satisfaction to note that Mayor Basbas was one of the donors that day.

Heavy Turnout At Bloodmobile
City Hall Employees participated recently in a massive blood donation session when the Bloodmobile visited City Hall. Shown here waiting to give blood are, standing from left to right: Henry J. Wilson, chairman of the Newton Blood Program; Joseph Greco, president of local number 800; Louis J. Drienzo and Ronald J. Cavallaro. Seated from left to right are: Anthony Demajo, Leo Govoni, J. E. Bonazoli, Robert J. Bryson, Carl H. Malm, Carl W. Quirk, James Duffy, Robert E. Silver, Maurice Holihan, Edgar Krusa, Erskine S. Watts.

Mayor Basbas 2nd Inaugural At Simple New Year's Rites

Mayor Monte G. Basbas will begin his second term as Newton's chief municipal executive when he receives the oath of office from Superior Court Justice David A. Rose at simple ceremonies on

New Year's Day at the Aldermanic Chamber in City Hall.

Five new members of the Board of Aldermen—William H. Wolf, Robert Tenant, David W. Jackson, Sidney T. Small, and Elliot K. Cohen—and two new School Committee members—Richard M. Douglas and Alvin Mandell—will assume their duties at virtually the same time.

Mayor Basbas will administer the oath of office to the 24 Aldermen and the eight School Board members immediately after he is sworn in by Justice Rose.

Indications are that Wendell R. Bauckman will be re-elected president of the Board of Aldermen and that Harold J. Berman will be chosen to serve another term as chairman of the School Committee.

The New Year's Day inaugural program in the Aldermanic Chamber will open with Rev. Daniel Bliss delivering the invocation.

Superior Court Justice Rose then will administer the oath of office to Mayor Basbas, and the Mayor's first official action of his new term will be to swear in the 24 Aldermen and the eight School Committee members.

Rabbi Albert I. Gordon will recite a prayer for Newton municipal officials.

Mayor Basbas then will deliver the inaugural address which will highlight the program. The exercises will end with a closing prayer by the Most Rev. Donald Clifford, Ph.D.

White Wins Tax Bill Gamble, Attains Increased Prestige

Boston Mayor-elect Kevin H. White won the calculated gamble he took when he served notice that he would not resign from his post as Secretary of State unless the Legislature adopted a tax bill which provided the money needed to enable the State to take over city and town welfare costs next July 1.

White would have been in an awkward and difficult position if the Legislature had balked and refused to pass the tax measure, forcing him to hold the position.

Adult Education Lecture At Temple Shalom Jan. 5

The third lecture in an Adult Education Series at Temple Shalom of Newton on the subject, "Israel and The American Jew" will be held Friday evening, January 5, at 8:15 p.m. at the Temple. The speaker will be Manheim S. Shapiro, leading authority on the sociology of Jews.

Mr. Shapiro is an independent consultant on program planning, organization, research and training. He is presently serving as consultant to the National Jewish Welfare Board, the National Council of Jewish Women, the Committee on Leadership Development of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds and to numerous federations, Jewish community centers, synagogues and membership organizations.

Mr. Shapiro has directed studies on the attitudes and activities of Jews in four American cities and in Mexico City. He is a specialist in group and human relations and has served as a consultant to the State Department on human rights programs.

Mr. Shapiro has lectured throughout the country on Jewish identity and contin-ty, on intergroup relations and on community organization before adult education groups, universities, synagogues and churches. He has also appeared frequently on radio and television.

His articles on Jewish affairs, on prejudice and on social change have been published frequently in both popular and scholarly journals. He is a regular columnist for The Jewish Digest and a member of the Editorial Board of The Reconstructionist.

Mr. Shapiro is a Fellow of the American Sociological Association; member of the National Conference of Jewish Communal Service (and former chairman of its Committee on Public Issues); the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials, the Academy of Certified Social Workers (and a charter member of the National Association of Social Workers); the Association of Jewish Community Relations Workers, the National Association of Jewish Center Workers; the National Council on Adult Jewish Education of the American Association for the Jewish Education; the Society for the Scientific Study of Religion; and others.

For seventeen years, Mr. Shapiro was an executive of the American Jewish Committee, serving successively as Community Relations Consultant, Director of Community Program and Field Services, and Director of its Jewish Communal Affairs Department. Prior to this association, Mr. Shapiro was National Director of Program and Publications for the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization.

Mr. Shapiro was educated at Brooklyn College, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, the University of Michigan, the New School for Social Research and the Isaac Elchanan Yeshiva.

All who are interested in a stimulating evening are cordially invited to attend.

Rep. Mann announced, also the appointment of the Annual Awards Committee which cites two local Republicans each year for special recognition at the Dinner.

Members appointed to the committee are: Mrs. Michael G. C. Bucvalas, Eugene M. Hirschberg, Edward C. Uehlein, Mrs. Whelan Vinicombe, and Henry J. Wilson.

The full committee and details of the Lincoln Day Program will be announced early in January, Rep. Mann stated.

nomination forms available now for this annual event. The banquet will wind up a full week to be designated as Jaycee Week by Mayor Basbas later this month.

The purpose of the Distinguished Service Award is to honor young men between the ages of 21 and 35 for outstanding community service; and to call attention to the vital and important role of young men in improving their communities in today's fast changing world.

The awards program will feature as its main speaker Congressman Philip J. Philbin. Mayor Basbas will give the greetings of the City and Judge Julian L. Yesley will present the awards.

Nomination forms are available from the Newton Jaycees, Newton Chamber of Commerce, Newton City Hall, and local banks. Selection of a winner by a panel of judges is based on contribution to community, evidence of personal and business progress, evidence of leadership, and active membership in professional, civic and fraternal organizations.

Nomination forms and tickets are available through Mr. Concannon and all members of the Jaycees. Newton Jaycees, P.O. Box 241, Newton, Mass. 02160.

150 Collegians To Be Guests At Temple Emanuel

150 college youth have been invited to attend as guests the Sabbath Eve Services at Temple Emanuel of Newton this Friday (Dec. 29). A Sabbath dinner, sponsored by the Temple Sisterhood will be served in the Community Hall.

At the Sabbath Eve Service which will follow the dinner, Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi of the Temple, has announced that the subject to be discussed by four young people will be: "Revolution on the College Campus?" Participants in this symposium are: Marjorie Barkin, Smith College; Jeffrey G. Bergart, Brown University; Daniel S. Matloff, Yale University; Robert Steinberg, University of Michigan. In addition, Dr. Maurice Zigmund, Hillel Director of Harvard-Radcliffe, with over thirty years' experience in working with young people, will respond to these talks.

Cantor Gabriel Hochberg and the Temple Emanuel Choir, under the direction of Louis Siagel, with Arthur J. Fultz at the organ, will participate in the Service. Rabbi Gordon will conduct the Service.

of the Newton Republican City Committee, the Newton Women's Republican Club and the Newton Young Republicans.

The event, first started in 1960 and continued without interruption since then, is now ranked among the major political events of the area.

At one time or another, all present Republican constitutional officers of Massachusetts have addressed the dinner. Upwards of six hundred turn out at the event.

Advance planning for the Dinner has been done by a Committee headed by Donald P. Quinn assisted by Mrs. David S. Bard, Co-Chairman; David J. Connor, Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, Norman Buchbinder, Ticket Chairman; William Dockser, Treasurer, Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr. and Mrs. Whelan Vinicombe, Vice-Presidents.

Rep. Mann announced, also the appointment of the Annual Awards Committee which cites two local Republicans each year for special recognition at the Dinner.

Members appointed to the committee are: Mrs. Michael G. C. Bucvalas, Eugene M. Hirschberg, Edward C. Uehlein, Mrs. Whelan Vinicombe, and Henry J. Wilson.

The full committee and details of the Lincoln Day Program will be announced early in January, Rep. Mann stated.

mayor seek a new study. Alderman George Hicks and William M. Glosky were opposed.

In a brief study about six weeks ago the architects determined that Building 3 is not "viable" either educationally or aesthetically to the new school project.

Public Buildings Committee Chairman Melvin J. Dangel said the architects indicated to his committee that the new three-month study would not hold up progress. With the fate of Building 3 now uncertain, Building 1, the oldest of the three, is the only building which surely will be demolished.

Basbas said that if there is a delay, the city can expect the school to cost quite a bit more than the projected $8 million.

It was pointed out that costs in construction and materials increase each year—in this case an estimated 5 per cent.

Second Semester At Junior College Starts On Jan. 8th

Newton Junior College has announced the second semester of its Adult Education Courses, to begin January 8.

Inaugural -

A reception will be held in the Mayor's office immediately after the inauguration. An inaugural ball will be staged on New Year's Night at Sidney Hill Country Club.

Two of the subjects Mayor Basbas will discuss before his inaugural audience will be youth and taxes.

The Mayor plans to tell his listeners that the increase in the cost of city government is becoming frightening.

Basbas, it is known, will voice his concern about the school budget, especially since he has committed himself to a big capital improvement program, particularly for schools.

He also will point out that it now takes $4,357,000 in new taxable property to produce enough revenue to save $1 on the city's tax rate.

Mayor Basbas will cite these figures as evidence that construction of new tax-yielding property is not the total answer to the city's problem of a climbing tax rate.

The Mayor will propose that a Youth Advisory Board be created to improve communications between the teen-agers of the city and Newton's municipal government.

One representative of each senior and junior high school would be named to the Youth Advisory Board which would meet periodically with the Mayor to discuss such matters as plans for the new Newton High School, the proposed addition to Newton South High School and the Community Centre which did not get far this year.

Basbas believes a Youth Advisory Board could be helpful in working with city officials to prevent vandalism in Newton and to stop the illegal sale and distribution, if any, of drugs in the city.

His goal is to have Newton's teen-age youth realize that this is their city and their community and to involve themselves in it.

He considers that a youth board could be helpful in curbing teen-age crime and especially vandalism and illegal traffic in drugs, if any.

PLEASE HELP ME!

I am a Friendly Four and a half year old boy and I desperately need help with my "patterning". My mother says that if you will come to my house once a week for forty minutes I have an excellent chance of leading a normal life. Anyone can learn to "pattern". It's a simple procedure in which my head, arms and legs are moved in positions like swimming for five minutes at a time, with a half hour rest in between.

Please come to an open meeting on Jan. 4, at 7:30 at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge St., Newton Corner (corner Church and Eldredge, one block from Centre St.). If you can't attend the meeting but would like to pattern, please write or call—

PIERRE OF THE HIGHLANDS

Preserving food at home is a thrifty practice if fresh fruits and vegetables can be purchased inexpensively during their season, or if home-garden surpluses are utilized. Throughout the year well-balanced and interesting menus may be planned with these foods. Among the methods of preservation suitable for home use, canning, preserving with sugar, as in jellies and jams, or freezing are the most common. The method must be inexpensive and not too difficult, and the product must have good flavor, color, texture, and food value. The excellence of preserved foods, as well as their economy, depends on correct preservation and storage.

An interesting menu will be yours this New Year's Eve when you dine at THE HIGHLANDS, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton Four Corners. For an early dinner with partying after or dinner and an entire evening with us, call me, Pierre, now at 332-4400. After 8 p.m. there'll be dancing 'til 1 A.M., entertainment, noisemakers, party hats and favors with your favorite beverages served until 2 A.M. — a wonderful evening for everyone. Staff Co-ordinator Named For Newton Vietnam Group

Robert Macfarlane, ministerial student at Andover-Newton Theological School, has been appointed by the Newton Vietnam Committee as its staff co-ordinator, Prof. Paul Deats, chairman of the group, announced last week.

Mr. Macfarlane described the goals of the Committee as "coordinating the efforts of all the groups in Newton which are concerned with peace in Vietnam. We hope to eliminate duplications and fill gaps in present programs, thereby increasing the impact and scope of the peace movement."

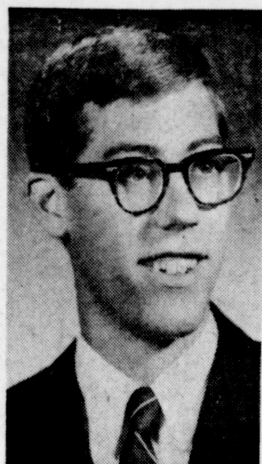

In the first few months a major emphasis of the program will be the development of a Draft Counseling Service. Mr. Macfarlane feels that "as the selective service law becomes more and more complicated, there is an ever increasing need for an unbiased source of draft information. This we hope to provide."

The committee reports that it is especially encouraged by the growing support of many of the teachers and students at Newton High School.

The office of the Newton

Vietnam Committee is now located in the Newtonville Methodist Church at Newtonville Ave. and Walnut St. in Newtonville. Mr. Macfarlane can be reached there weekday afternoons between 2 and 5 p.m. at 969-5667 to make appointments for draft counseling, provide information and literature, and suggest ways in which people who are concerned about peace may become involved.

Coming to Andover-Newton Theological School from Boston University, Mr. Macfarlane has done counselling with young people, and is active in Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam and the na-

That "Pop's" Got To Stop!

The pop of a champagne bottle being opened can be the sound of music — or sorrow.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness Inc. has a timely warning for all readers who plan to welcome in the New Year with a sip or two of the expensive brew.

"Unless you're planning to do your New Year's Eve drinking 'only with thine eyes', watch out for those flying champagne corks," advises the Society.

"Champagne corks," says the Society, "pop with the impact of a mine blast and have been known to cause serious vision impairment when they hit the eyes."

In Great Britain recently nine persons suffered eye injury due to shooting champagne corks. Four of the victims were experienced waiters and waitresses, schooled in the art of opening champagne bottles.

However the Society says "you may have your champagne without tears. Just make a ceremony of opening the bottle of the vintage grape by wrapping it with the correct napkin, pointing it away from the face, and by wearing white gloves and safety goggles. You may wake up on New Year's Day with a big head—but you don't need to add a black eye to remind you of the night before when you 'felt no pain.'"

The Way the Ball Bounces

The expression, "That's the way the ball bounces," is a hoary cliché carrying a doleful connotation. It indicates that someone, some unfortunate someone, zigged when he should have zagged; that a precocious fate dealt unkindly with one who deserved better, that (depending on the measure of the calamity) the roof fell in.

In the case of Leo J. Cusick, less than two months in Boston as the new General Manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, the much-maligned and financially-straitened MBTA, this much is clear:

(A) The ball not only bounced badly but took on a jumping-bean unpredictability and—(B) The ball should not have been placed in play in the first place.

Consider what has happened. Mr. Cusick was with us about 15 days when he proposed and lent full support to a 10-20 cent fare increase on all surface lines.

Only last week the $35 million federal cushion for the South Shore extension was ordered held in abeyance pending clarification of the system-proposed $6 million purchase of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co.

Let us examine both items: The proposed fare increase, and the $35 million grant as it relates to the MBTA's acquisition of the Eastmass carrier — and let us also examine Cusick's role in each development because, he sits cheek-to-jowl with each.

We must accept Cusick's contention that the suggested surface fare hike (a 100 percent boost) is justified, that it is needed and that it will produce many millions of dollars in additional revenue. However, and this is a big however, one does not arrive on a property, quickly digest a plethora of contingencies surrounding a major fare increase on a big-city rapid transit system and call immediately for an increase and public support of same.

Rather, he turns loose small teams of experts who study the matter in depth and in due course report their findings back to the General Manager. The General Manager weighs these reports in balance with his personal knowledge of the situation and then, as is the situation in Boston, brings his recommendations to the Board of Directors.

It is distressing to consider that perhaps there was not enough time to accomplish this kind of all-enveloping study in this important matter. It is doubly distressing to consider that perhaps this entire matter had long been studied and re-studied; that a decision at high levels had been reached and on Mr. Cusick's bright-and-shining arrival he was told curly:

"Here's the ball, now run with it."
The fare increase has been rejected. Cusick hardly scamped free of the end-zone and in the skirmish his new uniform was muddled. One can only feel sorry for him.

Someone else, perhaps those who originally devised the increase, might more appropriately have done the running.

Did anyone consider that the Legislature was not delighted with the MBTA; that an enormous new and nagging deficit for the system had been announced earlier and that Gen. Mgr. Rush B. Lincoln Jr., had left the MBTA somewhat less than happy?

Concerning the $35 million South Shore extension and agreement to purchase the physical assets of the Eastmass:

True, announcement of the purchase plans were disclosed prior to Cusick's arrival on the scene. True, it could very well be a great and good decision — this determination to acquire the carrier. Now, the MBTA's extension to the South Shore is its first-priority move beyond the original 14 cities and towns. Further, the federal monies involved must pass hands if the extension is to be built in the immediate future, as planned.

One of the contingencies on which this transfer of cash rides is the clearance of all matters involving the Authority, the Eastmass and the latter's personnel. This is a crucial prerequisite.

These matters, weighty with transportation significance, apparently were not nailed down. Otherwise, a number of important communities would not have raised frustrating, delaying inquiries concerning the merger—and at this late stage in the game.

Sitting amid the fall-out is poor Mr. Cusick. He hasn't yet asked aloud, but certainly he must be murmuring: "Why didn't someone tell me?"

Americans Spend Less in France

PARIS (UPI) — American tourists spent $64.2 million in France during the 1967 summer quarter, compared with $76.6 million in 1966, the French tourism Commissariat reported. The agency gave no reason for the $12.4 million drop although some tourist officials earlier blamed the poor season on anti-American statements by French President Charles de Gaulle.

Letters To The Editor

INCOME VARIANCE

Letter To Editor:

The December 14th issue of The Graphic carried two most interesting letters from Mrs. Lois Cohen and Mrs. Barbara Shaw, comparing some of the problems of the Newton schools and Newton citizens.

I would like to add a few words to their's on a broader basis as to some of the problems of Newton citizens, which are often not understood by newcomers to our city. Our family has lived here since our high school days and I have seen my children go from nursery school through the Newton School system to College and Graduate School. I am well aware of the broad spectrum of city problems through many civic activities-business, fraternal, religious, PTAs and improvement associations. I believe that Mrs. Shaw's letter particularly points out an issue that is too often forgotten in our "Garden City" in her expression of "income variance." Outsiders so often think this is a "city of the rich," but those who know it well are quite informed as to the tremendous differential, not only from section to section but even on a single street. It is not unusual to have living in our city on the very same street people whose income vary as widely as from $10,000 per annum to $50,000 per annum or more.

And yet all of us must pay our taxes on the basis of the same needs in city services and school budgets. We see re-evaluations of property on whole sections and entire land areas changing without consideration for the length of time people have lived in the city and the stage of life they may be. The end result is that more and more of the older citizens, or even "middle-aged" citizens, whose children are beyond school age leave town when the children have passed through the oft considered, and sometimes over-publicized, "great" Newton School Department. Some of us know there are real problems in this Department, but somehow all this gets swept under the rug and our tax rate keeps going higher and higher (largely because of School Committee Budgets), forcing us to leave the city after decades of residence.

I hope that this group of letters in The Graphic will awaken many of our citizens and public officials to the problems of living in the city and enable those of us who would like to maintain our homes here to continue to stay even after our children are grown and educated.

Sincerely,
Donald L. Daniels

Sobering Thought

Throughout the past week-end, Americans killed themselves or each other at the rate of one every seven minutes.

SCHOOL PAPER ADS

Editor: of The Graphic:

One hundred ninety-three teachers and staff members of the Newton Public Schools have managed to get some public attention by inserting paid anti-Vietnam advertisements in two high school papers published by students under faculty supervision.

Let me make it clear that this small minority certainly has the right to dissent and to express itself.

The question that may be legitimately raised, however, concerns the judgment exercised in using student papers published under the auspices of publicly supported schools whose purpose is to provide academic training for minors for whom parents are morally and legally responsible.

The use of space in High School papers for the purpose of propaganda may be viewed as a violation of the teacher-pupil relationship. As a precedent it opens the door for further abuses—the introduction of propaganda into school papers for a variety of causes and purposes. Where is the line to be drawn? And by whom?

The majority of Newton's School Department evidently differs from those who advertised their "dissent." Should space now be taken by the majority to publicize its opinions, also using the same school papers? Are school papers to be thus corrupted by a propaganda struggle for the young minds of the editors and readers?

The "dissenting" teachers have shown a lack of good judgment in exceeding their academic obligations and in venturing into a questionable area for their efforts to propagandize their students. The advertisements accomplish very little for the cause of peace. But a great disservice has been done to the students, the cause of education, and to our country.

Christmas In W. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin airports expect Dec. 22 to be the peak day for pre-Christmas travel this year, with more than 100 flights alone taking about 12,800 passengers to and from the divided city.

Pan American World Airways, one of the three airlines that operate flights to West Berlin's Tempelhof and Tegel airports, said it plans to have an extra 61 special flights daily between Dec. 21 and Jan. 2, in addition to its 84 daily scheduled flights of jet and propeller aircraft.

Political Highlights

tions of both Mayor and Secretary of State in order to carry out his ultimatum.

However, things could not have worked out better from White's standpoint. Reluctant law-makers fell into line. The welfare funding bill was approved. White immediately resigned as Secretary of State. Former speaker John F. X. Davoren was elected to the post White vacated. Representative Robert H. Quinn of Dorchester moved up to become Speaker.

White came out of that chapter of Bay State politics with increased prestige. He had spoken out forcefully, and he got results. He was principally responsible for the passage of a bill which will mean a great deal to Boston in 1968 and twice as much in 1969 when the State will be picking up the welfare tab for a full year.

Up to the time White took his forceful stand it appeared extremely doubtful that the Legislature would furnish the money needed to carry out the provisions of a law it had previously adopted, under which the State was to assume the administration of local welfare programs in mid-1968.

Some legislators, especially members of the House of Representatives, are resentful of the pressure White applied to them and privately predict that the new Boston Mayor will have a difficult time achieving the adoption of his program on Beacon Hill this year.

The answer to that line of argument is that the welfare funding bill probably would not have been approved if White had not exerted pressure, that in such an event he would have been confronted with enormous problems and would have been deprived of financial help on which he was counting and that he would have had trouble anyway winning approval of his legislative program.

Representative Quinn's election as Speaker should ease things for White on Beacon Hill and improve White's chances of gaining the passage of some of the measures he sponsors.

White and Quinn may well be opponents for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1970 since Quinn, an extremely able public leader, has now been projected into the forefront of the political picture.

But for the next two years, at least, Quinn will be an important ally to White in seeking the enactment of legislation which would aid Boston's financial plight.

Quinn is the first Boston Democrat ever to serve as Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He is the first Hub legislator of either party to hold that powerful post since Christian A. Herter occupied it back in the late 1930's and early 1940's just before he ran for Congress.

The new Speaker was Mayor Collins' leading spokesman in the legislative chambers for the past eight years, and he is certain to extend a helping hand to White on Boston's problems.

White and Quinn, incidentally, have been personal and political friends since White first ran for Secretary of State back in 1960.

Now they are probably on a political collision course. Both are potential candidates for Governor in 1970.

Political experts believe that the job of Mayor of Boston is so tough that White must stand for the Governorship in 1970 or not at all.

They feel that if he serves seven years as Mayor before making his gubernatorial bid, the hard problems and difficult decisions would take their political toll, as they did in the case of John Collins who could have won the Governorship early in his career as Mayor.

In addition, of course, there would be no opening for White to run for Governor in 1974 if a Democrat is elected to the office in 1970 and seeks a second term four years later.

Much the same thing is true of Quinn.

A Speaker does not usually serve longer than six years or eight at the most. After that period he usually moves up or out.

Quinn has all the qualifications to be an excellent Speaker. That appraisal is made with full realization of the problems involved in presiding over a body of 240 politicians, all individually different and of varying temperaments.

The new Speaker probably will reach a medium between the posture adopted by the late John F. Thompson who ruled the House with an iron fist and that of John F. X. Davoren who leaned over backward in his attempt to be fair to everyone.

Quinn will not be as czar-like as was Thompson who rode roughshod over his opposition; neither will he be as beneficent in his attitude toward the House members as was Davoren.

He will be out to get the job done as Speaker. If he has to step on a few toes to do it, he probably will not hesitate to do so.

If Quinn merges as an outstanding Speaker, he would almost automatically be catapulted into the spotlight as a prospective candidate for Governor.

1967's Political Happenings Herald Major Events Ahead

From a political standpoint the importance of the year now ending stemmed mostly from what it heralded for the new year about to begin.

There were no elections of great national consequence in 1967, as there will be in 1968, when the people will choose a President and another Congress.

But Republican leaders on Beacon Hill and in state capitals across the nation believe they see a GOP tide on the rise as the old year draws to its close.

They foresaw exactly the same thing two decades ago, but then it peaked in 1946 and receded before the 1948 Presidential election.

Only time will tell whether history will repeat itself.

The first big political event of 1967 saw Adam Clayton Powell expelled from Congress.

At year's end Powell's status was still unsettled. The people of his district elected him again in April, but Powell never presented himself to be seated in Congress. For a full year Harlem district had no representative in the national House.

Senator Thomas Dodd was censured by his Senate colleagues midway in the year. That probably means Dodd's public career will end when his present term expires, but he is being allowed to serve out his term, with the decision as to whether he will serve any future terms being left to the people of Connecticut.

The war in Vietnam cast a heavy shadow over the political scene in 1967 — a shadow which deepened as the year progressed.

Public unrest, apprehension, discontent and dissatisfaction produced by the war seriously threaten President Johnson's chances of achieving reelection to a second full four-year term.

Not only will the President himself be in political jeopardy if the state of war is unchanged next November, but the likelihood is the Republicans will achieve substantial gains in Congress.

Michigan Governor George Romney entered 1967 as top GOP Presidential prospect but virtually talked himself out of contention before the year ended.

Even Romney in a sense was a political casualty of the Vietnamese war. His assertion that he had been brainwashed about the war was a costly and damaging one. Men who aspire to the Presidency are supposed to be immune from brainwashing.

New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller began the year by supporting Romney for the Presidency, ended it the same way, insisted he was not a candidate for President, but his political stock mounted in the intervening 12 months to the point where he is now the top choice of the liberal wing of the Republican party.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was listed both at the start and end of the year as the Republican Mr. Johnson would be most likely to defeat. In between, however, he appeared to be advancing steadily toward the Republican nomination for President.

Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota announced late in the year that he would challenge President Johnson for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

No one seriously believes McCarthy has any chance whatever of wresting the nomination away from Mr. Johnson. Incumbent Presidents are not defeated at party conventions.

But McCarthy, foe of the Vietnam war, will provide a rallying point for the war critics and dissenters.

Incidentally, while President Johnson's reelection chances look somewhat less than bright as the year moves into its last days, political pundits expect they will take a sharp upturn after his Republican adversary is chosen.

Aside from the history-making battle which will be waged for the Presidency, there will be interesting contests for seats in both Congress and the U.S. Senate.

Barry Goldwater will be attempting a comeback down in Arizona. He will be a favorite to win over Senator Carl Hayden who is now 90 and will be 91 at the time of the election.

Here in Massachusetts Congressman Philip J. Philbin of Clinton, whose district has been revamped, will be fighting for his political life by midsummer of 1968.

Representative Joseph G. Bradley of Newton will challenge Philbin in the Democratic primary. Former Congressman Lawrence Curtis, also of Newton, will be waiting to take on the winner of the Philbin-Bradley struggle in the final election.

The Republicans are quietly planning to enter a candidate against every Democrat next year — even those who have been considered unbeatable.

The proprietor of one of the radio talk shows commented on this recently and added that Representative John Sears of the Back Bay, who made a creditable showing in Boston's preliminary mayoralty election, might stand against House Speaker John W. McCormack.

This prompted a listener to call in, sound a clarion call for McCormack's election and become embroiled in a heated dispute with the announcer.

After the two had argued for several minutes, a woman listener telephoned in to point out quietly that under the new congressional setup Sears will be in the district of Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., not that of McCormack.

The fact that Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler toppled veteran ex-Congressman Joe Martin in the 1966 Republican primary probably will cause someone to challenge McCormack next year, but the latter still will be a formidable contender and difficult to dislodge.

A big unanswered political question about 1968 is whether President Johnson will allow his name to be entered in the Massachusetts President Primary in April or will insist that his banner be carried by a stand-in candidate.

The latest word is that Bay State Democratic leaders have made some headway in convincing LBJ that he is almost certain of winning in this State and that this may cause him to forget about using a substitute.

Newton Temple Setting For Abramson-Andelman Bridal

The marriage of Miss Susan Amy Andelman to Robert Steven Abramson recently took place at Temple Beth El, Newton Centre.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Andelman of Newton Centre. Her groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Abramson of Floral Park, New York.

Rabbi Abraham Koolyk officiated at the impressive early evening service which was followed by a reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional satin appliqued with Alencon lace and designed with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and a detachable wateau train.

A becoming headpiece held in place her elbow length bouffant sheer illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses mixed with stephanotis and accented with ivy.

Miss Carol Andelman of Newton Centre was her sister's honor maid. Miss Gail Schertzer of Newton Centre and Miss Francine Katzman of Brooklyn, New York, were bridesmaids.

The best man was Michael Kramer of Hewlett N.Y. Serving as ushers were Alan Harton of Glen Oaks, N.Y., Michael Jacobs, of Palo Alto, Calif., Mark Friedman of Bay-side, N.Y., and Ira Shankman of New York City.

After a trip to Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Abramson will make their home in Fresh Meadows, New York.

The bride, who attended the University of Rhode Island, plans to continue her studies in New York.

Mr. Abramson, who was graduated from the University of Rhode Island, is completing work on his master's degree at Pace College. He is a financial analyst for Getty Oil Company and is affiliated with the National Guard Reserves under the Officers Candidate School.

Congregational Church Women To Meet Jan. 3

The Women's Association of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will meet at the church, Wednesday, January 3rd.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30. It will be followed by the business meeting at which Miss Edith M. Rideout will preside. Mrs. J. Edgar Birdsall will lead the devotions.

Mrs. Harold Lounsbury will introduce the speaker, Mrs. E. Graham Bates. Mrs. Bates' subject is very timely, considering the recent news of the snowstorm which befell the Southwest, and particularly the Navajo Indians.

Her topic, entitled, "From Red Rocks to Golden Aspens" is based on her recent trip to the spectacular southwest, and covers scenery from the Arizona deserts to the Rocky Mountains.

Her slides will also show life among the Navajo Indians as they weave, spin, tend sheep, as well as scenes from their Tribal Fair. The trip is climaxed by a visit to the Rockies of Colorado just when the aspens are at their golden peak in an autumn splendor.

Chairmen for the meeting are: luncheon, Mrs. Earl Alban; dining room, Mrs. Samuel J. Melick; decorations, Mrs. Russell Tripp. Mrs. Robert J. Harding is publicity chairman.

Jewish Congress Meets Wednesday

The New England Administrative Committee of the American Jewish Congress will hear the program for the winter and spring months from Sol Baker of Newton Highlands, chairman of the Commission on International Affairs, at their bi-monthly meeting next Wednesday (Dec. 27) at Longwood Towers, Brookline.

Edward J. Barshak, Brookline, chairman of the administrative committee will preside and Daniel D. Levenson, chairman of the Commission on Law and Social Action, will report. The agenda will include a discussion of the proposed legislative program in the 1968 General Court.

Mark A. Michelson, chairman of the regional biennial convention to be held January 21 will present program and plans.

MRS. GERALD WADNESS

Miss Laserson - Mr. Wadness Wed at Needham Temple

Temple Beth Shalom in Needham was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Margery Laserson to Gerald Wadness.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Laserson of Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wadness of Brighton are the groom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's ivory peau de soie full length gown was bodiced with matching jeweled lace. The sleeves were elbow length, while her round neckline was enhanced with a single strand of precious pearls.

Her mantilla was appliqued with Brussels lace and she carried her Bible topped with a white orchid and cascading stephanotis.

Mrs. Edward Spear of Newton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an apricot lace over satin dress and a matching veil while carrying apricot and bronze chrysanthemums.

Valentine Ball Set For N-W Hospital Junior Aid

Preliminary plans are under way for the elegant annual Valentine Ball of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association, to be held February 9 at Boston's Statler-Hilton Hotel. Proceeds of the affair will purchase equipment for the new wing the hospital will build beginning in 1968.

A Swiss motif is being used for the gala occasion, the social highlight of the winter season, according to the Valentine Ball Committee, which met recently at the Newton home of Mrs. D. J. Saraceno.

Swiss Consul, Dr. Freddy Homburger and his wife will be honored guests at the Ball. A free trip to Switzerland has been donated by Mr. Ernest Ruegg of Metropolitan Travel Service and awaits a lucky winner on the night of the Ball.

Despite the usual frenetic activities of the Christmas holiday season, Valentine Ball committee members have been working overtime, to make certain that the affair will be successful, both socially and financially, so that the ever-expanding Newton-Wellesley Hospital can better meet its growing needs.

Music at the Valentine Ball will be provided by the Guy Stevens Orchestra, and the Grand March promises to consist of scores of the area's most prominent and public-minded citizens.

Serving on the Valentine Ball Committee: Mrs. D. J. Saraceno, Chairman; Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon, Treasurer; Mrs. Edward H. Rogers, Jr.,

Trip to Bermuda Followed Kinloch - Kendall Bridal

The First Baptist Church of Belmont was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss A. Elaine Kendall to Robert A. Kinloch.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Willard S. Kendall of Waltham and the late Mrs. Isabelle Kendall. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinloch of Tewksbury are the groom's parents.

Following the one o'clock double ring service a reception was held at Hillcrest Hall in Waltham.

The bride's full length A-line gown of peau de soie had an empire lace bodice designed with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves as well as a chapel-length train.

A jeweled princess crown was fastened with her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a sheath cascade of gladioli blooms.

Miss Charlene Lefort of Waltham was honor maid. The bridesmaids were Miss Cynthia Dowman of Waltham, cousin of the bride, Miss Evelyn Kinloch of Tewksbury, sister of the groom, and Miss Holly Pederson of Waltham.

Mrs. John Corwin of Watertown was in charge of the guest book.

Alfred Houser of Keene, N. H., served as best man. The ushers were Kenneth Campbell of Methuen, Timothy Hinde of Billerica and Thomas White of Tewksbury.

Mrs. Herbert J. Millen of Waltham, aunt of the bride wore an aqua blue street length dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Kinloch, mother of the groom, was attired in a green chiffon over crepe dress with matching accents.

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of the Kinlochs, who are now living in Draught.

The bride was graduated from Waltham High School and the Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School. She is now a Secretary at the GCA Corporation in Bedford.

Mr. Kinloch is a graduate of Tewksbury High School and Northern Essex Community College. He is a production coordinator at RCA in Burlington.

Sisterhoods To Hear Rabbi In Joint Meeting

Mrs. Joseph B. Soltz, president of the Temple Shalom Sisterhood will give the benediction at the mid-winter Annual Meeting sponsored by four Sisterhoods of Reform congregations in the area on Wednesday (Jan. 3). Rabbi Henry F. Skirball, director of the National Federation of Temple Youth, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, will address the meeting at Temple Sinai, Brookline.

The sponsoring Sisterhoods are those of Temple Shalom, Newton; Temple Israel, Boston; Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline and Temple Sinai of Brookline.

"Whither Jewish Youth" will be the topic for Rabbi Skirball. He is a graduate of Harvard College and the Hebrew Union College, Jewish Institute of Religion. He served as a Chaplain in the U. S. Army and as Hillel Director of Northwestern University. In addition to his present position he is Vice-President of the Association of National Youth Directors.

Lucy Ulman Is Consultant At Cutler Clinic

Mrs. Lucy T. Ulman of the Leslie B. Cutler Clinic in Norwood as a senior counseling psychologist and a consultant to the Canton Public Schools.

Mrs. Ulman is a former Needham School adjustment counselor and presently an assistant professor of education at Leslie College. She is working on her doctorate in elementary counseling at Boston University.

She will direct a pilot program of parental counseling in the Canton school system to be held under the auspices of the Cutler Clinic. The aim of the program is to help children who have difficulties in learning or in their social relations.

He is a member of the National Institute of Credit and the American Institute of Banking. He is married to the former Elaine L. Sanders. They have two sons.

Calvin V. Perry, of 25 O'Rourke Path, Newton Centre, joined the bank in 1965.

He is a native of Cambridge and received a bachelor of science degree from Boston University. He is married to the former Eunice J. Shaw. They have a son and a daughter.

Letters to Editor

On School Plans
Editor of the Graphic,

Recent newspaper reports state that an architectural firm of consultants conclude that Newton High School Building III is not feasible for the Newton High School Complex. Among other reasons it is cited that Building III will not contribute aesthetically to the new complex, should be demolished and replaced.

In view of a recent press release in which Newton's Comptroller of Accounts estimates that the City's tax rate will be increased by $10.00 in 1968, and a further $10.00 in 1969, the probability of an increase in State taxes, and the further probability of an increase in Federal taxes, this writer is of the opinion that it is time for taxpayers to desist from accepting, like sheep, the supposition that any spending in the name of education ought to be, perverse though it may sound, accepted without public scrutiny or comment. Regarding Building III I have scrutinized and herewith comment.

The consultant architects have presented an analysis concluding in a recommendation for the demolition and replacement of Building III the newest and most modern of the existing complex.

They state that remodeling 67,500 square feet of this building at $18.00 per square foot would cost the city $1,215,000.00. Simple arithmetic (mere multiplication) demonstrates such cost to be $1,215,000,000, or $5,000,000 less than the total figure they present. They state that new construction of 57,000 square feet at $28.00 per square foot totals $1,596,000.00. Simple arithmetic (mere multiplication) demonstrates a total of $1,596,000.00, or $6,000.00 more than the figure they present.

Maybe there is an explanation for this apparent incompetence in arithmetic, but it is not apparent to me. It would seem but reasonable that if the city (we taxpayers) are expected to pay a fee for the services of professional consultants, for services rendered, the least we are entitled to is correct simple arithmetical calculations. Such simple errors in simple arithmetic submitted by professional consultants make the entire report suspect as to competence and judgment.

They continue, using their figures: They say that for new construction, $30,000.00 will be the cost of demolition to be added to their apparently erroneous figure of $1,590,000.00 will provide for a State participation of $635,000.00 with their conclusion that the net cost to the city would be $985,000.00 for a new building.

They say, based upon their apparently erroneous figures aforesaid, new construction exceeds that of remodeling by $370,000.00. However, since no State assistance has been made available for remodeling, the actual costs to the city will be greater for remodeling than for new construction by at least $250,000.00. Doing it the most expensive way, they say, will save money for Newton's taxpayers. Well, Christmas is here and everyone is supposed to believe State aid, like manna from the sky, doesn't cost us anything. The only money the State has to give away must first be taken, by taxation, from you and me—it is not cost free.

They recommend that the auditorium, now seating 600, be reshaped acoustically, that one third of the seats have poor acoustics or sight lines, the seats are smaller and less comfortable than would be installed in a new theatre, the stage lacks side stage, and the gymnasium unfortunately has columns which interrupt the free space areas.

I submit that the auditorium, stage, and gymnasium have been used with reasonable satisfaction for some time and it is not necessary to provide our school with the full and complete advantages of a brand new professional theatre, nor does the gymnasium have to meet every conceivable superlative conception.

It is reported, "While the educational spaces in Building III are well proportioned and adequately sized, they cannot be grouped or arranged in a manner consistent with educational specifications." Maybe educational specifications should be modified to utilize what we have in this building.

They continue, "Neither educationally nor aesthetically and put a crepe on the front door this week."

There are just so many days left in which to exchange Christmas gifts. There are only so many days left to renew your automobile registration. So many days for this, so many days for that.

"But the most important thing of all is that there are just these few days in which to save the lives which otherwise would be lost on the streets and highways of Massachusetts.

"The records tell us that these are the most deadly days and nights of the year on our highways. Last year 106 lives were lost on Massachusetts highways during December. The terrible toll of tragedy during these recent days threatens to make 1967 just as bad — or even worse."

Registar McLaughlin had these closing thoughts for you: "People keep asking 'what can I do about it?' — as though no single person could make any difference."

"They can do this by driving cautiously, courteously, soberly — by refraining from drinking if they are going to drive and by using their seatbelts at all times."

Be Here, Next Year, Don't Drink 'n Drive

Registar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin wished each Newton resident "A Happy New Year" today, adding "unhappily, not all of our wishes will come true."

In a message to readers of The Graphic McLaughlin said: "Millions of persons will be driving along our highways. Other millions will be enjoying holiday parties, including liquor. Those who keep their drinking and their driving completely separated will undoubtedly have a happy new year. It will be a quiet, happy holiday season for these responsible citizens."

"There will be, however, a less responsible group — people who think that they can drive and drink, regardless of warnings to the contrary. Many of them will find this holiday season anything but happy. They will face arrest, breath tests, jail and court room, if they are lucky. They'll wind up in hospitals and morgues if they are not."

"Why not insure happy holidays for yourself and your family by driving soberly now and throughout all the New Years to come."

"Don't let your family be one of those who must take down the Christmas wreath and put a crepe on the front door this week."

Registar McLaughlin continued: "Only a few days of the old year remain."

Funeral Service Held For Merchant, Philanthropist

Funeral services for Joseph Rabinovitz were held Monday, December 25 at Congregation Kehillath Israel, Brookline.

Mr. Rabinovitz, 89, honorary president of Stop & Shop Inc. died Saturday after a long illness.

A philanthropist, Mr. Rabinovitz had been president of the stores from 1918 to 1964. The firm was founded by a brother as Economy Grocery Stores. The name was changed to Stop & Shop in 1946.

He was an honorary life trustee of the combined Jewish Philanthropies of Boston, an honorary life trustee of Beth Israel Hospital of Boston and a founding member of Congregation Kehillath Israel of Brookline and its treasurer for more than 25 years.

Mr. Rabinovitz was a member of many fraternal, civic and philanthropic organizations and was a leader of the Jewish community in Greater Boston. His wife Lottie (Wolf) died in Boston in 1958.

His son, Sidney R. Rabb, is the present chairman of the board of Stop & Shop Inc. Another son, Norman S. Rabb, is retired senior vice president of the chain and a founding trustee and former chairman of the board of Brandeis University.

A third son, Irving W. Rabb is vice chairman of the board of Stop & Shop Inc., and president of Beth Israel Hospital.

Mr. Rabinovitz served as general chairman of the 1949 Greater Boston Combined Jewish Appeal's food division. He and Mrs. Rabinovitz and their children gave funds in the mid-1950's for a two story graduate center, the Rabb Graduate Center, at Brandeis.

In 1950, on the couple's 50th wedding anniversary, Stop & Shop employees established a Lottie and Joseph Rabinovitz Student Loan Fund at Brandeis.

In 1956, Mr. Rabinovitz was awarded the Certificate of Achievement by the Grocery Manufacturers Representatives of New England. The award is given only to corporation presidents who have made outstanding contributions to the food industry.

He also received a Citation of Merit from Congregation Kehillath Israel in recognition of his work in its behalf. He was cited for his "rare executive capacity" and "consecrated sense of social responsibility."

He was also lauded for contribution of "his personal services and material substance to the advancement of learning and religious life and to the welfare of his fellow man."

In 1955, in Jerusalem, Mr. Rabinovitz was given a photograph album by Israeli Labor Minister Mrs. Golda Myer. The album was presented during a meeting of the Israeli Bond leadership delegation. The philanthropist had earlier been received by the president of Israel, Ben Zvi, in the presidential residence.

As a member of the Israel Bond Organization, Mr. Rabinovitz had spent two weeks in intensive study and consultation on a tour to learn how Israel development prospects were advancing through the aid of investment capital from abroad.

In addition to his sons, Mr. Rabinovitz leaves a daughter Mrs. Sidney (Jeanette) Solomon of New York City; a brother Isidor Rabinovitz of Brookline; eight grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

There are reasons why. For one thing, much more is known about the TB germ. It is not transmitted by ordinary breathing. Lodged in tiny droplets of moisture, the germ is spread by the explosive force of coughing, sneezing, and laughing. Anti-TB drugs drastically reduce coughing, bacteria, and the amount of sputum. They reduce the chances of the TB patient infecting others. In fact, there's evidence that with drug therapy, some patients become non-infectious very shortly—within a few weeks.

TB patients today are treated like human beings. With social needs. But there are still too many patients, and too many thousands of people who are infected and do not know it. Some of these people are probably spreading their infections.

Seeing that TB-infected persons are found and treated will be a major purpose of your tuberculosis and respiratory disease association in 1968. The association slogan sums the need: "It's a Matter of Life and Breath." If you haven't remembered to send in your Christmas Seal contribution, why not do it today — and start the New Year right.

There is generally a best way to do most things, and this is particularly true when placing a service call. Remember, the man answering the service 'phone may be handling several calls at once, so it pays to be brief and to the point. First, give your full name and address and 'phone number, then the kind of set and your complaint in non-technical terms, in other words, what it is doing that it shouldn't be doing. After all this is the time to go into any additional comments. So, Happy New Year to you all with Happy Servicing!

Women's Group Plans Luncheon To Aid Students

Advance plans are now being discussed for the 61st annual "Today for Tomorrow" luncheon of the Women's Scholarship Association, to be held Wednesday, April 24th at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

A feature of the program will be the awarding of an Albert Alcalay painting to some lucky person.

Proceeds of the luncheon will be used to help award scholarships to worthy girls from this area who attend local colleges and universities.

Mrs. Eric Thormann of Newton is president of the Women's Scholarship Association. Luncheon chairman is Mrs. Morton Kliman also of Newton.

"It's That Time Again!" Says Internal Revenue

Newton area residents are reminded that now is the time to put your financial house in order and get a head start on the income tax filing season which begins January 1.

William E. Williams, District Director of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts, emphasized that cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions and other financial records should be gathered now to help you prepare your 1967 Federal income tax returns.

Complete records help to insure that taxpayers do not overpay their taxes and also make the job of preparing the tax return easier.

Mr. Williams said that a copy of your 1966 return is one of the best guides for preparing your 1967 return. He also pointed out that thru 1968, you should accumulate records and receipts to ease your tax filing job in the following year.

A pre-addressed label showing the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number is included with your tax package. Use of this label further expedites processing of your refund return. Before you attach it to your tax form check to see that all information is correct, if not, make the necessary corrections.

What does an accurate and complete return consist of? A taxpayer should consider the following checklist:

Signature (if joint return, both spouses must sign)

Attaching Copy B of all withholding statements

Arithmetic

Supporting schedules and forms when required for certain income and expense items.

Returns with tax due should be mailed with check or money order to the Internal Revenue Service, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Government Center, Boston, Massachusetts, 02203.

argument was presented by a member of the B.C. team, Martin Michaelson.

The court sat at the House of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

The team from Dickinson School of Law placed second in the National competition and the team from Indiana University School of Law submitted the best legal brief and won the Harrison Tweed Bowl.

In addition to Justice Stewart, judges who sat on the final court were: The Honorable Stanley H. Fuld, Chief Judge, Court of Appeals of the State of New York; The Honorable Bernard Botwin, Presiding Justice, Appellate Division, First Department, Supreme Court of the State of New York; The Honorable Edward Weinfeld, Judge of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York; The Honorable Manuel F. Cohen, Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission; Dr. Russell D. Niles, President of The Association of the Bar of the City of New York; and Professor Alan N. Polasky, University of Michigan Law School.

The prizes won by the championship team included the John C. Knox Award, a silver cup. An Award for the best team oral argument was presented by the American College of Trial Lawyers in memory of John W. Davis. Individual prizes were awarded to all members of the 20 teams participating in the final round of arguments.

All of the participating teams argued a case involving the responsibilities of an accounting firm to persons who purchase stocks and bonds issued by a client of the accountant.

Birth Rates

Washington—Lowest birth rate in the U.S. in recent years was 18.4 per thousand in 1933. It rose to 26.6 per thousand in 1947 which was then a record.

Holiday Highway Preview . . .

27-Year-Old Suburbanite Most Likely To Be Killed

The motorist most likely to get killed or injured on Massachusetts highways during the coming New Year's weekend will be a 27-year-old male suburbanite, out after dark, speeding, and under the influence of liquor.

This thumbnail sketch of the holiday traffic victim was drawn on the heels of a survey of the past three Christmas and New Year's weekends.

Mrs. Erma L. Daniels of 3 Cabot Court has been appointed Lecturer in the Department of Education.

ends conducted by the Registry of Motor Vehicles and Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies.

Examined were 135 accident records, including 52 fatalities and 83 "serious injury" mishaps.

"This 'typical accident victim,' of course, is oversimplification," Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin said.

"There were several female drivers who perished because of drunken driving — just as there are older and younger drivers of both sexes.

But, overall, the striking points of deadly similarity remain: darkness, liquor, relatively youthful age, male sex and single-car accidents where the car ran off the road into a fixed object."

The latest Registry-Liberty Mutual study shows that one-third of the accidents occurring during the combined weekends were single car crashes and 90 per cent of these occurred after dark.

A full 25 per cent of the accidents were rear-end collisions, 20 per cent involved a car hitting a stationary object and 18 per cent were intersection crashes.

Twenty pedestrians — average age: 65 — were killed during the past three Christmas and New Year's weekends.

Liquor is a major cause of holiday accidents, according to statistics.

"Let's face it," he said. "The holiday season brings increased drinking at time of lowered visibility and adverse weather conditions."

Although drinking was reported in only 27 per cent of the fatal crashes and 10 per cent of the injury crashes, according to a National Safety Council report which showed that where the victim's blood level is scientifically measured, drinking is revealed as a factor in at least half of the fatal accidents.

"The dreadful consequences of failure to use seat belts is illustrated by the fact that two out of three crash victims died of head injuries," officials say.

NAACP President Kivie Kaplan Is Honored In N.Y.

National President of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Kivie Kaplan, Newton Industrialist was made an Honorary Life Member of The Brotherhood Synagogue of 139 West 13th street, N.Y., N.Y., at the December 8th service. He was presented with an Israeli Bible with the Inscription "In recognition of his outstanding role in the struggle for human dignity."

Rabbi Irving J. Block, spiritual leader of the Greenwich Village Synagogue, said that several board members of the NAACP were among the special guests at the service, as well as representatives of the boards of the Chelsea-greenwich Village section of the national organization.

He also disclosed that clergy and lay members of various black Jewish congregations in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn attended.

The Brotherhood Synagogue which was founded in 1954, shares a permanent sanctuary through a covenant agreement with the Village Presbyterian Church.

The Company further explained that both Modification Centers are housed in temperature-controlled clean rooms, and use electronic test instruments that are calibrated monthly by the two manufacturers involved to insure adherence to their rigid standards.

New President

William J. Donovan, 133 Bellevue street, West Roxbury, has been elected president of the Traffic Club of New England for 1968.

The Traffic Club is one of the oldest and largest in the United States, having a membership of over 1100 men.

Donovan is the owner of the W. J. Donovan Moving and Storage Co. in Newton.

Middlesex Co. Extension Plans "Teenage" Talks

Newton area parents will be interested in "Today's Teenager," the title of a six week workshop sponsored by the Middlesex County Extension Service in cooperation with the Watertown Evening School Program to be held beginning Tuesday evening (Jan. 9).

The workshop, which is free and open to the public, is to increase the understanding of the problems of adolescents and how parents and youth leaders can best guide youth in meeting these problems. The meetings will be from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. at the Watertown High School.

Mrs. Sandra Osborn, Home Economist with the Middlesex Extension Service will conduct the sessions. Carefully selected films will be used to prompt discussion.

It is hoped that these initial meetings will be springboards for further discussions from which positive approaches to teen problems will be heard.

A great deal of time and effort has been put into the preparation of this program by the Middlesex County Extension Service for the Watertown and Newton area. Parents of teenagers will not want to miss this vital workshop.

Registration will take place at the first meeting on January 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Marjorie Anne Voss, daughter of Mrs. James M. Voss of 46 Holly road, Waban, is returning home to spend the Christmas vacation with her mother. She is a sophomore at Albertus Magnus College in New Haven, Ct.

Service As Usual For Phone Co. Customers

While most Americans were enjoying their Holiday, over 85 percent of New England Telephone's 3,800 operators remained at their posts to keep the wires humming.

101 of these operators were at the switchboards in Newton on Christmas Eve and 116 on Christmas day, according to local manager Thomas E. Stouter. This compares with an average of 80 at the boards on an average Sunday.

"The large work force is necessary because Christmas calls have a distinct personality."

"Instead of the normal weekly flow between business districts, they originate in residential areas and branch out to hundreds of small towns that operators seldom hear of except on Christmas and Mother's Day. Operators call this the 'Aunt Bessie factor'."

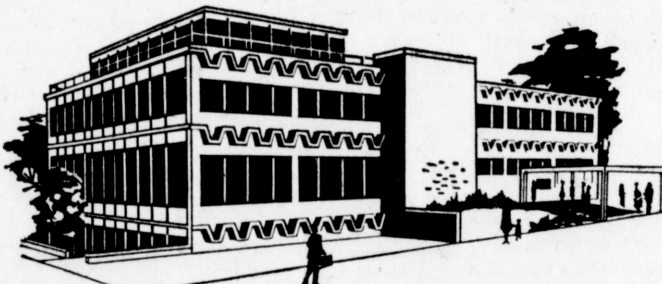

Last year New England Telephone customers made 25 percent more calls than they had in 1965 over the Christmas holiday.

Nearly 782,000 long distance calls were made by New England Telephone customers during the three-day holiday weekend.

This year customers in Newton had a Christmas calling "first".

Mr. Stouter said: "Bargain long distance rates were in effect for three full days—Saturday through Monday—of the Christmas holiday. This meant that from 7 p.m. Friday (Dec. 22) to 7 a.m. Tuesday, December 26, customers can make a three-minute station-to-station interstate call anywhere in the continental U.S. for $1 or less plus tax. After midnight, until 7 a.m. the same call will cost 75c or less plus tax."

"In Boston's western suburbs it's the most."

Headlights And Highlights From Newton High School

They showed slides of Germany. They played German songs. They had a German Santa Claus. They received "gifts" from the German teacher. They ate American food. They were all students of German at Newton High, and they had come to the German Club Christmas party Thursday, December 21.

Eric Weiner, president of the club and Mr. Richard Clark, the German teacher at Newton High showed their slides of Germany to begin the meeting. Eric and Mr. Clark were both in Aachen, Germany last summer.

After the slides a small orchestra played German Christmas songs. The orchestra, formed just two weeks before, practiced for a total of two class periods.

Kathy Gurd was the oboe player, Mark Russo the horn player, Judy Elkan and Hugh O'Connor the recorder players, and Eric Weiner was the drummer. Mark arranged the different parts for each instrument.

Following the Christmas songs, Paul Naiman made his grand entrance as the German Club Santa Claus. The "little" girls and boys, having taken four, three, two or one year of German, sat on their Santa's lap and told him exactly what they wanted for Christmas. Santa Paul gave them all lollipops instead. One girl was smarter than the rest. She asked her Santa for a lollipop, so she was given a candycane.

Mr. Clark, after the Santa had shown his extensive present-giving power, gave "gifts" to all the students. To one girl, who went to Aachen last summer, he remarked, "Your diary from Aachen will be published and you will get a one way ticket to South America." Another student was given a straight "A" average in German.

The students in return gave Mr. Clark a big pink tin can. The big pink tin can could not be opened without a can opener and Mr. Clark began wondering what was inside. Nothing rattled. There was no movement. Suspense flooded the Commons Room.

When Mr. Clark got home that night he apparently opened the can. It was not a time bomb. It was a mobile.

There were about 25 people who went to the German Club Christmas Party; three of whom are now in college.

Winter Musicals
The band, the orchestra, the A Capella Choirs, the Girls Choir, and the Madrigal Singers all participated in the winter musical Tuesday evening, December 19.

Prior to the concert, dessert was served to the audience. The program opened with Aaron Copeland's "Fanfare for the Common Man." The orchestra played Haydn's trumpet concerto, with Ron Sylvestre as soloist. It also played parts of a suite by Handel.

Barbara Case sang the solo in the American Folksong, "Go Way From My Window." The show ended with a piece from "The Messiah" performed by both the choir and the orchestra.

Following the concert, the performers met at Julie Morse's house for a "band party." Mr. Morse, Julie's father, had taken movies of the film.

band all during the football season and had pieced them together into a good length. At the party, Mr. David Hall and Mr. Jerry Gardner gave out Academy Awards. One student received the "iron lip award." A girl and a boy were awarded the "Romeo and Juliet award." Quite a few other band members rose to fame that Tuesday evening.

Shape
One hundred girls are presently taking "shape." They are learning how to apply make-up, how to get into a car, how to walk, how to put on a coat, how to lose weight. They are learning what shape their head is, what hair style they should wear, what exercises are best for their figures. They are learning social graces and etiquette.

Shape is a winter elective for senior girls, offered by the physical education department in addition to gymnastics. The letters S-H-A-P-E stand for Shape, Health, Attitudes, Posture and Exercises. The program was set up by Mrs. Katherine Schimke and Miss Nancy Kinney and is supposed to be an eight week program.
"The Shape Class is a small model of the charm school," said Mrs. Schimke. "We felt that a number of girls would be quite interested in such a program."

Film Festival
Newton High is not going to wait for Hollywood to come to her. It has decided to make its own movies, without the help of any professionals.

The NHS Film Festival is planning to show its first self-made film of the year some-calm. Ice chunks usually break off if the skater attempts to pull himself out of the water. Tell him to kick his feet to the surface so he won't jackknife under the edge of the ice and extend his arms on the top surface of the ice.

"Standing beyond the weakened ice, extend anything — a ladder, pole, rope, hockey stick, even a piece of clothing to the victim. If nothing is available and there are people nearby, form a human chain, each person lying on the ice and grasping the ankles of the person in front of him. The first person should grab the victim's wrists and the entire line should then wriggle backwards, drawing the skater to firm, safe ice."

CAPPED AND GOWNED — for the Investiture of the Class of 1971 are, seated, Jane Cavanaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Cavanaugh, Jr., of West Newton and Barbara Viano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Viano of Newton Centre. The ceremony at Mount Saint Mary College, Hooksett, N.H., took place on Sunday (Dec. 10).

time after vacation. The film, GOOD DAY SUNSHINE, stars junior Kate Finley and senior Carl Taplin, and is a light-hearted romance. The movie is in black and white.

The Film Festival plans to make movies on juvenile delinquency and will continue its feature film program. The club has already shown "Casablanca."

A.F.S. Assembly
Everyone has heard of the Beatles. On Tuesday, December 12, the Newton Chapter of the American Field Service played the Beatles' latest record, THE MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR, at their introductory assembly for sophomores.

The assembly opened with the showing of slides of people from all over the world. Along with the slides of people from all over the world, along with the came the Beatles.

Following the slides, the four officers: Kathy Gurd, Bob Houghteling, Gretchen Mueller, and Ann Harrer, gave introductory speeches. The sophomores then saw a movie entitled, THE A.F.S. STORY, which told about the experiences of an American student in Sardinia, and a foreigner's experiences in the welcomes the return of

... HARVEY
BALTIMORE

Formerly of Brookline, Sharon and Randolph to her Salon

HARVEY has just returned from New York where he has made a complete study of wigs and hairpieces for both women and men.

Wigs are a big investment. Just how many have these beautiful hairpieces inactive in their closets? Countless women and men who own hairpieces ask: If only I could change the colors. If only my wig wasn't so full. Why is it so heavy? If only I knew someone voiced enough to explain some of these questions about these hairpieces.

NOW THEY CAN BE ANSWERED — Don't let your investment go down the drain.

Miss Janice Frazier Bridal of Mr. Michael Karagosian

Now making their home in Braintree are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Karagosian (Janice Ruth Frazier), whose marriage was solemnized recently at St. Thomas More Church in Braintree.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Frazier of Braintree and Mr. and Mrs. Michael M. Karagosian of Newton Highlands are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Richard Leger officiated at the three o'clock afternoon ceremony at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. A reception followed at the Son's of Italy Hall in Braintree.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a smartly styled cage gown of Chantilly lace made with a scalloped bateau neckline, long petal point sleeves and a detachable silk net train.

Her cathedral length illusion train, marked with lace appliques, was fastened to a becoming headpiece. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Carole Houston of Milton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Maureen Farrell, Miss Mary Anne Karagosian, Miss Deanne Karagosian and Miss Jeanne Karagosian were her other attendants.

Serving as best man was Robert Karagosian of Hadley, brother of the groom. Ushering were Thomas McManus of Medway, George Macnair of Newton, Paul Graves of Wellesley and Stephen Frazier of Braintree.

Mr. and Mrs. Karagosian left on a trip to Bermuda.

The bride, a graduate of Braintree High School, is associated with the Boston Gear Works, North Quincy.

Mr. Karagosian, a graduate of Newton High School, served for three years with the Marines. He is now affiliated with the Beneficial Finance Company.

Nuptial Mass Unites Miss Romanowski-Mr. McCarthy

Miss Maureen Elaine Romanowski, daughter of Mrs. Anthony J. Romanowski of Dorchester and the late Mr. Romanowski, and Edward James McCarthy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward James McCarthy of West Roxbury, recently exchanged vows at Saint Williams Church in Dorchester.

Following the nuptial mass the couple had their reception at the South Shore Country Club in Hingham.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Romanowski, the bride wore an A-line gown fashioned of pure silk linen featuring a wedding ring re-embroidered lace neckline to match the wide band on her Kabuki sleeves. The Watteau train was marked with similar lace.

Her becoming snood headpiece of similar lace and sheer illusion was marked with a Dior bow. She carried a bouquet of traditional white roses.

Miss Eileen Tona of Brookline was maid of honor. The other attendants included Miss Janice Merrill of Springfield, Miss Jane Healey of Dorchester and Miss Barbara Southwood of Norwood.

Husband-Wife Art Exhibit At Newton Gallery

The textures and tones of nature will be featured in the works of husband and wife Boris Margo and Jan Gelb, on exhibition now through February 1st at the Berman-Medall Gallery, Center for Graphic Arts, 10 Austin street, Newtonville Square.

Gelb's subtle color intaglio works reflect her mysterious sense of abstraction from nature. Margo, originator of the cellocut, portrays the textures and tones of sand and space.

The arresting show is on view at the Berman-Medall Gallery Tuesday through Saturday, 10:30-5:30 and Wednesdays to 9 p.m.

Oak Hill Park Women Meeting Held Recently

The Oak Hill Park Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. Richard D. Hurter in Oak Hill Park for an evening of "Fun and Fancy" presented by Mrs. Thomas E. Caulfield.

Mrs. Caulfield demonstrated many interesting and attractive items for the home especially for the holiday season. Some of the items were table decorations, wreaths, flower arrangements and crafts for children.

A former club member, Mrs. Caulfield has earned great recognition among the members for her unlimited creative ability and she is always happy to share her knowledge with others.

For the next meeting of the club, Mrs. Kurt Farber announced that plans were made for the members to attend Newton Junior College on January 10th to hear Eunice Alberts, contralto. This meeting is free of charge and is open to the public.

Miss Casale - Mr. Kreiser Wed; To Live in St. Paul

At St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill, recently, Miss Bonnielynn M. Casale became the bride of Stephen James Kreiser.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Casale of Chestnut Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kreiser of Westwood are the groom's parents.

Following the 11 o'clock late fall nuptials, a reception was held at the Chestnut Hill Country Club.

Escorted by her father, the bride's delustered satin empire gown was fashioned with elbow length sleeves and a deep bordered at the hemline of re-embroidered Alencon lace.

A similar mantilla enhanced her gown, while she carried a bouquet of white roses with stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Margot Casale of Chestnut Hill, sister of the bride, was honor maid. Miss Mary Leary and Miss Andrea Bignis, both of Brighton, Miss Carol DeAngelis of Westwood and Mrs. Nancy Berk of Newton were the other attendants.

Serving as best man for his brother was Charles J. Kreiser Jr., of Mansfield. The ushers were James Kreiser, another brother of the groom, Ronald Saari, Donald Weafer, all of Westwood, as well as Bruce Berk of Newton.

The bride is a graduate of Boston University.

Mr. Kreiser is attending the College of Saint Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., where the couple will make their home.

Local hostesses are: Mrs. Daniel J. Ahern, Jr., of Newton Centre; Mrs. Saul B. Cohen of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Lawrence Fine of Newton; Mrs. Stanley Golembe of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Eugene S. Rubin of Waban.

This year, Mrs. Josephine Love, a musician who is studying at the Radcliffe Institute, will present a program of French children's music at 3 p.m. Mrs. Love is a concert pianist who has been collecting twentieth century French music for children. She has also worked with children's groups in puppetry, drama, and visual arts.

Alumnae will be received by President Bunting and officers of the College following the program.

New Regulations

NEW YORK (UPI)—Passengers may carry aboard planes only personal belongings and baggage that can be stowed under seats in the cabin under new rules which recently went into effect.

U. S. airlines lifted the 40-pound free limit on baggage two years ago, permitting passengers to check two pieces of luggage without regard to weight and to carry aboard additional belongings without charge. Airlines spokesmen said the new restrictions were necessary because passengers were carrying aboard portable television sets, large musical instruments and other bulky possessions.

Gail Porter To Israel With 'The Experiment'

Gail N. Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Porter of 470 Waverly Avenue, Newton Centre, is going abroad on the 1968 summer program of The Experiment in International Living. She is a student at Goucher College, Towson, Maryland, and has chosen Israel as her host country.

The Experiment is International Living has been engaged in international educational exchange since its founder, Dr. Donald B. Watt, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German - speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1932. It is now a worldwide organization with representatives in some sixty countries, annually conducting the exchange of more than 5,000 young men and women between the United States and one hundred other nations. The Experiment introduced the homestay to international exchange, a concept widely adopted by many other agencies.

An outbound Experiment group typically comprises from ten to twelve men and women between the ages of 16 and 30, under the guidance of a specially - trained leader, who live for one month as the "son" or "daughter" of a family abroad. This firsthand opportunity to develop friendships, to learn the customs and traditions of another country, and to participate in the daily life of an "adopted" family is the heart of every Experiment program. During the second month the American Experimenters travel in the host country, usually accompanied by members of their new families, or engage in work or study projects. During 1967, 2,315 Experimenters visited 44 different countries. They included some 500 participants in overseas study programs jointly sponsored by The Experiment and approximately two dozen U.S. colleges and universities. During 1967, 2,777 persons from 100 nations also visited the United States on Experiment programs.

To prepare both these incoming visitors and outbound Americans for a constructive international experience, The Experiment operates its School for International Training on a 165-acre campus in Brattleboro, Vermont. Here it has offered intensive instruction in twenty languages to its program participants, trained more Peace Corps Volunteers than any other private, voluntary organization, and conducted programs for students and other professionals from around the world.

In addition to United States headquarters in Putney, Vermont, The Experiment maintains regional offices in Boston, Chattanooga, Chicago, New York, San Francisco, Washington and a U.S. European office in Brussels, Belgium.

Suburban Hoop Opener Taken By Newton High

HIGH DISMAY is what Stuart Silverman of the Newton South basketball team seems to be registering as he looks for a shot in the Lions-Tigers suburban league game last week. The lanky Tiger defenseman had him well-covered. — Photo by Roger Belson

By LEWIS FREEDMAN
The Newton South Lion basketball squad split two decisions last week, to bring their overall season's record to 1-2.

The win came over Boston Latin, on Dec. 19, 56-55.

The loss came Dec. 22 at the hands of Newton High, 65-42.

In the beginning of the first quarter of the Latin game it appeared that the Lions were going to be bombed off the court, as Latin consistently tossed in phenomenal jump shots from 20-25 feet. Meanwhile, the Latin zone defense forced the Lions to shoot from way outside. But the Lions were not hitting. Midway through the quarter, however, senior Bob Saltzberg came off the bench to pop in two long outsiders and spark a Lion comeback. Lee Casty fed two looping passes into center Ken Issacs and the Lions were down only 15-14 after the first eight minutes of play.

From then on, the game was a tight, see-saw affair. At the half the score read 28-28, and at the end of three periods of play South was up one, 45-44.

When the fourth quarter opened, the game continued in the same vein. Lee Casty, who led the Lion scorers with 20 points, paced the South attack with some magnificent twisting drives. Ken Issacs grabbed off some very important rebounds, and with 1:40 remaining, tied the game at 54 with a free throw. Latin came right back with a free throw, to lead, 55-54.

With 1:05 on the board, Lee Casty received the pass-in, attempted to drive, was stopped and tossed in an 18-foot jumper from the left corner for the winning margin.

For the last minute, the hustling Lion defense contained the desperate Latin attempts to score.

Following the varsity game, the J.V. Lions thumped the Latin Jayvees, 42-21. The Lions' offense stalled in the first half, but the defense was superb as juniors Barry Kraft and Bill Starr harried their men continuously, forcing many bad passes. At the half, however, South led only 12-9. But after the intermission, the Lions came out and ran wild—intercepting passes, stealing dribbles—and buried Latin, 30-12, in the half.

The scoring attack was very balanced, led by Jeff Newman (with 7 points, Barry Kraft 6, John Lopez 5, and Steve Porter 5).

On Dec. 22, the Lions opened their Suburban League season vs. Newton High, and were overpowered, 65-42.

The game began rather slowly, as Lee Casty scored the first point with one and a half minutes gone, to put the Lions up 1-0, but then the Tigers got hot and South got cold. The Lions trailed 13-7 at the end of the period.

The Lions rebounded in the second quarter. Lee Casty dropped in two of his patented drives, Bob Levine and Paul Brissette tossed in two foul shots apiece to bring the Lions to within 17-15, at 5:31. South tied the score at 23 as Casty put in two free throws with 56 seconds left. But a Paul Colantonio put the Tigers up two points with 27 seconds remaining.

However, Casty came roaring back with another drive to tie the game 25-25 as the clubs left the floor at the half.

At 7:43 of the third period, Nick Parnell put the Lions ahead 26-25 for the last time in the game. Then followed a Tiger spree led by Guard Paul Lubin and forward Barry Harsip, and the quarter ended with Newton High up, 49-32.

In the fourth quarter, the Tiger hands remained hot, and the Lions' cold, and the Tigers prevailed, 65-42.

With two seconds remaining on the clock, junior John Lopez sunk a 25-foot set shot to earn the J.V. Lions a 36-35 victory over the J.V. Tigers, and to bring the Lion record to 3-0.

The Lions led by four, 10-6 at the quarter, but fell behind, 25-16, at the half. Early in the third period, the Lions made a determined effort to close the gap, but failed, falling behind by as much as 11 points, 29-18.

In the fourth quarter the Lion defense turned into a stone wall. The team of Barry Kraft, Bill Starr, Bob Bakerman, Stan Schwartz, and John Lopez continuously stole the ball on tough man-to-man and 1-3-1 zone defenses.

With the score at 35-33, the Lions had three opportunities to tie the contest. Finally, Stan Schwartz hit a free throw to make it 35-34, with 47 seconds remaining.

Newton High lost the ball, and Kraft passed into Lopez, who dribbled into the forecourt and let fly his game-winning shot.

Lion Trackmen

Swamped, 69-11

The Newton South Lion trackmen were overpowered by an undefeated Brockton team, 69-11, in a Division II MET Track meet, Dec. 23.

Brockton, who was the New-England Cross-country champion, swept eight of nine places in the distance events, mile, two-mile, and 1000. Senior Rick Levin earned a third in the two-mile for the Lions.

Stan Dolberg took the only first for South, in the 600, with an excellent time of 1:19.8.

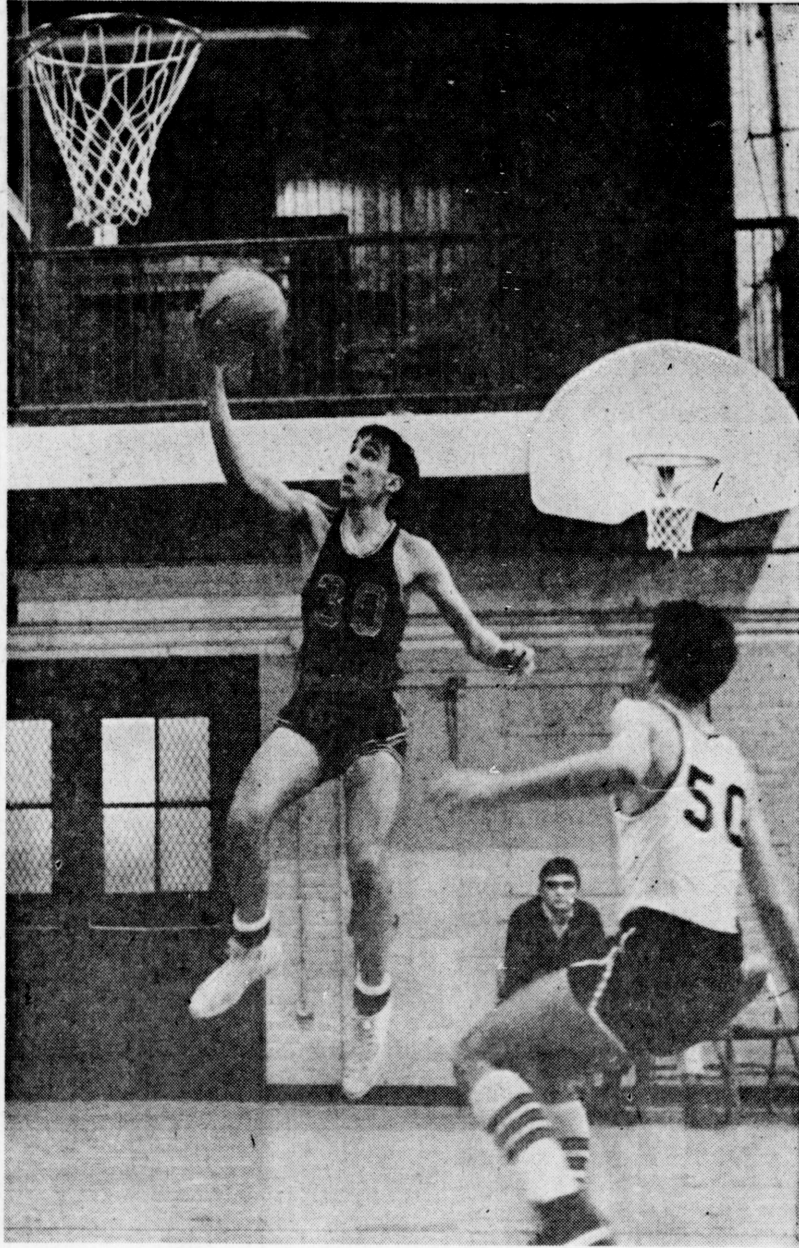

Junior Bruce Kopelman was impressive as he copped a second place in the 300. The race was exceptionally fast with the winning time being 35.9.

Junior Robin Hirsch earned a single point with his third-place finish in the 50 yard dash. The winning time here was 5.9. Sophomore Foud Sayess earned the final Lion point with a third in the hurdles.

Newton South Hockey Hustle Nips Sudbury, Ties Wayland

By NED MORSE

A hustling Newton South hockey team has tipped Lincoln-Sudbury, 3-2, and fought to a 2-2 deadlock with Wayland.

Forward Tom Rezzuti's "hat-trick" led the team to its opening game victory.

Outstanding defensive performances were registered by defenseman Brad Graham and Goalie Dave Roberts.

The Lions fell behind, 1-0, early in the Sudbury game on a goal by wing Ted Phifer.

Action was sluggish throughout the period as both teams had problems getting untracked.

Lion forwards Jim Spinks and Biff Wisner turned in solid performances while killing off three penalties.

Goalie Roberts was forced to make five stops in the Lion net.

The second period featured hard checking, fast skating and skillful stickhandling. Rezzuti notched the first Lion goal of the season midway through the stanza.

Recent Victory

Ups Loop Record

At Tennis Center

The Suburban Indoor Tennis Center of Randolph upped its New England Junior Tennis League record to 4-0 with a recent 5-1 win over the Rhode Island Tennis Club of Providence.

In the first singles David Cohen of Newton and Suburban defeated Charles Einsiedler of Warwick R.I. 9-5.

In the second singles Glenn Fishman of Newton and Suburban defeated Steve Kistner of Barrington R.I. 16-9.

In the third singles Ferdi Tagyan of Framingham and Suburban defeated Charles Miller of Providence 9-5.

In the fourth singles Allen Farago of Providence defeated Greg Hills of Wellesley 9-4.

In the first girls singles match Marci Richmond of Newton and Suburban defeated B. Saltzman of Providence 10-1.

In the second girls singles Suki Magraw of Newton and Suburban won by default.

South Grapplers Take First Match

The Newton South grapplers downed Walpole, 24-18, in their first match of the season, on Dec. 19.

Captain Lou DiFazio scored the only pin for the Lions. Three-point decisions were earned by seniors Marty Levanthal in the 138-pound class and Howie Gershman in the 145-pound division. Junior Danny Mendelson (165-pound class) and sophomore Dave Hill (120 pounds) also gained decisions over their opponents.

The other Lion points came on a 2-2 tie by Frank Vespa in the 180-pound classification—Vespa, who was suffering from a heavy cold, became too weak to continue—and Junior Neil Applebaum (103-pound category), gathered five points for a forfeit.

Spinks and Rezzuti were thwarted by skillful defensive plays in front of the Wayland net. The defensive play of forward Gary Mescon and Captain Jack Dunningan was noteworthy in the stanza.

Near the end of the period Rezzuti was whistled off the ice with a five minute misconduct for protesting a penalty call.

Saddled with the loss of their top scorer, the Lion defense sagged in the second period, allowing two scores. Rezzuti returned late in the period only to become involved in a jousting match with a Wayland player which led to words with the referee and expulsion from the contest.

Despite Rezzuti's absence, the Lion's came to life in the final period. Jimmy O'Connor replaced Rezzuti on the first line and displayed a great deal of hustle and aggressiveness.

Spinks cut the Lion deficit to one goal on a picture play at the outset of the period. He tallied after a feed in front by Wisner.

This score lifted a quiet crowd to their feet as a sluggish offense began to untrack. With time running out, center Ron Nelson scored the equalizing goal. Nelson collected a rebound from a shot by Mescon and drilled it by the Wayland net minder.

Goalie Roberts was superb in preserving the tie-kicking out, smothering and deflecting nine shots in the period. He had a total of 20 saves for the contest.

Lesson Sermon On Christian Science Sunday

"Christian Science" is the subject of this Sunday's Lesson Sermon in all Christian churches throughout the world.

"Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream," is the Golden Text from Isaiah.

MOSTLY For MEN by CHUCK FLYNN

It has always been traditional in my family to serve white beans on New Year's Day as a good omen for the coming 12 months. But, there's been dissent from some of my Southern friends in Tylertown, Miss., who insist nothing is comparable for the first day of the year then preparing black peas and hog jowl.

Some older citizens insist that to get the full benefit from this charm the peas should be served on a bare scrubbed table and never with other for seasoning than the jowl of a hog.

I will admit agreement that black eye peas and jowl are "fittin' vittles" especially if served with a warm piece of hoe cake, an item with which I've been familiar since early days on the farm.

For the blackeye peas wash and pick 2 cups (1 pound) of dried peas. Combine with 6 cups of water and a 1-pound piece of pork jowl. The latter won't provide much meat but is excellent for seasoning.

Salt and pepper to taste and drop into the water a small hot red pepper which you can allow to cook with the peas, but remove before serving. Bring the peas to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer covered for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until peas are very tender. Add water as needed.

For the hoe cake the ingredients are simple. But for the best you'll need cracklings which are the crisp portions of pork skin after lard has been rendered. Grind them fine for hoe cake.

In a bowl put 1 cup of yellow corn meal, 1 teaspoon of salt, and 1/2 cup of the finely-ground cracklings. Melt two tablespoons of bacon fat in an iron skillet.

Blend 1 tablespoon of the fat with the meal, salt and cracklings, add just enough hot water so that the mixture will stick. Form into pones about 1/2 inch thick and brown on both sides in the remaining 1 tablespoon of fat. Be sure the skillet is hot before putting the pones in to cook.

So, no matter whether you believe white beans or black eye peas will bring you the most luck in the New Year, you'll find either to be excellent fare. Hoe cake is delectable with beans or peas, as well as with fish, or bacon and greens.

Above all, have a Happy New Year!

RABBI ALBERT AXELRAD

Friday Night Temple Service Of Homecoming

Temple Reyim, of Newton, will hold its late Friday Night Service and Oneg Shabbat on December 29th in honor of its college youth. Rabbi Philip Kieval, spiritual leader of Temple Reyim, has invited Rabbi Albert Axelrad to be the guest speaker for the evening. His sermon topic will be "What's Going On, On Campus."

Rabbi Albert S. Axelrad is the Jewish Chaplain and B'nai B'rith Hillel Director at Brandeis University, and serves as Hillel Counselor at Wellesley College.

He received his A.B. degree (1960) from Columbia University, his M.A. degree (with honors) from Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion (1965), and was ordained a Rabbi at Hebrew Union College — J.I.R. in 1965.

Rabbi Axelrad, who was born Oct. 22, 1938, spent three years (1962-1965) at the City College of N.Y. as assistant to the B'nai B'rith Hillel Director.

He was also a lecturer in Hebrew at Hebrew Union College - J.I.R., School of Education in 1964-1965, before coming to Brandeis.

Rabbi Axelrad is a member of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and the National Association of Hillel Directors. He also belongs to the following organizations: Fellowship of Reconciliation, War Resisters League and the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

He is on the executive committee of the Committee of Religious Concern for Peace. The Wayland Committee for Fair Housing and Civil Rights, and is on the Advisory Committee of Mass. PAX.

Rabbi Axelrad and his wife, the former Berta Brooks, lives at 16 Peck ave., Wayland, with their two children, Marcy and Robin.

N. Jr. Hoopmen Defeat Mass. Bay

Newton Junior College's fired-up hoopsters downed Massachusetts Bay 82-79 recently in a thriller that saw the Tritons spot Newton six points three times before going down.

Leading by one point with only 50 seconds left to play, the Newton five finally wrapped it up with two points from the free throw line.

High scorers for the Newton Bears were John Melnick with 24, Mark Olin 15 and Wayne MacDonald 11.

Paul Roust was the top man for the Tritons as he garnered 16 points. Marc Swartz hit for 14 while Jack Pippy and Bob Dmytryck both had 12.

Paul Howe, Mass. Bay's scoring ace with a 25-point average per game, played only the first two minutes.

Urban-Suburban Subjects

By Dorothy Ingram

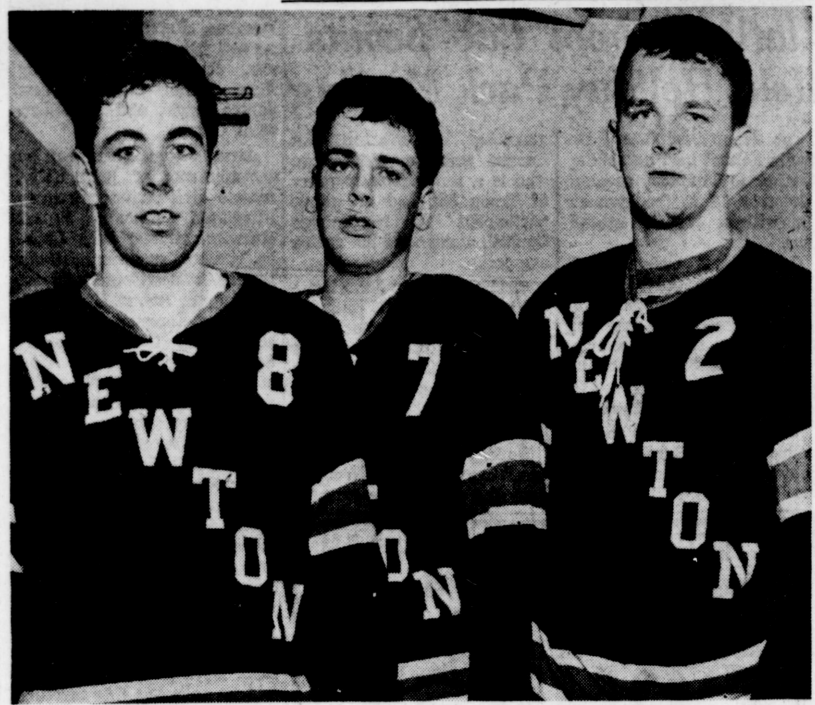

Among the exciting faces of the "new Boston" (I must admit I adore the "olde") is the new building complex in the Washington, State and Court Street area that will consist of two, new 40-story granite and bronze structures and a plaza right next to the old State House. This new complex is a Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Co. endeavor and will house the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co. and the New England Merchants Bank.

The most exciting aspect to me is the commissioning of Great Britain's greatest living sculptor, Henry Moore, to do the sculpture for this plaza-complex. Although Moore utilizes the "hole" in his work, he did not invent it as most people generally believe. His work has been greatly influenced by primitive sculpture and Picasso's expressiveness.

Henry Moore was in Boston about a month ago, on his way to unveil his latest sculpture in Chicago commemorating the spot the first nuclear reactor at the University of Chicago, and he was so enthusiastic about the new complex and its design, that he agreed to do the sculpture. Boston is not new to Moore. He was awarded an honorary degree of Doctorate of Art by Harvard University in 1958. However, he was apparently astounded by the amount of building that has taken place in the past 10 years, but also pleased that so many of the old buildings have been preserved.

Moore's works will be designed to blend appropriately with the old State House, steeped in history, as well as the two new high-rise buildings that will be elegantly simple. Among his other U. S.

commissions, Moore has done work for UNESCO headquarters and the Lincoln Center, New York City. Boston can look forward to a monumental work by this 69-year-old, silver-haired genius who will leave his mark in the shaping of the "new Boston".

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy of Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

Native apples will be big for holiday apple-dunking, decorating, cooking and munching, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture in listing its "best buys" for the week. McIntosh, Red and Golden Delicious, Cortlands and Baldwins are all plentiful and reasonably priced.

The Department of Agriculture also reminds housewives that eggs are at their lowest price of the year during the winter holidays, with medium and extra-large the biggest money-savers this week. An appropriate way to celebrate the holidays is to serve this tasty, popular "Boston's Best Egg Nog" recipe:

Beat until light 6 egg yolks. Beat in gradually 1/2 cup sugar. Add very slowly, beating constantly, 1 cup brandy (or whiskey or rum), 2 cups cream, and 2 cups milk. Whip until stiff 6 egg whites. Add 1/2 tsp. salt to white. Fold them lightly into the other ingredients. Serve egg nog cold sprinkled with nutmeg.

Potatoes, turnips, green and Savoy cabbage, leeks, greenhouse tomatoes and lettuce are plentiful and low priced. Likewise the abundance of Des Moines and Blue Hubbard squash, and native mushrooms will delight the eye and the budget of every thrifty home-maker.

Today's Agri-Fact: Quality-wise apple lovers should know that there are no less than six official U.S. apple grades: U.S. Extra Fancy, U.S. Fancy, U.S. No. 1, U.S. No. 1 Eearly, U.S. Utility and U.S. No. 1 Hail. So that when a store advertises its apples as "extra fancy", "fancy" or No. 1, you know that they will be well-formed without blisters, cracks or other serious blemishes.

Claflin School Cub Scouts Hold Holiday Pack Meeting

Cub Scout Pack 316 of the Claflin School held its holiday meeting on Thursday evening, December 14 in the gymnasium with a capacity attendance.

Den No. 2, comprised of Bryan Cutrone, Joseph Doyle, John Fleury, and Brewster Laing, opened the meeting with the flag ceremony amidst flashlights shining on the two flags.

Cubmaster Carl Hershfield welcomed the parents and introduced Mr. Harold Perry, district commissioner, who then introduced the special guest of the evening, Mr. George Sullivan, blind man who is a remarkable member of Troop 331 and an active participant in Norumbega Council, along with his seeing eye dog.

First class scout John Bradley accompanied Mr. Sullivan. He spoke to the cubs and a lively question and answer period followed. He, then, with his seeing eye dog, went through an obstacle course set up by the scouts.

Holiday skits were performed by the two Webelos dens and carols were sung by the group led by Mr. Jesse Banks, a cub scout board member. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Parritz, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Cutrone, Mrs. James Doyle, and Miss Lorraine Cohen.

Awards were given out by the cubmaster to: Brian Kelly, athlete and artist; Gregory Fitzgerald, athlete; Stuart Hurwitz, athlete; Jack Chinian, athlete, sportsman; Evan Lenson, athlete, outdoorsman, sportsman; Robert Hershfield, aquanaut, forester, naturalist, scholar, sportsman, traveler; Scott Pohlman, athlete, forster; Jeff Banks, athlete, citizen, engineer, scholar, traveler; Ricky Cohen, athlete; Devin Doyle, athlete, sportsman; Mark Fallon, athlete; Peter Jerome, athlete, citizen; Richard Raum, athlete; and Alexander Schmandt, athlete, traveler, sportsman, scholar, and geologist.

Boys were reminded of the Pinewood Derby on Jan. 18, 1968 which will be judged by Marvin Rich and Carl Pohlman. Boys Life Subscriptions will be taken at this meeting also.

Memorial Gifts To Heart Fund Pay Local Tributes

Many late friends and relatives of Newton residents have been honored during the past three months by memorial gifts to the Heart Fund, according to Dr. James A. Bougas, president of the Greater Boston Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

"Memorial gifts to the Heart Fund are like the New Year, looking both to the past and to the future," Dr. Bougas said. "They express remembrance and love for those who are gone, and they spell hope and life for others in the future through continuing heart research and education."

"Heart Fund memorials are living monuments to loved relatives and friends, and any contribution thus made, large or small, is a contribution toward better health and longer life for our families and our communities."

These late friends and relatives of Newton residents have been honored recently by Heart Fund memorials:

Wendy Colten Secretary Of '68 Symposium
A University of North Carolina co-ed from Newton is secretary of the 1968 Carolina Symposium on "Red China and the West."

She is Wendy Colten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Colten of this city.

A senior political science major in the University, she has been active as a orientation counselor, the tennis team, as a member of Kappa Gamma sorority, as Athletic Association Sweetheart, and as Maid of Chi Psi fraternity.

The Carolina Symposium is a biennial forum on a topic of serious interest to the University community.

Planned by students and faculty and financed by student government, campus organizations, and private contributors, the presentation includes speeches by men of national prominence, faculty-led discussions for students, exhibits, and seminars for students from other colleges and universities.

The Symposium had its origins in the Human Relations Institute which held its first seminar March 20-25, 1927. In 1956 the name was changed to the Carolina Symposium on Public Affairs, and it became simply the Carolina Symposium in 1960.

Its purpose is to sharpen the intellectual inquisitiveness of the University community, as well as the entire state of North Carolina.

"You're getting old when you don't care where your wife goes, just so you don't have to go along."

Short Cut Across Russia Makes Far East Less So

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

SINGAPORE (UPI) — People here are saying for years that it's a small world. And the fact is that it keeps getting smaller all the time. It is not that this old globe is shrinking because of age. It's jet planes blazing new trails across lands and seas hitherto barred to travel by obstacles created by nature or man. Flying over the forbidden icy wastelands of the North Pole is old hat today. The Polar flights slashed time and distance from the traditional transoceanic and transcontinental routes, linking the United States, Europe and Asia. Now, thanks to a political agreement between Scandinavia and the Soviet Union, there is a new shortcut across Russia between the Far East and Europe—and the United States. The new route, which includes a one-hour "technical" (refueling) stop in storied Tashkent in Soviet Central Asia, cuts almost seven hours and 1,350 miles off regular Scandinavian Airlines flights between Copenhagen, Bangkok and Singapore. It provides the fastest service yet between those cities. SAS's newest DC-8-62 four-engine jet planes have been assigned to the "Trans-Asian Express" route, covering the 5,350 miles between Copenhagen and Bangkok in about 12 hours — eastward on Saturdays and westward on Mondays. The normal routing, via Europe, Middle East and the Indian subcontinent, is 6,700 miles and takes about 19 hours. A spokesman said the agreement made SAS the first western airline permitted by the Russians to fly across the Soviet Union although foreign planes have been flying in and out of Moscow for years. flight from Copenhagen with other American and European newsmen, Scandinavian government ministers and other guests aboard the Super DC-8 named Knud Viking. It was dark and we saw before we landed at Tashkent (1:30 a.m. local time), the capital of Uzbekistan. A light rain was falling. A uniformed Soviet customs officer checked and collected our passports as we fled down the ramp. We got them back — unstamped — when we left. A string of colored lights flickered off and on across the roof of the terminal building which was topped by a hammer-and-sickle in blue neon. About 200 persons were grouped around the entrance where a troupe of Uzbek musicians, in embroidered skullcaps and striped tunics, blew on blaring horns, and reedy flutes and thumped drums. The narrow tubes of the horns were about 10 feet long and ended in bell-shaped mouths. One critical newsmen said they sounded like

Jewish Congress Prints Report On Litigation
The Commission on Law and Social Action of the American Jewish Congress has published the sixth of a series of "litigation dockets" of pending cases affecting religious liberty and separation of church and state. Local chairman of the C.L.S.A. is Daniel D. Levenson of Newton Lower Falls. The survey lists 30 cases now pending in state and federal courts, 17 of them on the issue of whether tax-raised funds may be used in support of religiously-affiliated schools. Three of the seven cases that have been taken to the Supreme Court in the recent months have been rejected, one has been accepted on the issue of standing to sue and three are pending. "The steady flow of church-state litigation suggests that

New BU Post Is Given To Resident Here

Joseph Kiebal Jr. of West Newton has been named vice president for Business Affairs at Boston University, President Arland F. Christ-Janer has announced.

Kiebal will succeed Kurt Hertzfeld, who is leaving Boston University to accept an appointment as treasurer of Amherst College.

Kiebal will assume his new post February 1, 1968. He has been with the University since 1961, when he left the University of Rochester in New York as the school's business manager.

Kiebal was comptroller of Boston University and currently is its business manager.

In making the announcement Dr. Christ-Janer commented, "In the strengthening and enhancement of its educational programs, the fiscal affairs of Boston University are a most critical factor in the life of this institution. It gives me great confidence to know that this important area remains in good hands."

Kiebal holds a bachelor of arts from Hobart College and a master of arts from the University of Pennsylvania. Prior to his Rochester position, he was bursar at Hobart.

A native of Kenmore, N.Y., Kiebal is a veteran of World War II. He is married and has three children. The Kiebals live at 289 Highland Ave., West Newton.

Graduate Prize Fellowships To 3 Newtonites

Three Newton area residents have been granted Graduate Prize Fellowships by Harvard University. The Prize Fellowship assures a student support during five years of study for the Ph.D. degree.

The local winners of the fellowship awards are: Harry Hamlin Field of 8 Warren Terrace, Newton Centre, whose field of study is Humanities and Philosophy at Harvard and Oxford; Jonathan Arac, of 12 Wamsit road, Waban, studying Humanities and English, Harvard; and James Henry Rubin of 268 Woodward street, Waban, of Yale (B.A.) and the Sorbonne on Humanities and Fine Arts.

The prize fellowship was initiated at Harvard in 1964 to prepare scholars for teaching as well as for research. Normal parts of the program include one free year for travel or writing and two years of teaching and research under the guidance of senior faculty members. The fellowships are distributed among departments within the Humanities and Social Sciences.

3 Newtonites To Board Positions

Three Newton area residents are among the board members of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes who were elected at the 20th annual dinner program at the Sheraton Plaza, Boston. The program was attended by several hundred officials of the profession from all parts of the state.

From Newton, and elected to a three year term were Richard Gens and Daniel Donovan. Elected to a one-year term was John Silver of Newton Highlands.

The Federation represents a majority of the 600 Nursing Homes in the Bay State comprising more than 30,000 beds.

$500,000 Endowment to BU By Maurice Gordon Family

The lobby of the new School of Nursing of Boston University is to be dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jacobson (Lola Gordon), all of Newton, children of the Maurice Gordon family, according to announcement by University President Arland F. Christ-Janer. The building will be named in honor of the noted philanthropist's family, who has previously supported major programs at Brandeis, Emmanuel and Bio-Research Institute of Cambridge.

Dr. Christ-Janer said the dedication and naming comes because of "the outstanding support given to the nursing program by Mr. Gordon and his family."

Gordon has previously supported major programs at Brandeis University, Emmanuel College and the Bio-Research Institute of Cambridge for its campaign against lung cancer. He is currently advisor to Boston University trustees on the Committee of Properties.

Dedication of the new building is set for March 13, 1968. A special fund-raising effort to obtain $2.7 million began when the University acquired the Remington Rand building at 631 Commonwealth Ave. During subsequent months, the University completely rebuilt the building and added two stories to provide modern teaching facilities. With contributions from many sources, a federal grant of $1.5 million and Gordon's support, some $2.4 million is now available. The remaining $300,000 must be raised before the dedication.

Mayor Basbas New Member Of Cigar Smokers

Maybe Monte G. Basbas, of Newton, was made an honorary member of Cigar Smokers of America at the December monthly meeting of the Boston chapter, Humidor 4, held recently at Chestnut Hill Country Club.

Judge Samuel Eisenstadt, of Roxbury District Court and president of Humidor 4, presented Mayor Basbas with a caricature made by Jim Dobins of Boston Herald-Traveler.

Ranny Weeks, of 58 Berkshire road, Newtonville, introduced the Mayor who spoke on Newton civic affairs. Cigar Smokers of America is not connected with the cigar industry, but is composed of professional and businessmen who enjoy monthly dinner meetings, good fellowship and smoke cigars.

Special Service For 2nd Baptist

Second Baptist Church of Newton Upper Falls will hold special services this Sunday (Dec. 31).

The regular church service is at 7 to 8 p.m., at 8:30 a time of Singing, refreshments, and at 10 p.m. the showing of the well known Christian film "In His Steps," followed by a candle-light communion service until midnight.

Uniting with the Second Baptist will be the Rev. Earl Osborn and Immanuel Baptist of Newton Centre; Rev. Nick Woodbury and West Natick Chapel; Rev. Richard Scobe, First Methodist of Newton Upper Falls.

Promotions For Trust Company

The Garden City Trust Company, of Newton, announces through the president and chairman of the board Charles E. Dockser, several promotions in their personnel. They are: Mr. Dennis Tessier from Assistant Treasurer to Assistant Vice President, Mrs. Elsa Benson from Manager to Assistant Treasurer, Mr. Ernest Fiorelli to Assistant Treasurer, Mr. James McCobb to Assistant Controller.

Mr. Tessier will continue as Manager of the Science Park Office, (Bedford). Mrs. Benson will continue as Manager of Great Road Shopping Centre office in Bedford. Mr. Fiorelli is assigned to the Industrial Loan Department at the Newton Corner Office. Mr. McCobb is stationed at the bank's Main Office on Boylston street in Chestnut Hill.

The new facility will provide means to train nurses and nursing educators, who in turn will join the staffs of nursing schools and hospitals throughout the United States. Nearly 3,000 alumni of the nursing school are active today in positions of nursing service and leadership in the country and abroad.

The school's undergraduate division is one of the largest in the country. Its graduate school has the largest enrollment of any nursing school in the world.

Gordon is president of the Maurice Gordon and Sons Realty Co. He and members of his family are well known for their support of charities and interest in civic affairs. His son, Robert, is a graduate of the University's School of Law.

Gordon said he was "delighted to be associated with the great effort and contribution Boston University is making to the metropolitan area, and, in particular, I am pleased to recognize the excellence of the School of Nursing, which provides nursing teachers and nurses, who directly benefit our many local hospitals, and various health programs."

Dr. Christ-Janer, in making his announcement, told the University's executive committee of the Board of Trustees that the gift comes at a most significant time. He said, "We are trying to complete the campaign to raise funds for the building as the nursing school prepares to move into its new quarters. Mr. Gordon's wonderful gift gives us the impetus to achieve these important goals."

School of Nursing Dean Anne K. Kibrick said completion of the nursing building will help the school implement many progressive programs previously considered. More important, she said, "it will help in the effort to eliminate the critical shortage of nurses throughout the country."

Dean Kibrick pointed out the nursing school currently cannot accept many outstanding candidates for admission because of lack of space. The dean also said that since nursing is a service-oriented occupation and "our major purpose is to meet the citizens' health needs, it is essential that citizens work with nursing towards meeting the goal of optimum health for all."

The latest facilities in nursing teaching, including television, a maternal and child health laboratory and a simulated hospital ward.

Among Gordon's educational interests are his affiliation with the Hebrew Teachers College as a trustee; membership on the Advisory Council of Suffolk University College of Business Administration; and Founder of the Solomon Schechter Day School. He created a Scholarship Endowment Fund at Brandeis University in his name to provide full tuition scholarships to gifted and needy students. A wing of a new dormitory at Emmanuel College bears the name of Maurice Gordon and his family.

Gordon's civic interest and associations are wide. They include membership in the Temples Kehillath Israel and Ohabei Shalom, membership in the Massachusetts Commission on Atomic Energy, membership on the Board of Directors of the Grove Hall Savings Bank and a board director of the Business Men's Council of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies.

He is a trustee of the Opera Company of Boston, Inc., the Israel Bond Organization, the Boston Hebrew Academy and the B'nai B'rith Realty Lodge. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Memorial Hospital.

In 1967, Gordon was Honorary General Chairman of the 6th Annual Cardinal Cushing Irish Field Day and also recipient of the Y.M.H.A. 1967 Man of the Year Award. He was a large contributor to the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, for which a building is named in his honor.

Spirit Of Christmas Is No Deterrent To Thieves

Thieves didn't take a holiday over the past weekend in Newton utilizing the time to break into three homes, a cafe and an auto.

A coin collection was taken from the home of Henry Schwab, 16 Converse ave., Newton, between 4 and 11 p.m. Monday. Entrance was gained through the kitchen door. Alice Bourneof, of 228 Quinoburn rd., Newton, reported that her home was entered about 10 p.m. Saturday night by at least three men. She said she was in bed upstairs and heard the men enter after breaking glass in a rear kitchen door. She said $22 was taken from her purse.

An undisclosed amount of change was taken from a cash drawer at Toto's Cafe, at 1391 Washington st., West Newton, Sunday morning. Entrance was gained through the front door. Assorted jewelry was taken from the home of Rose Shriberg, 658 Dedham St., Newton Highlands, between 2 and 8 p.m. Monday. No signs of entry were apparent. The bureau drawers were ransacked.

More than $400 worth of tools were taken from the car belonging to Mihran Barookian at 804 Boylston St., Newton. The car was parked in his garage. The break happened Monday between 12:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Festival Of Hanuka To Be Held Wed.

Next Wednesday (Dec. 27) a festival of Hanuka will be observed at a meeting of the Metropolitan Region, American Jewish Congress Women's Division at Chateau Garod, 1581 Beacon street, Brookline. Mrs. George Kramer, of Newtonville, is hostess and Mrs. Henry Rosenzweig, of West Newton, will give the opening prayer.

A candle-lighting ceremony will be part of the afternoon program. Martin Silverman, who recently returned after a year of study in Jerusalem, will speak on "Jerusalem, Yesterday and Today." Mr. Silverman was in Israel during the Six-Day War and will describe what the new Jerusalem means to the people of Israel.

Entertainment will be provided by Gloria and Beebe who will present a wide-range of musical selections. The team is composed of Gloria Gregerman and Beebe Sinsky, both of West Newton, long-time members of the American Jewish Congress. M. Jacob Joslow, retiring executive-director of the region will be honored by the group, and George I. Samansky, newly appointed director, will be introduced.

A petite luncheon will be served at 12:30. Mrs. Edward Silverman, president of the region, will preside. Mrs. Israel Trieger and Mrs. I. Louis Fine are in charge of reservations.

TRADITIONAL MUSIC FOR HOLIDAYS — is played for the Parents Association and guests of the All Newton Music School at their annual Christmas-Chanukah Sing on Sunday (Dec. 10). Judy Schwartz is seated at the harpsichord and Gail Woodbury plays the recorder.

Crime Commission Police Problems Not Found Here

The problems outlined in the recent report of the Governor's Crime Commission are not being experienced by the Newton police force, Capt. William F. Quinn said this week.

The Captain noted that due to a recruitment program on a personal basis over the past two years, quotas were filled with outstanding men whose educational backgrounds exceeded those described in the report.

He added, however, that the department has lost five degree holders in the past five years, one to retirement and four others to more lucrative fields.

Quinn said the Newton Police Academy and the in-service training programs exceed, at present, the standards set by the Massachusetts Municipal Training Council and has so since its inception.

He said that in the past the department has taken advantage of every educational process open to police. Some men presently employed have participated in programs at various colleges, plus the FBI training schools, the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and other schools.

Quinn said that the continuing interest in upgrading police efficiency through education is shown in the police-community training program originally sponsored by Police Chief Philip Purcell at Boston College and now held permanently at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

He added that under Chief Purcell educational pursuits have been of prime consideration, and Mayor Basbas has indicated full support of plans to upgrade the police academy and other individual study programs.

New Year's Eve Church Services For Baptists

Edwin Hancock, Newton Highlands, deacon; Ernest Witschl, Newton, and A. Harland Bradley, Newton Centre, both of the Executive Committee, are members of the New Year's Eve Planning Committee for the Ruggles St. Baptist Church, Boston.

The New Year's Eve service of Ruggles Street Baptist Church will be held Sunday (Dec. 31) in the John Hancock Auditorium, 200 Berkeley Street, Boston, from 9:30 p.m. to midnight. The public is invited without charge.

A highlight of the evening will be the appearance of Suzanne Johnson, concert soprano and former "Miss Illinois" who has sung with the Fred Waring Pennsylvanians, philharmonic orchestras and at the White House.

Dr. John Haggai, internationally known evangelist and author, will speak on "Christ in the Space Age."

The program, which will be hosted by the pastor and radio personality, the Rev. John DeBrine, will include a concert on the three man Skinner organ by D. Stephen Cushman, a 100-voice choir, the Bostonians, Daniel J. Foster, pianist, and Ken Benjamin of New York City, trumpet artist.

Mr. DeBrine will broadcast greetings from prominent leaders and musicians throughout the country from midnight to 3 a.m. over WBCN-FM (104.1).

6 Hurt in Newton Auto Accidents During Weekend

Deborah S. Kaner, 14, of 281 Lowell ave., Newtonville, was in critical condition and on the danger list at Newton-Wellesley Hospital yesterday after being struck by an automobile at 9 p.m. on Christmas night.

The accident occurred opposite the Newtonville library on Walnut st., as the girl was crossing the street.

Police said that the operator of the car was a Newton man who declared he had just turned onto Walnut st. at a slow rate of speed and the next thing he knew he hit the girl.

Also over the holiday weekend, Werner O. F. Prochaska, 22, of 48 Sargent st., Newton, and Monica S. Holland, 17, of 10 Greenlawn ave., Wellesley, were treated for minor injuries and released after the cars they were operating collided on Washington st. in West Newton Monday night.

In a separate accident Saturday, John A. Conquest, 19, of 480 Walnut st., Newtonville, suffered a concussion and minor lacerations when a car in which he was riding driven by Mark Lande of 256 Ward st., Newton, collided on Washington st., with a car driven by Robert Saunders of 186 Farmer rd., Newton. Lande was treated at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for a back sprain and lacerations and was released.

Also Saturday, Robert Alden, 13, of 66 Maynard st., Newton, suffered a sprained shoulder and leg contusions when his bicycle reportedly ran into a car at Beacon st. and Garland rd. The driver of the car, which was leaving a parking lot, did not stop.

Newton To Get $500G By End Of December

Newton will receive $500,000 by the end of the year, its share of the local Aid Fund promised on the so-called Cherry Sheet, the state's statement of accounts.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas said State Tax Commr. Cleo Jalliet indicated the half-million will bring Newton's total to over the $1 million indicated on the Cherry Sheet.

Last week the city treasurer received $558,094 in part payment of the Local Aid Fund. Although that money already has been figured into this year's tax rate, anything less than promised would have meant making it up in next year's rate.

Such an incident happened last year when Newton was "over assessed" by the county for some $255,000, and as the money hadn't been raised by the tax rate, the sum was added to this year's.

It has been estimated that the increase in Newton's tax rate in 1968 will be "not less than $10" with an additional increase projected for 1969.

Finance Director Arthur A. Marr said that while city expenses continue to climb, returns from the state do not keep pace and, until they do, yearly tax increases can be expected.
